Sir Mackenzie Bowell said in compliance with the promise made yesterday: I am in a position to answer the question which the hon. gentleman has put. Upon the receipt of the answer to the Remedial Order which was sent to the Manitoba Legislature, and which was received a week ago last Monday, the Government, after due consideration, came to the conclusion which I read to the House a few days ago, not to proceed with Remedial Legislation during the present session, but in view, as then expressed, of what we considered an intimation in that answer from the Government of Manitoba that they were prepared to still further consider any additional representation which might be made by the Dominion of Canada, we thought it best in the interests of the Dominion, in the interests of those who had this Remedial Legislation, or that which was to be obtained from the adoption of the Remedial Legislation most at heart to postpone its consideration until we had communicated with that Government in order to ascertain how far they were prepared to accede to the terms of that Remedial Order and the judgment delivered by the Lord Chancellor of the Privy Council of England upon this subject. I refer now to the last decision, delivered on Jan. 25, 1895.

To that decision three of our colleagues, I regret to say, took exception, the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, who has the honor of a seat in this House, the Postmaster-General and the Minister of Public Works. They considered that in the interests of those whom they represented, and in the interests of the minority of the Province of Manitoba, it was the boundan duty of the Government of Canada to proceed at once during the present session with Remedial Legislation. I regret to say we did not come to a unanimous decision on this point. My hon. friend, who is in this House, I regret to say, still holds the opinion that he first entertained and declines to re-enter the Cabinet unless we are prepared to contradict the points which he had so forcibly and eloquently urged upon his colleagues. The majority of the council, however, deemed it, as I have already stated, more in the interest of the peace and welfare of the Dominion and more to the benefit of those deeply interested in this very important question, that we should not proceed as they desired. My hon. friend is in the House and will be better able to state his reasons than I possibly can. I may, however, with the permission of the Senate, after he has spoken, if it is necessary, make further explanations.

These gentlemen sent in their resignations. I am glad to say, after mature deliberation, and in a firm belief in the honesty of their colleagues they have decided to remain with the Government, the members of which have expressed to them their determination that should Manitoba refuse to grant Remedial Legislation, to restore the minority of Manitoba the rights that they were deprived of by the acts of 1890, that the Government of to-day will be pledged to risk its position, each individual his own political reputation, and introduce Remedial Legislation, and trust to the good sense and fairness of the House of Commons and the Senate to carry it into operation. I may say, and I say it in all sincerity, that I look forward with much fear and great anxiety to the future of this country if we, without having exhausted every possible means to obtain from the Legislature and the Government of Manitoba a redress for the grievances of the minority in that province. I say I look forward with much apprehension to the effect of a policy which would force on an almost independent province, so far as local matters are concerned, a law which would have to be carried out in all its details, should they refuse to do it, by any Dominion Government or any Dominion Parliament. I ask every well-wisher of his country to reflect well upon that point.

There are certain provincial rights which every province has. The difficulties which present themselves to my mind in attempting to force upon an unwilling people any kind of legislation will render whatever that may be useless to those whom it is the intention of Parliament to aid if it possibly can. My other two colleagues, I am very much pleased to say, that is, the Minister of Public Works and the Postmaster-General, after much reflection and having considered the representations which have been made to them from the standpoint which I have given to the House, and with a distinct and positive understanding that the Government will proceed with legislation, should it be denied by the people of Manitoba, consented to retain their portfolios and remain in the Government until the time arrives when it will be an imperative duty on the Government to answer that matter.

I sincerely regret, for more reasons than one, that one of my colleagues, who has sat beside me ever since I came to the Senate, has not been able to take that view. I must be permitted to say, although in his presence, that I believe he is actuated by the highest patriotic motives. I believe he has but one single object in view and that is the securing to his fellow-countrymen rights of which he knows they have been despoiled and which he desires to restore to them. The only difference of opinion between that hon. gentleman and myself and my colleagues was as to the best mode of carrying that out. I do not know that at present I need say more upon this question. I have expressed the regret I feel deeply over the severance of the personal and political relations which I have had with my colleague who has occupied a seat on my right since we have been in the Senate, and I hope the time is not far distant when he may be enabled to see, although he may not be able to agree with us at the present moment that he will at least give us credit for having pursued that course which we believed to be the best in the interests of the Dominion and those who have been deprived of their rights.

Senator Angers said he had to inform the House that he had obtained through the Prime Minister permission from the Governor-General to state to the House the reasons and circumstances of his withdrawal from the Cabinet. On the 8th of July inst. he wrote the Prime Minister the following letter:

I have the honor to inform you in writing as I have already done verbally that I cannot accept the responsibility of the declaration you are about to make to the Senate on the Manitoba school question. In consequence, please lay before His Excellency my resignation and obtain for me permission to state in the Senate the causes and reasons of my withdrawal from the Cabinet. Yours truly, A. R. ANGERS.

The permission to give these explanations I received yesterday and agreed to postpone them until to-day. It is unnecessary for me to go through the history of this important question of Separate Schools in Manitoba, but I have to retrace my steps to some little period not far distant from the present day. I wish to refer to the judgment of the Imperial Privy Council rendered in January last. He then quoted that portion of the judgment of the Imperial Privy Council contained in the Remedial Order, giving the substance of he judgment of their lordships, and also read the answer of the Manitoba Government to the Remedial Order, in order to show that Manitoba's answer was a direct refusal to comply with the direction therein contained. This refusal of Manitoba, he said, opened the doors of Parliament to grant justice to the minority, but what action did the Government take? He read the statement delivered by Sir Mackenzie Bowell on Monday last. It was upon this statement of the Government's policy that he based the reasons for his resignations. He then quoted from Manitoba's answer to the Remedial Order to show that there was no reasonable hope that the statement in Monday's announcement, that Manitoba would either offer or accept a compromise, would be realised.

The answer of Manitoba, he contended, showed that the Provincial Government was opposed to Separate schools on principle and that they would never willingly re-establish them. He declared that it was impossible for him to subscribe to the first paragraph of the declaration made by the Government on Monday; that in Manitoba's reply was to be found the hope of an amicable settlement of the school question on the basis of possible action by the Manitoba Government or Legislature. Therefore, upon that very important point which was not supported by evidence he had to refuse to take responsibility.

Dealing with the other paragraphs of the announcement he pointed out that the answer of the Manitoba Government, assented to by the Legislature, precluded any possibility of separate schools being restored to the minority. What was the use when in every paragraph of the answer of the Manitoba Government, assented to by the Legislature, there was a distinct refusal to restore these schools, of appealing to the Greenway Government for a satisfactory compromise? He pointed out that it was upon a promise that separate schools would be discontinued forever by Greenway, that schools were abolished. Was it now upon a promise of Mr. Greenway, unauthorised and in the face of the Legislature, which is in honor bound not to restore these schools, that a fair compromise was expected? This was the reason why he was again under the painful necessity of not being able to subscribe to that portion of the declaration.

The proposal which I voted for in opposition to the declaration of the Government is to this effect, that, at this late date of the session, and seeing that so little time has elapsed since the reception of the answer of the Legislature of Manitoba to the Remedial Order, and in view of the complicated nature of the legislation required to restore to the minority their rights and privileges to Separate schools, the Government has determined not to introduce such legislation at the present session, but will call a session of Parliament during next fall for the purpose of introducing and pressing to a conclusion the necessary legislation to grant relief to the said minority on the lines of the judgment of the Imperial Privy Council and the Remedial Order, if the Legislature of Manitoba has not before that time taken such steps as will satisfy the minority in that respect, which hope every loyal subject of Her Majesty should entertain before believing that the Province of Manitoba should ignore the decision of the Privy Council and the Remedial Order of the Governor-General.

He quoted from Sir John Macdonald speeches in sympathy with Separate Schools in Manitoba, and said that no man was in so good a position as Premier Bowell to give Remedial Legislation this session. The present was in his hands, but in the future blind fate might stand between him and Remedial Legislation. By the action of the Government Remedial Legislation had received such a blow that it never can be obtained.

Sir Frank Smith taunted Mr. Angers with retiring from the Government because he could not have his own way, and hinted that the ex-Minister of Agriculture was endeavoring to form a more congenial alliance. He defended the action of the Irish Catholics and declared that if Remedial Legislation was not granted he would vote against the Government.

Premier Bowell expressed regret at the tone of the latter portion of Mr. Angers' speech. He resented it. He did not agree with the Manitoba Government, that the Remedial Order required the re-establishment of separate schools as they existed prior to 1890. While the Remedial Order included the full measure of the demands contained in the petitions of the Roman Catholics, there was no pledge in the order that those were to be carried out to the letter. He would not argue whether the Manitoba schools, prior to 1890, were efficient or not. Mr. Bernier had answered that question very well some time ago. The minority were willing to have certificated teachers, a proper inspection and that the public money should be expended under inspection. While the Government had placed within the power of Parliament the authority to go the full length of the demands, there was nothing in the Remedial Order to prevent them adopting a mediumcourse, provided it met with the approval of the people demanding it. He took it that all the Catholics required was the right to have Separate schools, to be relieved of taxation for Public schools, to be enabled and have power and authority to teach morals and religion as they understood it and the full management of their schools, and that far the Government of which he was the head were prepared to go, if Parliament would sustain them, if they did not get a fair measure of relief from Manitoba.

The Premier then argued that Manitoba had held out promises of that kind. In support of this he quoted the clause in the answer of Manitoba, promising to cheerfully furnish all information necessary for a full and deliberate investigation of the whole subject. He should object to a commission as utterly useless, but he would approach the Legislature of Manitoba with the proposition: Are you prepared to restore Separate schools under such a system as to ensure efficiency with proper inspection and relief from taxation for other schools? He said that he was not defending the Government of Manitoba, which had so far refused to do anything in this direction.

DULL DAY AT OTTAWA

The Tories Rapidly Whipping Into Line Again.

DATE OF PROROGATION UNCERTAIN

Mr. Mills Moves in Opposition to the Government's System of Keeping Lieut.-Governor's in Office After Their Term Has Lapsed - $500 sent to Mr. Blake

Ottawa, Ont., July 12.—To-day there is a lull in the political crisis. In the Conservative camp a much better feeling undoubtedly prevails. The consensus of opinion among the supporters of the Government is that the Ministers, having asked for six months' time in which to settle the school question, it should be granted them.

The proceedings in Parliament to-day have been dull and uninteresting, in their way a relief from the tension and excitement of the past few days. The Parliament buildings have been in possession all day of the stalwart Orangemen of Eastern Ontario, who noted with interest the doings of their representatives in the House. It was expected that on going into supply a motion would have been presented by Mr. Laurier declaring that the Government's policy on the school question was neither satisfactory nor re-assuring. It had been mooted during the morning that this was the nature of the amendment which the Opposition leader would offer, but when the order for supply was called Mr. Mills and Mr. McCarthy both struggled to catch the Speaker's eye. Mr. Mills was successful, and Mr. McCarthy was shut out. The resolution which the member for Bothwell had to present was one condemning the Ministry for allowing Lieutenant-Governors to retain office after the expiration of the quinquennial term.

From present appearances, it will be difficult now for Mr. McCarthy to present his amendment. If he gets the chance, this is what he will move: "This House has heard with regret the statements recently made defining the policy of the Government respecting the Manitoba school question, and is unwilling by silence to appear to acquiesce in it, or allow it to be assumed that at the session to be held in January next, any more than at the present session, it is prepared to pass a law to restore the system of Separate Schools in Manitoba, on the lines of the Remedial Order of the 21st March, 1895."

In the division which took place upon Mr. Mills' motion, there was a straight party vote, three of the Quebec members who bolted yesterday voting with the Government.

On the orders of the day being called, Mr. Casey said: "I should like to ask the Minister of Public Works by whose permission members were obstructed by a procession crossing the Parliament grounds to-day?"

Hon. Mr. Ouimet: There was no permission given by me, and I do not think there was any permission necessary. Nobody was obstructed.

On motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Mills and Mr. McCarthy rose simultaneously. The member for Bothwell caught the Speaker's eye, and Mr. Mills moved the following amendment: "That in the opinion of this House, section 59 of the B.N.A. Act of 1867, which prevents the removal of a Lieutenant-Governor of a Province for five years from the date of his appointment, except for cause assigned and communicated to the House of Commons by message, was intended to prevent undue influence of Federal Ministers in provincial affairs, and the practice which has become prevalent of permitting Lieutenant-Governors to continue in office for long periods of time after expiry of their commissions, by which they become removable at any time without assignment of cause, is an abuse of authority calculated to impair responsible government in provinces of this Dominion."

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper criticised the motion as one of want of confidence. Whatever there might be in the question on its merits, yet, by reason of the arguments supporting it, which alleged a grave abuse, it would be impossible for the Government to consider it other than as a censure. While Mr. Mills referred to the retention of Governors after expiry of their terms as an abuse, the record shows that the accusation is not well founded.

Mr. Laurier held that, although moved in amendment to the Government's proposal to go into supply, Mr. Mills' amendment was not one of want of confidence. The amendment was expressed in general terms, and dealt broadly with a principle of public administration.

Mr. McCarthy urged the importance of the question, and fully agreed with the opinion that the independence of the Lieutenant-Governors by allowing them to remain in office beyond their term.

Hon. Mr. Foster pointed out that no complaints had arisen and that the practice, so called, could not by any means be termed "prevalent."

Col. O'Brien thought it inconsistent that the Government should treat Manitoba as rebellious because she declined to obey constitutional authority, while the Government themselves transgressed the constitution continually.

Mr. Davin, Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Cockburn and Dr. Weldon discussed the constitutional points involved. The amendment was defeated by 104 to 66, a majority of 38, three of the dissident Quebec Conservatives voting with the majority.

Mr. Mulock took occasion to refer to the vacancy in the Cabinet caused by the resignation of the Minister of Agriculture.

Hon. Mr. Foster replied that the position had been vacant but a few days, and in that time had been effectively administered by other members of the Government. The Government, however, would fill the vacancy at the earliest opportunity by a man of capacity who would be acceptable to the country.

Messrs. Casey and McMillan (Huron) criticized the departmental administration of Mr. Angers, and were replied to by Hon. Dr. Montague, who paid a spirited tribute to the ex-Minister's zeal and ability in office. The House then went into Committee of Supply and made good progress with the estimates up to 6 o'clock.

The first hour after recess was devoted to private bills and Mr. Flint talked it out on the South Shore Railway bill. The estimates were again taken up in supply and those for the Inland Revenue, Postoffice and Customs were passed. Supplementary estimates aggregating $108,000 were brought down.

The House adjourned at 2 o'clock this morning.

Senator Power asked if the Premier could give any information as to the date of prorogation.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell said it would give him great pleasure to give the hon. gentleman the information he asked for. He had hoped that Parliament would be able to prorogue on Monday, but that looked improbable now. Much depended on the hon. gentleman's friends in the Lower House. They had not only discussed the uselessness of the Senate, and abused the Government for not filling vacancies, but were now abusing the administration for keeping too long in office Lieutenant-Governors. He understood that there were two more motions of want of confidence to come up, one from either side of the House, on the Government's policy in reference to the school question. He was afraid if this went on they would not reach prorogation before a week from Monday. However, if the hon. gentleman could persuade his friends in the other House to desist, he could promise that the legitimate business of Parliament would not take long to despatch.

Senator Power: The leader of the House probably knows how difficult it is for a member of this House to influence members of the other House.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: Yes.

Senator Boulton moved: That, in the opinion of the Senate, it is in the interests of the Canal to accept the invitation of the Congress of the United States and appoint three commissioners to meet three commissioners appointed by the Government of the United States, to discuss ways and means whereby ocean vessels may have access to the headwaters of our inland navigation, and the marine fleet of large vessels on our upper lakes can have access to the ocean, with the view of cheapening the cost of transportation.

Speaking to his motion, he did not see any good reason why his motion should not meet with the favor of the Government. He called attention to the statement made in the Lower House a few days ago that when the time came Canada would appoint commissioners to meet with those appointed by the United States. It was only right that Canada should accord this courtesy, in view of the action of the United States Congress. He quoted the tonnage of Canada in 1873 and in 1894, to show that the number of vessels constructed was less than then. He quoted the increase in the grain-carrying trade of Canada and the United States, to show that not only was the carrying trade increasing, but that there was an ever-increasing demand for larger and deeper-draught vessels. All the money expended by Canada, he contended, in deepening the Sault Ste. Marie and St. Lawrence Canals was thrown away unless all the canals were deepened to a uniform depth. He pointed out that at present the only purpose the deepening of the Sault Canal served was to increase the facilities of heavy-laden vessels in carrying trade from the west to the seaboard by way of the Erie Canal. If the St. Lawrence River Canals were deepened, he maintained, a large proportion of this traffic would go by way of Lake Champlain and the Richelieu River route. Then, again, if these canals were deepened, the larger lake vessels which have now to lay up in the winter months would be enabled to engage in the ocean coasting trade. If the deepening of the canals was completed under an international arrangement, in the case of trouble it would be in the interests of both countries to prevent their destruction.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell pointed out that the decrease in registered tonnage was an evidence of a decrease in trade. There was, as a matter of fact, an enormous increase in the carrying trade, and the decrease in tonnage was due to the substitution of iron and steel vessels for the old wooden vessels. Then, the large ocean vessels of the Allan Line, which were formerly registered in Canada, are now registered in England. It was the intention of the Government to co-operate with the Government of the United States in the matter of investigating the inland waterways of the country, with a view to discovering the best methods of increasing the facilities for the carrying of western grain. The Government engineer would be appointed, together with a third independent engineer, to meet those appointed by the United States The Government engineer would only be paid their expenses, and the third engineer would not receive any regular salary.

Senator Power: Is that courteous to the United States?

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: I don't see any discourtesy. We are not bound to appoint independent engineers, and our Government engineers are quite as able as any that will be appointed by the United States. The motion was withdrawn at the request of the speaker.

Mr. Foster gives notice of a bill to-night to exempt certain societies from the operations of the Insurance Act. The societies in question are trainmen and locomotive engineers, against whom convictions were recently brought in Toronto and Hamilton.

Mr. Barry Hayes, secretary-treasurer of the Home Rule Committee, cabled $500 yesterday to Edward Blake, M.P., as a contribution from Ottawa to the Home Rule fund.

Dr. Sproule's name is mentioned in connection with the vacant portfolio of Agriculture.

New postoffices were opened in Ontario on July 1, as follows: Fairbairn, South Victoria, Hurondale (South Perth), Morinus (East Simcoe), Stanwood (East Northumberland).

THE CLAIMS OF MINISTERS TO RESPECT.

Hon. A. R. Angers, Minister of Agriculture in the Bowell Cabinet, was the only one of the kickers that had the moral courage to act up to his convictions and sacrifice $7,000 per year. Mr. Ouimet and Sir Adolphe Caron couldn't stand that. But speaking of resigning, there are several other ministers whose resignations would be exceedingly timely and in good taste. For instance, the minister who allowed $270,000 to be wasted on the Curran Bridge Montreal, and $478,128 on the Tay Canal, when the entire parliamentary appropriation was only $132,660, and its entirely yearly revenue is only $126, and the yearly cost of maintainance, $2,458. For instance that minister, who is responsible for and defends a loan of $300,000 to the St. Mary's bridge company, a private speculation in which the promoters and beneficiaries only ventured to put $20,000. For instance that minister who with one hand voted for railway bonuses and with the other hand drew in from these bonuses $25,000 for the Government electoral corruption fund. For instance that minister who quietly purchased for $2,500 certain gypsum deposits in New Brunswick, and engineered through Parliament a bonus to a railway to increase the value of his purchase; with the result, thanks to the expenditure of public funds, of increasing the value of his property from $2,500 to $20,000, for which he sold his interest in it. For instance, that Minister who presided when the order-in-council was passed granting $2,500,000 to the Hudson Bay Railway scheme as a dodge to influence the elections, which the Government then contemplated bringing on and who a day or two ago informed the Senate that no legislation in reference to this railway would be brought in, when at about that very moment a member of the Government introduced legislation in respect of the Hudson Bay Railway. Such are some of the members of the present Administration that controls the destiny of Canada. We are enjoined not to speak evil of dignities, but speaking the truth takes all the dignity off this aggregation of incapables. The Mail and Empire roundly reproved another journal of speaking of certain ministers without the knightly prefix of "Sir." Great title these gentlemen have to be considered chevaliers sans puer et sans raproche, when they cannot trust each other's solemnly pledged word without a written bond. Things have come to a fine pass when ministers of the Crown, who pledge the faith of the Crown to a statement, cannot be believed by their own colleagues without a pledge in black and white. It is significant that those who know the ministers best, and should love them best, feel the necessity of such a written pledge. And such a Government claims the respect and confidence of the people of Canada.

"TURNING, TWISTING EVER."

(The Globe.)

The Bowell Government decided for dissolution, campaigned for weeks in the country, took fright at the temper of the electorate and called Parliament together.

The Bowell Government solemnly passed an order in Council granting $2,500,000 to the Hudson Bay Railway project, took fright at the temper of public opinion and dared not lay the recommendation before Parliament.

The Bowell Government passed a remedial order intended to force Separate Schools on Manitoba, took fright at the temper of public opinion and dared not submit the coercive legislation to Parliament.

The English-speaking wing of the Bowell Government brought down a promise of remedial legislation for next session, took fright at the temper of the French Ministers, who declared it unsatisfactory, got down on their knees before Mr. Ouimet's club, and meekly gave the cast-iron pledges demanded by their merciless associates.

The Bowell Government, instead of going to the country without holding a fifth session of Parliament, as intended, has now solemnly promised a sixth session in order to "seize Manitoba by the throat and force upon it a Federal school law."

These are melancholy days for the Conservative party. No wonder the party is in revolt all over the country. Conservatives do not forget the strong and resolute leadership of Sir John Macdonald; and in contrast the weakness, vacillation and cowardice of the men who now sit in the Cabinet, the self-elected leaders of the party, must be humiliating even to the verge of tears.

CANADA WINS THE COLONIAL.

But Loses the Kolapore Cup by the Narrow Majority of Thirteen Points.

Hyde, Eng., July 12.—The Martini-Henry competition for the Rajah of Kolapore's Challenge Cup, given by that potentate to the association in 1874, as well as the N.R.A.'s Colonial prize of £80 for the Indian or Colonial team, opened to-day with fine, clear weather, but a strong wind.

Seven shots each at 200, 500 and 600 yards, and an entrance fee of £1 10s. The highest possible score is 840 marks. Last year the Mother Country won with a total of 689, and Canada took the Colonial prize of 680. The winning score in 1893 was 741 and in 1892 634.

This year the teams competing were from England, Canada and Guernsey, and the following is the result:

Yards.	Eng.	Can.	Guernsey
200	233	238	220
500	227	226	216
600	178	161	150
	638	625	586

The following are the Canadian individual scores at each distance:

First stage. 200 yards:

Boville	5	5	4	5	4	4	2—30
Mitchell	4	5	5	5	5	4	4—32
Russell	5	4	4	4	5	4	5—31
Mercer	5	4	4	4	5	4	4—30
Spearing	2	5	4	4	4	4	5—28
Hayhurst	4	5	4	3	4	4	4—28
Simpson	4	4	4	4	4	4	4—28
Rolston	5	4	5	4	4	5	4—31
							233

Second stage. 500 yards:

Boville	5	4	2	3	3	0	2—19
Mitchell	5	4	4	5	4	5	3—30
Russell	4	4	5	5	4	4	3—29
Mercer	5	5	2	2	4	3	5—26
Spearing	4	5	5	5	5	5	2—31
Hayhurst	3	5	5	4	5	5	4—31
Simpson	5	5	5	4	5	5	4—33
Rolston	5	3	2	4	5	4	4—27
							226

Third stage. 600 yards:

Boville	2	2	2	2	5	2	2—17
Mitchell	2	3	2	4	2	2	3—18
Russell	0	0	5	2	4	0	2—13
Mercer	2	2	4	3	0	2	2—16
Spearing	2	3	3	5	4	4	3—24
Hayhurst	5	3	3	2	5	4	5—27
Simpson	3	0	2	2	5	3	4—19
Rolston	3	5	4	5	4	3	3—27
							161

During the match the wind, which was blowing strongly, steadily increased to a fitful hurricane, which turned up clouds of dust and rendered ordinary accuracy out of the question. Canada won the cup in 1872 with the Snider rifle, score 533; again in 1875, with 635; in 1881, with 609; in 1884, with the Martini-Henry, 665, and in 1889, with a total of 697.

The Colonial prize was won by the Canadians by a score of 618. The value of the prize is £80.

SENT TO PRISON BY A GHOST.

Convicted of Murder on Strength of an Alleged Vision.

Columbus, O., July 13.—The presentation of an application to the State Board of Pardons to-day on behalf of Jefferson Morehead, a life prisoner, brought to light the fact that the testimony of an alleged ghost was mainly instrumental in sending Morehead to prison. Nearly 17 years ago John H. Brock, a farmer living near Zanesville, was seen to go into a wood with dog and gun, presumably to hunt. He was never seen alive again. Two days later his body was found in the woods with a bullet hole in his head.

As he had often threatened to kill himself, it was supposed to be a case of suicide, and the coroner's jury so found. More than a year afterwards the mother of Brock had a vision in which she said her son appeared to her and, rising in his coffin, declared that he did not commit suicide, but was murdered by Jefferson Morehead. She instituted prosecution against Morehead with such persistence that, notwithstanding the fact that two grand juries and a magistrate's court threw the case out as too flimsy to rest on, she at last secured his indictment and conviction.

NATIONAL SCHOOLS.

Not Only in Canada But Throughout Canada.

HON. CLARKE WALLACE'S VIEWS

"I Favor the Maintenance of a Non-Sectarian School System in Manitoba . . . I Prefer, However, to Await Events Rather Than Anticipate What May Never Occur."

Ottawa, July 13.—Despite the inclement weather the Orangemen made a brave showing at the Capital to-day. With bands playing and banners flying the stalwart yeomen of Eastern Ontario gaily marched through the Parliament grounds, looking as if they owned the town. Their action in entering on Parliament-square gave mortal offence to Mr. Casey, who called attention to the matter in the House. Mr. Ouimet took the reasonable view that the Orangeman has as much right to be there as anybody else. The demonstration was the best that has been held in this section of country for many years. The delegates came from far and near. From Montreal on the east and all intervening points, and away up the line of the Parry Sound and Canadian Pacific Railways, on the west. They were a stalwart, sturdy lot, well-dressed and well-behaved. The procession was the finest that had ever been witnessed in Ottawa. There were 10,000 in line, who gallantly marched along despite mud and rain.

The procession was closed by a number of carriages, in which were prominent members of the order, including Hon. N. C. Wallace, Grand Sovereign; Robert Birmingham, Grand Secretary; Major Sam Hughes, M.P.; Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P.; Chas. Fairburn, M.P.; Senator Clemow, E. Cochrane, M.P.; G. H. McDonell, M.P.; W. W. McDonald, M.P.; R. Wilmot, M.P.; O. P. Bush, M.L.A.; Dr. Ferguson, M.P.; W. T. Hodgins, M.P., and others.

Notwithstanding the rain the public meeting was held in Cartier Square, and speeches were delivered by a number of the prominent brethren present. During the course of the proceedings a portion of the platform subsided and a number of the prominent gentlemen were precipitated to the ground. Beyond a few cuts and bruises no injury was done. Col. Tyrwhitt had his foot crushed, while Mr. Macdonald's shoulder was bruised.

The chief interest centered in the speech of Hon. N. C. Wallace. The Grand Sovereign entered into a lengthy review of the school case.

Referring to Bishop Gravel's letter, and suggesting to influence the Privy Council, he said: This deliberate attempt to influence a judicial decision would be characterised in ordinary cases as an attempt to get at the jury, and is very properly an indictable offence. Such methods are not only reprehensible, but they are dangerous, as they tend to cloud with doubt the decisions of our highest tribunals, while at the same time the publication of the facts by the Bishop of Nicolet reveals the startling truth that the ecclesiastics of this church deem it both wise and just to resort to practices which the common law of Canada not only forbids, but punishes.

"Without dwelling longer upon this incident," continued the speaker, "let me state to you briefly the attitude that I take under the present circumstances on this question. The Government, after the last decision of the Judicial Committee, referred the question to Manitoba, as provided by the constitution, ordering the authorities of that province to restore the Separate school system in existence prior to 1890. The Manitoba Government, with the concurrence of the Legislature of that province, has declined to do so, but at the same time has intimated that if any real grievances exist on the part of the minority they will be removed, although still insisting upon the maintenance, unimpaired, of the Public school system. The Dominion Government, as a consequence, has pledged itself before Parliament and the country to accept the offer of Manitoba to consider a basis of settlement before the next meeting of Parliament, and in the event of failure to introduce legislation at the next session of Parliament.

"Now, for my own part, and I speak under full sense of the responsibility of my utterances, I have to say frankly but firmly that I favor the maintenance of a non-sectarian school system in Manitoba, and that if our constitution permitted it I would advocate with the same fervor a similar system throughout the Dominion. (Applause.) I propose, however, to await events rather than to anticipate what may never occur. Nor do I intend to be led or entrapped into precipitate action upon the subject by any device, no matter from what quarter it may come. Our duty, as it seems to me, is to adhere resolutely to the main principles to keep them always in view, swerving neither to the right nor to the left, and in this position I trust that I shall have not only the approbation of yourselves, but the support of the great majority of the people of Canada." (Loud applause).

During the morning Mr. McCarthy sent a messenger to Mr. Crawford Ross, district master, asking permission to address the meeting in the afternoon. Mr. Ross refused the request, stating that no man except an Orangeman in good standing could speak at the demonstration.

BOWELL CONDEMNED.

And Mr. Daly Called on to Resign by Winnipeg Orangemen.

Winnipeg, Man., July 12.—Ten thousand Orangemen celebrated the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne here today. Special trains were run from all parts of Manitoba, the occasion being made a monster demonstration against Roman Catholic Separate schools.

At an open-air mass meeting addressed by ex-President Leyden of Boston, Rev. W. G. Henderson of Winnipeg and others, strong resolutions were carried with loud cheers condemning the Dominion Cabinet for attempting to force parochial schools on Manitoba, despite the wishes of the people, as declared in Premier Greenway's recent answer to Ottawa. The resolutions declared that Orangemen would give up their life blood if necessary as sacrifice for their schools, which should be free from religious interference or intolerance.

Premier Greenway of Manitoba was thanked for his bold stand for National schools, while Premier Bowell of Ottawa, once Grand Master of the Orange Order, was condemned in strong language for his threat to force Separate schools on Manitoba. It was unanimously decided to ask Hon. T. M. Daly, Minister of the Interior, to resign for voting for Separate schools, as he was acting directly antagonistic to the wishes of his constituents in Manitoba.

Died on an Errand of Mercy.

Port Hope, July 12.—Mrs. James Miller, Peter-street, died suddenly this morning. A neighbor's wife was taken ill about 11 o'clock last night, and the husband went to get Mrs. Miller to wait on the sick woman. She told him not to wait for her, that she would be along shortly. He returned to his home and waited an hour and a half and then went to see the cause of the delay, and when within a hundred yards from her residence, he found Mrs. Miller lying by the side of the walk dead.

Fell Eight Feet to Death.

Stirling, Ont., July 13.—Mrs. Ontwater, a widowed lady, over 80 years of age, residing with her son Andrew in the 9th con. of Rawdon, went out to the barn, and, stepping on a loose board, fell down into the cellar, a distance of about eight feet. She died about three hours afterwards.

Gravel and Kidney Disease Quickly Cured—Relief Can be Obtained Within Six Hours.

PLEASE LET US SEE IT

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Hypnotic Baseball.

Prof. Lee, the hypnotist, appeared before the largest audience of the week last night, and gave a wonderful and laughable demonstration of his power over those who allowed themselves to be hypnotised. The earnestness displayed by the players and their ludicrous actions and sayings, convulsed the audience. Doubtless a bumper house will greet the professor on this, his last, night in town.

Butter sold at 16 and 18 cents, and eggs brought ten cents a dozen. Nature's Remedy.

A farmer informs the Charlottetown, P.E.I., Patriot that an insect resembling an ant has appeared in his two-acre field of potatoes, and within a day or two has completely destroyed the potato bugs. This parasite eats the bug, leaving nothing but the shell, and seems to possess an insatiable appetite. The same insect was reported in another section of the Island last year, and no bugs were left where this parasite had visited. A carload of these bugs cannot be imported too quickly into this neighbourhood

Just What's Needed

Exclaims thousands of people who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at this season of the year, and who have noted the success of the medicine in giving them relief from that tired feeling, waning appetite and state of extreme exhaustion after the close confinement of a long winter season, the busy time attendant upon a large and pressing business during the spring months and with vacation time yet some weeks distant. It is then that the building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are fully appreciated. It seems perfectly adapted to overcome that prostration caused by change of season, climate or life, and while it tones and sustains the system, it purifies and vitalizes the blood.

A Hustling Firm.

The firm of J. J. Turner & Co. is flooded with orders, but no matter how thick and fast they come in, their customers all note the remarkable despatch with which their orders are executed. The firm have just erected a flag pole on the top of Mr. LeGendre's George street store with a very handsome flag. Six hundred flags were shipped away on Thursday to Bellville, Havelock, Stirling and Millbrook for the Orange demonstration on the Twelfth. In Stirling three large dining tents, capable of accommodating 1,000 people, were erected by Mr. Turner. The new flag pole which the firm has just erected at the locks, is greatly admired. An order was received this morning for an awning all the way from Norwich.

THE POLICE COURT.

The Court Sits for Four Hours This Morning.

There were a large number of cases up before the Magistrate this morning, and the court sat for over four hours.

Brault vs. York was a wages case, in which the defendant acknowledged his liability and paid the wages, amounting to $1.25 and costs.

John Cooper, the tramp who chased Mr. Mulcahey's two little girls over in Otonabee, and afterwards pointed a pistol at Mr. Mulcahey himself, was committed for six months.

In the case of Roszel vs. Welsh, in which the defendant was charged with a violation of the pedlars' by-law, Mr. A. P. Foussette appeared for the defence and showed that Welsh was not soliciting orders, but on the contrary was merely delivering goods which had been ordered months before. The case was dismissed.

Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the prosecution and Mr. E. B. Stone for the defence in the case the Queen vs. McCargar & Dixon, in which the defendants are charged with selling goods with intent to defraud their creditors. The private prosecutor in the case is the firm of Sadler, Dundas & Flavelle, of Lindsay, and they accuse the firm of McCargar & Dixon with purchasing wheat from them at a time when they knew they were on the brink of failure and turning the same over for their own profit. Messrs. McCargar and Dixon were committed for trial, their bail being fixed at a thousand dollars each and two sureties in the sum of $500. each. It appears that Messrs. McCargar & Dixon had purchased two carloads of wheat from Saddler, Dundas & Flavelle at a certain figure. One car was delivered and paid for. The local firm refused to accept the other on the ground that they could not pay for it. The Lindsay firm urged the delivery of the wheat, and Messrs. McCargar & Dixon agreed to take the it on a tendays' acceptance.

On receiving the wheat they re-sold it to McLaughlin, of Toronto, at a few cents loss caused by the falling market. In the meantime McCargar & Dickson assigned, and the money received for the wheat is now held by the mawaiting the decision as to the parties to whom it should be paid.

ST. JOHN'S NEW ASSISTANT CURATE.

Farewell Reception to Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson Who Becomes Assistant Curate of St. John's on August 5th.

The Globe, of Saturday, has the following report of a farewell at-home tendered the Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, who, on August 5th, assumes the duties of Assistant Curate of St. John's,—A farewell at-home to the Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, curate of St. Stephen's church, was held the school house on Thursday evening last. A large gathering of his friends assembled. On the platform were the rector, the Rev. A. J. Broughall, the wardens, and a number of prominent members of the congregation. The rector, as chairman, after passing a glowing eulogy on Mr. Stevenson's valuable work in the parish during the past three years, and expressing his great regret at his resignation, called upon Mr. Canavan, who read a beautifully-illuminated address expressive of the esteem in which Mr. Stevenson is held, and their great regret at parting with him, accompanying the address with $100 in gold, which was handed to Mr. Stevenson by Mr. E. B. Tempie, the people's warden. Mr. Stevenson made an earnest and eloquent reply. Mr. H. C. Young, on behalf of the Boy's Brigade, also presented a handsome testimonial in recognition of his valuable work amongst them. Mr. Stevenson has accepted an appointment in Peterborough, whither he goes, bearing the best wishes of his many friends in Toronto.

A DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

A Gold Watch Taken from Mr. George Lipsett's Bedroom.

Mr. George Lipsett, proprietor of the Maple Leaf Hotel, Ashburnham, was the victim of one of the coolest and nerviest of daylight robberies yesterday.

Mr. Lipsett has been confined to a darkened room for some days, on account of trouble with his eyes, and in consequence has received his many friends who came to enquire for him, in his bedchamber.

Yesterday afternoon a gentleman called, and in being shown to the room, was thought by Mr. Lipsett to be someone who had at sometime patronized the hotel, and though he could not remember his face, welcomed him to the house.

After chatting some time and sympathizing with Mr. Lipsett in his affliction, he took his leave. A few minutes afterwards Mr. Lipsett's valuable gold watch was missed from the room and the stranger could not be found. The loss of course is ascribed to the visit of the stranger, who if he had but known could have also taken with him a well filled pocket book, which was in the inside pocket of a vest lying on a chair.

Mr. Lipsett has furnished the police with an accurate description of the man and his arrest is expected at an early date.

"Within Twelve Hours After First Dose The Pain Left me"—Rheumatism of Seven Years' Standing.

I have been a victim of rheumatism for seven years, being confined to bed for months at a time, unable to turn myself. I have been treated by many physicians in this part of the country, none of whom benefitted me. I had no faith in rheumatic cures advertised, but my wife induced me to get a bottle of South American rheumatic cure from Mr. Taylor, druggist, of Owen Sound. At the time I was suffering agonizing pain, but inside of twelve hours after I took the first dose the pain left me. I continued until I took three bottles, and I consider I am completely cured. THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH AT MILLBROOK.

A Very Large Attendance—The Village Beautifully Decorated—The Morning Procession—The Afternoon Procession and the Speaking Programme Spoiled by the Rain.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Millbrook, July 12th.—The Orange demonstration which took place here to-day, attracted fully six thousand people from all parts of this district. From early morning the people began to arrive in town, some on foot, many in vehicles, but most by rail, and it was unfortunate indeed in the interests of the demonstration that the rain, which for some time has kept off, began at one o'clock to pour down, and thereby largely spoil the day's proceedings.

Great preparations had been made for the occasion, beautiful arches spanned the streets, everywhere flags flew bravely in the breeze and the village looked like a forest of evergreens. The first motto to be seen on arriving at the station was "Welcome Brethren," and among the many others that were hung across the streets were "Boyne," "Derry," "Enniskillen," "Welcome Orange True Blues," "Augrim," and "God Save the Queen."

Five brass bands marched in the procession, the Fire Brigade Band of Peterborough being the strongest, with the Millbrook band next, but the Omemee band showed up well and was not far behind the best.

On the arrival of the trains from Lindsay and Peterborough a procession was formed, which paraded the streets. The different lodges then dispersed for dinner, after which another grand procession was to have taken place to Harper's grove, where speeches were to have been delivered by W. A. Fallis, M.P.P., Rev. Archdeacon Allen, Rev. D. N. McCamus and others.

At one o'clock, however, the rain burst forth and continued throughout the afternoon, so that the management were compelled to cancel all speeches, etc. About four o'clock the rain ceased for a while and the different lodges started to move off toward the station.

The rain started in the evening again and made it very disagreeable for those who had come to celebrate the glorious twelfth.

In the evening a grand concert was given under the auspices of the local lodge, and was a grand success.

None of the lodges from Port Hope showed up, on account of their not being able to have a special run out.

Mr. Sam Hughes, M.P., and Chas. Fairbairn, M.P., who were billed to speak, wired that, owing to the important question before the House, they were unable to get away.

from taking medicine. They don't like its taste. But they are eager to take what they like—Scott's Emulsion, for instance. Children almost always like Scott's Emulsion.

And it does them good.

Scott's Emulsion is the easiest, most palatable form of Cod-liver Oil, with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda added to nourish the bones and tone up the nervous system. The way children gain flesh and strength on Scott's Emulsion is surprising even to physicians.

All delicate children need it.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

XXI.

["A lady of Peterborough" was not in town when the previous correspondence was published. It is but fair, therefore, that she should be allowed the privilege of of reply to "Grandpapa." We very gladly extend this right to her, partly on account of the intrinsic merit of the discussion, and partly on account of the interest which we understand it has excited.]

"A LADY OF PETERBOROUGH" SPEAKS ONCE MORE.

DEAR SIR,—In spite of the prohibition to continue the "Lady Question," contained in last Saturday's Fortnightly Club column, I am tempted to "pray thee of thy clemency," to extend the golden sceptre, and give me an audience, as I reply to "Grandpapa's criticism.

I am a little afraid, for I think "Grandpapa" is clever, though friendly, I take his criticism to be; but I am only a woman, and woman-like, feel I must raise a note of self-defence, or in defence of my letter to girls.

"Grandpapa" says in his second letter: "I am inclined to think, if we talked together, the issues of it all would narrow down to this: Is it wise to exhort girls of all classes to be ladies? i. e., the use of this social term in the letter of "A Lady of Peterborough." Never for one moment did "A Lady of Peterborough" intend to exhort girls of all classes to be ladies in the

of the term, whether as representing birth, or polish of manner or the conventional standard of education of the mind, or social position. What she meant her remarks to amount to was this: "You want to be considered ladies. I take you on your own grounds—be lady-like, in other words, act, comport yourselves like ladies," and we believe all will admit certain things are consistent, and certain other things inconsistent with ladyhood. But then, my critics may say that further on in the letter we get these words: "How then are we to get at this desirable state of things, this ladyhood?" Is not this the actual state or condition itself of being a lady? Yes, verily; but according to the definition of the term contained in the letter, and here I must claim that those who are ladies by birth or popularly considered so by position, if they do not possess the characteristics mentioned, "purity and refinement of thought and feeling," are of ladies, (any more than a poor deformed dwarf is of a man, though a man he will still be called); they are miserable caricatures of it. And if we heard a woman, though she were a countess, talking in a loud masculine voice, using vulgar slang expressions, laughing noisly on the street, and overdressing herself; if we knew her to take pleasure in unrefined reading, or conversation, should we not think "how unladylike!" should we not feel in fact that she had forfeited the right to be called a lady, just as King Arthur's knights by any misdeed were excluded from the privileged circle evermore? And does not this all go to prove that to be a lady according to the true, unadulterated sense of the word, there must be, as a sine qua non, this "purity and refinement of thought and feeling?" And surely when we hold up anything for imitation, or for aspiration after, we do not present a miserably distorted specimen of it, but a normal well-proportioned sound specimen, and so, also, in continuation of this thought, I think we were not wrong in lower down mentioning the

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE "PERFECT LADY."

I will be honest and admit that just here I have mused over the absolute accuracy of bringing in the quality of unselfishness, but if we keep to the words "perfect lady," which are here used, that is the ideal lady, I think after all a selfish woman would hardly be an ideal lady. Somewhat in keeping with this is the original meaning of the word lady, "bread-giver" or "loaf giver," and it is sometimes helpful to get at the beginning of some of our words. And now I "make my bow" to "Grandpapa," and withdraw from the field. After all, I believe we both would mean much the same thing in the end, at any rate, this letter is written in all friendliness of spirit, though in defence.

A NINETY-SIX TON ELECTRIC ENGINE.

A Practical Triumph of the General Electric Company.

Electricity is daily widening the area of the practical application of its mysterious face, and what was a few years ago hardly more than a laboratory toy is being coerced by the energy of science into channels of multiform usefulness. The latest departure in the utilization of this mighty force is being made by the General Electric Company, of Schenectady, N.Y., which is manufacturing 96-ton locomotive, which develops a power capable of drawing a 500-ton passenger train 30 miles an hour or a 1200 ton freight train fifteen miles an hour over the Baltimore and Ohio Railway.

The locomotives are massive pieces of machinery, rivaling in size, impressiveness and weight the heaviest steam locomotives. They are symmetrical, even handsome in appearance, and are not, of course, disfigured by the series of humps and bumps which we are accustomed to on the steam locomotive. They are examples of the finest piece of electrical engineering ever conceived and carried to execution. They are no playthings, as the following dimensions show:—Number of trucks, 2; weight on driving wheels, 192,000 lbs. (96 tons); number of driving wheels, 8; draw-bar pull, 42,000 lbs.; starting drawbar pull, 60,000 lbs.; gauge, 4 ft. 8½ in.; diameter of drivers, 62 ins, outside of tires; length over all, 35 ft.; height to top of cab, 14 ft, 3 inches; extreme width, 9 ft. 6½ in.

The locomotive consists of a sheet steel cab set upon two trucks, each of which rests upon two pair of 62-inch wheels. The cab is in two parts, and each is supported upon one truck.

There are four motors, one to each axle. They are the largest railway motors in the world. They are rated at 360 horsepower each, and require normally 900 amperes of current to operate them. They are pyramidal in shape, have six poles and six brushes, and are gearless. The rest upon cross bars, hung upon springs upon the side frames of the truck.

Space will not admit of printing a detailed description of the locomotive and the associated arrangements for giving effect to its enormous power, which would be most interesting. It must be sufficient to say that tests have shown that the 96-ton electrical locomotive is a success, for which great credit is due the General Electric Company for taking the first step in the direction of utilizing electrical railway propulsion on so grand a scale, and for scoring so gratifying a success.

SELWYN.

On Friday, June 28th, the driving shed and contents of Mr. T. C. Manning were destroyed by fire. Revival of Trade.

Reports from the United States support the view that trade interests have vastly improved recently and that the business outlook for the future is encouraging. This will be welcome news to the people of Canada, since our trade interest will be stimulated and improved. In nothing has this improvement been shown in a more marked way than in the increased sales of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor Times being dull everything not absolutely needed became a luxury, and its sale became stationary. Now it is different. Sales have increased vastly, doubtless as it has proven the only safe, sure, and painless remedy for corns.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN BOTTOM OF BOBCAYGEON.

A Resident of Victoria County Since 1837.

After an illness of some months, Capt E. Bottum, of Bobcaygeon, succumbed to the inevitable on Thursday afternoon.

The Capt. took up his residence in Bobcaygeon in the spring of '37, when the locks were being built, and has since then always been a prominent figure in the affairs of the village. His occupation has been varied. Commencing as host of the Forest House, has at various times been engaged in store keeping, steam boating, running the Peterborough stage, auctioneer, and latterly as Lockmaster.

When the village was first formed as a municipality, he was elected to the council and for many years he sat as reeve. Last year he was Warden of the county. In politics he was a Conservative, and in his removal his party loses a skilful manager. The funeral takes place to-day (Saturday), at 1.30, and at his special request it is to be as private as possible, with no display. The Captain had a happy knack of making himself popular, and will long be remembered by a wide circle of friends. He was the owner of the steamer Maple Leaf plying on the back lakes.

What is a "Quick Meal" Gas Stove?

It is a solid, but light, pretty contrivance, fed with gas instead of coal or wood, and is especially invented for ladies who want to do their cooking comfortably in summer time in a cool kitchen. They are made of cast iron and wrought steel; nicely japanned and handsomely ornamented with fine nickel-plate and tile. The price of a small "Quick Meal" is small and the cost of gas is but little. All expense ends with extinguishing the flames We would like to have it understood "RIGHT HERE," that on a "Quick Meal" you can accomplish the same as on the best wood or coal stove, baking, roasting, broiling, cooking, washing, ironing and everything else. THE GLOW NIGHT LAMP.

It is an established fact that there has never been a night lamp on the market that was odorless, and most of the night lamps that are sold to-day absolutely poison the air in a close room. THE GLOW LAMP is the only night lamp that positively emits no odor when in operation, and is the only night lamp that should ever be used when it is necessary to burn a light all night, as for instance in the nursery or sick-room. It is a miniature gas-house, gasometer and gas-burner combined, automatically making and consuming its own gas.

One pint of kerosene, at a cost of about one cent, will give a pure, healthy, clean light for two hundred or more hours; i.e., twenty-ten hour nights. Sold only by

Scott's Sarsaparilla

ACUTE Inflammatory Rheumatism is produced by an excess of uric acid in the blood. Paralysis is merely a dead circulation produced by impure and impoverished blood. So-called neuralgia of the thigh is sciatic rheumatism; scrofulitic rheumatism is hereditary; syphilitic results from syphilis; gout is caused by high living; sluggish circulation affects the heart.

"THE KIND THAT CURES"

Thus the whole line of rheumatic diseases owe their being to an affected circulation of impure blood. No person can suffer a rheumatic pain that has a free and equal circulation of pure blood, and this accounts for Scott's Sarsaparilla curing the supposed incurable cases. It eradicates all rheumatic poisons and solds from the blood and equalizes the circulation.

FENCED IN BY FIRE

Michigan Towns in Danger of Destruction.

MILES OF COUNTRY ABLAZE

Two Lumber Towns in Ashes—Other Town Hemmed In—Hundreds Lose Their All—A Number of Lives Reported to Be Lost.

Detroit, July 13.—The upper part of the lower peninsula of Michigan was dotted last night with forest fires. Already the lumber towns of Wallin, in Hensle County, and Cleary, another little town, have been levelled to the ground. Several people have been badly burned, and no one knows how far the damage has extended.

The "Thumb" has been invaded, and the town of Kindee is girded with fire and ashes.

Wallin, as far as can be learned, is totally destroyed. The Sullivan Lumber Company's mills there and two million feet of lumber were burned, with 20 houses, that made up the little settlement. The people lost all they had.

Late despatches from Thompsonville show that about 20 persons have been taken there from Wallin more or less injured. One child is missing from Wallin.

Cleary, a small lumber town near Wallin, has been burned. The fires which have been burning for several days suddenly grew worse yesterday, and before the inhabitants were aware of it they were nearly hemmed in. They made a rush from the burning town, and, as far as known, left no one behind. Several people were badly burned.

From Kindee, in the "Thumb," where the great forest fires occurred a few years ago, come the most alarming reports. The town is surrounded by flames, that evey moment are sweeping nearer the place. The news as sent from towns near by is that the people of Kindee are wetting the roofs of their houses with wet blankets in the hope that they may save their property.

It is feared that the town will go, and messages urging the people to flee for their lives have been sent from several places.

Reports from Traverse City, Petowskey, Charlevoix and the other towns are all of the same tenor—that the fires have been burning for two weeks, and that a sudden strong wind has fanned them into alarming activity.

Already a number of farm houses have been burned, and the people are coming into town, telling that they have lost all they had on earth. Aged Father Smoke, one of the remnants of the Chippewa Indians, in the Petowskey region, lost his cabin yesterday.

Late reports from the extreme westerly end of the state are that there is a little improvement in the situation, but it is feared that the hot cinders have worked havoc among the famous orchards of that vicinity.

RODE ON THE CORPSE'S KNEES.

A Murderer Who Killed His Drunken Farm Hand Surrenders.

Sat Until 2 a.m.

Bridgeport, Conn., July 13.—About 12 o'clock last night Peter Winter entered the police station here, and said: "I want to give myself up. I have killed a man. Go outside and you will see the body."

An officer stepped out and found a horse and phaeton in the street. In the phaeton were a man and a woman, and sitting bolt upright between them was a corpse. The mouth was open, and blood was dripping from the beard. The man was Charles Butler and the woman Mrs. Callaghan. The corpse was that of the latter's son by her first husband and brother of the man who sat beside it. Butler and Mrs. Callaghan said the murder had been committed in the town of Trumbull, nine miles away. They had ridden to the city by moonlight, holding the dead man between them, while Winter sat on the stiffened knees of the corpse and drove. The body was taken to the morgue and Winter was locked up.

At the inquest to-day the witnesses of the murder were contradictory in their statements. It appeared at first that Winter had killed William Butler in self-defence, but as there is doubt on that point Winter was bound over.

Winter is 65 years old, a farmer and of good reputation. It is his custom to hire extra men during the haying season. For several years he has employed Butler at that time. The agreement was that Butler should receive part of his pay in hard cider. Butler had worked two weeks and had already drunk up the supply of hard cider. He demanded more. Winter refused to give him any more until the next day. Butler had been a hard drinker, and when intoxicated was always ugly.

While Farmer Winter was at supper Butler entered and struck him. Winter ran to an outbuilding. Butler followed and Winter dodged back into the house. So far all the stories agree. Mrs. Winter and all the witnesses but one stated that Winter seized a hickory stick and struck Butler across the chest. Another aired man named Ruck, however, said that Winter struck Butler with an iron bar on the chest and afterwards on the head. Butler was knocked insensible. Winter and his wife tried to revive him, but failing they placed him in the phaeton and drove to Butler's home. Before they arrived he died. Then Winter, Chas. Butler and Mrs. Callaghan started for this city with the corpse.

A peculiar part of the affair was the indifference of the brothers of the victim. They all said it was no more than they expected, that William was always seeking quarrels, and that it was a wonder he had not been killed before.

McCallum's tannery. It has been decided to hold an inquest. Mr. J. E. McDonell, who discovered the fire in the tannery on the morning of May 20 last, has been summoned to appear at the inquest, as the coroner has been informed that he can give material evidence.

THREE METHODIST LEADERS.

Have all Used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and Declared Strongly in its Favour.

The clergy of Canada of all denominations, seldom hesitate to speak frankly in the interests of a good cause, or on behalf of some meritorious article. Force is given to utterances of this character, when the men can speak from individual experience. This is the case with the Rev. A. B. Chambers, LL.B., Rev. Wm. Galbraith, LL. B., and Rev. W. H. Withrow, D.D., than whom few ministers of the Methodist church are better known in Toronto or elsewhere throughout the Dominion. As with many others these brethren have been sufferers from cold in the head, and its invariable successor catarrh. A remedy, however, was within their reach. They used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and found, as everyone else finds, that relief was speedy and effective, and desiring to benefit others, they frankly make this statement to the world over their own signature.

One short puff of the breath through the Blower supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses the powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use, it relieves in ten minutes and permanently cures Catarrh, Hay Fever, Colds, Headache, Tonsilitis and Deafness. Sixty cents. Sample bottle and blower sent on receipt of two three cent stamps. S. G. Detchon, 44 Church street, Toronto. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it falling out. Mrs. H. W. Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. Fenwick, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. Weber, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

SIDE SADDLES DISCARDED.

A New Style of Divided Skirt Which Enables Women to Ride Horseback Man Fashion with Comfort —Very Popular

The quick, progressive Chicago woman has been quick to take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the favor into which the bicycling craze has lifted the bloomer costume. With her experience of the comfort and freedom of bloomers gained in bicycling, and with the removal of the prejudice against the costume, which has been one of the results of its adoption by so many wheelwomen, she has boldly adopted bloomers for horseback riding, and in the parks of Chicago riding horseback astride, clad in modified bloomers.

MISS WOOD'S DIVIDED SKIRTS.

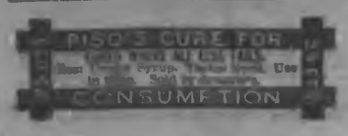
The question of women riding horseback astride has been much discussed from a medical and hygenic standpoint, and most authorities seem to favor the method as being most healthful and rational. Among most of the less civilized people it is the invariable custom for the women to ride horseback astride like the men. But conventionality, and not comfort, is what has counted in civilized countries, and though many efforts have been made to discard the clumsy and dangerous side saddle, they have all been frowned down. Bicycling has now come to the rescue.

The costume shown in the accompanying pictures, reproduced from the Chicago Tribune, was designed and is worn by Miss Wood, and is in its general lines the costume worn by all the Chicago women who have taken to riding astride. The lower garment may be called a divided skirt, but practically it resembles a pair of very wide trousers. The two skirts, each a third of a yard in width, are fastened in a belt at the waist, and gathered in with a row of plaits at the middle of the front and back. These plaits give the divided garment the appearance of a single skirt, and the fulness of each skirt at the bottom completes the illusion. A panel almost as wide as the apparent width of the skirt falls on each side, from the belt almost to the foot, which adds to the effectiveness and conventional appearance of the costume when the wearer is astride a horse. The improvement claimed for this costume over the ordinary divided skirt is that there is no clumsy fulness at the bottom. The skirt hangs straight and is no wider than an ordinary riding habit. The waist is, of course, a matter of personal taste, as there is no novelty involved in its construction.



It will be observed that the costume is by no means so much of a departure as the bicycle bloomer suit. Indeed, in appearance it is no departure at all, and in use it displays less of the contour of the figure than the regular riding habit used with the side saddle. The novelty, and the point that required nerve for the innovator, was the fact of riding astride. Perhaps the new woman will quickly come to knee bloomers and golf stockings for her horseback costume, now that the ice has been broken.

The woman who introduced the innovation in Chicago did so as a result of her experience in riding horseback in Palestine. After much discomfort and several mishaps in riding in a dilapidated side saddle, she one day boldly threw her leg across the horse's back and rode that way all day before any one discovered her. All the Arabian women ride astride, and she followed the custom of the country during the rest of her stay there. With the remembrance of the comfort experienced on that trip she decided to adopt man's fashion in Chicago, and did so, with the result that her example is being followed by a large and increasing number of women in the Windy City. Six women riding astride were seen in one park there on a single day recently.

The saddle used in most cases is an ordinary man's saddle, but some women has a short horn on the front to prevent the possibility of slipping forward. —New York Sun.

Improvement in Scales.

A simple contrivance is suggested by W. H. F. Kuhlmann for enabling workers with the balance to read the position of the pointer more exactly and readily. His idea is to reverse the scale so that it faces a concave cylindrical mirror attached to the column supporting the balance. The pointer is made finer at the end than usual, and moves between the scale and the mirror in which a magnified image of the pointer and scale is visible.

Crispi's Coat of Mail.

Premier Crispi, of Italy, it is interesting to know, has recently made preparations to defend himself against possible assassination. Ever since the last attempt upon his life this excitable prime minister has been in a constant state of alarm, and he fears a dagger or a bullet at almost every corner and upon every occasion. To ease his mind he has lately had made for him a coat of chain mail, such as the chevaliers wore in the middle ages, which he wears under his outer shirt.

It is very light, exceedingly solid and of double thickness over the heart. Its power of resistance is such that not only will it afford protection against the slenderest of stilettos, but a revolver bullet cannot penetrate it. In workmanship it is a beautiful piece of construction, and so flexible and easy to wear that it occasions no discomfort to the noted man who dons it. Probably it is the finest coat of chain mail ever manufactured, for it has all the improvements of modern armor combined with the utility and strength of the mediaeval metal garments.

The cleverest of the clever armorers of Naples (who, by the way, should henceforth be known as "Armor-suit Poole") constructed it, and only charged the prime minister 600 francs ($120), a marvellously low price for such a unique garment.—New York World.

A STRANGE CASE.

Mr. H. McCarron of Detroit Completely Cured of Blood Poisoning.

Detroit, Mich., July 1.—A very curious incident has occurred here, and one which will be of continental interest. Mr. Hugh McCarron, a well known notary public, has been a sufferer for many years from a peculiar form of blood poisoning inducing the most frightful pains in the breast and back. The best doctors were consulted without being able to give any relief and Mr. McCarron decided that his case was hopeless. He was finally recommended to make a trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and did so with the faint hope that they might have some effect in his case, the peculiar nature of which did not lead him to associate it with Kidney complaint. To his surprise the effects of the remedy were noticeable from the very first, and he is now thoroughly restored to health by this means.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder disease relieved in six hours by the "Great South American Kidney Cure." UNLIKE ANY OTHER MEDICINE.

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognised that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

OVER TWENTY-FOUR THOUSAND DELEGATES.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

The Congress in Boston—Twenty-Four Thousand Delegates Present—Annual Report of Secretary Baer—Success of Secretary Baer—Success of the Society—Next Meeting at San Francisco.

The greatest meeting of the Christian Endeavour Convention began Thursday morning under favourable conditions. The sky was cloudy, but did not threaten rain, and the thousands of earnest and happy delegates were early on the streets of Boston. A larger part of the immense crowd that attended meetings went to the Mechanics' Hall, while the others were about equally divided between the tents Williston and Endeavour on Boston commons. It is estimated that about 24,000 delegates attended the meetings, which were held simultaneously. The chorus of 1,000 started their songs of praise long before the convention formally opened, and continued the hymns until President Clark appeared on the platform.

The annual report of Secretary John Willis Baer was read at 11.30 Friday morning before the Christian Endeavour Convention. The report was read simultaneously by Secretary Baer in Mechanics' building, by Rev. John Barstow, Medford, Mass., in Tent Williston, and by Mr. J. E. Cheesman, Cleveland, Ohio, in Tent Endeavour.

THE REPORT OPENS

as follows:—Every useful wheel must have its hub. Every hub, to be useful, must have its wheel. Figuratively speaking, Christian Endeavour is a useful wheel; certainly Boston is the hub. As we are in the hub, let us turn the wheel upon its axis, and from the hub view its revolutions. Its circumference equals that of the globe, and its spokes number thousands upon thousands. Each year the circumference of the Christian Endeavour wheel widens; each year thousands of spokes are added. Last year our wheel was strengthened by 7,750 new societies (or "spokes," if you please). This is the largest increase for any one year since the "wheel commenced revolving, fourteen years ago. Spoke after spoke passes our vision rapidly in this whirl of inspection, in all 41,229. Of these 4,712 are from other lands, the United Kingdom heading the list with 2,645, which figure includes 180 from Wales, 112 from Scotland, and 53 from Ireland. Australia now has no less than 1,509, Africa 30, China 32, France 64, India 117, Japan 59, Madagascar 98, Mexico 25, Turkey 39, West India Islands 63, and so on until every country is represented save five, Italy, Russia, Iceland, Sweden and Greece.

AND NOW THE SPOKES

from the Dominion of Canada come into view. Ontario, with her remarkable growth of the last year, leads with 1,095, Nova Scotia 388, Quebec 264, New Brunswick 152, Manitoba 150, Prince Edward Island 62, Assiniboia 53, British Columbia 40, Alberta 15, Saskatchewan 5. In all, counting 5 in Newfoundland, 3,105, an increase of 1,323 during the past year.

The report then refers to the number of junior societies, of which there are said to be 8,859 in the United States, 329 in Canada, and 224 from other lands, making in all 9,122 junior societies, with a membership of 340,000. Pennsylvania still leads the juniors with 1,033, New York, not very far behind, with 920, Illinois next with 746, Ohio 623, Indiana 470, California 414, etc.

The report continues:—And now we have counted the spokes as they have swept by our vision. A total of 41,229 societies, with an individual membership from every climate and every nation, with skins of varying colour, of which 490 are red, 20,300 are yellow, 109,400 are black, and 2,342,550 are white, in all a great interracial brotherhood of 2,473,740. Our eyes are now directed towards familiar "ribbon," "badge" banners, which have been displayed of late, and will be presented here during the session of the convention.

The banner for the greatest proportionate increase in total number of societies during the year, that was first given to Oklahoma, then to Manitoba, then to New Mexico, and which has been in the custody of West Virginia during the last year, will now pass across the imaginary line for the coming year into the hands of our comrades in Assiniboia. Pennsylvania first captured the "badge banner," which is awarded each year for the greatest gain. Ontario took it one year, and then returned it to the Keystone State. Pennsylvania last year was obliged to give it up to England, where it has been displayed this year. It is in Boston to-day, and our honoured guest who brought it from Englands shores can proudly return with the banner for none of the States have been able to equal the excellent record of the Mother Country. Ontario and Pennsylvania, in order named, were not so very far behind; however, for the second time this banner crosses the "briny" deep.

GUARD IT WELL;

we intend to capture it for this side anyear. There are other banners, however, to be awarded—the junior "badge" banners. Pennsylvania carried two junior banners from our last convention—one for the largest total number of junior societies, the other for the largest gain in one year. Pennsylvania is again entitled to those banners. The junior banner for the largest proportionate gain in number of societies was delivered last year by the District of Columbia to Delaware. Delaware this year must pass her banner to Assiniboia, for that province has surpassed the record of all others. Shall Assiniboia hold two banners another year? When we gather next year we shall know.

The denominational representation in the society in Canada is given as follows,—The Methodists of Canada lead with 1,057 young people's societies and 122 junior societies, most of the societies known as Epworth Leagues of Christian Endeavour; Canadian Presbyterians are next with 979 young people's societies and 108 junior societies, Baptists next with 160 young people's societies and 26 junior societies; Congregationalists next with 122 young people's societies and 36 junior societies, etc.

The report also states that after careful gathering of statistics and information and from advice received from the representatives of Missionary Boards, home and foreign, we find that the societies in the United States and Canada have contributed not less than $425,000 for missions at home and abroad.

The trustees of the United Societies of the Christian Endeavour, Friday, decided upon San Francisco as the place for holding the convention in 1897.

The Board of Trustees of the Union Society of Christian Endeavourers have decided that the convention of two years hence shall be held at San Francisco.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

U.S. SILVER DUTIABLE.

$200 in American Currency Seized by a Windsor Customs Officer.

Windsor, Ont., July 13.—A man representing several of the bookmakers installed at the race track was quizzed by Customs Officer McGlashan yesterday afternoon as to the contents of a heavy bag he carried. He confessed to $200 in silver. McGlashan asked him to put up $50 duty, which the man declined to do, so the bag was detained. Mr. McGlashan says: "I stopped the silver under the revised tariff of 1894. The schedule admits free all coinage except that of the United States."

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4,000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50% less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

Drive Away Dullness.

Perhaps July is a dull month, but a little extra energy will manage to drive away dullness.

It's a mistaken idea that people lock up their purses during the summer months. If the right lever is used they open easily.

We make July a clearing month, and by so doing make friends for the Fall by very low prices.

Here's the lever we are using just now. We have planned for a stirring Seven Days

Small-Ware Sale.

Saturday morning we commence a clearance of our decks of every article in the Small Ware Department that has a suspicion of being lonesome, including:—

Straw Hats, Ribbons, Gloves, Hosiery, Veilings, Underwear, Dress Trimmings, Parasols, Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, Belts, Buckles, Men's Furnishings

All to be turned into prompt cash—that means a big slice off wholesale prices—such a slice as will make stock reducers in earnest. This store must never be dull.

BRITISH ELECTIONS.

A Poor Outlook for the Imperial Liberals.

SIR WILLIAM HARCOURT DEFEATED

The First Day's Nominations and Polling Shows Unlooked-for Conservative and Unionist Gains — Ten Liberals Only Returned in a Total of 110.

London, July 13.—The Liberals are in a very desponding mood. All Saturday long, and far into the night, the returns were coming in, and all of them showed that there was not the slightest hope for the party holding its own in the elections. This was not unexpected, for the Liberal leaders went to the polls firm in the belief that they would be defeated, but they did not expect the crushing blows that were delivered to them in constituencies that were held to be safely Liberal. The leaders were staggered when the telegraph brought the information that Sir William Vernon Harcourt, whom many believed should have been the successor of Mr. Gladstone in the councils of the party, had been defeated in Derby, together with his fellow-representative from that district, Sir Thomas Roe. It was never thought by the Liberals that Derby would prove false to the principles of the party, but the figures given below show the party had built their house on sand.

As straws show the direction of the wind, so the assault upon Sir William and Lady Vernon Harcourt and Sir Thomas Roe, after a political meeting in Derby yesterday, showed that the feelings of the electors, or at least a large proportion of them, were bitterly hostile to certain principles advocated by the Liberals. The Local Veto bill had as many enemies as friends among the rank and file of the party, and Sir William Vernon Harcourt's strenuous advocacy of that measure was no doubt responsible in a great measure for his downfall. Certain classes of workingmen want no veto of any kind placed upon the liquor traffic, and when Sir William took the position he did on the question he alienated many of his supporters, how many the figures show, for there is scarcely a doubt that this was the most important factor in his defeat. What he will do now is, of course, an open question. Two courses are open to him. He can seek re-election in some other constituency or retire from public life. As he is undoubtedly the most able man in the Liberal party to-day, the public are keenly alive to the importance of the decision he may arrive at.

From many other directions the returns show a great falling off in the Liberal vote. The Tories are wild with the victories they have already gained, and the most exaggerated predictions are being made as to the size of the Unionist majority in the next House.

Returns up to this afternoon show that 34 Conservatives, 12 Unionists, 10 Liberals and 4 Parnellites have been returned to the House of Commons without opposition.

Contested elections were held in the following districts, with the result announced below:

Derby, Mr. Bemrose (Con.), 7907; Geoffrey Drage (Con.), 7078; Sir William Vernon Harcourt (Lib.), ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer, 6785; Sir Thomas Roe (Lib.), 6475.

This is a bad defeat for the Liberals. Sir William Vernon Harcourt had represented Derby, which returns two members, since 1880, and Sir Thomas Roe, the other member, had represented his district since 1883. In the last election Sir William polled 7507 votes and Sir Thomas 7389.

Manchester, East Division, Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury in the new Cabinet, 5386; Prof. G. E. C. Munro (Lib.), 4810. Conservative majority, 576. In the last election Mr. Balfour defeated Prof. Munro by a majority of 398.

Manchester, South Division, the Marquis of Lorne (Unionist), 4457; Sir Henry Roscoe (Lib.), 4379. Conservative majority, 78, against 159. Sir Henry was the last incumbent of the seat.

Stockport—F. Whiteley (Con.), 5410. Beresford—V. Melville (Con.), 5067; Sir J. Leigh (Lib.), 4933; Mr. Rokill (Lib.), 4562. This district at the last election returned one Liberal and one Conservative.

York City, J. Butcher (Con.), 5516; Sir Frank Lockwood, formerly Solicitor-General (Lib.), 5309; Alfred Edward Peace (Lib.), 5214. This district returned two members, Mr. Butcher and Mr. Lockwood, who represented it in the last Parliament.

Barrow-in-Furness—C. W. Cayzer (Con.), 3192; Mr. Bonnerjee (Lib.), 2355; P. Curran (Labor), 411. The vote for the Conservative and Liberal candidates shows a falling off in each case. Mr. Cayzer's vote at the last election was 3312 and the vote for his Liberal opponent 2890.

Perth—Robert Wallace (Lib.), 2137; William Whitelaw (Con.), 1763. The Conservative majority in the last election was 227, thus making the Liberal gain 601.

Chatham—Ald. Davies (Unionist), 4082; R. H. Cox (Lib.), 3499. Conservative majority, 593. At the last general election the Conservative majority was 377.

Manchester, Northern Division—Sir William H. Houldsworth (Con.), 4987; Mr. Byrnes (Lib.), 3526. At the last election Sir William was returned without opposition.

Manchester, Southwest Division—W. J. Galloway (Unionist), 3994; Mr. Astbury (Lib.), 3496. Unionist majority, 498, a gain of 646. Mr. Jacob Bright (Lib.) formerly represented the district.

Grantham—H. Y. B. Lopez (Con.), 1507; Mr. Waddy (Lib.), 1167. Conservative majority, 340. At the last election, when Mr. Lopez was returned before, his majority was only 33.

Exeter—Sir H. S. Northcote (Con.), 3857; Mr. Hogg (Lib.), 3363. Conservative majority, 494. At the last election Sir Henry's majority was 555.

Manchester, Northeast Division—Sir J. Fergusson (Con.), formerly Postmaster-General, Governor of South Australia, Governor of New Zealand, etc., 3961; Edwyn Holt (Lib.), 3720; Mr. Johnson (Labor), 548. At the last general election Sir J. Fergusson's majority was 110. His majority now over Mr. Holt is 241.

Manchester, North Division—C. E. Schwann (Lib.), 4327; A. H. A. Morton (Unionist), 3872. Liberal majority, 455, a gain of 153.

Salford, West Division—Lees Knowles (Con.), 4354; Barmitage (Lib.), 4254. Conservative majority, 100, a gain of 60.

Christ Church—A. H. Smith (Con.), 3196; Hon. T. A. Brassey (Lib.), 3114. Conservative majority, 34, a loss of 119. Mr. Smith represented the district in the last Parliament.

Lincoln—C. H. Seeley (Con.), 3902; W. Crossfield (Lib.), 3590. Conservative majority, 312, a gain of 442. Mr. Crossfield sat for the district in the last Parliament.

Darlington—V. Pease (Con.), 2354; Sir Theodore Fryn (Lib.), 2697. Unionist majority, 657, a gain of 713. Sir Theodore was a member of the last Parliament.

Salford, Northern Division—Mr. Platt-Higgins (Unionist), 3857; W. Holland (Lib.), 3851; Unionist majority, 6, a gain of 292. Mr. Holland was the sitting member for Salford.

Salford, South Division—Sir Henry H. Howarth (Con.), 3384; A. Forrest (Lib.), 3310; P. W. Hobart (Socialist), 813. Sir Henry has represented the district for nine years. His vote shows a falling off of 22, compared with what he received at the last election. The Liberal vote fell off 59, while the Socialist or Labor vote increased 260.

Leicester (two seats)—H. Broadhurst (Lib.), 9795; W. Hazel (Lib.), 7748; J. F. Le Rolston (Unionist), 7658; J. Burgess (Labor), 4011. Messrs. Broadhurst and Hazel were the previous incumbents of the seats. Mr. Broadhurst's vote shows a gain of 331, and Mr. Hazel's a gain of 565. Messrs. Rolleston and Burgess were candidates at the last election.

The Sun, T. P. O'Connor's paper, commenting upon the elections and Sir William's defeat, will say to-morrow: "We have begun very badly. The results will keenly disappoint the Liberals."

The House of Commons was dissolved Monday, July 8, and on the following day the writs were received in the various ridings. The subjoined table indicates the procedure, the elections closing July 27.

DON SIZES UP THE PREMIER.

This is Don's (Saturday Night's) latest comment on the situation at Ottawa:—"The position of the Dominion Government has been rendered conspicuous in its absurdity by the playing in public of every hand held by every Minister. The crisis has disclosed a situation which has nothing to do with principle. All that seems to be contended for is the possession of power. Principle has been abandoned entirely. The things that we consider sacred are being bandied about as if they were job lots of old goods left over. Sir Mackenzie Bowell may just as well recognize the fact that he is not considered a representative of Ontario. He is despised in Quebec; he is laughed at everywhere else. Canada cannot afford to make the Premiership simply the climax of an old man's life. Sir Mackenzie may suppose that he is at the end of his tether, and for ease and for mere continuance of power may think that he can do as he pleases until he dies or is defeated. Canada has dignity to maintain. The people are not simply the playthings of Mackenzie Bowell, and, hard as it may be, if he has pledged his Cabinet to remedial legislation and a future session he has sold goods that he cannot deliver, and he is a recreant to the trust that the people of Ontario placed in him and is a public person that must be wiped off the slate, and nothing can save him, not only from defeat, but from obloquy, from shame, from the most dreadful of all the endings to which human life may tend, being buried with the contempt of his fellow-citizens. Canada reached a low level when it accepted Mackenzie Bowell as Premier; it will have reached its limit of shame when it places over his grave the legend: "This man betrayed the order that trusted him, that made him, and became the creature and tool of those who could give him nothing but a few weeks' additional power."

A TORY OPINION.

The Hamilton Spectator Takes a Very Gloomy View Of the Situation.

The Hamilton Spectator, for many years one of the most prominent organs of the Conservative party in western Ontario, publishes an editorial headed "The Situation," in which the crisis arising over remedial legislation is discussed. The Spectator lays down the following conclusions:—

"The British members are dissatisfied. The Government, in a vain attempt to please the French, has ruthlessly consigned almost every Ontario Conservative member—and many members from other provinces—to their political graves. The Government has hanged the millstone of the remedial legislation promise about the neck of the Ontario member, and bade him plunge into the sea. Imagine Conservative candidates appearing before the people of Hamilton and asking to be returned to Ottawa to vote for the coercion of Manitoba! And as it is in Hamilton so it is in the province over, and in the other British provinces.

"The contingency of compromise need not be at all considered—there will be none. Then there remains the threat of the Government to force Manitoba, to attempt which would be the death of any Government. Is the Conservative party of Canada, having in charge the welfare of the country; being the preservers of the trade policy of the country, to be wrecked by the Government in a vain attempt to please the French of Quebec? Is the whole country and its businesses and general interests to be allowed to go to the dogs, because a few Quebec Frenchmen insist upon imposing a miserable religious question upon the notice of Parliament—a question which should never have been taken by the Government. Is the great Conservative party to stand by idly and see its managers at Ottawa entangling themselves in the meshes of the Quebec net, to the imminent danger of the trade policy of which that party is the promoter and guardian?

"The postponement does not better the situation; it makes it worse. During the next six months the Quebecers will be encouraged to continue to demand, and the British members will be encouraged to refuse to bow the knee to Quebec, and give up the management of the general government and the management of the provincial schools to the insatiable French-Canadian, and when Parliament is called again the fight will be stronger than ever. Is the country bound to endure this turmoil for another six months, with no greater chance of ending it then than now?

"There is one way out. A reconstruction of the Cabinet would wipe out all plans and promises, and with the sad experience of the present Cabinet before their eyes, the new Government might be able to end the dispute and restore the country to peace and harmony."

IN THE RIGHT PLACE.

He Makes No Mistake Who Seeks the Shelter of the Meteor Flag.

(Montreal Star.)

Young Woodward, the New York newspaper reporter whose investigations in Cuba for his paper got him into trouble, and who, after being refused countenance by the American Consul, had to take refuge under the British flag, was guided by good sense. He knew the right place to look for protection. When any individual is in distress, and the Union Jack happens to be in the vicinity, he makes no mistake in getting under its folds. The old flag has a good many tatters in it because it has been in use for some time, but on all dangerous occasions it still commands considerable respect, and, in numerous cases, fear. There is on record an instance of a British ship being invaded and two persons, who were enjoying British protection, being forcibly removed. But, if we are correctly informed, they were afterwards restored to their chosen asylum, and since that time no one has cared to overhaul British vessels and take away anyone on board. The young reporter was safe as he could be. No doubt his feelings were mixed. He must have heard rumours in days agone of effete monarchy, of British tyranny and the Saxon oppressor and he may have looked around for these commodities when stepping on board. But he did not see them, because they have no more existence than Mrs. Gamp's cherished friend, the suppositious Mrs. Harris. Furthermore, the young American may assure his coudtrymen that the British flag was as glad to enfold him as he was to be enwrapped therein, and a general invitation is always extended to Americans to return to their old allegiance and receive a hearty welcome.

THE EFFECTS OF THE DROUTH.

How it Affects Business Affairs.

It is feared here that the effects of the prolonged drouth in this Province are becoming serious. In some districts in the western part of Ontario where the pastures are dried up for want of moisture, it is said farmers are feeding green leaves of trees with chopped feed to their cattle, and in some cases live stock are offered for sale at a sacrifice, owing to the scarcity of feed. The price of millfeed has had a sharp advance, owing to the scarcity, the mills not having been grinding much for some time, owing to the slow export demand for flour. The fact that the drouth has practically ruined the hay crop in most sections in the Province, and the fear that it will greatly diminish the crop of wheat and coarse grains, has checked the demand for staple goods, which the country retailers usually order at this season, and the outlook for trade is much less encouraging this week. The country dealers are not disposed to give liberal placing orders for the fall business till they can get a better idea of the extent of the crop damage and the effect of the drouth on dairy and other produce. They are pursuing a policy of greater caution in the matter of ordering goods, and so far the volume of trade done in fall dry goods is comparatively light. In other lines the situation is generally unchanged. The local money market is rather easier, and the supply of funds is abundant, but the demand is not very satisfactory at the moment.

FIRE ON AN ATLANTIC LINER.

Fatal Explosion Followed by Fire on La Normandie

New York, July 14.—La Normandie, arrived from Havre this morning, had a decidedly eventful voyage. Just after her departure from Havre Fireman Francois Lefiem was instructed to open one of the coal bunkers. He did so, using a naked light. As soon as the hatch was opened there was a rush of gas, which instantly ignited at the lamp flame, and exploded with tremendous force, instanly killing Lefiem and doing more or less damage to the bunker fittings. Lefiem was a native of Britany. He was buried at sea.

On July 9, just after the passengers had seated themselves at dinner, fire was discovered in the forehold, and a fire alarm was instantly sounded. The crew ran to the fire stations, and lines of hose were stretched along the decks. The passengers were quiet and orderly under the circumstances, and there was no panic. Officers and crew worked systematically all night long, and toward morning had the fire well under control. At 9 o'clock on the morning of the 10th, the fire was entirely out. The passengers, headed by Bishop O'Connell, drew up a set of resolutions thanking Captain Daloncle, his officers and crew for their bravery and energy.

La Normandie made port without further incident, except a birth in the steerage.

Parachutist Killed.

London, July 13.—An Australian parachutist named Campbell met with a fatal acident to-day at Horsham, Sussex. He was ascending in his balloon, and had arisen to the height of 50 feet, when the car attached to the balloon struck a chimney. Campbell was thrown out and fell to the ground, receiving injuries from which he is dying.

His Body the Sport of Four Trains.

Smith's Falls, Ont., July 13.—A young man named Wesley Griffin, residing near Brockville, was run over and killed on the railway track near here last night. His remains were found this morning scattered along the track, and must have been tossed back and forth by four trains which passed through during the night.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. TROLLEYS COLLIDE.

Fatality on a Toronto Suburban Road.

TWO KILLED AND FIVE INJURED

A Car Loaded With Children Crashed Into by Another Motor on a One Track Road Near Victoria Park —Other Deaths May Follow.

DEAD—James Stewart, aged 12; Frank Townsend, aged 13.

INJURED—William J. Graham, motorman, bones of both legs broken below knee; also ankle of right leg; injuries serious. William Northam, conductor, right side of face cut. Robert H. Dunn, accountant, head cut and badly shaken up. Lettie Lamb, aged 17, bruised. William Newman, aged 10, ankle badly wrenched.

Toronto, July 15.—Saturday at 2.47 car No. 444 of the Toronto Railway Co. with a trailer containing 150 pupils and teachers of Sackville-st. Mission Hall attached, collided with car No. 8 of the Scarboro line, better known as the "Lalla Rookh." The scene of the collision was just opposite the Cobley cottage, about 100 yards west of where the line turns down to Victoria Park.

The Lalla Rookh left Victoria Park a minute or two after 2.40 and was on her way westward at a rate of 10 miles an hour, with A. Baker as motorman. She carried no passengers. The city car, with her full freightage, was going at about the same speed towards Victoria Park.

The motors came together with a frightful crash.

In front of the Cobley residence there is a curve in the track amounting to some 12 feet from the straight line and at its western end thick cedar trees shut off all view of the line for a longer distance than 30 yards.

The motormen of both cars say they didn't see each other until 25 yards apart. The Scarboro car, which is furnished with double brakes, was immediately reversed, and was running backwards. Car No. 444, despite the efforts of Motorman Graham to prevent it, could not be stopped in time to avert the collision.

Some idea of the nature of the shock of the colliding cars may be gathered from the fact that pieces of window glass from car 444 were thrown 10 feet within Mr. Cobley's garden, a total distance of about 18 feet from the track. The vestibule of the front car, carrying the Sackville-street Mission children, was filled with children as the two cars passed the Ontario House, but all, with the exception of two lads named James Stewart, aged 11, son of Mrs. Sarah Stewart of 155 Sumach-street, and Frank Townsend, aged 13, son of Henry Townsend, 185 Eastern-avenue, either jumped into the road, or pushed their way inside before the shock came. The front of the city car was completely shattered, and the two lads, with the motorman of 444, William Graham of 289 Logan-avenue, were buried in the debris. Accountant Robert H. Dunn of the Toronto Type Foundry, who resides at 375 Parliament-street, and is a teacher at the mission, was thrown on the road unconscious, and many of the pupils were more or less bruised and shaken up. The cries of the terror-stricken children were appalling, and it was some minutes before anyone on board became sufficiently cool to attend to the three unfortunates. The mass of broken iron and broken glass, together with the twisted fenders and guards, covered Stewart, Townsend and the motorman, but they were quickly pulled out.

Motorman Graham was carried into the Cobley Cottage and carefully laid on a bed in the parlor, while the two boys were placed, the one on a seat in the wrecked car and the other on cushions by the road side.

Dr. J. V. Brown, 186 King-street west, were on the spot and aided in looking after Motorman Graham and Conductor Northam of the Scarboro car. The latter had a cut on the right cheek, but the pulled-up trousers of the former revealed both legs broken below the knee, the right ankle broken and blood pouring out of a gash on the right leg by the cupful. Graham was also sent to the hospital.

Mr. Dunn had meantime been restored to consciousness. An examination of his injuries showed that they were superficial.

Lettie Lamb of 375 Parliament-street and William Newman of 10 Whitesides-place, two pupils, received painful injuries, but the remainder of those on board escaped with a general shaking up. To the packed condition of the cars is attributed the small list of injured, the jam in the motor preventing the children being thrown about.

Stewart had bled freely from the lungs while en route to the hospital, and was in a dying condition when taken in. Both legs were broken below the knees, and he was injured internally. It was seen that his injuries were fatal, and he died at 5.30.

Young Townsend's right leg was torn and lacerated from the knee, and he was suffering greatly from shock. He died at 11.30 through sheer nervous collapse. His mother had been with him until 11, and had returned home to get some rest, when he was discovered to be sinking. She was summoned, but arrived too late.

It was found that Motorman Graham had sustained compound fractures of both legs below the knee, and he is injured internally. While his condition is will recover. The terrible injuries to his leg were due largely to the fact that at the moment of the collision it was jammed tight against the brake-rod, and broke like a stick at the blow.

Humbert to Victoria.

London, July 14.—King Humbert, replying to the messages sent him by Queen Victoria, expressing her pleasure at the visit to England of the Italian fleet, has sent Her Majesty an enthusiastic despatch, thanking her for the reception accorded the squadron by the British naval officers and people.

No Politics in the Church.

Dublin, July 14.—The Most Rev. W. J. Walsh, Archbishop of Dublin, has sent a circular letter to the clergy of his diocese, protesting against the feuds and dissensions between public men in Ireland, and reminding the clergy that it is improper for them to deal with politics in the churches.

AT THE BISLEY BUTTS.

How the Canadian Team Are Winning the Money Prizes.

London, July 13.—The weather conditions were more favorable Saturday morning for the rifle shooting contests at Bisley. The sun shone brightly and the wind, which was blowing quite strong, had gone down. The events resulted in better scores, though the results for the Canadian riflemen were light.

In the Flood-Page contest the second prize, £3, was won by Rosleton, with a score of 33. Meadows took first prize, of £1, with a score of 33, and Mercier and Simpson each won a prize of £1, with scores of 32.

Mitchell and Chamberlain also won prizes of £1 each, making a score of 32.

In the Pixley contest, seven shots each, at 500 yards, open to all comers, Simpson and Mitchell each scored 32 points and in the Pirbright contest, seven shots each, at 500 yards, Mercer made a score of 34, and Mitchell and Spearing each scored 33.

In the Prince of Wales' competition the following were the scores at 200 yards' range of the Canadian riflemen: Armstrong 45, Simpson 45, Boville 43, Trick 41, Morris 41, Spearing 41, Wynne 41, Bent 41, Mitchell 41, Rolston 40, Nutting 38.

In the contest for the Henry trophy Simpson and Chamberlain of the Canadian teams each made 34, heading the score and dividing the money prize.

Among the visitors at the camp of the Canadians were Major Parker of the Ottawa Rifles, Captain Medland of Toronto, Captain Courtney of Hamilton, Commoner Fletcher, vice-president of the Rifle Association, and E. C. Smith of the Middlesex Yeomanry, formerly of the Grenadiers, who fought in the Riel Rebellion.

England won the Elcho Shield, 1503, against Scotland's 1470.

The Prince of Wales' Prize was won by Sergt. Magmay of Northumberland Regiment, with a score of 93, Hayman 91, Skedden 87, Armstrong 87, Mercer 81 and Mitchell 81. Mitchell also competed for and won the Ladies' Prize. His score was 34. Jeffreys scored 33 and Heath 32.

Toronto Markets.

Flour—There is more doing at lower prices. Sales of straight rollers are reported at equal to $3.85, Toronto freights.

Bran—Bran is firm, selling at equal to $14.50 and $15, Toronto freights. Shorts $18 to $19.

Wheat—The market is quiet, and the feeling unsettled. Offerings limited and buyers hold off. White and red are nominal at 79c to 80c at outside points. No. 1 Manitoba hard is quoted at 94c to 95c, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade dull and prices unchanged at 59c to 60c, outside.

Barley—There is no business doing and prices are purely nominal.

Oats—The demand is a little better and the tone of the market firmer. White sold west at 32c to 32 1-2c, and mixed at 32c. Cars on track are nominal at 36c to 36 1-2c.

Rye—Nothing doing and prices purely nominal.

Oatmeal—Market is dull, with prices nominal at $4 to $4.10 on track.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practise the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Phillip H. Braut, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results."

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

A NEW PASTOR IN ST. PAUL'S PULPIT.

REV. MR. JONES TAKES REV. DR. TORRANCE'S PLACE.

The Latter is Away on His Holidays, and for a few Weeks Rev. Mr. Jones Will Conduct the Services—A Most Impressive and Forcible Speaker.

Rev. Mr. Jones, who, as stated in the EXAMINER, will occupy Rev. Dr. Torrance' pulpit in the absence of that gentleman on his holidays, is a most clear and forcible speaker, and is the possessor of the happy faculty of illustrating the truths which he wishes to convey, in a manner which places the gist of his remarks in such a shape as to be most clearly understood by his listeners.

Last evening he took as his text the words "I will arise and go to my Father," St. Luke xviii chap. 15th verse, and delivered a sermon which was fully appreciated. He enlarged on the difficulty of saying "I will" and asserting one's will power. The "I will" in many cases as well as the one mentioned in the text meant a complete change in life.

A CHANGE AS COMPLETE, as when a merchant signed a document dissolving a partnership—an entirely new life was about to be led, a new leaf turned over.

The conditions of society of the present day as always was a tremendous factor in destroying a man's will power. It was interesting to note, he said, how differently society's giddy whirl affected different men. As an illustration, he pointed out how if a ball of snow was thrown into a stream it instantly dissolved and lost its identity, whereas if a piece of quartz were thrown it remained the same for ages, being unaffected to any great degree. So it was with men. Some lost their identity in the world, and became one of many, whilst others of a sterner mould never lost their individuality, but through the force of their will power forced circumstances to meet their ends. The more one gave way to surrounding circumstances and were governed by them, the less powerful were they to assert their will power, until finally the power disappeared entirely, and though the wish to make good resolves was still alive, the will to carry them into execution and the carrying out of the resolution was constantly postponed.

The speaker wondered that the Prodigal had the will power to act up to his resolution when he said "I will arise and go to my Father." He wondered that he did not say, "I will arise and go to my Father to-morrow." It required no little amount of will power for the prodigal to take this step. He had gone boldly forth to make his fortune, had probably boasted of the grand things which he would achieve, and here he was broken down in his youth—a wrecked man. In going back he had to face the probable laughter and jibes of his old friends, and humiliation was not an attribute of man as a general thing. This then, was the cross he had to carry—humiliation. Many ministers, in speaking from the pulpit, were not sufficiently explicit in stating the requirements needed in order to be a follower of Christ. Everyone had a besetting sin and consequently the requirements differed greatly. It would be remembered in the Scriptures where the rich young man had asked that question of the Saviour. He had observed from his youth. Riches were his in great store and the Lord had him give to the poor and lay up treasure in heaven. This was what was required of the young man. Others would have to give up lying, swearing, gambling or drinking, as the case might be. One rule would not apply to all, but one command rang out through all the teachings of Scripture, viz, "Come now." In every case in which the Almighty called for followers the Divine command was couched in such terms as to impress upon all the necessity of complying at once with the requirements.

What was needed in order to turn from the world to Christ was will power, and though many prided themselves on their capability of saying "I will," no truer or greater test would be made than that of turning over a new life and leading a consistent, Christ-like life. A man who had completely lost all will power was a pitable object, indeed. "What," said he, "do we most pity in the drunkard? It is not his wretched condition, his rags or his weakened intellect, but inability to exercise his will power, though seeing to what straights it was reducing him."

In closing his address, Mr. Jones importuned the congregation to use their will power before it had gone from them, and turn it to Christ. To those who had strong wills there could be no grander or more ennobling test than the one imposed in the teachings of Scripture,

In the fall Mr. Turner badly sprained his wrist and bruised his side. The pain is said to have been "in tents," but as usual his energies never "flagged" and doubtless he will be as busy as usual in a day or two.

New Bank of Commerce Premises.

This morning the Canndian Bank of Commerce occupies its fine new premises, corner of Hunter and Water streets, and from ten o'clock was at home to its customers and the general public having banking business to do. These premises, which have been fully described in THE EXAMINER, are bright, airy and cheerful, and their very aspect tends to make the gloomiest financial pessimist who enters their precincts take a less dreamy view of the situation. The bank premises, as well as the entire associated block, were built from plans prepared by Mr. J. E. Belcher, architect, which plans were very effectually carried out under the superintendence of Mr. James McLennan. THE EXAMINER wishes the Canadian Bank of Commerce many years of prosperity in its elegant new home.

WORK ON BEHALF OF YOUNG WOMEN.

SPECIAL SERVICES AND SERMON AT ST. JOHN'S

The Necessity and Claims of the Work—The Duty of Christian Workers—The Work of the Local Association.

Last night at St. John's church the Rector conducted special services and preached a special sermon in the interests of the Young Women's Christian Association. The church was crowded and the members of the Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A. and their friends occupied reserved seats off the middle aisle.

After a bright and hearty service of Evensong, the Rector stated that the officials of St. John had decided upon a series of special services in the interests of local organizations. St. John's, said the rector, stood already in one sense very close to the heart of the town. It was the earnest desire of both clergy and people to bring it closer to the heart of the town in other senses. They wished it clearly understood that they did not consider it the object or mission of the church to compete with other religious bodies or to draw members from their rightful allegiance. Their object was on the other hand to serve the people of Peterborough, without reference to class or creed, in so far as they would accept their proffered help. The rector believed that people would come to see that this attitude was disinterested and genuine, and accordingly that citizens would naturally look up to Peterborough's beautiful stone church and its ivy mantled tower with friendly feelings. It was decided to offer special services to whatever organization needed help. The Young Women's Christian Associan is the first to accept, and very properly, for its work was not yet well known, and that work so worthy of Christian sympathy and support did not seem to be properly appreciated.

The preacher selected for his text:—"Seest thou this woman"?—St. Luke vii, 44. After a few introductory remarks in reference to the call that came to those who were happily situated in family and social circles to seek out those who required to be stimulated, encouraged and helped by the virtues and goodness of others. The speaker explained that he had chosen this text because it introduced the leading features of the Young Women's Association, and not, in any sense, because the woman, to whom much was forgiven, in the remotest degree resembled those who were the objects of the Association's work, but that the same principle underlay the subject. The objects of the Association were first to look out young women, and secondly to place and keep them in loving contact with Him who is preeminently the woman's friend. It might be asked, are there women to be thus helped? For answer his hearers were invited to note George street at 6 o'clock and observe the throngs that came from busidess places upon the walks, and on any Saturday night, and it would be seen that there were and dealt with. Some of these might have homes of their own, and here the speaker desired to impress upon the Y.W.C.A. and other Christian workers, the danger of unduly interfering with home life. He felt that in the rush of Christian work there was danger to the home life. But we were asked to think that the great majority of these girls mentioned had no homes or had homes that had few attractions. These homeless girls must be looked after and dealt with. How? God has placed on the earth another family besides that of the happy home—the Church, and has bidden us to welcome into that family those who are lonely, neglected and homeless. This was the work the Young Women's Christian Association was doing. This association was only four years of age and it would be asked what had been done in this direction before? It was shown that the same necessity did not exist years ago as now. Within the past few years under the changing conditions of the world the workers of the world had become largely women. The result was that our young women scatter from their homes, as our young men used only to do. Girls leave the tender shelter of home to go among strangers, to come into contact and into competition with men and often at very low wages. They come to town strangers, without friends and even without boarding houses and they must be looked after and dealt with. And it was pointed out that that was what the Y. W. C. A. is for. This work involved the employment of a secretary—in this case one excellently adapted for the work and who gives her whole heart to the work. Then, rooms had to be provided. The rooms in use now were on George street and the preacher urged the ladies of the congregation and they would find one large room divided into three compartments—the parlour, with piano, couches, and inviting easy chairs; then a reading room and beyond that a lecture room, where in evenings informal and cheerful services were held. These rooms were always open to the girls, who might care to use them and the secretary was always present to give any assistance and advice in her power. Here girls could eat lunch and at times there are pleasant little concerts. Then there are classes to teach writing and other elementary studies, and to teach cooking, and there was provision for physical culture and Bible classes, and a short service every Saturday night at 8.30, and then there was the personal work of the secretary. Last year she made 290 calls; and 478 applications at the employment bureau showed that this work was appreciated by those for whom it is carried on. The entire revenue available for carrying on this work—besides gifts, of coal and light, was $435. One special need besides funds was larger premises for the work, so that a cooking school could be carried on and a boarding house provided. The speaker referred to the Association boarding house in Toronto, which he had found so useful in providing shelter for many young women who had applied to him. Excellent quarters were provided with the safety and comforts of a home and at a very low rate. Such a boarding house was urgently needed in town. He (Mr. Davidson) had spent many hours in finding sleeping accommodations for girls. The old conditions have changed and people were loth to receive others. The homes of to-day was too much closed—they were open to people with the proper social rank—but closed to others. This was not mentioned in the way of complaint but to state a fact that argued the necessity of providing a boarding house in the town. If people did not to promote the work they must admit the need of such work, and in doing it they were enjoined not to be too critical in judging but be animated with a desire to be of real help and others would not only be benefitted but their own lives would become richer, fuller, better.

TO VISIT THESE ROOMS

Envelopes had been distributed in all the pews in which the congregation were urged to place their contributions to the Y. W. C. A., and outside the regular contributions the sum of twelve dollars was placed in the envelopes, not a very large sum, but the benefit is not measured by a mere monetary standard. Attention has been directed to the claims and needs of the Y. W.C.A. that must bring practical results.

During the offertory Mrs. Geo. Clementi sang, with exquisite feeling and in excellent voice, "There is a Green Hill Far Away." The general singing of the choir was also excellent.

TO BURLEIGH AND THE BACK LAKES.

THE ROADS IN PERFECT CONDITION AFTER THE RAIN.

Wheelsmen Descend in a Crowd on Mine Host John Holmes, Burleigh, and Partake of his Appetising Viands—The Bass Fishing is Exceptionally Good This Year.

Saturday and Sunday were ideal days for bicycle riding and nearly every wheelsmen in town took advantage of the good roads and was out for a long spin.

John Holmes, the genial host of the Burleigh Hotel, was kept busy entertaining the numerous riders, who came wheeling across the bridge during the day, eight or ten of the more hardy members of the Peterborough club reaching that interesting point at different times on Saturday and on Sunday.

The roads were in perfect condition between Peterborough and Lakefield, the oldest riders not being able to recollect a time when they were and free from dust. Between Lakefield and Young's Point they were also good, and even beyond the Point, between it and Burleigh, no one could complain much, and though the road was newly made in places, a fairly firm path could always be picked out by the riders, though after dark the wheeling would be somewhat heavy on account of the sand, which could not be avoided after the sun had set.

After an easy ride of two and a half hours on Saturday afternoon, the advance guard of the wheelman reached Burleigh in time for tea, and found Mr. Will Lech and Mr. H. R. H. Kenner enjoying their holidays there in a manner which entitles them to full membership in the Order of the Sons of Rest. With expert canoeists and guides always to be had for a small douceur, these two gentlemen do not apparently see the need of exerting themselves and consequently are laying on adipose tissue at an astonishing rate.

Of course the first thing all tourists to Burleigh do is to take a look at acknowledged to be the most perfect piece of work of this nature on the continent and there we meet and are introduced to that most expert guide and prince of story tellers, "Lock-keeper Charlie Fuller" and are told of some of his latest escapades in the way of practical joking.

It is said that a belated traveller got off a good one on Charlie the other night, when in answer to a knock at the door of his cottage and a request for admission, he told the midnight intruder to be off—he was the keeper of the locks. The answer he got was to keep the locks if he wanted to, nobody else wanted them, but what he wanted was a bed for the night.

The hotel has a great many Americans staying there just now, although a big party of them from Cincinnati

RETURNED HOME FRIDAY.

As a rule the Americans are a most indefatigable fishermen and go out in their canoes morning, noon and night at Burleigh. Mr. Arthur Ardagh, one of Toronto's well known contractors, is also at the Falls, with his wife and family, and is, if possible, even more enthusiastic over the fishing than the "cousins" from across the border. He is an expert in playing a fish and has landed some beautiful bass this season, as have Mrs. Ardagh and the children.

Some of the older fishermen at Burleigh state as the reason why the 'lunge did not bite very freely last week that the fish are losing their teeth at this season of the year, and in consequence are "off their feed," as it were, for a week or so.

THIS DOES NOT AFFECT the bass fishing at all and on Saturday two particularly large specimens of the black variety were landed.

While at the Falls, we had the edification of seeing Mr. W. P. S. B. Lech play and lose a monster 'lunge, which carried away his spoon and line, and if the latter had not suddenly parted it is probable that the fisherman would have gotten a wetting. The fish was hooked in Pear's Creek, where John Holmes says he knows there are some "wallopers."

The lakes are fairly swarming with campers and cottagers and more of them appear to be going back every day. In paddling along the shores and skirting the numerous islands, a sudden turn in the outline of the shore will bring the canoeist unexpectedly in full view of the summer camps of some residents of one of the cities, who have fled away north for a breath of the exhilarating ozone. And that it isn't any too easy to discover the identity of these same campers, in whom a few weeks of "roughing it" works a wonderful change. The city swell, so fastidious regarding the set of his necktie and the brand of his cigars, may be seen, after a couple of weeks, minus the former and with the latter replaced by a short clay pipe.

On the return trip the wheelsmen nearly all returned together, and in passing through Lakefield ran across the party from the T. V. C. offices and banks, which had started out for Buckhorn but had gotten no further than Live Lakefield. One of this party took his first lesson in riding on Friday and on Saturday started on a twenty-four mile ride to Buckhorn—small wonder that he came to grief in the Lakfield gravel pit and startled the residents by his gory appearance on his arrival at the village.

ON THE RETURN TRIP

Messrs. A. Mercer, W. L. Allen, H. R. H. Kenner and G. L. Hay rode from Burleigh to Young's Point in twenty-five minutes, which establishes a record for this distance.

If the wheelsmen of Peterborough are ever going to run off that road race to Lakefield and return, it should take place this week as the roads could not be possibly be in finer shape for such an event. A couple of the boys rode up to the village easily in something under forty minutes on Saturday.

If next Saturday is as fine a day as the 18th, doubtless Burleigh will be invaded by scores of bicyclists, and a more pleasant trip could hardly be picked up and the invigorating breezes of Burleigh, combined with the results of a plunge in the lake, soon take away the effects of the long ride.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. Carl Smith, of Lindsay, occupied St. John's pulpit in the morning, and that of the South Ward Mission in the evening, most acceptably, yesterday. A particularly large congregation gathered in the Mission building to listen to the words of the well known divine.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH, ASHBURNHAM.

Mrs. Morris, at the close of the evening service, gave a beautiful rendering of Handel's "He was Despised and Rejected of Men," and of Stephen Adam's song, "Star of Bethlehem." Mrs. Morris also sang, as an offertory piece, "He Shall Feed His Flock like a Shepherd." There was a very large congregation.

Rev. H. Symonds will attend the Congress of Religion and Education to be held in Toronto during this week. During his absence Rev. J. Chappell will be in charge of the parish and will conduct the service on Sunday next. Mr. Symonds will preach in St. Margaret's church in the morning, and in St. Stephen's church, Toronto, in the evening of Sunday next.

Two bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church will take part in the Congress—the aged and venerable Bishop Whipple, and Bishop Gilbert, of Minnesota.

A garden party will be held at Mr. Cartwright's farm (at present occupied by Mr. Sedgwick) to-morrow evening, beginning at 7.30 p.m. The Sons of England Band will provide music.

AN UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE.

Two Young Ladies in a Leaky Boat Receive a Fright.

The other day two young ladies, one from Port Hope and the other from Lakefield, who were camped at Stony Lake in the vicinity of Boschink, had an unpleasant experience.

They had to go for water, and taking a boat which had not been in the water since last summer, they started out to the spring.

They had not proceeded far before the boat commenced to leak badly, and they were compelled to turn back, but before they reached the landing, the boat was nearly half full of water, and they got to land just in the nick of time, with their clothes thoroughly soaked.

Meanwhile company had arrived at the island, and the young ladies were in great straits to procure something suitable to curl their hair with, to make themselves presentable to the young men, and a hunt was made over the island for some nails with which to do it. They were found and the young ladies were made accordingly happy in spite of their wet clothes.

Next time they will not take a leaky boat.

AT BOWMANVILLE AND NEWCASTLE.

REV. FATHER COLLINS IS HANDSOMELY REMEMBERED.

Presented with Addresses and Elegant Gifts by His Bowmanville and Newcastle Mission Parishes—Pleasing Evidences of Popularity and Appreciation.

On Sunday Rev. Father Collins was presented with addresses by his Bowmanville and Newcastle mission parishioners, where he has ministered for the past four years. Rev. Father Collins has that length of time been assistant curate at the cathedral, but once a month he went to the missions at Bowmanville and Newcastle, which are five miles apart, singing mass at Newcastle at 8.30 and at Bowmanville at 11.

Recently Rev. Father Collins was promoted to be priest of the Parish of Brighton, and on the occasion of his last services at Bowmanville was presented with the following address, which was accompanied with the present of a beautiful ebony gold-headed cane:

To the Reverend Father Collins:

REV. AND DEAR FATHER—Your deeply attached congregation of Bowmanville has learned with feelings of regret that your pastoral connection with us is about to cease.

While we know that your appointment to the large parish of Brighton and Wooler is deserved promotion for you, we cannot help feeling that it takes away from us the services of a kind and devoted priest, who has laboured with more than ordinary zeal during the past four years, for our spiritual and temporal welfare.

From the first day you took pastoral charge of this Mission until this hour of painful separation, we can gratefully refer to your uniform kindness and gentle priestly treatment of every member of your flock. Nor can we be unmindful of the benefits conferred by your instructive sermons, your patient care of the children's catechism class, and your fatherly interest in all that tended to the good of the whole congregation.

Neither can we omit to refer with feelings of gratitude to your pastoral energy in providing a separate service for the Catholics of Newcastle, and Sunday afternoon and Monday morning service for ourselves. Your extra ministrations on our behalf entitle you to a secure place in our remembrance, which will not die out with the impulse of the moment, but continue unabated as long as we live.

Reve end and dear Father we beg you to accept this testimonial, not for its own value, but as a token of our esteem and love for you, and let it serve as a reminder in future years that a warm bond of affection will always exist between you and your late congregation of Bowmanville.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,

P. MARA,
T. BOTTRELL,
C. MCGARRIGLE,
P. MCCAFFREY,
P. FARRELL,
M. FARRELL,
P. KING,
JAS. RYAN,
WM. ELLISON.

Bowmanville, July 14th, 1895.

Rev. Father Collins, who was completely taken by surprise, thanked the congregation for their appreciative address and the kindly and hearty sentiments it expressed. He wished them prosperity, and urged them to a continuance of the good works and devotion which he had witnessed. At Newcastle Rev. Father Collins was similarly remembered, only the present in this case was a purse containing a substantial sum of money, and the following is a copy of the address:—

NEWCASTLE, July 14th, 1895.

To Rev. Father Collins:

REV. AND DEAR FATHER,—It is with regret that we learn that you are so soon to be removed from our midst.

You have been among us now for the past three years, and you have always been very kind and good, and have spared no trouble in trying to impress on your congregation the necessity of attending to all their religious duties.

And dear father, you may rest assured that wherever you go, you will always have the love and esteem of your congregation in Newcastle.

Your will, therefore, father please accept this as a slight token of remembrance, and we humbly ask you, father, to bestow your blessing on us.

Your congregation.

PATRICK KENEFICK,
JOHN KENEFICK,
PATRICK MCCARTHY,
JOHN MCCARTHY,
TIMOTHY HAYES.

Rev. Father Collins replied in terms similiar to those used to his Bowmanville parishioners, and heartily thanked them for their address and gift. He would remember their devotion to their religious duties and their unvarying kindness to him with the greatest degree of satisfaction.

On both occasions they were large numbers present, including many members of other Christian denominations.

Rev. Father Collins leaves by the G.T.R. mid-day express on Thursday for his new parish. During his stay here he has done faithful services in his clerical capacity, and as shown by the appointment, won the approval of his ecclesiastical superiors, as well as the love and respect of his fellow priests of the congregation, and of the citizens generally, irrespective of creed. The EXAMINER wishes Rev. Father Collins many years of happy usefulness in his new parish.

STEAMER CIBOLA BURNED

To the Water's Edge at Lewiston, N.Y., This Morning.

Lewiston, N.Y., July 15.—Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning the palace steamer Cibola of the Niagara River Line, lying at the Lewiston docks, in the rear of the American Hotel, was discovered to be on fire. The fire spread with great rapidity, and soon enveloped the steamer, and spread to the dock, thence to the large hotel, the American, owned and managed by H. G. Cornell.

The hotel has been burning for an hour, but owing to its massive construction in the style of 50 years ago, the flames make slow headway. There is no doubt, however, but that the building will be totally destroyed. The guests and the servants escaped.

It is believed that the crew of the Cibola have all escaped. The fire threatens at this moment (2.15 a.m.) to destroy the Anglers' Retreat, to the south of the American Hotel, and the New York Central depot, almost directly across the street to the east of the American, and the several buildings to the north of the hotel.

The derelict Cibola is adrift in the river, and is still afire, but burned almost to the water's edge.

THE GLOW NIGHT LAMP.

It is an established fact that there has never been a night lamp on the market that was odorless, and most of the night lamps that are sold to-day absolutely poison the air in a close room. THE GLOW LAMP is the only night lamp that positively emits no odor when in operation, and is the only night lamp that should ever be used when it is necessary to burn a light all night, as for instance in the nursery or sick-room. It is a miniature gas-house, gasometer and gas-burner combined, automatically making and consuming its own gas.

One pint of kerosene, at a cost of about one cent, will give a pure, healthy, clean light for two hundred or more hours; i.e., twenty-ten hour nights. Sold only by

A LINER WRECKED.

The City of Mexico Lost of Belle Isle.

RAN AGROUND IN A DENSE FOG

She Had Just Been Fitted Up by the Dominion Government for Cold Scorage Shipment of Butter and Had a Large Cargo Aboard—Crew Saved.

Rimouski, Que., July 14.—The steamship City of Mexico, Captain Daly, of the Elder Dempster Line, which left Montreal a few days ago bound for Bristol, is a total wreck in the Straits of Belle Isle.

The Mexico was specially fitted up under the direction of Prof. Robertson of the Canadian Agricultural Department to carry the first consignment of butter in cold storage. There was a large and valuable cargo of butter and cheese on board, besides a large number of cattle.

The steamer foundered while going through the Straits of Belle Isle, and she is a total wreck. The crew were picked up by the steamship Assaye, which arrived at Father Point this morning.

The City of Mexico is valued at £35,000 and was a sister ship of the Merrimac, which ran aground opposite Montreal a few days ago. She is owned by the Elder Dempster Company of London, and the Montreal agents are Harting, Ronald & Co. The captain remained at Belle Isle.

HAWAIIAN INSURGENTS.

Forty-Five Released — Others Receive a Commutation of Sentence.

Honolulu, July 5.—Via Victoria, B.C., July 13.—The 4th of July, being the anniversary of the proclamation of the Republic of Hawaii, President Dole, on the afternoon of that day, by the advice of the Council of State, gave a release, subject to remand order of the President, to 45 of the late insurgents sentenced to five years each. Four other prisoners sentenced for various crimes were given full pardons on account of meritorious conduct. The following persons received commutations of sentences: C. T. Gulick, reduced from 35 to 20 years: W. H. Seward, 35 to 20; W. H. Rickard, 35 to 20 years; R. W. Wilcox, 35 to 20 years; T. B. Walker, 30 to 15 years; F. Carlamann, 30 to 15 years; W. H. Grigg, 30 to 15; Louis Marshall, 20 to 16 years. The 45 prisoners released were all insurgents of the more ignorant class. None of them were prominent persons. The commutations are understood as designed to make expression of a disposition towards effective clemency, whenever the time is ripe for it.

30 Miles of Newfoundland Fire-Swept.

St. John's, Nfld., July 13.—The recent rains have put out the forest fires that were raging during the past week in the interior. Splendid timber on an area of over 80 miles was destroyed, together with a mill, railway station hotel, and the whole settlement at Morris Arm. The fishing reports continue most favorable.

Prize Fighting in Texas Illegal.

Austin, Tex., July 14.—Attorney-General Crane to-day gave to the public his opinion of the law of 1891, which prohibits prize fighting in Texas. The Attorney-General holds that the law is valid and operative. This opinion is contrary to that of many lawyers. The Attorney-General instructs the sheriff of Dallas County that it is not his duty to question the legality of any law, but that he must carry out its provisions to the letter until said law is set aside by the courts.

TROUT CULTURE AT HOME.

Any One Who Has a Pure Running Stream Can Raise Brook Trout.

The culture of brook trout, even on a small scale, is a source of continual delight, and with pure running water at hand anyone who has carefully observed the habits and requirements of trout in their native brooks can successfully raise them. If a stream crosses the farm the pond should not be made directly in line with the course or bed of it, or freshets may wash its embankments away. At least every hard rain will roll the pond, depositing mud to the detriment of the finny prisoners. If a stream is to supply the water make the pond at one side of it, but never on a flat that may be overflowed. The best method is to delve the reservoir out of the side of some slope rising from the stream, and then carry the water to it by an open feeder, high enough up its source to permit of a gentle, easy flow, as seen in the accompanying sketch. This feeder may be a deep, narrow ditch with sod banks, and protected at both its ingress and egress by finely woven wire screens. The pond itself may not be more than four or five feet deep in the centre, sloping to a shallow edge at the circumference. Break up the ground with a plow, and then use a common road scraper in moving the earth to the lowest side. Repeating this operation, a circular or oblong excavation is made with strong earth banks. Then place four rocks on the bottom, each as large as a half-bushel measure, letting them rest far enough apart to be covered by a large, flat stone, under which the shy fish may hide. One such covert is sufficient for a pond of two or three square rods in extent, while several should be provided in larger ponds. If possible make a cold spring tributary to the pond, or if practicable make the pond around it, utilizing the fountain head for the water supply. Trout will succeeed best in cold spring water, but common creek water, if pure, will serve the purpose. Spread sand and gravel over the portion of the pond bed, but leave some of it with earth bottom. The slope surrounding the pond should be kept in grass, so that rains will not wash dirt into the water. A neat gravel walk should encircle the pond, and shade trees planted about it will serve to keep the water cool.

When angling for trout in the brooks it will be noticed that more than one-half of the fish caught are so little injured by the hook that they will live if immediately placed in fresh water. Carry a large pail, and by frequently changing the water two-thirds of the catch may be saved for stocking the fish pond. A slower way is to obtain the young fry from a fish hatchery. Very young trout can be fed on boiled eggs chopped fine, and larger ones on fresh beef cut into small pieces. Other scraps that the fish will eat, and which will not pollute the water, may be given them. They should be fed at least once a day, and in the cool of the evening they will frequently leap from the water to snap gamily at the food that is thrown to them.

Trout spawn in September and October, and it is well to take the screen away from the terminal end of the feeder in the fall, that the female fish may be encouraged to lay their eggs there.—American Agriculturist.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it falling out. Mrs. H. W. Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. FENWICK, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. WEBER, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

THE BEST FLOOR TO LIVE ON.

Greater Longevity Attained by People Who Occupy the Second Story.

M. Korosi, the Hungarian hygenist, has lately investigated the effects of living in cellars, ground floors and upper floors upon the duration of life. He found that the dwellers in cellars lived to about thirty-nine years and eleven months; those on the ground floor to forty-three years and three months; those on the first and second floors lived to forty-four years and two months, while those on the third and fourth floors lived only to forty-two years.

All things being otherwise equal, the observations of M. Korosi may be accepted as showing the different effects upon longevity by the different selected planes of residence. The air of cellars or basements is never healthy, nor can such localities be ventilated except at considerable expense; this also implies ground air and ground moisture contaminations arising from the inability to remove the additional contamination arising from the animal exhalations of the persons living there, along with the heavier ground air from the street and yard that of necessity pours down into such spaces. Those living on the first and second floors seems to enjoy the longest lease of life; this is as might be expected from the greater freedom that the air of those floors enjoys from foul gases, microbes and germs, animal emanations, and from street dust. Much here depends, however, upon the character of the stairs; a steep, hard stairs tends to shorten the duration of life, while an easy, low step stairs, broken by easy landings at every eight or ten steps, will enghten its duration. The spiral stairs, winding screw-like up in a narrow cylindrical space, are life-shorteners. These stairs save space and destroy life, and are quite common in many parts of Europe, and where one has to climb them to the third floor the exertion is slowly but surely telling. The effects of stair-climbing are visible in the two years of less life enjoyed by the inhabitants of the upper floors.

These observations tally with those of Strassmann of Berlin, with the exception that in Berlin the basements give less mortality than the immediate street floor, which speaks well for the humanity of the Berlin microbe. In Berlin the basements are occupied by a well-to-do class, whereas in Budapest, the point observed by M. Korosi, the basements are occupied by the very poorest. We should not neglect to observe that those who can afford a first or second floor flat are those who, as a rule, are better clothed, better fed and capable of surrounding themselves with better hygenic conditions than the poorer of either the basements or of the upper floors.

The dwellers of the two first floors are, besides, persons better off in the world and not as likely to suffer any physical ill effects due to occupation as their less fortunate fellow-mortals on the other floors, although we cannot overlook the fact that these better favored ones probably do more worrying, and that they are apt to suffer more from diseases of the kidneys and of the circulatory system that arise from worry and anxiety; these favored ones would also be more likely to fall victims to acute brain or nervous affections than the others. So that were we to people the first and second floors with the less worrying and less perplexed but poorer class, the length of life of these would probably go far in excess of the forty-four years and two months.—Popular Review.

BYCYCLES HURT TROLLEY ROADS.

The Receipts of California Street Railroads Seriously Affected.

It will interest Brooklyn citizens who are opposed to the trolley to learn that in some of the far western cities the electric car system is threatened with bankruptcy by a new danger. This is the ubiquitous bicycle. The neighboring cities of San Francisco and Oakland are so given over to the delights of the wheel that half of the street railroads have gone into the hands of receivers, and the other half are struggling along with difficulty.

Particularly in Oakland are the trolley lines suffering. The streets there are nearly all level and well paved, and the percentage of bicyclists among the population is tremendous. It is a fact vouched for by one of the trolley magnates, who, by the way, rides a wheel himself and saves car fare, as his road is run purely on no-pass principles, that but one road in the city is doing better than just paying expenses. The gross receipts of every trolley road in the place has been reduced fully one-third by the craze for wheeling, and as the operating expenses remain the same despite this reduction of custom, the roads find themselves in a bad way.

Competition almost as unfavorable to the trolley prevails in San Francisco. Here on account of the hills and the bad pavement in many streets, the disadvantages and discouragements to the cyclists are greater. Nevertheless one of the principal lines of the city alone is losing $1,000 a month. An official of one of the roads says:

"Hundreds of people who used to spend thirty cents a day regularly on the street car lines in this city now own their own bicycles and save that amount daily. A railroad received that amount from each regular traveler, and nearly every regular traveler now has a wheel, and as a result the railroads get only the transient travel. These estimates are made from the receipts of the road. We find that our out-of-town line has not been hurt much, but our intown line has lost one-third of its income."

Here the bicyclists have added insult to injury, for their favorite wheel paths are the nicely paved roadbeds of the very trolley lines from which they are taking the means of support. And worse yet, in the cases where the roadbeds are not such as to find favor in the eyes of the knights of the wheel they are seeking to obtain legislation forcing the companies to bitumenize the roadbeds. It is intimated that every bicycle sold in San Francisco means a loss of 25 cents a day to some one of the trolley lines. At this rate what will become of the Brooklyn trolleys when the bicycle craze reaches its height.—N. Y. Sun.

That's Different.

"Excuse me, madam, but you are sitting on my hat."

"Oh, I beg your pardon! I thought it was my husband's."—Zur Guten Stunde.

CAN THE HEART BREAK.

Physicians Say Not, Yet the Imagination Plays Sad Freaks.

Grief does not kill, and it is indeed very seldom that heavy sorrow causes death to any one when in a healthy condition. It is, however, very often the indirect cause of a death, either by bringing disease to a climax, or by rendering the sufferer more liable to its attack. If a man is convinced that his grief is more than he can bear, those who have studied the matter agree that, through the force of his own imagination, the man will actually die from a "broken heart."

The great Napoleon was killed by an internal disease, but it is supposed that it would not have been fatal had not his spirits been so depressed through exile and defeat. William Pitt, the orator, is said to have died from a "broken heart," caused by his great grief at the failure of his cherished hopes and plans. And there have been many other such instances in the history of this country. When plagues are raging in a town, statistics show that as many die from fright and imaginary causes as from the real epidemic, so great a hold has the fear of death on some people.

If a man is condemned to be shot, it has often occurred that on the word "fire" he has dropped lifeless, although, through accident or design, no bullet has in reality left the gun.

There is a queer case on record concerning the daughter of a celebrated French novelist, who was deeply interested in one of her father's stories. It appeared in installments, and the heroine was suffering from consumption. As the girl brooded over the sad fate of the heroine, she, too, suddenly manifested the same symptoms. A physician recommended her father to restore the heroine to health, which he did a few chapters on, and at the same time as the girl in the novel recovered, so also did his too sentimental daughter.—Philadelphia Times.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. Mrs. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc,

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 reference.

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

THE TURF.

Eastern horsemen have gone fairly daft over the little stallion William Penn, and many are declaring that he can defeat Fantasy, Alix or any other trotter. A few days ago the little fellow started in a race at Huntington, L. I., over a track of very uneven grade, heavy with mud 20 feet from the pole, and in the third heat he literally jogged home in 2.11¼. The second quarter was trotted in 32 sec. and the third, around the turn, was stepped in 31 sec. Had not his owner ran on the track and waved the driver to hold up in the last quarter it is said Penn would have finished his mile in 2.08. Up to this year, Penn has been a bad actor, although he has always possessed sensational speed. This year he has not made a break and has won every race he has started in without losing a leaf, and in every race he has beaten 2.12.

The pacer Strathberry, 2:09½, that paced a mile in a race over a half-mile track, last week, in 2:09, which is a world's record, has been matched against Joe. Patchen, 2:04, for a race at Janesville, Wis., on July 15th.

CRICKET.

Already contributions are coming in for the W. G. Grace testimonial, the following names opening the Peterborough list:

Miles Hamilton	one shilling
Max Hamilton	"
W D Parker	"
R B Rogers	"
Geo K Martin	"
Walter Stocker	"

The match between the Ontario Association and Philadelphia resulted in a victory for Philadelphia by 4 wickets. Laing, Saunders, Rogers and Goldsmith were the only batters to come off in Ontario's second innings, in which Rogers made 17 not out, and Goldsmith 10.

THE EXCELSIORIC UMPIRE.

The crowd was gathering thick and fast
As from the outside inside passed
A man who stood up, strong and proud,
And in a brave voice shouted loud,
"Play ball!"

His brow was sad; his eyes beneath
Flashed like a falchion from his sheath,
And like a silver clarion rung
The accents of that well-known tongue:
"One strike!"

In many an eye he saw the light
That warned him how to shape the fight;
Beyond the spectral bleachers shone,
And from his lips escaped a groan:
"One ball!"

"Let up on that!" one bleacher said;
Another yelled: "we'll punch your head!"
And forty yelled, "Go soak your hide!"
And loud that clarion voice replied:
"Two balls!"

"Oh, stay," a small boy guyed, "and rest
"Your weary head upon this breast."
A tear stood in his bright blue eye
And now he answered with a sigh;
"Two strikes!"

"Beware the pine tree's withered branch;"
"Beware the awful avalanche!"
These were the grand stand's words, and he Braced up and shouted lustily:
"Three strikes and out!"

"....." the bleacher's yell,
"..... W—ll!"
[illegible] slam
[illegible] d-n!
!!!!!!!!!.

There, at the home plate, cold and gray,
Lifeless, but beautiful he lay;
And from the sky, serene and far,
A voice fell like a falling star:
"Next!"

THE WHEEL.

"There's one thing about the bicycle craze," said a tailor the other day. "I believe it's going to revolutionize men's attire, which has been so sombre for so many years. Dress reformers have done much for women, but men's clothing is practically the same year in and year out. The leaders of fashion are not, as a rule, robust, and the chaps who lead cotillions have small legs. If the wheel develope their calves, as it will, I believe the age of short clothes will return, and knee breeches for evening dress may be seen again in drawing rooms."

LACROSSE.

The Junior Peterboroughs are requested to turn out strong to-night on Riverside Park, after which a meeting will be held on the grounds, of importance to every member. The secretary has written to a number of places for matches, and will be likely able to arrange a number of games to take place shortly.

There are some players who have not as yet procured tickets. The fee is only 50c., and for a good fast practice and an excellent place for a bathe it is very low. Tickets can be had by enquiring on the grounds. The N.A.A.A. are going to see that everyone who practices has a ticket.

Montreal, July 12.—The representatives of the senior lacrosse league met to-day. They decided that White, who played in the Cornwall team against Montreal a fortnight ago, was an Indian, according to the letter of the law, and that the match must be played over.

Montreal, July 14.—About 1000 people attended the Toronto-Shamrock lacrosse match yesterday, Hon. J. J. Curran facing the ball. The match was won by the boys in green, who took six out of the eight games played.

However, the Queen City boys surprised their friends, and had the team had much practice together they would have made the Shamrocks hustle more than they did, but their home was not good, and when they got the ball, which was pretty frequently towards the end of the game, they never seemed to know what to do with it. Their defence was remarkably good, Their goal-keeper, Allan, is a star, and Hartley played a splendid game.

The Shamrock home did not show the improvement expected, even with the addition of Danaher, and their play was more brilliant than effective. There was a good deal of pulling and shouting, but without O'Meara there would have been very little scoring. Summary:

WON BY.	SCORED BY.	TIME.
1—Shamrock	Wall	1 min
2—Shamrock	Wall	8 "
3—Toronto	Burns	12 "
4—Toronto	Burns	4 "
5—Shamrock	Danaher	2 "
6—Shamrock	O'Meara	10 "
7—Shamrock	O'Meara	3 "
8—Shamrock	O'Meara	14 "

The match at Ottawa between Montreal and the Capitals resulted in a victory for the home twelve in six straight games. The Caps scored in 4, 4 1-2, 17 min., 20 sec., 10 1-2, 3 1-2 and 2 min.

Cyclists at Asbury Park.

Asbury Park, N.J., July 13.—The prominent feature of the afternoon was the handicap third between Louis and John Benner of Philadelphia, aged 4 and 6 respectively, and "Happy Days" Bill Pitman, who won the first cycle race ever run in America. Little Louis was on the 160-yard mark, John was on scratch and Father Bill away back to the head of the stretch on a high wheel. Louis won hands down, with John second and "Happy Days" a quarter of a mile behind, having wandered all over the path on his ordinary, at one time riding off on the turf.

The handicapping to-day was an improvement over yesterday's, but brought out no unusual displays of speed. Rumford, from 240 yards, ran away with the professional handicap, while Conn Baker, late of class B, got second from scratch very neatly, beating out old Peter Berlo and a select coterie. Summaries:

Two-thirds mile, 2.35 class, final heat—C. M. Erts, New York, 1; U. S. Paige, Brooklyn, 2; Louis Hunter, N.J.A.C., 3. Time, 1.50. C. L. Leatherbury, Baltimore, and F. B. Eglehoff, Brooklyn, also ran.

One mile, open, class B, final heat, paced by Mayo and Saunderson on the tandem—Coulter, 1; A. D. Kennedy, Chicago, 2; J. F. Barry, Syracuse, 3. Time, 2.08. F. J. Jenney, Utica; Ray Macdonald, New York. Arthur Gardiner, Chicago; Harley Davidson, Brantford, and E. C. Johnson, Cleveland, also ran.

One mile, open, class A, final heat, paced by Stowe and Davey on the tandem—C. L. Leatherbury, Baltimore, 1; H. E. Caldwell, Manchester, 2; W. G. Douglas, N.Y.A.C., 3. Time, 2.11 3-5. Bert Richey, Newark; C. M. Erts, New York; F. A. Foell, Buffalo; Roy Dawson, New York; F. D. White, Liberty; and J. M. Baldwin also ran.

Third-mile handicap—John Benner, aged 6; Louis Benner, aged 4; and "Happy Days" Pitman, the oldest racing man in America, won by Louis Benner. Time, 4.08.

Half-mile handicap, class A, final heat J. M. Baldwin, Paterson, 25 yards, 1; W. M. McCutcheon, Crescent W., 35 yds., 2; Charles Spencer, Baltimore, 30 yds., 3. Time, 1.03 2-5. John O'Halleran, Jersey City, 75 yds.; F. S. Shinn, Lakewood, 50 yards; C. W. Krick, Reading, scratch; G. E. Ruppert, New York, 30 yds.; U. S. Paige, Brooklyn, 30 yds., also ran.

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4 000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

Two-mile handicap, professional—R. H. Mumford, Chester, 240, 1; Conn Baker, scratch, 2; Jay Paton, Elisabeth, C., 90, 3; P. J. Berlo, Boston, 80, 4. Time, 4.34. H. E. Bartholomew, Riverton A. C., 70; F. H. Onge, Boston, 80; George Cutler, Boston, 20; R. R. McCurd, Philadelphia, 110, also started.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Ssytematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

Drive Away Dullness.

Perhaps July is a dull month, but a little extra energy will manage to drive away dullness.

It's a mistaken idea that people lock up their purses during the summer months. If the right lever is used they open easily.

We make July a clearing month, and by so doing make friends for the Fall by very low prices.

Here's the lever we are using just now. We have planned for a stirring Seven Days

Small-Ware Sale.

Saturday morning we commence a clearance of our decks of every article in the Small Ware Department that has a suspicion of being lonesome, including:—

Straw Hats, Ribbons, Gloves, Hosiery, Veilings, Underwear, | Dress Trimmings, Parasols, Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, Belts, Buckles, Men's Furnishings

All to be turned into prompt cash—that means a big slice off wholesale prices—such a slice as will make stock reducers in earnest. This store must never be dull.

THE PITEZEL MYSTERY

Solved by Discovery of the Children's Bodies.

BURIED IN A TORONTO CELLAR

The Children Disappeared in October—Their Fate a Mystery Until Yesterday—Supposed to Have Been Smothered—Their Murderer in a Philadelphia Jail.

Toronto, July 16.—Last week was published a lengthy article detailing the arrival here of Frank Geyer, a detective connected with the Philadelphia police force, in search of a clue as to the whereabouts of two children named Etta Annie Pitezel, aged 13, and Nellie Pitezel, aged 11, the daughters of Benjamin Pitezel of Philadelphia. Detective Geyer, who had just arrived from Detroit, was sanguine that the two children had been brutally murdered and their bodies concealed in this city by a man named H. H. Holmes, who is awaiting trial in Philadelphia on the self-confessed crime of defrauding the Fidelity Mutual Insurance Company of the Quaker City out of $10,000 by substituting the body of a medical college "subject" for that of Benjamin F. Pitezel, the father of the two children, who were believed to have been done to death in Toronto. The paper published the pictures of the two children and full details of the multifarious crimes alleged to have been committed by Holmes, who for 10 years past has been earning a livelihood by swindling insurance companies.

As the result of the publication of these facts in the press, the bodies of the two children were yesterday discovered buried in the cellar of a house at 16 St. Vincent-st., rented by Holmes in October last. The discovery of the bodies confirms the belief entertained by the Philadelphia authorities, that Holmes not only murdered the two children, but also cremated in a house in Detroit the body of their brother, Howard Pitezel, aged 9, and also killed Benjamin F. Pitezel, the father of the three children, and Annie and Minnie Williams, two women with whom he lived in Chicago. Mr. T. W. Ryves, who resides at No. 18 St. Vincent-street, saw the pictures of the two young girls and of Holmes in The World, and, as a result, on Saturday morning communicated with the detective department.

He stated that a man with two children, answering the description of Holmes and of the Pitezel children, resided for a week last October at No. 16 St. Vincent-street, the house immediately adjoining his premises.

Acting upon the information communicated by Mr. Ryves, Detectives Geyer and Cuddy yesterday morning paid a visit to the house, which is at present occupied by Mr. J. Armbrust, and is owned by Mrs. Nudel, wife of Mr. Frank M. Nudel, senior clerk of the education department, Normal School.

The house is a quaint little two-story cottage, of an old and simple style of architecture.

Under the kitchen is an excavation which serves for a cellar, about 10 feet square and not more than 5 feet in depth. A set of steps, almost perendicular, lead to it from an old-fashioned trap-door in the middle of the kitchen floor.

The detectives did not expect to find anything. They had already dug up two or three cellars in Bloor and other streets in search of the bodies, and thought that this would likewise be a wild goose chase. They decided, however, to proceed with the investigation. They observed a spot where the sandy floor looked as if it had been disturbed, and set to work with a shovel in the southwest end of the cellar.

In a moment more that something was laid bare. A dead, white human hand and wrist—white, wan and bloodless, more like the model of a hand exquisitely moulded in pure wax than a real hand—suddenly showed itself three feet below the surface among the sand.

The inspector instructed them to secure an undertaker and B. D. Humphrey of Yonge-street was called. In the presence of the detectives he continued the work of unearthing the remains and speedily unearthed the bodies of the two children. The search of Geyer was over. The cellar had given up its dead. The attitude was that of repose rather than that of death. The features—that is, such of them as were visible—were calm and the soil had probably assisted to a certain extent in arresting the course of decay, although both bodies were badly putrified.

There could be no doubt from the circumstances that the grave was dug by murderous hands red from the recent deed.

How the children were killed will probably be developed as the result of the post-mortem which has been ordered by Coroner A. J. Johnson.

The hole in which the bodies were discovered was about four feet square and three and a half feet deep, allowing a little over one-half a foot for the space they occupied. The younger, child, Nellie, lay in a crippled position with its head to the northwest and its little legs pointing almost north, while the elder child had evidently been carelessly thrown in on top of the other, and its head pointing to the southeast and the legs parted.

Both bodies were in a terribly decomposed state, the faces being almost unrecognisable. When a World reporter visited the cellar his eyes met a most ghastly sight. There in a yawning hole in a corner of the cellar, right at the foot of the seven small steps on which he stood, lay the bodies of the two innocent little lambs who were slain by a fiend incarnate. The larger child was lying face downward, her matted hair hanging over the right shoulder. The smaller child was lying on her right side and her plaited hair, which had fallen from her head, while the earth around her was being dug away, lay in a little heap a few inches from her face. A hand lamp carried by Detective Cuddy cast a weird light over the horrible scene. The dreadful stench arising from the bodies was indescribable.

The owner of the premises in which the bodies were found is Mrs. F. Nudel, who resides at 54 Henry-street. She stated that she rented the house some time in October last to a man who gave his name as Howard at $10 per month. Howard came round some time in the middle of October, one Saturday afternoon, and he agreed to take the house at $10 a month for six months, and wished to pay the rent for the six months in advance.

The only things in the way of furniture that Holmes appears to have had taken to the house were a bedstead and mattress, by means of which he is supposed to have smothered the children. It was getting toward the latter end of October when an expressman delivered these goods, which were second hand and in a very poor condition.

The first intimation Mrs. Nudel had that Howard had not moved into the house was nearly two weeks after the time she rented it, when a party came to her wishing to lease the house. Mrs. Nudel explained to her would-be tenant that the house had been rented for two weeks and received a reply to the effect that it could not be so as no furniture was in the place and that it was to all appearances vacant. It was about the end of the month when the landlady received a key of the house from Mr. Ryves, who said that Howard had left it with him, saying that he was leaving the house. Mrs. Nudel had given two keys to Howard and could not understand why he had kept the other one. The house was rented a couple of months afterwards to Mrs Macdonald, whom Mrs. Nudel only allowed to stay in it a month, as she says the people were very poor and had not enough money to keep them in fuel. The cottage afterwards remained vacant until Mr. I. Armbrust rented it. When Mrs. Macdonald took possession of the cottage she found in one of the rooms a mattress and pillow. It was with these that Pitezel smothered the children.

Mr. Armbrust is local manager of the St. Thomas Provincial Provident Institution, with offices at Church and Adelaide-streets. He has occupied the house since April 1. His lease is for one year, with the privilege of extending it to three years. "The place was very homelike and comfortable, and I spent a great deal of time in fixing it up and bringing it to its present appearance," said Mr. Armbrust, "and I don't like to leave it now. We came here in April but we did not notice anything until the warm weather set in. Then, as the days became hotter, we could detect a slight smell in the kitchen when we came down in the mornings. For some weeks past we have found it necessary every morning to open out the windows and the doors to get the fresh air into the house. We wondered at the cause of the disagreeable odor, and finally thought it must be in the hole under the kitchen. We had never used it for a cellar, but thought we would clean it out. We did so, but beyond a few boards there was not much there. We did remark that these boards, or planks, of which there were three or four, had evidently been taken from the floor of the stall in the horse stable. They were laid east and west in the corner of the cellar where the bodies of the children were buried. We noticed that they were not very clean, having been taken from the stable, and thought possibly they were the cause of the smell. But we soon learned we were wrong, as after we removed the boards the smell became worse day by day. We had read of the Pitezel case in the papers, but never had a thought that our cellar contained the solution of the mystery, and the first intimation we had of it was when Detectives Geyer and Cuddy came to our house about 11 o'clock to-day."

After Mr. Armbrust had been in the house a short time he decided to have a fireplace erected in the front room, and the work was gone on with forthwith. After the erection of the grate it was discovered that the chimney did not draw well, and on investigating Mr. Armbrust found that it was stuffed with partly burned straw and clothing of a print and woolen material. He did not think much of the occurrence, as he had found other signs of clothing having been burned around the house and thought that his predecessors had simply burned the clothes as a convenient way of getting rid of them. Of course the charred apparel that Mr. Armbrust found was the clothing of the murdered children.

In conversation with a press reporter Neighbor Ryves said that in October last he saw Holmes about the Nudel cottage on at least three different days. He could not remember the dates or the days of the week, as no incident occurred to impress anything particularly upon his mind. On two out of the three occasions the Pitezel girls were with him. Mr. Ryves talked with Holmes, who became so strangely communicative that the former's suspicions were aroused that his coming neighbor was not just what he ought to be. "I told my wife that there was something about him I did not like, and that feeling weighed on me until he had gone away," said Mr. Ryves. "The first day he came the children were with him. He was doing something about the house, and the children played about on the front verandah. He told me then that he was renting the house for a sister in Hamilton, who would move down in a few days. There was something peculiar about the man, but I did not think anything about it at that conversation. I think I saw him around the house a week or so before the first time we spoke, the time when the children were with him, but I am somewhat confused and could not be sure on that point. The second time I saw the children they were in the back yard playing around." At this point Mr. Ryves was shown a cut of the girl, published in The World of Saturday last, and said: "I positively identified that as the picture of Etta Alice the other day by the odd manner in which her hair was combed down over the centre of her brow." There was no striking characteristic apparent in the child Nellie, and he could not be sure as to her photo. "I saw an express wagon drive up one day," continued Mr. Ryves, "and leave a large trunk and bedstead. The trunk was taken into the house, but I think the bedstead stood on the verandah for a day or so. The bedstead was never removed, but the trunk was taken away soon after it came by one of C.S. Hebert's wagons. I don't know the name of the expressman, as I did not take much notice of his wagon.

One evening about 4 or 5 o'clock Holmes came to me and asked for the loan of my spade, as he said he wanted to fix up the cellar preparatory to putting in some potatoes. He kept the spade over night and returned it some time during the next day. I think it was when he returned the spade that he told me his sister's mother-in-law had taken sick, his sister was compelled to stay and attend her and he thought he would have to give up the house."

From developments as to the movements of Holmes during the few days he was here, the date of the murder can be definitely fixed. He arrived in the city and registered at the Palmer House on Oct. 18. The following day Mrs. Pitezel arrived, and this thought and time for that day were devoted to lulling the suspicions which had been arising in her mind as to her husband's safety, and getting her quietly settled in the Union Hotel. This done he began to look about him for a place suited to the carrying out of his plans.

An advertisement in a newspaper of a house to let caught his eye, and on the following morning, Oct. 20, he called on Mrs. Nudel at 54 Henry-street and engaged the house. To her he told the old story of a widowed sister which had done service when the house in which the boy Howard is thought to have been cremated was engaged in Forest-avenue, Detroit. The preliminaries were not long drawn, the questions were few, and when the one month's rent of $10 had been paid and Holmes, or Howard, as he called himself to Mrs. Nudel, had possession of the keys, his only request was that, as his sister would be some time in getting settled, he did not wish any person to call at the house for some time. With a precaution for every detail he calculated that his deed would thus be accomplished and a thousand miles or more separate him from the bodies of his victims before a suspicion would arise.

Satisfied that the house met his requirements, Holmes that evening left the city with his wife, and spent Sunday at Niagara Falls, where he reviewed in his mind the scheme which he was about to put into execution. He returned to Toronto again on the following day and visited the house in St. Vincent-street, accompanied by his intended victims, whom he took away from the Albion

Hotel. On Tuesday and Wednesday he also spent there, and while his attention was turned to completing the details of his scheme the two young girls played round, and filled with childish laughter the house so soon to become the scene of their tragic end and ghastly burial. The bedstead and mattress came and were left for a day or two on the verandah to convey to the neighbors the impression that some one was moving in. None dreamed of the hidden plans, and to the children they had a wider and happier meaning. They had not seen their mother, their sister or Dessa, or the baby since Alice looked through the hole in the newspaper which covered the face of her murdered father in the Philadelphia graveyard and identified his body by his teeth, and they played and laughed and lived in the confidence that mamma was coming and was going to bring Dessa and baby with her. Mr. Howell, as Holmes called himself, had told them so, and said the bed was the first of the furniture which was to make this cottage so much like

It is said that in the United States a syndicate of hardware dealers has contracted with two bicycle manufacturers for 100,000 wheels to be delivered next year at a cost of $16 each and to be retailed for $30. At this rate the pedestrian, not the cyclist, will soon be the curiosity.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, in his last speech in the Senate, is said to have quoted that favourite Methodist hymn :

While the lamp holds out to burn,
The vilest sinner may return.

To whom was he referring, Caron or Ouimet? Ouimet take our choice, we suppose.

The Government organ thinks that the Cabinet is not yet "out of the wood" in connection with the school matter and that there are "rocks ahead." The government is actually on the rocks and though the ship may appear steady for a period it is only a question of more or less short time when it must go to pieces. And the members know it.

"It is noticeable," says the Montreal Star, "across the line that there are now occasional strikes for higher wages. For the last two years the strikes have all been against a reduction of wages." And this under a reduced tariff, which protectionists prophesied would ruin the manufacturing industries of the country. Protection theories often get very badly hurt when they run up against facts.

The report of the British Registrar-General, which has just been issued, shows that in the middle of 1894, lesser London had a population of 4,349,166, an increase of 137,423 in three years, a considerably larger proportional increase than there was between 1881 and 1891. If the population of greater London increased as rapidly as it did during the decade from 1881 to 1891, the population of the metropolis in the middle of last year would be nearly 6,000,000, and would now exceed that figure.

At the meeting at Saratoga of the Bankers' Association of New York state on Wednesday, W. C. Cornwall, of Buffalo, the president, said that a modification, or rather enlargement, of the Canadian system was, in his opinion, the true panacea for the financial ills of the United States. A first-class banking system for the United States would mean steadiness and safety for the business of the continent and improve matters for Canada. So it is to be hoped that Mr. Cornwall's pointer will help to induce banking men and statesmen on the other side of the line to put on their thinking caps as regards our bank system.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

An Eddy of News from the Otonabee—Breezes from Rice Lake.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Jubilee Point, July 15th.

"What did you say, that fish talked?"

Frog catchers report business most dull, the creatures being few and far between, besides being eagerly looked for by the American and other guests of the hotel to such an extent as to be almost exterminated.

The nose of the Rathbun drive is in close proximity to the forks which separate the east from the west channels. Consequently a boom has been swung across the west channel in order to run them through the eastern gap. This is the last drive of the season to pass through the Otonabee, Rice Lake and River Trent. No less than twelve million feet in all are in the river at present.

Mr. Archie Fulton, of the Jubilee Point Hotel, caught a monster lunge while still fishing with rod and line. When weighed the steelyards pulled 23½ lbs. The length of the fish was exactly 47 inches. A photographer being at the Point at the time a negative was taken which may be seen in the bar. No wash about this story.

Mr. Fred Hubbs purchased a shell from Mr. Harry McClelland, of Norwood, and intends showing the boys in and about the forks that he is no slouch. He is an old timer with the spoons, and at the approaching regatta will show them to effect.

The shooting stars last evening attracted great attention from the guests of the hotel, they falling in the lake, the splashes of which could easily be heard at a distance of one half mile from the point.

The Indian baseball team of Hiawatha are diligently practicing in order to meet the Lindsayites in good shape. The game will be played on the Jubilee ball grounds on the 18th inst., Thursday, on which date the Lindsay base ball club run their excursion per Grand Trunk and steamer Daisy, with palace scow attached. No doubt it will be the game of the season, and will be witnessed by thousands, as there are two other excursions billed for the Point on that day, from Port Hope and Cobourg. The Indians are confident of victory.

Messrs. Harold Bros., boat builders, of Gore's Landing, have their hands full at present. They have received one hundred and twenty-five thousand feet of basswood lumber from the Keene Lumbering Co's mills. This week they shipped three crates, 5 canoes in each, to their agents in London, Eng.

While Mr. Alex. Patterson, of Ashburnham, was cruising about the Point a day or two ago, he spotted a bald-headed eagle hovering over Tick Island, Alec had a crack or two at the noble bird of prey with his Smith & Wesson repeating rifle, but failed to lower him, the distance being too great.

As the boat drew up to the dock the other day a pleasant looking American stepped out on the platform and inhaling the fresh air, enthusiastically observed to the captain :

"Isn't this invigorating?"

"No, sir, it's Jubilee Point, Rice Lake," was the quick reply.

The excursions to the Point this year included several private parties per steamers Daisy, Beaver and Sunbeam from Gore's Landing, Keene, Harwood, Bewdley, as well as those from town, which were as follows :

The Church of England Wednesday last per steamer City of Peterborough, with some four hundred aboard, spent a most enjoyable outing at the Point. For several hours the youngsters enjoyed themselves immensely. Rev. J. C. Davidson was master of ceremonies and was ably assisted by Mr. Harry Long. A programme of sports was carried out in a most satisfactory manner.

The Baptist Church Sunday school picnic spent Thursday afternoon last, some three hundred and fifty in all, at Jubilee Point. They had a field day amongst themselves, from a baby's five yard dash to its ma, to an old man's race of 80 summers. Mr. Geo. Matthews, of the Geo. Matthews Co., town, acted as referee, and saw that the youngsters that could toddle, and those that couldn't, received their just award in the numerous events. The steamer pulled out about four o'clock, all highly delighted and complimenting those in charge of the hotel, grounds, candy and other stands, and deciding to visit Jubilee Point next summer.

The following excursions are booked for next week to the Point :—

July 17th, Methodist, Port Hope, steamer City of Peterborough.

July 18th, Lindsay baseball team, Daisy and scow.

July 18th, G.T.R., Hastings, via River Trent, Rice Lake and Otonabee to Jubilee, steamer City of Peterborough.

Those registered at the hotel are as follows : His Hon. Judge Sinclair and wife, Philadelphia ; Miss Doolittle, Capt. Wm. Sharp and wife, Brooklyn, N.Y. ; Mr. W. H. Renwick, W. B. Thompson, John W. McIntyre, Bowmanville ; Miss Blanch Armstrong, Millbrook ; Miss Carrie Anderson, Centreville ; Miss Julia Eagleson, Ida ; Miss Mabel Howard, Miss Irene Bosworth, Miss Olive Beaver, Mr. Harry Beaver, Mr. Jack Howard, Rochester, N.Y. ; the Misses Susie Maggie, and Kate Calcutt, Miss Edna Rogers, Chief Roszel, Mr. J. J. Turner, wife and family, Robert Adams and H. Chamberlain, Peterborough.

EARLY CLOSING.

The humane law passed by the Ontario Legislature some time ago regulating shop labour was necessitated largely by the long hours during which shops were kept open. There never was any reason for these long hours, except the thoughtlessness of buyers, and the fear on the part of one shopkeeper that if he closed at 6 o'clock his rival would catch the evening trade. There is no business in which the hours of work will bear more contraction than in that of buying and selling. In not a few cases a large proportion of the time of clerks is usually spent in merely waiting for customers, and the actual business can be done as easily in ten hours as in fifteen.

It is no trouble for the customers to make their purchases before 6 o'clock, while the boon that is conferred upon the clerks by setting them free for the evenings is incalculable. The experience of the T. Eaton Company of this city shows that the short-hour system is quite compatible with the transaction of a business of extraordinary proportions. They have steadily maintained the rule of closing at 6 p.m., and of giving their employees a Saturday half holiday. They now announce a further step in the same direction—the closing of their shop at 5 instead of 6 on five days of the week, and at 1 on Saturday. Perhaps in time we may come down to the views that the Government hours of 10 to 4 set an example which out to be generally followed,—Toronto Globe.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

Montreal, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

AGAINST COERCION.

Mr. Laurier's Strong Speech on the School Question.

MUTUAL CONCESSIONS URGED.

Hands Off Manitoba—The Idea of Coercion Dangerous to the Country When the Trouble Can Be Amicably Ended by Negotiations Entered Into in a Proper Spirit.

Ottawa, July 16.—Mr. Laurier found an opportunity in the House yesterday to move a resolution of non-confidence which brought on a full and comprehensive discussion of the Government's shuffling course in regard to the Manitoba school question. His own speech, which is entitled to take a place among the historic orations of our Canadian Parliament, was listened to by a full House and crowded galleries. The audience included the Countess of Aberdeen, whose close attendance upon the House these days is indicative of the general interest with which the crisis continues to be watched. It was upon the motion to go into Committee of Supply that he arose. Simultaneously Mr. McCarthy sought to catch Mr. Speaker's eye, but was forestalled. The Liberal leader never spoke with greater vigor and statesmanlike breath, his words, his manner and the man himself, oration and orator, were instinct with the power of a master mind. The speech will become a Canadian classic for its literary style, while for its polemical power and statesmanship it will be no less memorable. "Conciliation, but no coercion;" "A firm hand and a soft touch." These utterances give the key-note of the policy which he declared the Government should have taken with the troublous school question. As was anticipated he dealt at length with this question, but before proceeding to that important phase of the speech he took up the contradictory attitudes of the Government on other questions. He showed how the members of Cabinet had not confidence in one another, how weakness, uncertainty and equivocation characterized all their actions. He hoped that the policy of conciliation adopted at Confederation would be carried out and whatever grievances there were remedied not by coercion, but by negotiation. This could be brought about not by stern interference, but by a firm hand and touch, and neither the majority nor the minority thus acting with mutual confidence and deliberation would have cause of complaint.

On motion to go into supply, Mr. Laurier said he desired to call attention to recent Ministerial declarations on the school question. What was the point of difference which led Mr. Angers to separate from his colleagues? Mr. Foster had said that there had simply been a misunderstanding. But if they looked at the explanations given in the newspaper press, there was something more than a misunderstanding. It was clear there was mistrust among members of the Ministry. On this and every other question the Government had no mind of their own, ready to undo to-day what they had done yesterday. In his judgment, the Government were suffering from cerebral malformation, they were haunted by the demon of doubt and vacillation. The Government's policy was one of broken promises, broken engagements, conflicting determinations and retrograde movements. He cited the Government's policy on the Insolvency bill, the space for cattle on ship board and the Hudson Bay Railway matter. On the Manitoba school question there had been vacillation incarnate. The Remedial Order was passed; Manitoba was commanded to restore Catholic schools. What happened? Manitoba refused to do anything, and the Government instead of implementing the order with the promised legislation, turned round and said, "Let us negotiate." The policy of conciliation, of which the Premier spoke the other day, would have been a grand thing at the outset. (Opposition cheers.) The policy of the Government should have been moderate in language and firm in action. Instead of that, it had been bullying in language and weak in execution. He was proceeding to quote Mr. Angers' speech in the Senate, when Mr. Speaker called him to order, and said it was irregular to refer to what took place in the other House.

Mr. Laurier, continuing, said the Government had never dealt with this question frankly, fairly, sincerely or honestly. The Government did not dare to implement its promise given to the electorate last winter. Mr. Taylor, chief whip of the Ministerial forces, had spoken his mind the other night. He was proceeding to read a portion of Mr. Taylor's speech, when the Speaker again called him to order, the rules of the House forbidding any reference to a past debate.

Mr. Laurier claimed it was the same question as discussed the other day.

Mr. Foster said, personally, he had no objection to Mr. Laurier rambling over the speeches of the whole session if he so desired.

Mr. Laurier said he desired to be under no compliment to the Ministry, and would not pursue the matter further. Reverting to a discussion of the school question, he said he inferred from a leader in The Mail and Empire of Friday last that there was to be no Remedial Legislation. But if, after all, the Government were compelled to introduce Remedial Legislation, it would be of such a namby-pamby character as to amount to a farce. (Opposition Orange Grand Lodge at St. Catharines a member of the Ministry there was not much hope for Remedial Legislation. In face of the report adopted by the Orange Grand Lodge at St. Catharines last March, that Manitoba should not be interfered with, and Mr. Wallace's acquiescence in it, what prospect was there of the Government redeeming their promises? There ought to be from the Government a clear and defined policy. They could not please everybody,, but they seemed to be pleasing nobody.

Continuing, he said: Now, Mr. Speaker, in the face of this, when the Government have had no settled policy up to the present time upon this question, I am entreated day after day by gentlemen opposite, or by their friends, to say what is my own policy upon that question.

Several members: Now we will have it.

Mr. Laurier: Mr. Speaker, two years ago, speaking upon this question when it came before the House for the first time, I stated then that in my estimation there was no doubt whatever that, reading the history of the constitution, reading the history of clause 93, there could be no doubt whatever in the minds of any disinterested person that there were powers of interference in the constitution laid down by that section. I stated then that the question which was to be solved was not a question of law, but simply a question of facts—facts to be ascertained in order to lay down the law. That was my policy then. I stated it at the time without fear. It was not heeded. It was not accepted; but, as it was not heeded——

Mr. Foster: Will my hon. friend permit me to interrupt him a moment. Did I understand my hon. friend to say that when he made the statement here that it was a question of fact, and not of law, that that was his policy on the question?

Mr. Laurier: I stated then that it was my policy on the question.

Mr. Foster: It is difficult to see how that is policy.

Mr. Laurier: I stated then that the power of interference existed, that if the grievances laid down by the Catholic minority were true, that the schools were Protestant, there were grounds sufficient for interference. I said so at the time. My advice was not heeded, however. I did not expect that from the hon. gentlemen. But, as my advice was not heeded, I folded my arms, and I waited for the hon. gentlemen to be wiser, and to give us their policy, a thing which they have failed to do ever since. (Opposition cheers.) And, sir, because they have failed to do it ever since, and because I would not speak my own policy, having given it once, until, forsooth, they showed a better policy themselves, they have ever since been doing me the honor of insulting me every day in their press as wanting in courage.

Let those hon. gentlemen opposite unite their discordant elements, let them unite their differences, into a policy. Let them bring down that policy, and then, sir, I pledge myself here that if it commends itself to my judgment I shall give it all my support. I say again, what I said before more than once, that I have no desire that my party should walk into power over the Manitoba school question. Let hon. gentlemen opposite settle that question. I will be most happy to give them my support, but they must settle it, in some other manner than they have tried heretofore. Something must be done, and done at once, because this policy of delay, this policy of vacillation, is not only paralyzing, but it is fast disintegrating national life—fast disintegrating national life, I say, because it is arraying creed against creed, and race against race. (Opposition cheers.) Something must be done and done at once. What should be done, I have no hesitation, for my part, here, speaking my own personal sentiment, to say that I do desire, and do wish, that the minority in Manitoba may be allowed the privilege of teaching in their schools to their children their duties to God and to man, as they understand their duties, and as their duties are taught to them by their church. (Liberal cheers.) That is my wish. But I do say that if that object is to be restored, it is not to be restored by imperious dictation nor by administrative coercion. If that object is to be restored, the hand must be firm and the touch soft. Hitherto the touch has been rude and the hand has been weak. Sir, this is my policy. We must build up a nation here.

This is my policy. We must carry out the idea of Confederation. We must have a nation here. We must build up a nation; but, if this is to be done, we must teach every citizen, no matter what his creed or his race may be, in the prosecution of his rights not to exact the last pound of flesh. We must teach every citizen in the prosecution of his rights to make some concessions to the feelings, nay, to the prejudices, of his fellow-countrymen, so that they may not find themselves oppressed by the laws of the country, but, on the contrary, that all in the country may have in their hearts a pride in Canada, a pride in our institutions, a pride in our laws. Sir, I belong, I am proud to say, to a party which has always been signalized for its broad views of tolerance and justice to minorities—(Opposition cheers)—and when the time comes for the Liberal party to deal with this question, I think I can make the pledge for every member of the Liberal party that we will endeavor to solve that problem on lines that will be found fair, equitable and satisfactory to the minority, on those broad lines of equal rights and justice to all which underlie our constitution.

It is because we are animated with these sentiments, and because I arraign the policy of the Government as a policy of uncertainty, with no ring of truth about it, that I beg to move:

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

DAVID SCOLLIE TRAGEDY.

Thomas and Hessie Gray Charged With Murder.

PRELIMINARY HEARING GOING ON.

The Case Exciting Great Interest The Court House Packed With Spectators—Thomas and Hessie Gray and the Infant Child In Court—The Evidence Presented—History of the Case.

For months the connection of David and Hessie Gray with the tragic death of old David Scollie, of Otonabee, in February '94, has been the topic of public discussion and the public interest has gradually increased with the opening of the investigation, the arrest of the Grays in Florida and the return of the unhappy pair to Peterborough under the grave charges of murder and arson, till it culminated in overflowing the court room this morning to listen to the preliminary investigation.

History of the Case.

On the morning of Feb. 23rd, 1894, the residence of Thomas Gray, 11th concession of Otonabee, about five miles from Peterborough, was destroyed by fire, and David Scollie, an old man who lived with Gray, apparently perished in the flames. A history of David Scollie's connection with the Grays may lead to making the circumstances of the present case more intelligible. David Scollie, who was 67 years of age and a bachelor, owned the small farm on which he lived. For a time Scollie worked with a Mr. Weir and thus became acquainted with Thomas Gray, who worked at the same place. It was arranged that Scollie should go to live with the Grays, the old man agreeing to deed the farm to the Grays in return for his keep during his natural life.

After about a year of living under this arrangement the Grays became dissatisfied, seeing that Scollie was enjoying and that he might live for years and the farm would be an inadequate return for the expense of maintenance for 15 or 20 years. Scollie was willing to cancel the arrangement and pay a certain sum for his keep. But the Grays demanded a lump sum of $130, which the old man regarded as exorbitant; and after consulting a lawyer, the Grays decided to keep to their original bargain and thus matters remained. Soon after it is related that the old man met with a peculiar accident, a heavy flower pot falling from an upper window of the Gray residence, and inflicting severe injuries, the neighbours taking charge of Scollie till his recovery. The Grays, it is said, explained that the flower pot was let fall by the children, and the explanation was accepted.

On Feb. 23, 1894, as stated, the house of the Grays took fire, Gray being away from home at the time. Mrs. Gray ran to the house of Mr. Wm. McGregor, a brother-in-law, about half a mile distant, to give the alarm, though Mr. Z. Burnham lived much nearer. On McGregor's arrival he found the lower part of the house in flames, and learned from Mrs. Gray, who said she had rescued the children with difficulty, that she had called on Scollie several times but he had not replied. McGregor attempted to enter the house but was driven back by the flames, and the next morning

THE REMAINS OF SCOLLIE WERE FOUND.

It appears that Scollie had been in the habit of sleeping in the front part of the house, and this part of the house was first burned. Scollie's body, however, was found in the rear part of the house on the ground floor. Considerable suspicion was manifested at the head of Scollie's body being entirely burned away and missing. A thorough search of the ruins was made but the head could nowhere be found. A coroner's inquest was held and a verdict of accidental death returned, and Scollie's remains were placed in the Little Lake Cemetery. There was some talk among the neighbours over the fact that the furniture of the Grays was insured for $200 more than it was considered to be worth, and the house for $300. The Grays rebuilt on the property and subsequently sold it and went to live in Florida. But the suspicions that were aroused at the time of the tragedy did not die out, and more than a year after Detective Murray was sent by Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright to Otonabee to investigate. It will be fresh in the public memory that by undertaker Belleghem and that a post mortem examination was made by Drs. Caven and Primrose, of Toronto, and Halliday and Boucher, of Peterborough, in the meantime Detective Murray was busy in collecting information, which was submitted before County Police Magistrate Edmison, the pith of which has been presented in the EXAMINER, and will not now be referred to as it will be brought out in the preliminary hearing now going on.

THE BODY OF SCOLLIE WAS EXHUMED

Sufficient evidence was, however, forthcoming, to justify the Crown in taking action, and warrants were issued for the arrest of the Grays on the terrible charges of murder and arson, and the execution of the warrants for their arrest and return to Peterborough were entrusted to Detective Murray. He was armed with the necessary extradition papers but the Grays, who were encumbered with six children, waived extradition formalities and agreed to voluntarily return to Peterborough, in case their children were brought with them.

On Friday, July 5th, the party arrived in Peterborough in charge of Detective Murray, and were arraigned before Police Magistrate Edmison, and remanded to jail till July 12th, at which time they were further remanded till to-day, July 16th.

The Preliminary Hearing.

The county court room was filled with old men, young men, youths and maidens from both town and country, long before one o'clock—the hour set for the preliminary hearing of Thomas and Hessie Gray, over whose head the awful charge of murder and arson is hanging.

Great interest has been manifested in the case by the townspeople since it was reopened by the Crown, and as the day of the hearing approached, the matter formed the chief topic of discussion on every street corner. Small wonder then that the big court room's seating capacity was taxed to the utmost, and even standing room was at a premium, all the passages and corridors being crowded.

The excitement approached a climax when escorted by Turnkey Rae.

THE PRISONERS ENTERED THE ROOM,

Thre were at that time only on or two ladies in the court room, and a pitying glance from them denoted that the wee babe on its mother's knee had won for her their sympathy.

The hearing was conducted before County Magistrate Edmison. The crown was represented by County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood, whilst Mr. W. A. Stratton, of the firm of Stratton & Hall, represented the prisoners. Provincial Detective Murray was also in attendance, and representatives of the local papers, and Montreal and Toronto papers were present.

Mr. Daniel Belleghem, undertaker, was the first witness called by the crown. He remembered being called to bury the body of a man named David Scollie in February, 1894. Mr. McGregor had called him to go down. He had found on his arrival a part of the remains of Scollie laid out on a couple of boards in the barn On his arrival, Mr. McGregor was the only one he remembered seeing there at the time although there were others.

THE HEAD WAS MISSING

from the body and part of the toes were burnt off. The trunk of the body at the neck was charred black at the stump. The fire had not touched the breast. The body was dressed in a guernsey and flannel, overshirt which were not burnt. The legs were covered by a pair of drawers, but there was nothing on the feet which were burned and scarred. The man's breast was covered by a hairy growth which was unburnt. The hands were set. He afterwards took a casket down, in which he placed the body and brought it to his warerooms in town, from where it was afterwards taken to the Little Lake Cemetery. He had hunted through the ashes for some time looking for the head, which he did not think could have been cremated, but found nothing.

He afterwards re-opened the grave and exhumed the body sometime in June, in the presence of Detective Murray, Mr. Wood, Dr. Halliday, a reporter, and two doctors from Toronto. It was the same grave, the same coffin and the same body.

He did not dress the body when he placed it in the coffin, but left it clad as it was when he found it. When the grave was reopened the body was clothed the same as when interred.

THE HEAD WAS STILL MISSING.

In answer to Mr. Stratton's cross examination, the witness stated that the body had lain in the barn for about four hours when he arrived. The barn was open to everybody—to friend and foe. There was nothing to lead him to believe, from the appearance of the neck, that the head was severed from the body. From what he saw he came to the conclusion that the head had been burnt from his body. The neck came to a point and it was charred gradually to this point. By charred he meant burned as would be a stick thrust in the fire. The bone could be felt by the hand where it protruded. Before he placed the body in the casket,

HE WAS SOMEWHAT SUSPICIOUS

as he could find no portion of the head and naturally scanned the garments pretty closely and had discerned no trace of blood. The hair on the breast was intact. He would say on his oath that the hair was not singed under the shirts. The two shoulders were apparently all right, although he did not take particular notice. The arms were not folded, but projected from the body, with the hands inclined towards the body. He found the legs drawn up, the left one particularly. One of the feet was burned off to the heel. He would not swear but what it was burnt off to the ankle. He did not take particular notice, but saw the feet were missing.

[At this stage Mrs. Gray's child, aged about one year, that had been brought into court with her, became refractory and set up such a crying that the proceedings were stopped and Mrs. Gray and the child removed in charge of a constable in order to place the poor babe in the charge of the matron of the jail. Mrs. Grey was then brought back to the court and the examination continued.]

The largest part of one foot was missing. The feet and the head appeared to be the only burnt parts on the body. He made no search for the feet. He didn't expect to find the head in its entirety but thought that he might recover the jaw bone or a portion of the scull. The body lay on the bank of the cellar, he was told and had presumably been protected by the bed clothing. He had poked about in the ashes in the immediate vicinity but found nothing. This circumstance confirmed the vague suspicion in his mind but he had no idea that the head had been cut off. The barn where he found the body was open to all. Anyone could have interfered with it. The body was not on view in his warerooms. All but the relatives were to have been excluded. The sight was a ghastly one. The body was kept in his rooms for twenty-four hours. The body was firm and the belly had not burst up to this time. The ribs were not protruding. Judging from the body he would say that Scollie had been a strong, powerful man.

On being re-examined by Mr. Wood the witness stated that the charring on the bone was to the depth of a quarter of an inch. There was six inches of bone protruding. The bone did not give way when he took hold of it.

THE SECOND WITNESS.

John Graham Weir, of Otonabee, residing about a mile and a half south of the Gray's place, was the next witness. He described accurately the location of his property relative to that of the Grays. He first heard of the fire shortly after seven o'clock the following morning. He had gone over to the ruins and had seen Messrs. Zac. Burnham, E. S. Bowie, Henry Girven and others there. It was on Friday, February 23rd, 1894. Mr Burnham had told him that David Scollie was burnt in the house. He had asked if it was not possible to get him out, but was told that it was no use in risking a life to get out the body as life was extinct. He, however, had gotten a shovel and started to remove the embers. He dug a trench around the body without disturbing it. John Hunter had assisted him in raising the straw tick upon which the body reclined. The straw tick laid on the hands which were smooth and clean beneath the tick, when it was first removed. Henry Girven, Walter Johnston and others examined the body when it was taken out. The blankets were taken off Scollie laid on his back when first found, the arms were folded and the blankets tucked in all around the body right up to the shoulders. No sign of the head could be discovered. His candid opinion at that time was that the head had been cut off. It did't seem possible that the stump of the neck could be so even if the head was burned off. Then, too, he couldn't understand how the clothes could be tucked with the arms folded beneath. A heavy coat of hair covered the breast. It was unsinged. At the inquest the witness had said the deceased slept.

The counsel for the defense at this point objected to the placing in evidence of anything which was brought out at the inquest.

Mr. Wood then asked the witness if he thought that the body could fall from an upper story and be found in the position in which it was discovered.

Mr. Stratton objected to this question on the ground that the witness was not being examined to ascertain what he guessed about the matter. The objection was noted but the witness was allowed to answer. He stated that in his opinion that it could not.

On being cross-examined by Mr. Stratton the witness denied ever having stated to a Mr. Lavelle that when Scollie entered into the agreement regarding the farm, that he had driven a nail in his coffin. When he saw the nice position in which the deceased was sleeping, he concluded at once that he was dead before the fire took place. As soon as he saw the neck, he concluded that the head had been cut off. He was not surprised when the head was not recovered as the heat was very intense. If the head had been attached to the body he would not have expected to find it very much burnt. The body was covered with embers when found. There was a blanket and two quilts covering the body right up to the neck. He did not know what was under the flooring on which the body was found. The neck did not appear to him to taper to an end as stated by Mr. Belleghem. The bone was only slightly charred. It did not project to any extent. He could not say the bone was charred at all. He did notice the bone particularly. The neck appeared longer at the back than at the front. The body was further protected from the flames by the ceiling, which had fallen upon it.

Mr. Stratton:—Did it not occur to you as singular that the feet were missing as well as the head? When you thought the head had been cut off did you not also reason that the feet had been cut off, too?

Mr. Weir:—No, I did not examine the feet to any extent. I was not conducting a post mortem.

Mr. Stratton:—No, it was simply effect you were after, I think.—(Cries of hear! hear!)

The magistrate had to warn the court that silence must be kept or else the inquiry would be conducted with closed doors.

The examination continues and will last for some time as there are many witnesses to be examined.

OBITUARY.

The Late Gertie Uin (Mrs. J. F. Kerr.)

The many friends in Peterborough will be pained to learn of the death of Mrs. James F. Kerr (nee Miss Gertie Uin), which sad event took place at her residence, West New Brighton, Staten Island, N.Y. Mrs. Kerr had been in an unsatisfactory condition of health for some time, but her state of health was not sufficiently serious to prevent her sister, Miss Ida Uin, who had been visiting her, returning home, which she did about two months ago. However, on Monday week, Mrs. Kerr became more seriously ill, and her mother was written to, and being unable to go, her daughters, Mrs. T. O. Rush and Mrs. W. Dayman, went to Staten Island, reaching there on Friday, but Mrs. Kerr's illness had become so serious that she died on Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr were well known and held in high respect in Peterborough, and the bereaved husband and the relatives of the deceased in Peterborough will receive the most cordial sympathy. The remains were interred today in Staten Island cemetery.

A Dangerous Practice.

There is serious complaint that young men returning from Chemong and Lakefield with livery rigs are in the habit of racing and driving past other vehicles at a running pace. Last night a lady, driving on the Chemong road, accompanied by a child, her horse was frightened by another horse, driven violently, and she and the child thrown out, fortunately sustaining no serious injury. But if both had been killed it would have made no difference to the party that caused the mishap, for the vehicle drove on and nobody stopped to see what damage was done. Livery stable keepers should be on the look-out and prevent those who hire horses from them not only abusing their horses, but endangering human life.

CAUTION.

A Lonely Vigil in One of the Northern Lakes—A Narrow Escape.

Mrs. John Holmes, of Burleigh, had a very narrow escape from drowning last evening. She left the hotel at about four o'clock to go fishing, and her absence was not noticed until after ten, when the hotel was being closed for the night.

A fleet of canoes set out at once in search of the missing one, and after some hours' search her voice was heard directing them where to find her.

Upon paddling in the direction of the sound, Mrs. Holmes was found seated on a rock, just barely large enough to accomodate her. Whilst absorbed in fishing her boat had drifted away and left her far out in the lake on the lonely rock. The rock was a small one and the water almost completely covered it. Her cries for assistance had been carried away by the winds and had brought no aid and Mrs. Holmes was on the point of resigning herself to the inevitable when she observed the lights in the canoes searching for her.

That her time on the rock had not been spent in idly bemoaning her fate was evidenced by the fact that half a dozen large bass were lying at her feet. The midnight search will nor soon be forgotten by the guests at the hotel.

HYPNOTIC INFLUENCES.

Prof. Lee Again Continues to Thoroughly Amuse a Large Audience.

A large audience greeted Prof. Lee at the opera house last evening, a number of professional men being present and manifesting great interest in the proceedings.

The shoeing of a mule caused the greatest amusement of the evening. Subjects for the experiment were chosen, a blacksmith, a mule and the owner of the beast. The work of shoeing the refractory animal was ludicious indeed, but when the mesmeric spell was taken off the mule, the fun increased ten fold as the young man realised his ridiculous position and yet was unable to break away from his supposed owner and the burly blacksmith.

A young printer forgot his own name, and wandered in a melancholy fashion around the audience asking the assistance of his friends to aid him in remembering it.

As the professor's quick eye detected former subjects of experiment entering the hall he forced them by this wonderful influence of his to climb up on the stage, though some of them clung desperately to the seats in order, if possible, to resist.

To-night the hypnotic game of baseball will again take place by special request, and the professor will build a human pyramid of the rigid bodies of his subjects.

AN ADDRESS TO MR. A. L. GROVER.

He Resigns the Superintendency of the Murray Street Sunday School.

Mr. A. L. Grover, who has for many years so successfully filled the office of Superintendent of the Murray street Baptist Sunday school, ended his work there on Sudday and was succeeded by Mr. E. A. Stanley.

Mr. Grover has identified himself with the new Park street Baptist church and felt the necessity of using all his efforts towards the building up of that congregation, hence the severing of his connection with the Murray street edifice, though naturally that Sunday school will always have a warm place in his affection and interest.

Just prior to the opening of the school on Sunday afternoon, Miss Hutchinson read a most complimentary address to him on behalf of the officers, teachers and scholars of the Sunday school in which fitting reference was made to the loss which the school sustained through Mr. Grover's resignation.

After Mr. Grover had made a few feeling remarks on the pain which the severance from the old associations cost him and had expressed the wish for the continued advancement of the school, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Trotter, followed with warm words of praise for the retiring superintendent.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practise the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Urgent Demand for its Good Offices—Its Operations Hampered from Lack of Funds—An Opportunity for Liberality.

The following letter from a prominent citizen of Havelock, received by the Secretary of the Children's Aid Society, gives the details of a sad case that calls for the official interference of the society:—

HAVELOCK, July 13th, 1895.

DEAR SIR,—When speaking with Mr. Miller he requested me to let you know of any children whom I was sure were being abused.

I have a warrant against James H ——— and when I went to investigate I found five children and their mother in a very filthy condition, with not clothing enough to cover them and utterly ignorant of anything but roughness, fighting, swearing and general lawlessness.

The neighbours have notified Mr. ——— and myself to try if the children could be looked after and rescued from such a life as their present circumstances gives promise of.

These are the same persons who were brought before Mr. Edmunson about a year ago, on a charge of abusing a girl. Mr. Edmunson ordered them at the time to send the children to school, but the order has been disregarded and the general opinion is that some of them will be murdered judging from the way they are fighting and quarrelling at present.

Two Justices of the Peace requested me this morning to notify you at once of their condition and they would like to have them ... Monday or Tuesday as delay we all think may be dangerous at present. The father of the children says he cannot take them from their grandfather. The father is working near Norwood. I requested him to move the children and send them to school. I have not been able to find ——— yet. He has the house locked and the mother and children are in a little structure not fit for a dog. We will be greatly obliged if you will answer this or come at once, as we think the case urgent. Hoping you will interest yourself on behalf of the children. I remain, etc.

[It will be seen that in the public interests prompt action should be taken in the above case, but unfortunately the society is without funds and therefore a most undesirable condition of affairs which is directly and indirectly a menace to the best interests of society must perforce continue. Besides the comparative powerlessness of the society for lack of means, is detrimental to its prestige and influence and tend to cause it to be regarded as a merely ornamental organization, whereas by virtue of its constitution, powers and aims, it is one of the most important and beneficial corporations. It is strange that public spirited citizens who have means to bestow on other objects, worthy in themselves, but of far less importance than the Children's Aid Society, should ignore its claims.

If public sympathy is not more practically shown in the interests of the work of this society, it will come to this that some legislation will have to be enacted to compel the county to contribute. And in the end, money paid to admit of a vigorous prosecution of the work of the society will be recouped in the shape of smaller payments for the punishment and maintenance of criminals. For the work of the society is intended, and will, prevent thousands who now are reared in vice, from becoming criminals to prey upon society and be burdens to the state in the shape of elaborate expenditure for their detection, punishment and maintenance in our jails and prisons.

HORSE THIEVES ABROAD.

Mr. A. E. Mosely has Received no Word as yet Concerning his Gray.

No word has been received as yet by Mr. A. E. Mosely regarding the horse and rig which he hired out to a young man on Saturday morning last for an hour.

As the horse was seen and recognized on the Port Hope road, being driven rapidly away from the town, it is hardly probable that the young man ever had any intention of returning the rig at the end of the hour as stipulated.

The villages in the immediate vicinity have all been telephoned regarding the outfit, but nothing has as yet been learned leading to its recovery.

The police were notified, and descriptions were sent out to all the constables in the vicinity. The stranger's name is not known but the following description is given: About 24 years of age; height about 5 ft. 10 inches; dark brown hair; wore a light suit of cheap gray material; dark gray cheap wove shirt, laced in front with red lace; dark felt fedora hat. The horse was a light gray, about fifteen hands high, and the end of its tail is pure white.

If you would have an abundance of dark, glossy hair, if you would have a clean scalp, free from dandruff and irritating humors, or if your hair is faded and grey, and you would have its natural colour restored, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is unquestionably the best dressing.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Philip H. Brant, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results."

Before the bidding began Mr. W. Cook asked if Lakefield was or was not going to board its cheese.

President Drummond stated that he believed Lakefield had already sold.

Mr. Cook stated that if this was so a transgression of the rules had taken place and the factory should be fined. The cheese had not been boarded.

Mr. Drummond said that he understood the salesman had arrived too late to board his cheese at the last meeting, as the board had adjourned at an early hour on account of the sales being made.

Mr. Cook was anxious to have the matter investigated and asked what committeee ought to look into it.

Mr. Drummond stated that if there was any investigation the whole board would have to act.

Mr. Hodgson brought another matter before the board. He stated that cheese was being bought on the board in an irregular manner. Instead of cheese being paid cash on delivery, other arrangements had been entered into by a certain buyer whereby draft had been drawn for the amount on Toronto. This was not according to the rules of the board, and he would not bid against such competition.

Mr. Jones, of the Imperial Produce Co., stated that he was the buyer referred to, and that if Mr. Hodgson didn't wish to bid against him he need not.

After considerable talk had been indulged in over the matter, during which Mr. Hodgson stated that payment of one of these drafts had been refused, a committee composed of Messrs. Drummond, Stewart, Moloney and Middleton was appointed to look into the matter as well as to investigate the charge made against Lakefield and Stony Lake of selling off the Board.

The bidding was opened by Mr. Cook who offered 7 cents for selections. Mr. Moore raised to 7¼c, Mr. Wrighton to 7½c, Mr. Hodgson to 7½c, Mr. Wrighton to 7 9-16c, Mr. Jones to 7⅝c, Mr. Hodgson 7¾c, and Mr. Jones 7 13-16c. Mr. Jones named Keene, Central Smith, Frazerville and North Smith, all of which refused.

A number of the salesmen expressed their willingness to sell at 8 cents, but this price was not offered.

As no sales were made the Board adjourned for another week.

Mr. John Moloney stated his belief that that there was a union amongst the buyers to keep down the prices.

Mr. Cook stated that there must be a union amongst all the buyers in Canada as the price of cheese was no higher anywhere.

Mr. Hodgson offered to allow any of the factories the free use of his cold storage warehouse in Montreal if they were becoming over-crowded. He indignantly repudiated the idea of any collusion amongst the buyers.

On motion it was decided that hereafter the Board will meet in session at one o'clock in the afternoon instead of eleven in the morning.

THE PITEZEL MYSTERY.

their own home where they had last seen papa alive.

On the afternoon of the 24th, Holmes borrowed the spade from Mr. Ryves. That same evening, when he returned to his room at the Albion Hotel, his wife remarked to him that his clothing was very dirty. Holmes' explanation was that he had met some friends who were connected with the British America Assurance Company and had spent the day fishing with them. This story has been investigated by Detectives Geyer and Cuddy and proven to be a fabrication. The true explanation, had the man chosen to have told it, was that with the borrowed spade he had been digging the graves of the young innocents.

The following morning he called, as was his custom, at the Albion Hotel for the children, taking them away soon after breakfast. What took place between the time of entering the house on that morning with the two children and the time of handing back the spade to Mr. Ryves is known only to Holmes, and can only be surmised. Unless Holmes when confronted with the evidence of murder which Detective Geyer has accumulated against him in his trip the past few weeks realizes the hopelessness of his position and tells the true story of the crime, the exact method he pursued in accomplishing the death of the children will never be definitely known.

While in Detroit Holmes borrowed a large trunk from Mrs. Pitezel, under the pretext that her husband's alleged presence in the city had become known to the detectives, and that it was necessary to ship him to Toronto in a trunk. This trunk Mrs. Pitezel did not see again until she had left this city and gone to the house in Burlington, Vt., which Holmes had furnished for her. It fell into the hands of the detectives of the city of Philadelphia, who discovered that one of the bands had been raised and a hole bored beneath it. Upon this discovery Detective Geyer based his theory that a house had been rented in this city, the children induced to get into the trunk, when they were asphyxiated. The fact that there is no gas in the Nudel cottage renders this theory untenable. Unless they were put into the trunk and chloroformed to death, the only rational theory appears to be that they were smothered with the mattress and pillow after the manner of the celebrated Burke and Hare murder.

To render identification almost impossible should the bodies be discovered, the fiend stripped the bodies of every vestige of clothing before he rolled them into the hole which was to be their temporary grave. The clothing was then burned, but the bed and mattress were left intact. When Mrs. Armbrust was cleaning up the house before moving in in April, she found remnants of the clothing of the children in the fireplace, under the sink in the kitchen and in the wood box. Mrs. Armbrust paid little attention to the half burnt shreds and threw them into the lane. One thing she does remember, and it bears out the statement of Mr. Ryves, that the children were dressed in dark clothes, and that is, that the material was dark.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

What is a "Quick Meal" Gas Stove?

It is a solid, but light, pretty contrivance, fed with gas instead of coal or wood, and is especially invented for ladies who want to do their cooking comfortably in summer time in a cool kitchen. They are made of cast iron and wrought steel; nicely japanned and handsomely ornamented with fine nickel-plate and tile. The price of a small "Quick Meal" is small and the cost of gas is but little. All expense ends with extinguishing the flames We would like to have it understood "RIGHT HERE," that on a "Quick Meal" you can accomplish the same as on the best wood or coal stove, baking, roasting, broiling, cooking, washing, ironing and everything else. THE GLOW NIGHT LAMP.

It is an established fact that there has never been a night lamp on the market that was odorless, and most of the night lamps that are sold to-day absolutely poison the air in a close room. THE GLOW LAMP is the only night lamp that positively emits no odor when in operation, and is the only night lamp that should ever be used when it is necessary to burn a light all night, as for instance in the nursery or sick-room. It is a miniature gas-house, gasometer and gas-burner combined, automatically making and consuming its own gas.

One pint of kerosene, at a cost of about one cent, will give a pure, healthy, clean light for two hundred or more hours; i.e., twenty-ten hour nights. Sold only by

NEW AND TERRIBLE.

ANOTHER HORRIBLE FIGHTING PIECE FOR USE IN WAR.

Powder, Gun and Projectile Which Combined Could Destroy a Ship at a Range of 10 Miles—To be Used on Men-of-War or for Coast-Defense Purposes.

A gun that can sink a big ship at 10 miles range is worth kepping out of the way of. Maxim, the gunmaker, and Dr. Schupphaus, the gunpowder expert, have just invented a new cannon and torpedo powder which will knock all modern war vessels to pieces like egg-shells. This big gun will throw a huge cannon ball full of explosives 10 miles and where it strikes it will smash into kindling wood everything within hundreds of feet. In fact, this new terror doesn't even have to hit a warship to do this. If the shot lands in the water near by it will sink the ship and stun everybody on board from the force of the explosion. At any rate, these are the things claimed for this veritable engine of destruction.

The special powder employed is almost pure gun-cotton, compounded with such a small per cent. of nitro-glycerine as to possess none of the disadvantages of nitro-glycerine powders, and preserved from decomposition through a slight admixture of urea. It is perfectly safe to handle, and can be beaten with a heavy hammer on an anvil without exploding.

The secret of its remarkable power lies in a simple mathematical truth which no one had previously thought of. High explosive powder is now loaded into cannon in the form of strips, small cubes or solid cylindrical rods from one-half to three-fourths of an inch in diameter, several feet in length, and looking like a bundle of sticks of dark beeswax. When the powder is touched off the ends and circumference of each rod of powder ignite instantaneously and burn towards the centre.

The volume of gases generated by combustion grows constantly less, because the burning surface is less, and as it is the volume of gas which gives velocity to the projectile shot from the gun, a loss of velocity is the inevitable result. The projectile does not go so far as it would if the pressure of the gases had increased, or had at least been maintained.

In each piece of the Maxim-Schupphaus powder is a lot of small holes running through the entire length of the rod. When the powder is ignited the flame spreads instantaneously, not only over the circumference of each rod, but throughout the perforations as well. These little holes are burnt out with such rapidity that the difference in the volume of explosive gases generated at the beginning and at the end of the bore of the gun is about in the ratio of 16 to 1.

This new death-dealing powder has been fired in field guns and in the heavy coast-defense rifles at Sandy Hook with surprising results. From a 10-inch gun, loaded with 128 pounds of this powder, a projectile weighing 571 pounds was thrown eight miles out to sea.

To test by a large gun the actual destructive work of this new powder would be impossible in a civilized community. The force of the high explosive thrown would be too great. It would be necessary to withdraw to the Great Sahara Desert, the wilds of Siberia or some equally unfrequented locality in order to see just what would happen if 50 pounds of explosive should hit something.

The big gun which Messrs. Maxim and Schupphaus propose to construct will be a 20-inch gun especially adapted for coast defense. This gun will show some peculiarities. It will not be built up, that is, composed of many pieces of steel bound together, but will consist of a single thin steel tube about 30 feet long, with walls not over two inches in thickness, in marked contrast with the mortars whose walls are made eight or ten inches thick in order to resist the pressure of the discharge. The recoil of the gun will be offset by hydraulic buffers underneath containing water and oil.

When the gun is fired some of the water and oil will be displaced by the shock and it will rise into the side chambers. The entrance of the water and oil into the chambers will so compress the air in them that on the cessation of the recoil the air will force the water and oil back into their buffers and the gun will again be in position for firing. On account of the simplicity of its construction and the lightness of its walls this gun will not be expensive to build.

A 20-inch gun of this type, using the new powder, could be planted at the entrance of New York harbor, either in Fort Washington or Fort Wadsworth and command the entire sea for a radius of ten miles. So uniform are the pressures and velocities obtained, says the New York World, that a wonderful accuracy of fire is possible. It would only be necessary to train the gun upon any ship sighted by the range finder within this radius to insure its complete destruction.

The quantity of explosive thrown would be sufficient to sink a man-of-war if the projectile exploded in the water within 50 feet of its side. At 150 feet the concussion of a 500-pound projectile would be severe enough to cause dangerous leaks and disable a ship.

Equally fatal consequences would ensue if one of these great projectiles struck any part of the superstructure of a ship and exploded. The energy required to lift a body weighing 500 pounds, whether solid or gaseous, at the velocity at which the gases of a dynamite explosion are raised, is several million foot pounds, and since an equal pressure is exerted downwards to raise the gases it will be seen how tremendous is the force which would be driven downward into the hold of a ship by the explosion of 500 pounds of nitro-gelatine.

No man-of-war ever built could withstand such a shock. Its sides would be instantly disrupted and it would sink a broken mass into the waves. The explosion of one of these huge projectiles under water in proximity to a man-of-war would be equally disastrous, for the water being a uniform body, the force of the concussion would be the same in all directions and would strike the side of the ship like a catapult.

This system of throwing projectiles is just as efficacious on shipboard against coast fortifications or other vessels at sea. It is not hard to predict what would happen. A man-of-war armed with one of these guns would be lord of the seas, for it could sink any ship, wood or steel, almost as soon as sighted, and at a distance beyond the reach of the heaviest guns afloat. The strongest armoured vessels would be crushed like egg shells before the terrific fire, and the sea would soon swallow up the noble steel cruisers that it has cost the nations so much to perfect.

ON A MODERN CRUISER.

The Old-Time Sailor Objects to the Regulations of the Present.

Curiously enough, the old shellbacks in the navy are down on the Soldiers' Home. They don't want "a snug harbor." They insist upon staying upon a cruising man-of-war, and when they die they want to be buried at sea. But the officers say that these old sea dogs are very troublesome on a modern cruiser, where everything is different from what they were accustomed to when they learned their trade. They object to the new-fangled equipment and the improvements and conveniences that have been introduced on modern vessels. They object to sitting down at a table and eating their meals off china plates, with knives and forks, like civilized people, instead of taking their rations in little wooden tubs and squatting down on their haunches in the shelter of the lee gunwale while they cut up their "salt horse" with a jack-knife. They object to scrubbing the decks with a new-fangled rubber arrangement instead of the old holy-stone, and refuse to obey electric signals because they have been accustomd to hear the officers yell at them from the bridge or the quarter deck.

Nowadays the galleys on board of men-of-war are capable of cooking fresh bread for the sailors every day, which is a serious grievance to the old-fashioned "Jackie," who prefers hard tack to raised biscuits and rolls. A large supply of fresh meats is now carried in the patent refrigerators on board all the ships and served to the sailors, alternating with salt beef and pork, at least once a day. This is emphatically objected to by the veterans as an effeminate departure from the rations they received when they were apprenticed in historic times.

The sailors of a vessel that was recently in Montevideo and Buenos Ayres were served with tenderloin steaks for several weeks because fresh meat was found to be cheaper than salt pork down in that great cattle country, but after about a week a committee from the forcastle waited upon the captain and said they desired to make complaint about their grub. He was much surprised at the suggestion, because he supposed they were being unusually well fed, and remarked that they were receiving the same supplies that were furnished himself and the officers in the ward room. They admitted that this might be true, and added that it was exactly what they were "kicking" about. The boys didn't like tenderloin steaks; they "wanted something they could chaw on."—Chicago Record.

A LADY OF WATERFORD COMPLETELY CURED.

Suffered for Two Years from Indigestion and General Debility.

Unable at Times to Attend to Her Household Duties.

Treated by Nearly All the Doctors in the Town Without Relief

"Six Bottles of South American Nervine Cured Me," Says Mrs. D. A. Gray, of Waterford, Ont., Over Her Own Signature.

MRS. D. A. GRAY, OF WATERFORD, ONT.

Certain dates are epoch making. They mark transitions in the individual life that are never forgotten. Their impress may be pleasant or sad, or both. As Mrs. D. A. Gray, of Waterford, Ont., an estimable and highly respected resident of that community, goes back in memory to the year 1893, her recollections are not of the most roseate character. Can there be anything rosy to one who is a victim of indigestion? All is sombre and sadness. But there was a silver lining to the cloud, as we shall see. Previous to 1893 Mrs. Gray tells us she had been troubled very much with indigestion and general debility for a period of nearly two years. Hers was no ordinary case. At times she was prevented altogether from attending to her household duties. Waterford has a number of skilled physicians in its midst and their services were called in, but in her own language, "I cannot say that they relieved me in any way." An era of joy was ushered in when her mother read the story of a cure by South American Nervine in a case where the symptoms, as Mrs. Gray says, "seemed to be exactly like her own. I bought a bottle and found much relief. After taking six bottles I was cured." The date was an epoch making date in this lady's life.

What the symptoms of Indigestion are, too many know. What the trouble is in its worst forms thousands know. People lament the spread of insanity in the present day. How far removed from loss of reason is a case of aggravated indigestion? The world to every such victim is blue enough, black enough, so uninviting and depressing that no wonder they are beside themselves. And yet the remedy is within the reach of all. That great discovery, Nervine, will cure the most desperate case of indigestion, debility or nervousness. You ask for evidence. A cloud of witnesses in the Dominion of Canada are saying amen, and amen, to the testimony of Mrs. Gray. Why suffer, fellow-citizens, friends and brethren?

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

NEW BICYCLE SUIT.

THIS ONE THE BEST OF A THOUSAND DESIGNS.

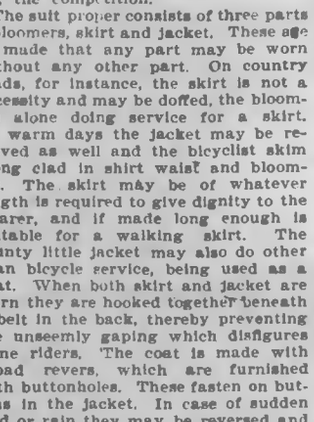
Comfort and Grace Combined—The Suit is Composed of Skirt and Bloomers, but the Former may be Dispensed With—A Jaunty Little Jacket Also in the Combination.

The prize of $75 offered by the New York World for the best design for a bicycle costume has been awarded to Miss Alice Mabel Bradley, of No. 24 West Sixtieth street, New York City. Miss Bradley's design, which is reproduced, was decided by the judges to be the best of the thousands received during the competition.

The suit proper consists of three parts—bloomers, skirt and jacket. These are so made that any part may be worn without any other part. On country roads, for instance, the skirt is not a necessity and may be doffed, the bloomers alone doing service for a skirt. On warm days the jacket may be removed as well and the bicyclist skim along clad in shirt waist and bloomers. The skirt may be of whatever length is required to give dignity to the wearer, and if made long enough is suitable for a walking skirt. The jaunty little jacket may also do other than bicycle service, being used as a coat. When both skirt and jacket are worn they are hooked together beneath a belt in the back, thereby preventing the unseemly gaping which disfigures some riders. The coat is made with broad revers, which are furnished with buttonholes. These fasten on buttons in the jacket. In case of sudden cold or rain they may be reversed and buttoned across the chest like a double-breasted jacket. In pleasant weather the buttons and bottonholes serve to prevent the revers from flapping in the wind and occasionally dealing the rider a stinging blow across the cheek.

The skirt fits with moderate smootness about the hips and flares somewhat towards the bottom, its width at the hem being about three yards. In the back there are a couple of plaits, which give a graceful fullness. The bloomers fasten below the knee and have two buttons—one to fasten them tightly for walking, the other to fasten them more loosely for riding, when greater freedom of motion is necessary.

The suit, though adaptable to serge, corduroy or covert cloth, is made of brilliantine, which the designer regards as pre-eminently suited to summer wear. It is dark blue in color, and the collar and revers of the jacket are faced in white, giving brightness and tone to the suit. Any other color may, of course, be used if preferred. Brilliantine has the advantage of being a very light material and dust shedding as well. This means a great deal to the summer cyclist who is forced to ride along dusty roads where sprinkling carts are unknown.



PRIZE BICYCLE SUIT.

The leggings worn with the suit should be of the same color as the suit itself and preferably of the same material. The shoes are low, with rubber soles to enable them to grasp the pedals. The hat is a Tam-o-Shanter of straw or duck, ventilated. The gloves, which are gauntlets, meeting the full, elbow sleeves of the jacket, are silk with kid palms. Miss Bradley advocates the wearing of a union suit of under flannels, absorbent and light of weight, and as little other underclothing as can be worn.

Attired in Towels.

Among imports of cotton goods into Southern China that of towels alone is said to have shown any improvement. But this does not, it is explained, imply any increased attention to personal cleanliness on the part of the inhabitants of the district, for the towels are used for clothing. The breadth of the ordinary towel being that from shoulder to shoulder, two sewn together make a coat. Sleeves are dispensed with, and except for the armholes there is none of that waste of material which to the Chinaman is especially repugnant.

A Hat Hint.

Gradually hats are losing their peculiarities and settling down into quietness. One of the most delightfully simple creations of the season is, of course, cream chip trimmed with a tulle ruche of which the top rows or layers are very pale pink, the centre one are equally pale green and the lower ones white. The flowers at the back and mounted high on one side are sweet peas of the white and "painted lady" varieties, mounted as they grow—with long stalks and very little in the way of leaves.

FARMING ON TWO ACRES.

A Family of Seven Supported on a Plot of This Size.

A noteworthy example of intensive farming is that of Mr. F. Segling, McKean Co., Pa., who supports himself, a wife and five children on two acres of land. They have a neat little cottage and the hard times have not affected them nearly as much as many a family dependent upon shop work. Mr. Segling is a carpenter by trade, and before opening up his little farm, he built his house at odd times, while working at his trade. From the first he has recognized the necessity of securing quality rather than quantity from his labor and land if he would make it pay. Celery is his specialty, and he has marketed as much as 30,000 stalks in a season. He practices a rotation which includes grass, usually having nearly enough to keep one horse in hay. He understands the secret of getting two crops in one year from the same soil, and his only hindrance is lack of rain. Now, however, he has bought a boiler and steam pump and expects to control his water supply. Such pluck and energy ought to receive the victor's wreath. Whatever else he lacks he is not taxed for a quantity of useless territory, and wastes no time and strength traversing poor and large fields. He sometimes uses as much as 75 loads of stable manure on half an acre. There is a valuable lesson in this for most farmers who have too much land, use too little manure, and crop at an excessive cost per ton or bushel as a consequence.—American Agriculturist.

WORTH 1,000 GUINEAS.

The Most Beautiful Orchid in the World is Said to be Worth That Amount.

Despite somewhat gloomy weather, there was a very large and fashionable attendance at the opening of the Royal Horticultural Society's eighth annual show in the Inner Temple Gardens on Tuesday, though the Princess of Wales was unfortunately prevented from carrying out her announced intention to be present. The gardens themselves were practically bare, but five large tents which afforded shelter to the exhibits were well filled with a profusion of flowers and plants of almost innumerable varieties.

Orchids, both rich and rare, and in some cases priceless, made a grand display. The novelties were new odontoglots, including the Princess of Wales, a beautiful and unique white and purple; the cypripedium Charles Steinmetz, which is an attractive hybrid; and a new hybrid cattleya, Doctor Vouga. To Sir Trevor Lawrence has been awarded a silver cup for a group, including his Cypripedium stonei platytaenium, one of the most valuable orchids in existence, which has a curious history.

Half a century ago it was picked up for 3s. To-day 800 guineas has been declined for it. The variety is nobler than the ordinary Cypripedium stonei, its petals being four times the size, its slipper larger, and its dorsal finer. Side by side under the same glass shade was shown its humble prototype, worth, say 5s instead of perhaps £1,000, the value put upon its grander cousin, which proudly carries two spikes, each bearing a couple of blooms.—Lloyd's Weekly.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

AGAINST COERCION.

"This House regrets the failure of the Government to deal with the Manitoba school question in a manner demanded by the best interests of the country, and such opinions as the Ministerial declarations in regard to the question are calculated to promote dangerous agitation amongst the Canadian people."

Mr. Foster, on rising to resume the debate, said Mr. Laurier was welcome to all the satisfaction he could get out of the recent Ministerial crisis. He could be congratulated at not having had a Ministerial crisis within the ranks of his party for 17 years. He could be condoled with for the disappointment at not getting office during these many years. The speaker proceeded to refer to the hopes of office which Mr. Laurier had held out to his followers from time to time. The party disappointments had been many, and now the Liberals hoped to slide into power on two motions to adjourn the House, and the colorless catch resolution now under consideration. As against Mr. Laurier's argument, that it was mistrust which caused the recent Ministerial crisis, he could cite the statements made in the House last week, but in addition to that the policy of the Government was before the House in full, and the Government had the confidence of its supporters. He stood there, the representative of a united Government, a Government united in its policy. He proceeded to refer to the charges of instability of the Government policy as regards the Insolvency Law and cattle space on ship-board, indicating the Opposition leader's observations on these points. Mr. Laurier was so taken up with looking after the trumpery question of two inches of space for cattle that he failed to see the broad measures which were the foundation of the stable policy which his soul longed for. One of the great planks of Conservative policy was the union of all the British peoples on this North American continent, and they had followed out that line of policy with unswerving stability. Then, again they had advocated the broadening of our lines of communication within our country and without, with a result exceeding the most sanguine anticipations. Since 1875 the Liberal-Conservative party had unflinchingly advocated the development of the industrial life of the Dominion by affording a reasonable and adequate protection to native industry.

Mr. Laurier had condemned the Government for its lack of a definite policy. Was it, or was it not, a clear and definite line of policy, when the Government states, as a Government unitedly, to the House and country, that there is, we believe, a grievance for all concerned, and for permanent settlement it is best that the grievance should be removed by the Local Legislature itself? And this intricate and important legislation ought not to be undertaken hastily by the House, ought not, in any event, to be undertaken until the utmost limit has been granted to the Local Government and the Legislature to settle it, if possible, satisfactorily themselves. Was there a child above 10 years of age who does not draw a fair and full idea of what that means from the very statement of it? The only possible doubt that a man can have who wants to see Remedial Legislation, and who clamors for it, is that something may intervene between this and the next session, so that if the Manitoba Government and Legislature do not settle the question satisfactorily this Government will not be in a position to settle it and carry out its pledge. That is all. Is not every pledge of policy made by a Government, and every policy laid down by an Opposition, governed by those very conditions? They state what their policy is to-day. No man living, and no Government, can state what, under circumstances untoward fatal, may occur to prevent that policy being carried out.

I am here to state, and to state it on behalf of the Government, that, so far as a policy can be decided on unanimously and unitedly, this policy is, that as far as it can be enunciated clearly this policy is enunciated clearly, and, so far as this Government is concerned, it intends to adhere to that policy word for word, line for line, and letter for letter. Contrast the policy and statement of the Government with the course of the leader of the Opposition and his party. He is the exponent of its policy, a statesman who is continually vaunted by his party as being head and shoulders above all the statesmen of the Liberal-Conservative party. For five years this question has been before the country, and for these five years my hon. friend has led that party and been its exponent, and I defy anyone to point to one single sentiment which will definitely show wherev he has stood or to-day stands upon that question. My hon. friend has made no announcement of his policy in all these years. He has made a valuable suggestion as to what he thinks should be done.

The Opposition leader for five years is always running for shelter on this question. The first underbrush that he got into was the character and quality of the Manitoba schools, and he kept under that for two years or more, and I am not sure but he is under that yet. He says, What is the character of these schools? Are they Protestant schools? It is a question of fact, he says, and for five years he has been asking that question, and for five years he has been taking precious good care not to answer that question. Why, sir, does my hon. friend not know what his own people think, and by his own people I mean his supporters, in the Province of Quebec, who are in favor of Remedial Legislation, and Separate Schools in Manitoba? Do they not think that the Separate Schools are Protestant, and that the fact is well established that they are Protestant schools? And yet Mr. Laurier has been with these friends for five years, and up to this moment his mind is like a blank piece of paper so far as information is concerned as to whether these schools are Protestant or not. He might have asked Mr. Martin for information as to the quality of these schools, because, if I am not mistaken, the opinion of that gentleman is that these schools are Protestant schools, and he has been making a very strong plea lately that they should be secularized, for, by secularizing them you take away any grievance the minority had that anything like Protestant doctrine was taught in these schools.

Mr. Tarte, in the course of a long address, expressed the opinion that it would perhaps have been better at the very outset to have disallowed the School bill, rather than to hold out false hopes to the Catholic minority.

Mr. McCarthy expressed the opinion that it was perfectly illusory to expect Manitoba to do anything towards a settlement of the question. He accepted the statement of the Government's policy as honest and frank, and, much as he regretted it, if he got an opportunity this session, he would challenge that policy. Meanwhile he could neither vote for the motion nor against it.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Dupont and Girouard (Jacques Cartier).

The House divided on Laurier's amendment, which was defeated by 114 to 70. The result was received with loud Ministerial cheers. The House went into supply, and passed several items in supplementary estimates.

The House adjourned at 2 a.m.

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4 000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

Clarke Wallace Must Vote on McCarthy's Motion.

THE OPINION OF SIR C. H. TUPPER

The Third Party Leader and Mr Tupper Occupy the Whole Day Discussing the School Question - A Lively Spat at the Wind Up.

Ottawa, July 16.—For the first time since the Manitoba School Act was passed, five years ago, the House of Commons was to-day brought face to face with a consideration of the merits of the question. It was upon a motion introduced by Mr. McCarthy, challenging in specific terms the policy which has been promulgated by the Government in implementing the Remedial Order by legislation should Manitoba refuse to provide a remedy for the grievance of which the minority complains.

Mr. McCarthy made an analysis of the Manitoba question, and argued in opposition to the coercive policy of which the Government has been committed. He accepted the Government's pledge to hold a session in January as binding, and he appealed to the Controller of Customs and all those who were opposed to such a policy to declare themselves now instead of six months hence. The Minister of Justice, who replied on behalf of the Government, made a personal attack on Mr. McCarthy, and reiterated the determination of the Government to adhere to its policy of Remedial Legislation. The debate wound up for the sitting with a spirited scene between the Third party leader and the Minister.

When a few days ago Mr. Lister exposed the failure of the Controller of Customs to do his duty in allowing a man to go unprosecuted whom he had accused of the crimes of perjury, forgery and fraud the Controller offered the excuse that his responsibility ceased the moment the papers in the case had been sent to the Justice Department. He could give no account of where the papers now were, and he stated that he had had verbal communication only with the Department of Justice. Yesterday the Minister of Justice read a copy of a letter which had been sent the Controller on Feb. 27, 1894, advising him that the man Mr. Boyd of Montreal was criminally responsible, and, in accordance with the rule, placing on the Department of Customs the responsibility of proceeding against him. No action has been taken, though Boyd has defrauded the revenue and has, the Controller states, been guilty of other serious offences. Mr. Wallace offered the explanation yesterday that his secretary had searched the files and had been unable to find the letter from the Justice department. The Minister of Justice also informed the House that the papers in the case had been returned to the Customs Department. Another extraordinary condition of affairs in the Customs Department was revealed by the admission of the Controller that the affidavit on which Ogilvie & Co. of Montreal had made a claim for drawback on corn, to which they were not entitled, had disappeared. This explanation was that the document had been given to the late Commissioner of Customs.

On motion to go into Supply, Mr. McCarthy rose and said he proposed to ask the House to discuss the school question on its merits. He commended the action of the Conservative party in regard to New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island School acts. On the Manitoba school question, however, they had acted unwisely and had landed us in a condition of affairs which might lead to disintegration of the Government, and possibly to parties on both sides. The action of the Government was calculated to raise issues and feelings which everyone must regret to see aroused. He proceeded to recite the action of the Government on the school question since it first came within the purview of the Federal authorities. The Governor-in-Council had assumed to act judicially, and he stated emphatically that in this course the Government went wrong. He denied that the Governor-in-Council was a judicial body. The matter came before them as any other question for decision. They were at liberty to hear both sides, but because they chose to call on both sides it did not follow that they were acting judicially. If they were acting as judges then the Government would not be held responsible for any wrong conclusion. In that event, however, they would have to be free from political consideration. That they were not acting judicially was evident from some remarks the Minister of Public Works in February last made, that unless a certain course were followed he must retire from the Government.

Mr. Foster: Does not the hon. gentleman know that that has been denied?

Mr McCarthy proceeded to read from a speech of Mr. Ouimet's, delivered at Ste. Hyacinthe, to show that this so-called judicial officer at a political meeting before argument was heard had prejudiced the case. The whole course of procedure pointed to the fact that the Governor-in-Council was acting as a political body. It was important to recollect this fact, as in his (McCarthy's) section an effort was being made to make the people believe that the Governor-in-Council had simply passed on to Manitoba an order of her Majesty. There was no such statement made in Haldimand as was made in Vercheres or Antigonish. In the latter constituency Remedial Legislation had been definitely pledged. He believed this trouble might have been prevented, the disruption which seemed to be impending might have been avoided, by a little firmness in the earlier stages of the question.

The Government was then controlled by an influence which was controlling it still, regardless of consequences, and to escape difficulties which had presented themselves they said they would deal with this matter in such a way as if possible to save themselves from responsibility, but would also enable the minority to have their Separate schools re-established in Manitoba. He proceeded to condemn the Government for the short notice given to Manitoba to appear at the argument preceding the issuance of the Remedial Order. What was the reason for hurry? It was because the House might have jurisdiction to deal with this question this session. He was anxious to know the precise reasons for the Government's action. Was it simply a passing on to Manitoba of her Majesty's order, or was it merely the opening of the Parliamentary door to the minority? (Opposition cheers.)

He proceeded to summarize Mr. Ewart's argument before the Privy Council, dealing at some length with the question of the rights acquired by the minority at the time of the union of Manitoba with the Dominion. He thought he could establish conclusively and thereby remove the only ground in which the Prime Minister was prompted to support Remedial Legislation, that Separate schools were not guaranteed as part of the treaty or bargain at the time of union.

He proceeded to read copious extracts from Mr. Blake's argument before the Judicial Committee to justify his contention that the Government was not bound by the decision. The decision, he argued, left the Government free to grant or refuse the appeal.

He (McCarthy) agreed that the minority were entitled to what the constitution gave them. But he denied that they had any right to what they claimed it had been intended to give them, but which had inadvertently been left out of the constitution.

Continuing he said he accepted the Ministerial declaration of last week frankly and fully. Evidently there was a deliberate resolve on the part of the Government to threaten Manitoba; that if before the first week in January next Manitoba did not undo what she did last June the Government would press with all its energy and force the passage of a Remedial Bill.

Evidently the Government existed only for the purpose of passing Remedial Legislation. Not for a moment did he believe that Manitoba would recede from the position she had taken.

Now was the time for those who dissented from the Government's policy to challenge it and express their opinions in regard to it. Some honorable gentlemen were satisfied to swallow the policy because it would grant them temporary relief. They were willing that they might escape present embarrassments to vote approval of it. Those who believed that under no circumstances should Parliament pass Remedial Legislation on the lines of the Remedial Order should say so now. It was not fair to anybody to go on for six months, in the end to vote against remedial bill. "It is not fair for the Controller of Customs, whom I do not see here, who ought to be with us in this fight," said Mr. McCarthy, "to go out of the House and not vote on this question or to stay with the Government and vote upon this resolution. Between this and next January I trust the country will understand this question in every schoolhouse and on side line and that no man will be called upon to cast his ballot without a full knowledge of what the issue is.

Major Sam Hughes: Could not he follow the English precedent?

Mr. McCarthy: I believe the English principle to which the hon. gentleman appeals is this: The Controller up to the time that he is called upon to vote, not being in the Cabinet, is not bound by the policy or acts of the Government, but from the time that he knew that this remedial order was passed, unless he was assured by his colleagues that they did not intend to do anything more than open the legislative door. I think in honor he was bound to let his colleagues know that he could not support them, and offer his resignation. It was their business to accept it or not as they pleased, but from the time on the floor of Parliament that they announced that that was their policy and their only policy, I cannot understand how any gentleman who differs from them on this great question can remain quiescent and deny in their capacity as public men the benefit of their advice and assistance in endeavoring to prevent it going into law. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. McCarthy said that he would not repeat what had been said so well by the leader of the Opposition, that the time for conciliation was before the Remedial Order was issued.

He moved in amendment: That this House has heard with regret the statements recently made, defining the policy of the Government respecting the Manitoba school question, and is unwilling by silence to allow it to be assumed that at the session to be held in January next, any more than at the present session, it is prepared to pass a law to restore a system of Separate schools of Manitoba on the lines of the Remedial Order of March 21 last.

Mr. McCarthy resumed his seat at 10.45, after speaking three and a quarter hours.

Sir Charles H. Tupper said evidently Mr. McCarthy had entered the political arena in Canada at too late a period. He should have been on the scene in 1870, when questions of the rights of minorities were discussed and thoroughly understood by the great men who were the fathers of Confederation. A few years ago Mr. McCarthy had admitted that he would give Separate schools to the Northwest Territories if the people wanted them, and yet today he refused to give the minority in Manitoba their rights.

On motion to adjourn the House, Mr. McCarthy rose to make a personal explanation. He strongly resented the personal attack, the vituperation and abuse which the Minister of Justice had passed upon him by reason of his professional connection with the Manitoba Government. That attack was unjust, unfair and without one title of justification. It came with bad grace from one whose connection had disgraced the history of Canada. (Loud cries of order.) The Minister of Justice was the last man to taunt him (McCarthy) with being subsidized for years. He (Sir Charles) had sat in the House and voted a salary of £2000 per annum to his father.

Sir Charles H. Tupper said he was surprised to witness such a deplorable exhibition of temper on Mr. McCarthy's part as that which the House had just witnessed. What he had said in regard to Mr. McCarthy's attitude he was able to prove. He proceeded to quote from The English Hansard the cases of Sir Charles Russell and Sir Richard Webster, who had taken part as counsel in the Parnell commission. The Imperial Parliament had laid it down as a rule which should not be violated, that a paid advocate on a case could not argue that case within the walls of Parliament. Mr. McCarthy had been well paid by his clients, the Manitoba Government, and he ought to know by that that he could not ride rough-shod over the Canadian Parliament.

WAS A HUMAN MENAGERIE.

Queer Death of Thomas Foote, an Animal Impersonator, Under Decidedly "Peculiar Circumstances."

Bainbridge, N.Y., July 16.—Thomas Foote, 22 years old, died to-day at his home, seven miles from Hancock, under peculiar circumstances. He was affected by what he ate to such an extent that when he indulged in beef he would become restless, wander out and bellow like an ox, going down on his hands and knees to eat grass like a cow. After he partook of mutton his actions were those of a sheep, and he would bleat like a lamb. When he ate chickens he would go out and scratch for worms, which he devoured with apparent relish.

His father killed some squirrels, of which the son ate heartily. He left the house, and was followed by his father, who soon saw his son jumping from limb to limb of a tree, barking like a squirrel. He called for him to come down, but this only seemed to make the boy want to escape, and he attempted to jump from one tree to another. He missed his footing, fell headlong to the ground and expired in less than five minutes.

St. John's, Nfld., July 16.—A terrible tragedy occurred here last night. Agnes Conroy, in a frenzy, caused by jealousy of her husband, a broom-maker by trade, cut the throats of her two children, one an infant of six months, and the other three years of age. She then tried to cut her own throat, but failed. She is in the hospital, and will probably live. She is not insane. It is alleged quarrelling and jealous fury prompted the awful deed.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR.

The Delegates at Boston—The Good Citizenship Day—Speeches by Canadian Representatives.

Saturday was known as Good Citizenship day of the Christian Endeavour Convention at Boston. All the meetings, reports, addresses, and songs of the forenoon were upon this subject. In both tents, under the title "A Voice from North America," six-minute reports on civic improvement were made by delegates, representing all parts of the country. "A voice from North America" was uttered by Mr. G. Tower Ferguson, who spoke as follows: "The Christian Endeavour Society is certainly doing good in the way of fitting its members for citizenship. It schools them in Bible study, so giving them knowledge to some degree at least of the truth; it cultures them by contact with each other; it binds them together in good fellowship; and it qualifies them very considerably to be not merely church members, but members of intelligence, and members ready for work. Towards this accomplishment the junior societies are doing admirable service, laying a foundation that is not only timely and important, but, indeed, invaluable. The Christian Endeavour enterprise, moreover, is unquestionably leavening, assimilating, and, I believe, knitting together for God's work the young people of our churches. This makes them, just so far as the influence of the society moulds them patriots of the best kind—Christian patriots. On this account I am sorry that so many who ally themselves with us have deemed it necessary to break off into denominational camps, under the designation of leagues, unions, etc. We had hoped (at least I had hoped) that the honoured Bible name, 'Christian Endeavour, would have proved acceptable and sufficient to all. Further, the Christian Endeavour movement is fashioning and solidifying men and women into philanthropists. Christian philanthropists—the finest types not only of citizenship, but of humanity. How can we Canadians come over here and bask in the refulgence of your charming countenances without being made better and braver; on the other hand, how can you, ardent, honest, luminous United States members of the Y. P. S. C. E., come in contact with us more cautious, cool, deliberately-acting Christians, from the clime of the interesting, scintillating aurora borealis, without being solaced and edified? The outcome, you perceive, is reciprocal, giving and taking, direct advantage and reflex. How can any of us take part in such a magnificent convention as this without being stirred, assimilated, unified? The Christian Endeavour Society, in fact, is carrying out energetically what one prayed for long ago: "Then let us pray that come it may, as come it will for a' that, that man and man the whole world o'er, may brithers be and a' that.

In Tent Endeavour, the Canadian report made by the Rev. A. M. Phillips, of Montreal, especially held the attention of the audience.

Last night, the fourteenth international convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavour, one of the most successful meetings in the history of the society, closed. The services yesterday seemed to have a deeper religious significance than any that have been held since the first day of the convention, probably due to the subsiding of the excitement of the opening days and the impressive character of the exercises. "Consecration" was the central thought in all the score or more of prayer meetings that began at 6.30 this morning, and was in fact the principal subject of the day. The attendance at all the morning meeting was as large as on any day last week. At the larger meetings the addresses of President George A. Gates, D. D., of Iowa College, and President Ethelbert D. Warfield, L L. D., of Easton, P. A., in Tent Williston were the features of the morning. The former spoke on the "Consecration of an Educated Life," and he was followed by his great audience with close attention. Great interest was also manifested in President Warfield's address on "The Attractions of the Ministry to Educated Men."

At Tent Endeavour an address by Robt. E. Speer, of New York, on the missionary service, proved a great drawing card. Mr. Speer's great work in missionary field has made him famous among Christian Endeavourers, and thousands were surprised this morning at the youth of this leader. He is not yet 30 years o'd, but a veteran in his chosen work. The morning meetings in both tents were conducted under the general title, "The scholarship of the world for Christ."

At Williston and Mechanics' hall encouraging reports concerning the religious life in the colleges were made. These exercises were accompanied by suitable addresses. The praise and song services at the big meetings were as they have been since the opening of the convention—full of snap, energy and earnestness. The aggregate attendance was about 23,000. The regular noon evangelistic services attracted crowds of workers. The largest of the rallies was held at Faneuil hall, where Rev. Francis E. Smiley, of Denver, Col., led the services, and in Brookfield street church, under the leadership of C.N. Hunt, of Minneapolis. The other gatherings were at stores, wharves and street-corners,

CANADIAN BULL FROGS.

How They Sell in Chicago and How Canadians are Sold.

Some time ago Mr. R. Davis, of Minden, received the address of a firm in Chicago who dealt in frogs, and wrote asking prices, best way to pack and ship, etc., and received the following reply, dated June 6th, 1895:

"We are in receipt of your card of the 4th inst, and in reply will say that we would very much like to have you favour us with a shipment of frogs, if possible. We handle heavy consignments daily, and having a large trade, are in position to at all times place consignments to good advantage and obtain satisfactory results for consignors. You simply ship the saddles, dress them nicely, and ice the stock well. Put them up in boxes or barrels. In regard to duty will say that we do not think there is any. You simply ship your goods by express and whatever charges there are the express company will look after. We are receiving daily consignments from Ontario, but have never had this question asked us, and therefore do not think there is any duty charged. However, you can ship to us, and we will see that all charges are paid. Market continues to rule firm and as high as $1.25 per dozen is obtained for choice large bull frogs. If you can make us a shipment of three or four barrels for Monday or Tuesday let them come forward. Ship over the Northern Pacific Express if it is convenient, for we find that they as a rule pay very close attention to the handling of the same. Kindly let us hear from you and oblige.

Very truly yours,
HORRIE & McCONKEY.

In response to above letter Mr. Davis on the 13th of June shipped 32 dozen pair of fine large frog legs for which he paid here 50c per doz., keg 75c, telegram 50c, stage to Gelert 25c. On the 27th June not having heard from the consignee, Mr. Davis telegraphed as follows: "Why delay returns, what do I get, have more frogs." To this message he received a reply the same day, "Large frogs sold ninety, can use more immediately, sales to-day." (signed) C. R. Howrie. Mr. Davis then made a further large shipment from which he has not yet heard, but last week received the account sales of the first shipment with 3 dozen unaccounted for.

UNIONISTS GAIN 31 SEATS.

Sir William Harcourt Again in the Field.

London, July 16.—The steady increase in the Unionist strength has again been the feature in the day's polling for members of the new Parliament. The returns received up to midnight show the election of 231 Conservatives and Unionists, 45 Liberals, 13 McCarthyites and 4 Parnellites, making a net Unionist gain of 31 seats. If the counties follow the lead of the boroughs, reverting to Unionism in the same proportion, the party wire-pullers estimate that Lord Salisbury will control a majority in the Commons of 90 over the combined Liberal and Irish members. Such a sanguine view, however, is in nowise asssured of being realized. The Liberals build their hopes upon the results in the counties to check the Unionist flood, and largely neutralize the early success of that party.

Sir William Harcourt's reappearance in the arena, and his acceptance of the nomination for the West Division of Monmouthshire, where Mr. C. M Warmington, Home Ruler, who represented the division in the last Parliament, declined to contest the seat, has greatly encouraged the Liberals.

LONDONERS WANTED BLAKE.

But Ireland Demands His Entire Undivided Attention Just Now.

London, July 17.—The Council of the Liberal Association of South Islington recently addressed a letter to Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., asking him to contest the constituency named at the present election. The letter states: The Conservative majority of the 1892 election was only 321, and we believe that if you favor us by standing against Sir A. Rollit we could return you with a majority of 500. Mr. Blake, in acknowledging the invitation, says: "Pray express to South Islington Liberal Association my deep sense of the honor proposed to me. I am, however, obliged to say that my duties towards Ireland claim at this juncture my entire attention and my undivided allegiance and wholly preclude my acceptance of their flattering offer. I have already wired you this result."

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

THE PITEZEL MURDERS

Searching the Toronto Cellar for Another Victim.

BOY THOUGHT TO BE BURIED THERE

Detectives Geyer and Cuddy Find New Circumstantial Evidence to Bring the Crime Home to the Philadelphia Monster—Holmes May Be Brought to Canada Immediately.

Toronto, July 17.—To-day the officers will further explore the cellar of the St. Vincent-street cottage, and every foot of the ground will be dug up. The officers do not expect that anything further will result from the excavation than the discovery of the missing bones of the feet of the youngest girl, Nellie Pitezel.

On examining the bodies Undertaker Humphrey found that the child's feet from the ankles down had been removed. This was probably done through the corpse being hit with the shovel when the excavation was in progress.

There is a possibility, however, that the result of the search may be the discovery of the body of the missing Pitezel boy, Howard, aged 9.

While Detective Geyer is satisfied that the boy was killed in Detroit, and still inclines to the theory that he was cremated in a furnace there, the fact that Holmes caused to be carted to the St. Vincent-street cottage the trunk which he borrowed from Mrs. Pitezel at Detroit, gives rise to the possibility of the body having been shipped to this city in the trunk and then conveyed to the house, where the body was removed and buried.

There is an old cistern in the back yard, which is known to be in an unsanitary condition. This will be searched, after the exploration of the cellar is completed and the back yard will also be dug up.

Should the result of the excavating be the unearthing of the boy's body the horror of the tale unfolded by the finding of the bodies of the little girls will be intensified. If it be true, Holmes, becoming alarmed in the house in Forest-avenue, Detroit, where he had already dug a hole to receive the body of the little fellow, thrust it in the trunk and brought it to Toronto. The same train that bore Alice and Nellie here on Thursday, Oct. 18, carried the corpse of their brother, according to this theory. The trunk was left at the Union Station. On Saturday Holmes rented the house at 16 St. Vincent-street. The trunk still remained at the station. After completing the rental of the house, Holmes and his wife went to Niagara, where they remained over Sunday, driving around and visiting all points of interest. The couple returned Monday morning, and it was on that day that the trunk was conveyed to St. Vincent-street by an expressman.

Holmes having disposed of the corpse on the premises, then brought the sisters up to the house daily until the following Thursday, which day he killed them, and having finished his dastardly work and shipped the trunk that had been the coffin of her boy to Mrs. Pitezel at Burlington, Vt. (In her house it was found by the Philadelphia detective. 0

It may be, however, that the body of the boy was cremated at Detroit, as Detective Geyer believes, and the trunk sent to the house simply for the purpose of receiving the bodies of the murdered girls. Perhaps it was Holmes' original intention to take them away and dump them in the lake, but when he found that the cellar was a mere hole without a floor, he decided to bury there was a quicker and more secret method of disposing of them. The expressman who delivered the trunk at the St. Vincent-street house is believed to have been found, and will tell his story to the detectives to-day.

The mattress which is thought to have been used by Holmes to smother the two innocents in emulation of Burke and Hare, the infamous Edinburgh murderers, has been found. It was taken possession of by Mrs. Macdonald, the lady who succeeded Holmes as tenant of 16 St. Vincent-street.

So far the mattress has not been positively identified as being purchased by Holmes, owing to the uncertainty of Mrs. McQuaig, at whose second-hand store at Elizabeth and Agnes-streets, Holmes is believed to have bought it.

In order to render the evidence against Holmes complete, Mrs. Pitezel will be sent for at Galva, Illinois, to identify the bodies as those of her two children. If the mother cannot come the elder sister, Dessie, aged sixteen, (will be brought here for the purpose. The bodies are in such a condition that identification is very difficult. The necessity for the presence of a member of the family is imperative, since the chief means of legally fixing the identity of the corpses will be the hair.

After the conclusion of the inquest, at which a verdict of murder will undoubtedly be returned against Holmes, Detective Geyer will go back to Philadelphia with a warrant issued by the Canadian authorities charging Holmes with murder. A demand for his extradition will be made, and as the chances of convicting the assassin of murdering B. F. Pitezel, are slight, so cleverly was the crime executed, is is quite probable that he will be quickly surrendered and brought here for trial. Justice, though it sometimes lags in Ontario, is infinitely swifter here than in most United States cities, and no doubt Holmes would prefer to prolong his life by a lengthy fight on weak circumstantial evidence in Philadelphia.

MAY BE EXTRADITED.

What the Philadelphia Authorities Have to Say.

Philadelphia, July 16.—The question whether Holmes will be sent to Canada to be tried for the murder of the two Pitezel children is still uncertain.

District Attorney Graham, when seen this morning, seemed to be displeased that the finding of the bodies should have been given so much publicity. "Holmes now knows as much about the case as we do," he said, "for he is given the papers at the prison every day."

Mr. Graham declined to discuss the features of the case, and was not prepared to say how he would act in case the Canadian authorities demand Holmes on the charge of murder.

Thomas Barlow, Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia County, when asked to-day if the authorities would permit the removal of Holmes to Canada for trial, said:

"It is a question that I cannot answer fully, as we do not know what action will be taken upon the case at the present time. Still, a higher crime always takes precedence over a minor one. Murder being the capital crime in this case, and conspiracy the minor one, it stands to reason that he can be tried for the greater, while sentence is still pending in the smaller one. But whether he can be or will be taken from here until he is indicted for the killing of Benjamin Pitezel, the father of the children, I cannot say with any degree of certainty.

"We will know just what will be done only after Detective Geyer returns and makes his full report on the case. He was employed by Mr. Graham and is paid by him, so that he would not be hampered in any way by other work.

"It will depend entirely on this report as to what action will be taken."

Capt. Robert J. Linden, superintendent of police, who was formerly connected with the Pinkerton Detective Agency, and assisted James McParlan in breaking up the great criminal organization known as the "Molly Maguires," said Holmes had made three different confessions of fraud in connection with the case. It was on the hints of these confessions that clues were developed to a sufficient extent to send Geyer out to look for the children.

"That man Holmes in the most infernal liar I ever saw, or ever have been brought in contact with. Holmes persisted in claiming that Minnie Williams had possession of these children, and he was so much in earnest with this statement that I placed confidence in it and caused every clue in that direction to be worked out to its fullest limit.

"The motive for murder is plain when we look at the facts surrounding the case. The elder of the two girls identified the body in the cemetery as that of her father, and upon her testimony rested the chance of convicting Holmes on any charge. His willingness to plead guilty on the charge of conspiracy led us to think that something must be back of the case."

ASSASSINATION OF STAMBULOFF.

Gendarmes Said to Have Connived at the Ex-Premier's Murder.

Sofia, July 16.—The excitement into which the city was thrown by the attempted murder of Ex-Premier Stambuloff has not in the least degree subsided, but on the contrary has become intensified. Madame Stambuloff was not at home when her wounded husband was brought to his house, but came in soon afterwards. At first she was prostrated with sorrow, but she quickly recovered and afterwards went to the door and confronted a number of policemen who were trying to enter, forbidding them to cross the threshold. She charged the police with complicity in the attempt to murder her husband, and demanded that they at once arrest the guilty persons, who, she declared, were well known to them. Madame Stambuloff then turned to the public prosecutor and several officials who had arrived soon after her husband was brought home, and compelled them to leave the house.

M. Petkoff, who was walking with M. Stambuloff when he was attacked, declares that just before the crime was committed he saw a number of gendarmes vanish in every direction. The attack was made just before dark in a street that is much frequented in the daytime.

The latest report of M. Stambuloff's condition is that he is unconscious and sinking rapidly.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT.

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is the some folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been ligoing through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

Fell From a Telephone Pole.

Mr. Bert Giroux fell a distance of 30 feet yesterday from a telephone pole when engaged in stringing wires, but escaped without any serious injury though badly shaken up by the fall. The wire which he was stringing came into contact with one of the street railway wires and the shock threw him from his perch on the pole. His hands were slightly burned.

More Mesmerism.

Prof. Lee and his subjects interested a large audience at the opera house again last night. GRAND LODGE OF THE CRAFT.

Grand Masonic Meeting at Toronto—Four Offices to be Contested.

Monday morning the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Canada met in the Masonic Temple, Toronto, and was attended by over two hundred delegates. On Wednesday morning the Grand Lodge convenes in the Massey Music Hall, and it is expected that the representatives present will exceed one thousand.

The G. M. D. C. M., Grand Secretary and Grand Treasurer will likely be re-elected, leaving the offices of Grand Senior Warden, Grand Junior Warden, Grand Chaplain and Grand Registrar to be contested.

The first named office is the prize for which three Toronto brethren are aspirants—Bros. Ryerson, Glanville and Allen—and as all three have hosts of friends and are popular, the contest is likely to be keen.

The only name thus far mentioned for Junior Warden is W. Bro. J. B. Rankin, of Cobourg, although, doubtless, others will be nominated. The Registrarship and Chaplaincy never go a-begging, and half a dozen aspirants are spoken of for each office.

The legislation this year is important, about the only live question being Past Grand Master Spry's notice to abolish representatives. Bro. F. Manly, of Toronto, intends to test the feeling of the Grand Lodge on making Toronto the permanent place of meeting.

Past Grand Master Ross Robertson has a notice on the agenda paper, prescribing intercourse with lodges who do not belong to this jurisdiction, and also to confine the exemplification of other than the authorized work to lodges who have permits and within their own rooms. The motion is one which does not find favour among Craftsmen generally, and, as it affects two city lodges, will be eagerly contested, and in all probability defeated.

A reception committee, presided over by R. W. Bro. E. T. Malone, assisted by the W. M.'s and P. M.'s of the Toronto lodge, have made excellent arrangements for the comfort of the visiting brethren there.

One of the special features of the entertainment will be the grand concert on the evening of the opening day. A number from Peterborough are in attendance.

CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

The Directors Arrange for Special Attractions—Mr. John Crane Appointed Treasurer.

A regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Central Exhibition was held at the Morgan House yesterday afternoon. Among other things it was decided to bring, as an attraction, the "menagerie" of Mr. Mossom Boyd, Bobcaygeon, consisting of one buffalo, two half buffalo calves, two West Highland cows, two Mexican burros or mules, or western nightingales, and three or four Persian fat-tailed sheep.

The resignation of Mr. C. McGill, as treasurer, was accepted, and Mr. John Crane appointed in his stead.

The drawing contest, which has been such a heavy card in the past, was divided into two classes—one for teams weighing over 2,800 lbs, and one for teams weighing less than that amount. Running and trotting races were also arranged for, the details of which will be furnished hereafter. From the energy shown by the directors the coming exhibition will be one of unusual interest and excellence.

LACROSSE.

The Port Hope Times says,—After a considerable amount of corresponding, the Ontario's secretary has arranged a match with Peterborough's crack team, the Athletics, to be played here on Wednesday, July 24th. This team is composed of the best men picked from the Peterboroughs and Shamrocks of 1894, and is claimed by the Peterborough lacrosse enthusiasts to be the swiftest team ever placed on the field by that town. The strength of the Ontarios this year is thought not to be equal to '94, but after this game it will be clearly known. The Port Hope people will look forward to this match as the event of the season.

The Junior Lacrosse team received word from Millbrook yesterday stating that the Millbrook lacrossists wanted a match with the Senior Peterborough team, and that when the match was made with the Juniors they were under the impression that it was a senior team. So the match was cancelled and the Athletics will go to Millbrook to-day instead. The team will consist of the following players:—Goal, Dobbin; point, Lynch; cover point, Brown; 1st defence, Hickey; 2nd defence, Joe McDonough; 3rd defence, Thos. McMahon; centre, Tom McDonough; 3rd home, Percy Rubidge; 2nd, home, Galley; 1st home, Borland; outside home, McCabe; inside Lipsett; captain, Doris.

On Wednesday next a big crowd will probably accompany the Athletics down to Port Hope to see them win from the team of that town.

The election of officers and a name for the club will be decided at this meeting.

All those interested in the success of a bicycle club in Peterborough are urged to attend.

THE BANK DU PEUPLE SUSPENSION.

Quite a stir has been made in financial circles, especially in Montreal, by the fact that the Bank du Peuple of that city had suspended payment. There was a run upon the bank and the funds became exhausted. The banks of the city advanced a million dollars but that amount was insufficient to stave off suspension. Of course from a popular point of view the redemption of the bills of the bank is the important matter. Holders of bills need have no fear on this point as they are perfectly good at their face value. The bank bills which are now in circulation come under the Banking Law, which, according to an article in the June number of the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association, makes them redeemable by the Government after ninety days and inside of three years at full face value, they bearing interest at six per cent. per annum till they are redeemed.

The beginning of the trouble, which culminated Monday, was the knowledge which became public property ten days ago. This was the misunderstanding as to Mr. J. S. Bousquet, which resulted in his resigning his position as manager. Stories of large unsecured overdrafts were common property. The result was a large outflow of the bank's funds to meet the demands of the depositors.

The run has been particularly heavy upon the mother institution and the St. Catherine and the Notre Dame street east branches. The out-of-town branches of which there are five, were not seriously affected. The branches are located at Three Rivers, St. Remi, St. Johns, St. Jerome and St. Hyacinthe.

The Banque du Peuple is the oldest French Bank in Canada, and, with the exception of the Bank of Montreal, is the oldest banking institution in Canada. In olden times it was looked upon as being one of the most conservative of institutions. Particularly was this so among the French-Canadians, who looked upon it in the same way as the English did the Bank of Montreal.

THE Y. W. C. A. EXCURSION.

Its Unavoidable Postponement.

Owing to the accident to the steamer Columbian, which was chartered to convey the excursion party under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. from Lindsay to Sturgeon Point. The Association deeply regrets the accident and the resulting disappointment to the large number that favoured the excursion with their patronage and wishes to state that arrangements are being made to repeat this excursion for the benefit of all who failed to get further than Chemong and of as many new friends as can go. The public will kindly look for further announcements in the EXAMINER.

THE GRAYS SENT UP FOR TRIAL.

FOR MURDER AND ARSON.

They Will Appear at the Fall Assizes.

THE PRELIMINARY HEARING CONCLUDED.

The Crown Rests its Case—The Argument of Counsel for the Defense—His Motion For Discharge of Prisoners—The Magistrate's Charge—Public Interest Unabated.

As the case proceeded the crowd in the court room became greater and greater until even standing within hearing distance was something very difficult to procure. The number of ladies increased and at the close of the afternoon session there were fully a score in attendance. The interest manifested was intense and when one of the witnesses testified to finding bloody finger marks on the partition of the barn, the fork-handle and barrow, the excitement of those present could hardly be contained, as this was evidence of a class entirely unexpected. The excitement relapsed when the counsel for the defense brought out the fact that a hog killing had just previously taken place in the barn.

In continuing his cross-examination of Mr. Graham Weir the counsel for the defense asked the witness if a cord or two of wood had fallen into the building and burned about the head, whether it would not have effected that portion of the body.

The witness did not think the circumstance was possible and would not venture an opinion on the subject.

When he arrived at the fire Mr. Burnham was there. Mr. Laurence, he thought, was there later. He would not swear that Mr. Scrivener or Mr. Lavelle were there.

The evidence taken at the inquest was submitted, at this juncture, showing that Mr. Weir had sworn on that occasion to seeing the above mentioned gentlemen there. The body was about a foot and a half lower inside than the bank outside on which those present stood. He did not think the body could possibly fall from an upper story and be in the position in which it was found.

On being re-examined by Mr. Wood, the witness stated that the floor was broken away in the centre of the building where the flooring had given away. The woodshed was at the back of the house and ran about half way along the house. The body lay in the end of the house away from the woodshed. The wind blew the heat away from that portion of the building in which the body lay.

THE THIRD WITNESS.

Mr. Zaccheus Burnham, of Otonabee, was the next witness. He stated that he lived about 150 yards from the Gray residence. The McGregors lived half a mile away. Scrivener and Lavelle both lived nearer. He had been notified by McGregor of the fire, at about three o'clock in the morning. The place was then pretty well on fire at the west end. McGregor was the only one there on his arrival. Young Burnham, his son was there too. He was too late to save anything. He was there when Mr. Weir arrived. Someone said there was a body in the ruins and he and his hired man, Lawrence, went over to the building to try and save it. They threw water on the fire at the point indicated. Hunter and Weir had gone in and rescued the body. The hands were folded across his breast. He saw no head. He made no examination of the neck. The fire raged with equal fierceness all around the body. It did not seem any worse around the head than any other part of the body. It would be a chance in a thousand or ten thousand if the body fell from an upper story and would assume the position in which it was found.

On being cross-examined by Mr. Stratton the witness stated that the roof had not fallen when he arrived. The flames were all burning around the window of the apartment where Scollie slept. He could not say whether the floor of this particular apartment had fallen or not. Scollie slept in the room furthest from the road, he had heard, but the body was found in the corner of the house next the road. He did not know who told him which was Scollie's room. The body was found under the end of the house which was burned last. He had not hurried over to the fire as he thought it was too late to be of any use.

THE FOURTH WITNESS.

John Girvin, Mr. Weir's hired man, was then called by the crown. He had been one of those who assisted in pulling the body out. Someone moved the clothing on the body and he noticed the hair on the breast which seemed uninjured. There was no head on the body. He did not notice the neck in particular. He knew of no search being made for the head.

In the cross-examination he stated that he didn't notice whether the feet were burned or not.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Stated in his testimony that he arrived at the fire at about eight o'clock. He assisted in carrying water to put out the fire around where the body was supposed to be. In taking out the corpse the head was missing and the wrists were burned. The socks were there, but the feet were burned. He could see the bone of the neck.

Cross-examined, the witness said that he had not any recollection of the appearance of the bone, other than its charred condition. There was nothing he could recall which would bear him out in thinking the head had been cut off. There was over a foot or more of plaster upon the body. There were coals and fire, etc., where the head should have been. The plaster had been scraped off with shovels. The body was two feet lower than the top of the foundation wall when he saw it. The body was seemingly higher at the belly than at either extremity.

THE SIXTH WITNESS.

Mr. Robt. Mitchell, of Otonabee, one of the coroner's jury, had viewed the body at the inquest, when there was part of two shirts, a pair of drawers, and one sock on the body. The head was gone, and the body appeared roasted. The hair was unsinged on the breast within three or four inches of the neck.

THE SEVENTH WITNESS.

Edward J. McDonald, of Ashburnham, living about half a mile from the Gray residence, visited the scene of the fire on the following Saturday. He was in the barn and saw blood on a fork handle and on a barrow in the barn, and also spatters of blood on a box. There were finger marks of blood on the partition, as well as on the fork handle. He could not judge how long it had been there. He made no mention of the blood at the time. He spoke of it first when the rumour of a murder crept out. When foul play was suspected he remembered about the blood, and spoke of it to Mr. Weir.

On being cross-examined he stated that he heard afterwards that pigs had been killed on the premises a couple of weeks previous to the fire. He had not told Mr. Weir about the pig killing.

THE EIGHTH WITNESS.

William James McGregor, brother-in-law of the Grays, living about half a mile west of their residence, stated that about a quarter past two in the morning, Gray's children had rattled at the window and cried out that they were frozen to let them in. He ran on down the road and met Mrs. Gray. She was carrying a parcel in her arms. He thought it was Mr. Scollie but found it wasn't. He had run down to the house and kicked in the door. The stairs were burnt from head to foot. He ran around to the north as far as woodshed where there was no fire. He started for Mr. Burnham's house, but was told by Mrs. Gray not to go there. He went on, nevertheless, and got Mr. Burnham, telling him to hurry up that Scollie was being burnt up. On going back he heard his Missis screaming but had told her it was no use as it was too late. In running to the house he had shouted "Fire!" "Fire!" On hearing Scollie was inside he had run on to Burnham's to get help. If Scollie was alive he must surely have heard him when he shouted. The bundle Mrs. Gray carried was about four foot long. He had seen the old man the Wednesday previous to the fire. Six months before the fire he would weigh 140 or 150 pounds. He had good health up to within a few months of his decease. The opposite end of the house to where Scollie slept was burning first. He had noticed a bedstead in one of the rooms upstairs, but heard afterwards that it was not in Scollies room. He had not examined the body at all. When he met Mrs. Gray she had nothing on her head or feet. Mrs. Gray said her husband was with his brother at Ivanhoe. He telegraphed for him. He did not know what was in the bundle Mrs. Gray carried. It was covered by a goat skin robe. He had been in Peterborough with Thomas Gray later on. Gray wanted him to dig out the cellar, but afterwards said he was only working on it to keep down suspicion.

"SAVE SCOLLIE!" "SAVE SCOLLIE!"

He himself was suspicious when he saw Mrs. Gray wearing a good dress which he understood had been burnt. There were also a couple of shawls saved and some boots, which she said were in the barn, and afterwards when he was driving home with Gray when he said "I have the finest little woman in Canada. She knew how to but it wouldn't do to have me around when it was done."

He had answered "Yes, I knew something was wrong."

Gray asked him "what in hell he did know," but he didn't answer, not wanting to quarrel on the road. He had heard Mrs. Gray say over a dozen times that she would poison that "damned old brute." She had said this both in her own house and in his. She did not say how it would be done.

Gray had told him when he came back from a trip to the woods that on his return from the shanties he had never expected to see Scollie alive. He had said this after the fire. Afterwards in talking over the matter Gray said if the head hadn't been been missing everything would have been all right. The witness then stated that Gray had told him the terms of agreement were that he was to board and clothe Scollie and bury him when he died. In return he was to have the farm of about ten acres of land. He had gone down to the house one day and found Scollie and the Grays quarrelling. Gray said he intended getting a separation. He would give Scollie $400 to get out or would take $1200 and go himself. He went with Gray to Mr. Stratton's office, but there was no separation. After the fire the Gray's stayed with him until March 17th. They afterwards moved to Gervin's till their house was built. They left the country on July 10th or 11th. The property was only sold the day before. Mrs. Gray stated that in getting out she had put the children out and told them to dress in the water closet. She said the fire prevented her getting out the door. They slept down stairs. She stated to him, he said, that she had started down to Lavelle's first, then turned back to his house. In his opinion, if an alarm had been sent to Burnham's house first, the fire might have been put out and he thought that there would have been no difficulty in saving the old man. Half an hour must have been wasted. Much time was wasted in putting boots on the children, etc. He saw the window which had been broken by the axe. The sash between the panes was broken out.

Cross-examined he stated that on the night before the fire he had been at a lecture in the opera house, getting home at about a quarter to twelve after having had some liquor in town. He then sat down before the stove for a while, but was undressed when he was called. It was then a quarter past two. He could not recollect which child called him. He let all five of them in. It was a bitterly cold night. The eldest boy had his stockings, pants and coat on. The eldest girl had on her coat and boots. He didn't know what else. He didn't know how the others were clothed. By the appearance of the children that it looked like a prearranged affair. Gifts of clothing were sent in from all the neighbourhood next day. He, himself, had dressed before he went out to the fire. Mrs. Gray had not called out when he met her. He never heard her say in the police court, that she had called out "the building is on fire, get old Scollie out." Witness stated later that she had said "the old man is in the building." He did not ask her which was Scollie's window, even after learning that the old man was in the burning building. When he kicked in the door the stairs were burnt. He had never been accused of such negligence at this juncture as to be responsible for the old man's death. He did nothing after breaking in the door, although he knew Scollie was inside. He did nothing, although his own wife beseeched him to try and effect a rescue. He knew there was a ladder down at the barn, but thought it was not of sufficient length to be of use. He had left the house, although it was not all on fire, to call Mr. Burnham. Mr. Scollie's room was not in the flames when he was there. He had not tried to borrow a ladder at Mr. Burnham's, although he knew a ladder was what was needed.

HE COULD NOT SAY

MRS. GRAY APPEARED PERFECTLY CONTENTED, but his own wife was crying and shrieking. He did not call her a foul name, as alleged, and bid her desist. He denied calling out to Mr. Burnham, that "Gray's house was on fire and Scollie was burnt," as stated by Mr. Burnham in his evidence as a reason why he did not use more haste in going to the fire.

The kitchen ceiling fell in first, after which the other ceilings fell by sections. The flooring of the kitchen fell first. The flooring of Scollie's room fell last. He believed Gray was a murderer whilst he was staying in his own house after the fire—at least he believed Mrs. Gray was a murderess and Gray was an accessory. He would have informed but for his Missis. He denied ever having served a term in gaol. At the time of the fire he remembered nothing of the threats which Mrs. Gray had made. He did not think of them until two or three days afterwards. He would have put them out of his house but for his Missis. He through thinking of the expressions they had used about the old man. Mrs. Gray had reported that they were leaving the country on account of a note made for McGregor's accommodation, which they would not pay. He had fallen out with the Grays and had beaten the man badly.

He had never heard of a man to whom old Mr. Scollie has complained about his treatment by the Grays.

On meeting Gray at the station on his return from Ivanhoe Gray had made no remark which would arouse suspicion. When the witness wanted to shovel the brick away where the chimney had fallen, might be supposed to be, Gray had said, "Oh, to hell with it; my horses will freeze standing here," but the witness had removed the brick.

AND WHERE THE HEAD

On the night when Gray had made the remark about having "the finest little woman in Canada," both he and Gray had been spending the evening in town, and had drank considerably together. Gray was not sober, neither was he. Mrs. Gray had never ordered him off the premises. Had never threatened to poison him. He didn't think that Mrs. Gray blamed him for all her troubles—blamed him for leading her husband astray and spending his money on drink. Mrs. Gray was in the habit of using very exaggerated expressions. He thought nothing of it when she frequently referred to Scollie "as that damned old brute." She had threatened to poison so many people when she was angry that he did not think she meant anything at the time when threatening Scollie in this manner.

Re-examined, the witness stated that Gray had told him that the house was insured for $300. In his opinion the if put on the market, would not have brought $50. The amount of the insurrance was recovered. The house in the first place had only cost $200. He was not instrumental in setting the prosecution of this case in motion.

On being questioned again by Mr. Stratton, the witness acknowledged that when goods were put on the market they did not bring more than one tenth of their value. The question was called forth by the statement by the witness that the Gray goods would not bring $50 "on the market."

This was the last witness called at the afternoon session of the court, which adjourned to meet at eight o'clock in the evening.

On the resumption of the hearing, at 8 o'clock, the court was crowded with interested spectators.

THE SEVENTH WITNESS.

Mary McGregor, was the first witness called after the adjournment. She testified that she was the wife of Wm. McGregor (the previous witness) and a sister of Mrs. Gray. She remembered the burning of Gray's house. It was a year ago last February. Saw David Scollie last the Wednesday before he died. He was passing on the road. Before that time witness had a conversation about Scollie with Mrs. Gray, the November before Scollie died. They were coming to town. Mrs. Gray was talking about some trouble she had with Scollie about hitching a horse, and she said she was going to get rid of Scollie that winter. She said, when witness asked her how, that she would up Fitzgerald's lane, and shoot him. This lane is not far from Mrs. Gray's house. It is sometimes used in winter by parties going to town. When Mrs. Gray spoke of shooting Scollie, witness told her that if she did that she would never get to heaven. Mrs. Gray said that she would do it in such a manner that somebody else would be blamed. Upon being remonstrated with about getting some innocent person blamed Mrs. Gray had said she didn't "care a damn so long as she got 'Tom' clear," Tom was her husband. Witness said she should not kill Scollie as she was sure to be found out. The Tuesday before the fire she spoke of some dream that Scollie had dreamed—that an earthquake was coming and would swallow him up. Mrs. Gray felt lonesome about Tom's going away on Monday. Mrs. Gray spoke to witness of "Tom," her husband, giving Scollie a shanty lamp to go to bed by and said and witness told her she should not give an old person a lamp. Scollie at one time slept upstairs in the front room—the room nearest to Peterborough. The first she knew of the fire was the Gray children coming to the door. She woke her husband and he went to the fire and the little Gray girl, when she arrived at the house, said that Scollie had set fire to the house with a lamp. Witness followed her husband. The eldest girl had on a coat and her boots and one of the children had only stockings. The younger children were carried by the eldest boy and girl wrapped up in quilts. When she went to the fire the first one she met at the gate was Mrs. Gray. She (witness) made a lament about getting Scollie out of the house. She said, "Was there nobody coming to save that poor man?" and Mrs. Gray asked what she wanted to save Scollie for? Mrs. Gray was wringing her hands and lamenting about "My good house and my good barn." Those were the first words she heard Mrs. Gray say. She was speaking to herself. She said when I lamented about saving Scollie,

SHE WAS AFRAID OF FIRE,

"WHAT DO YOU WANT TO SAVE SCOLLIE FOR?"

and witness said no more. Mrs. Gray returned with witness and said that the little girl discovered the fire and said she could not get up to where Scollie slept on account of the fire in the stairway. When witness arrived she saw no fire in the upper part of the house. Mrs. Gray was dressed in "an old coat of Tom's," and an old cap and a bad old dress. There was not much saved from the fire. A dress came up to her house the next morning, and the little boy brought up the boots that were thrown out into the snow. Mrs. Grey never said anything against Scollie except in November. When Mrs. Gray saw Wm. James' (her husband) letter in the paper, she said if there was a trial surely I wouldn't swear against her and her little children. Witness replied that she wouldn't like to have to do it. Gray went away a year ago last July, after the fire. Witness thought that was the day the property was sold to Fitzgerald.

APPLICATION FOR POSTPONEMENT.

At this stage Mr. Stratton asked that the cross-examination should be postponed till morning. He understood that there were two or three other witnesses—medical witnesses—

Mr. Wood—There are no medical witnesses.

Mr. Stratton contended that if the medical evidence, as was rumoured, was available it should be put in or else the prosecution would have to take the responsibility of resting the case upon the insufficient evidence already submitted.

After considerable argument Mr. Edmison decided that the cross-examination must proceed.

To Mr. Stratton—The witness said that Mr. Murray called at witness' house. John Graham Weir was with him. It was on a Tuesday. Detective Murray asked witness about what she could say about the Grays and the fire. There were no ill feelings between the families about this matter. There was no ill feeling between her husband and the Grays. They

WERE NOT VERY GOOD FRIENDS BEFORE

Tom left.

At this point the infant child of Mrs. Gray, which was apparently suffering from its teeth, set up a doleful wail of such an incisive character that it monopolized the attention of the court and rendered the cross-examination of the witness impossible. The junior counsel accomplished what the senior counsel was unable to bring about—an adjournment of the hearing.

From force of circumstances the court was compelled to decree an adjournment till ten o'clock on Wednesday morning.

After the adjournment the Grays held an informal levee, and exchanged salutations with their friends.

During the hearing it was to be noticed that popular sympathy seemed to be with the Grays. Any sharp remark of a witness or counsel that told against the prosecution, was applauded, and the dignity of the court was unable to suppress the frequent demonstrations of sympathy with the accused.

WEDNESDAY, July 17th.

This morning when the Gray case was called the court was pretty well filled, and the prisoners entered the court and took their seats in front of the dock with the same air of unconcern that has marked their demeanour since the opening of the investigation. On this occasion the child was absent. There was a large proportion of ladies in the audience, who seemed to manifest the keenest interest in the examination of Mrs. McGregor, who was sub-

Dwyer Loses Banquet.

London, July 16.—The Trial Plate of 200 sovereigns for all ages, the winner to be sold at auction for 400 sovereigns, was won at Newmarket to-day by A.M. Singer's brown filly Virago, by Tyrant, out of Eulalia, 3 years old; M. F. Dwyer's brown gelding Banquet, by Rayon d'Or, out of Ella T, aged, 2; C. Archer's chestnut horse Golden Slipper, by Ben d'Or, out of Lady Tramp, 5, 3. Golden Slipper, Pratt; Mr. Ellis' Verdant Green, Rickaby; Mr. J. Lowther's Heremon, Watts; Mr. W. G. Stevens' Tudor, Cannon, all 128 pounds; Banquet, Simms; Mr. A. Hooles' Hawkesbury, Price, both 121 pounds; Mr. Bevill's Handily, Madden; Virago, Louts; Mr. Wharmanns' Queen's Evidence, Park; Mr. G. P. Fawcett's The Cowan, Leader; Mr. E. Hutton's Patrickstown, Clayton, all 105 pounds, also started.

The betting was 10 to 1 against Virago, 2 to 1 against Banquet, 9 to 2 against Golden Slipper; 13 to 8 against Tudor, 10 to 1 against Heremon and 20 1 against the others.

Patrickstown got away first and led down in front of Banquet and Golden Slipper, with Queen's Evidence and Virago next. They ran in this order to the three-quarter mile, when Patrickstown gave way to Banquet. Soon afterwards Virago challenged Banquet and won by a length. Banquet was three lengths ahead of Golden Slipper. After the race Mr. Archer, owner of Golden Slipper, claimed Banquet for 400 sovereigns, and refused to accept the offer that was made for the return of the horse. The consequence is that Banquet has changed owners. Banquet was backed by the Americans for £2000. He was very badly ridden by Simms, who should have won the race.

The Selling Plate of 103 sovs., for all ages, the winner to be sold at auction for 200 sovs., was won by Mr. M. F. Dwyer's b.g. Harry Reed, by Himyar, out of Violet, 3 years old; Capt. J. G. R. Homfray's c.c. Acrefield, by Springfield, out of Crusade, by Hermit, 3-year-old, 2; Mr. Marsh's b.c. Barbara Rossa, by Althorp, out of Pearl Drop, 3. Mr. Webb's Tancred, Harry Reed; Captain Homfray's Acrefield, M. Lebaudy's Jay Gould, Mr. Marsh's Barbara Rossa, Mr. Archer's May Lodge, Mr. A. B. Sadler's Jesebel, Lord Derby's Queen Monmouth, Lord Penrhyn's Corin, Mr. Jas. Waugh's Aggie Marden also started.

The betting was 6 to 4 on Reed, 5 to 1 against Acrefield, 20 to 1 against Barbara Rossa, 7 to 1 against Tancred, 14 to 1 against Jay Gould and 20 to 1 against the others.

Messrs. Dwyer and Croker backed Reed for £2000. The betting opened at 9 to 4 against and finished at 6 to 4. George Houghton, who is well known in America, did the commission betting. The horses got a flying start and Harry Reed won by three lengths, Simms unnecessarily striking him with the whip as he came in. After the race Harry Reed was sold at auction and bid up to 1260 guineas, at which figure he was bought in by Mr. Dwyer. Lord Marcus Beresford bid the horse up to 500 guineas, George Houghton making the opposing bids in Mr. Dwyer's interest. When Lord Beresford stopped his bidding Mr. Charles Merry took it up and kept raising Houghton until the latter made his final bid of 1260 guineas.

A CHOICE BREED.

The Houdans Are Non-Sitters, and They Are Good Egg Producers.

The Houdans were named for the little town of Houdan in France. It is not certainly known how they originated. I. K. Felch thinks there is no doubt that they sprung from a cross of the black Polish and the colored or white Dorking. They have the fifth toe of the Dorking and a conformation of body between the two breeds. The posterior weight in them is very much greater than in the Polish. This, he says, has come from an Asiatic source, as indicated in the feathered legs sometimes seen, but he fails to state which of the Asiatics. Another supposition was that they originated in a flock of native fowls belonging to a gardener, who, taking a great liking to them, kept them away from his other fowls and kept improving them as best he could under such circumstances. However, be that as it may, the farmers of France took hold of them, and to-day they are the most popular breed in that country.

The Houdans were first imported to the United States in 1866, and we have yards of Houdans now that will compare with any in the world. Their plumage is made up of black and white the largest crest and muff present a very pretty appearance on a green lawn. They are a fine table fowl, having fine, close grained meats and lots of it. It is claimed by some that they will dress one fifth more than any other fowl of the same live weight. The cock should weigh seven pounds, the cockerel six pounds, the hen six pounds and the pullet five pounds. They are also good egg producers, laying the largest egg of the non-setting breeds, and they lay during the year nearly as many as the Leghorn. The Houdans bear confinement well, but when given their liberty will forage and pick up their living equal to the turkeys. Both as fowls and chickens they are handy. The chicks feather well and grow very fast.

In mating these birds George Bacon tells in Poultry in California that one should be very careful. Do not mate all dark and all light ones together. If a specimen is too light to suit you use it as a test of their table qualities. The standard requires that they be about evenly divided in color, if anything the black predominating, and as they grow lighter with age one must take this into consideration when mating them. A pullet three-fourths black will molt to the regulation color therefore we should mate one of this color with a male of standard color or a little darker to a cockerel one-fourth white, and so on in this proportion, as they will get light soon enough. All males should have small combs, well formed crest and good broad breast. Be very particular with the feet and legs. The females should have large crest, of good color, small comb, large beard, full breast and good feet and toes.

An Excellent Hen's Nest.

The accompanying illustrations show an easily constructed and very excellent movable hen's nest and also a device that permits the eggs to be gathered from outside the henhouse. The nest boxes have no backs and are hung by hooks against the wall, as seen in Fig. 1. They can be taken down and emptied in a moment, in this way avoiding all chance of harboring vermin. The opening in front should be just large enough for a hen to enter. An alighting pole may be placed in front of the nests. If there is a passageway at one side of the fowl house, or a room adjoining it, the nests can be hung against the partition, and the eggs gathered from the outside without going into the pen. Let round holes be cut behind each nest in the partition and these openings covered by a slide as suggested in Fig. 2. The same arrangement could be used upon the outer wall of a henhouse standing by itself. —American Agriculturist.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

DECAY OF BOHEMIANISM.

Practically Dead, Though Some People Make a Fad of It.

Bohemianism is dead, and those who call themselves bohemians at the present day wear their rue with a difference. Sometimes they mistake the attendant circumstances for the cause, and think themselves entitled to a reputation for ability, merely because they refuse to go to bed at the same time as ordinary humanity. Such men, of course, have no right to call themselves after a distinguished and not unhonorable name; the mere habit of large suppers and late hours and loose ways of life generally has nothing which associates itself with that ready aptitude for all kinds of work, and that disciplined though somewhat fitful activity, which were the marks of the true bohemian.

There is no more significant proof of the change that has come over the artistic and literary world than the fact that every attempt to revive the old bohemianism in its former shape has invariably resulted in failure. The demand for the "good old" sanded floor and clay pipe of the past is limited to an undistinguished few, and the supply of these obsolete luxuries, when granted, meets with no general appreciation. In like manner eccentricities ofconduct which were once regarded as virtues rather than vices are no longer tolerated, and the so-called bohemian of these days is expected to pay, and does pay, his club subscription and his just debts. He is not so picturesque as he was, but he is much more punctual.

The cause of these changes is not far to seek. Nowadays the standard of life has risen in all the social spheres, and while the British workman demands his higher wages and more ample leisure the artist world clothes itself in purple and fine linen and requires to be surrounded with all the comforts and extravagances and palatial clubs. Only there is no eight-hour limit for the contemporary inhabitant of this nondescript region, nor does he enroll himself into unions to extort terms from hard-hearted proprietors and managers. Although his dinners and his suppers are much more costly than they used to be in the old days, he does not work less hard, nor is his labor less worthy of ungrudging praise.

Meanwhile both actors and journalists have transformed the whole miseen-scene of their lives; there is no more sackcloth nor locusts and wild honey for them; they are clad in the broadcloth of the ordinary world and have soared into a social sphere which their predecessors neither knew nor cared about. Possibly this may be the effect of that general equalization of conditions which accompanies the whole course of our modern democracy. We all dress alike, live alike, acknowledge the same social rules, adopt the same luxurious or extravagant tastes. The point to notice, however, is that the worth of the individual has not grown less, despite this democratic tendency. On the contrary, his value, both to himself and to others has enormously increased. The modern dramatist makes if he be not maligned, an extremely respectable fortune, and Mr. Gosse has informed us recently—and has, of course, suffered for his rashness—that the profits of certain of our more popular authors have gone up by leaps and bounds.—London Telegraph.

FURNISH NEWSPAPER CLIPPINGS.

The Business Has Grown to Great Proportions in New York.

There is a peculiar industry in Gotham which has grown to astonishing proportions. This is the business of furnishing newspaper clippings to individuals, firms and corporations. There are half a dozen of these concerns in New York, which supply customers not only in the United States, but in all parts of the world. One of these newspaper clipping bureaus received an order the other day from the Hawaiian Government to send President Dole all the notices, editorials, cartoons and other published matter regarding Hawaii, its Government and its affairs. This is one of the largest orders ever received by a clipping bureau, and it will require the labor of half a dozen bright young women to cull the clippings from newspapers to fill this order. Every prominent author, actor, politician and professional man is now a subscriber to one or more of the clipping bureaus, and a busy man finds the system very convenient, for he is enabled as it were, to read his newspapers by proxy.

The manager of a New York clipping bureau, in speaking of the peculiarities of his business, said yesterday: "Many of our customers are folks with fads and hobbies. A man sent us an order recently for all items about two-headed calves, three-legged chickens and other monstrosities. A leading politician ordered 100 Memorial day addresses, from which he could compile a Fourth of July oration which he had engaged to deliver. Society belles are beginning to make scrap books of their newspaper notices, and the custom will doubtless become a regular social fad in time. The wives of public men are among the best patrons of the clipping bureau. About the strangest order we have is that of a dealer in tombstones and monuments. He takes all the death notices."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

What She Lacks.

Score one for the old-fashioned woman! She has a sphere of usefulness from which the new woman is barred. She cannot ride a bicycle so well, possibly, but that is not a particularly useful accomplishment, no matter how much enjoyment there may be in it. And to offset that the old-fashioned woman has given an illustration of something she can do that is nearly as far beyond the new woman as it is beyond man.

A boy in New York fell through the opening in a fire-escape landing at the fifth floor; an old-fashioned woman was sitting on the steps below. The child caromed on the coping over the doorway and landed in the woman's lap. That saved his life, and beyond a bruise as the result of striking the coping he was unharmed.

Of course, the question immediately arises: Of what use would a man have been under such circumstances? Clearly none. He has no lap. And of what use would a new woman in bloomers have been? Just as little, and for the same reason.—Chicago Evening Post.

Good Roads Association.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has just issued the second annual report of the Good Roads Association, of which Mr. Andrew Pattullo, Woodstock, is president, and Mr. K. W. McKay of St. Thomas is secretary. The report fills 94 pages, and contains valuable papers and addresses by many of the best road experts in Ontario. The longest paper is by Mr. A. W. Campbell, C. E., of St. Thomas, and it contains a great fund of practical information in regard to road-making. There is an interesting table, though incomplete, on the subject of township disbursements on roads and bridges. From it we roughly estimate that the townships control over 50,000 miles of roads in Ontario. Our eye, in a rapid glance through, caught one paragraph on page 81, in which the president says: "Regarding wheelmen, I think we have only one bicycle rider in the association. We will not build roads for the wheelmen, but I believe the time will come when nearly every young farmer will ride a wheel." The young farmer on a bicycle will be an enthusiastic road reformer. The report appears to be pretty well packed with good things.

Gas Engines for Street Cars.

Since August last gas engines for driving tramcars have been in use at Dresden, the line on which they are used being about three miles long. The engine, which is fixed under one of the seats, is of nine horse power, has two cylinders, the ignition being effected by electricity. The gas used is stored in three cylinders under a pressure of 120 pounds per square inch, the capacity of each cylinder being 33 1-3 cubic feet. Once the engine is started it is not stopped so long as the car is in service. Connection to the wheels is made through movable clutches, by manipulating which the car can be stopped or reversed at need. The cost per mile is said to be 8d., with gas at 4s. per 1,000, a speed of nine miles per hour being attained with a car carrying 36 passengers.—London Invention.

City Delights.

Visitor—Does Mrs. Fastflat associate with you?

Mrs. Topflat—Huh! We don't associate with her. She must be mighty poverty-stricken to live down among the smells and noises of the street, instead of up here amid the music of the roof gardens.

To improve the appetite, restore healthy action to the bowels, promote digestion, and regulate all the bodily functions, Ayer's Pills are the best. As a mild but effective laxative, no pill is in greater demand or more highly recommended by the medical profession.

A High Valuation.

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Ssytematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

THE GRAYS SENT UP FOR TRIAL.

jected to a most searching cross-fire by the counsel for the defence.

The Grays maintained throughout an unconcerned bearing, but the husband appeared a little nervous, while the wife was as cool as ever, and seemed to enjoy with a quiet smile the fencing between her counsel and Mrs. McGregor. Both paid particular attention to the magistrate during the summing up of the evidence.

The cross examination of Mrs. McGregor lasted four hours—from 10 till 1 p.m., and throughout the trying ordeal she made little variation from her evidence-in-chief.

The Second Day's Proceedings.

Mrs. McGregor's cross-examinations by Mr. Stratton was resumed—Witness said that Detective Murray told her that he had come to ask what she knew about the fire at the Grays. She said she did not know much about it except what Mrs. Gray had told the reporter the morning after the fire. Detective Murray asked witness if she had heard Mrs. Gray say that she would poison Scollie. Witness said she had never heard Mrs. Gray say that she would poison Scollie. Mr. Murray hinted that she had just said so and witness appealed to Mr. Weir if she had said so and he replied "You and the Gray's are not on good terms, anyway." Mr. Murray asked witness if Mrs. Gray had asked her not to swear against her, and she answered that she had. She had told this to Mrs. Burnham after the Gray's went to Florida. Before Detective Murray came she had not told anybody but her daughter Maggie that Mrs. Gray had threatened to shoot Scollie, and that she had told her not to do it. She also told the little girl that Mrs. Gray had threatened to chop the old man's head off. Never mentioned Mrs. Gray asking at the gate at the time of the fire, "What did you want Scollie saved for?" till after Mr. Murray came. Witness only heard Mrs. Gray threaten Scollie on three occasions. On one occasion when Scollie had pulled Gray out of an hotel where he was drinking, Mrs. Gray remarked that if any body pulled her out of a hotel he would never move. Mr. Murray asked what the Grays had brought from the fire. Mr. Murray and Mr. Weir then left. The next time she saw Mr. Murray was when she came to town to appear before Mr. Edmison. She sat between Mr. Weir and Mr. Murray in the rig they drove to town in. On that occasion Mr. Weir said, "Tom had always been a mean scoundrel and a liar besides," and that he had "known William James (husband of witness) since he came to the county, and that he was a truthful, honest man." Mr. Weir told her not to keep anything back and to keep to the truth and she would be all right." Detective Murray said he thought Tom was as much to blame as Mrs. Gray, if the thing happened. When Mrs. Gray was living with me I couldn't make up my mind whether she was a murderer or not.

To Magistrate Edmison the witness said that when she was making this lament the fire was so hot in front of the house that nobody could have saved it.

She pledged her oath that Mrs. Gray said "What do you want Scollie saved for?" Her husband told her to get "home out of that." It was not her husband who said "What do you want Scollie saved for?" The night of the fire she had lain down on the bed to await her husband's return from town. She was dressed. She thought it was between eleven and twelve when he returned. She did not look at the clock. She did not know how she fixed the time only that her husband never came home late. It was not so that only about one night in a hundred that McGregor came home sober. She had been happy enough until the Gray trouble. Her husband had reproached her frequently for having a bad sister. He would not allow the children of the two families to associate. He tried to force her not to speak to her sister. There was bitter feeling generated through the fact that Gray had said McGregor could have saved Scollie at the time of the fire if he wished. There had been bitter feeling over the accommodation note which Grey refused to meet, too. She had not taken a meal in the Gray's house since the 12th of July previous to the fire. Her sister had not eaten in her house since the Hallow'een previous. The men visited each other but the women did not. She accounted for this by the fact that women had more to do in the house. Strained relations had existed continually since coming to this country

ELEVEN YEARS AGO.

For three years they did not speak at all.

On the memorable morning in November when Mrs. Gray first mentioned her desire of getting Scollie out of the way, she had stated that "You will see there will be trouble, but Tom will be clear of it." This was the way the conversation had ended. She had probably met many people she knew when in town that day, but could not remember who they were, although she recollected every word of the conversation.

She was asked by the council for the defence if she knew she was giving her evidence knowing that if there had been a crime committed that her testimony all went to show that her sister was the one who had committed it.

The magistrate ruled this question out of order. Mr. Stratton submitted that the question was only one to test the intelligence of the witness. He did not press the question.

A great deal of time was taken up by the counsel for the defense in examining the witness on the conversations which had taken place on the different occasion when she and her sister, Mrs. Gray met, in order to test her memory on remarks made other than those referring to Scollie.

On being questioned by the court regarding the value of these conversations, Mr. Stratton stated that the witness seemed only able to remember such incidents and remarks as would tend to damn her sister, and he proposed to bring this fact out very fully.

When going into the details of the conversation of Scollie's strange dream, the witness completely lost the flippant manner in which she had answered the many questions of the straining and close cross-examination, and broke down sobbing.

On recovering her composure, Mrs. McGregor repeated the story of the dream as stated in the evidence in chief. She had told no one of the dream up to the time of the fire. She didn't remember if she mentioned it till after the Grays left for Florida. She did not know how the detective heard of the dream. Previous to the fire Mrs. Gray had sent in for whiskey to town. It was not gin she had sent for. She had never heard of any of the children being ill and needing gin. It was which she sent for. Gin was sent to her, though, instead of the whiskey.

This closed the case for the crown.

The magistrate pointed out that if a murder had been committed the crime of arson doubtless followed. One was indisputably connected with the other. Therefor he asked the counsel to confine their remarks to the murder issue.

In presenting his argument, Mr. Stratton submitted that there was no proof upon which Thomas Gray could be held. There was no evidence whatever that a murder had been committed. Throwing out Graham Weir's opinion there was no proof of the deed. There was no evidence that Scollie slept up-stairs at all. There was no evidence that Gray was accessory even before the act, and at the time of the fire he was miles and miles away. It was true that when both the prisoner and McGregor were drunk together the latter stated that Gray had referred to his wife as "the smartest little woman in Canada, etc." There was nothing more. In the charge of arson the evidence was even less strong. There was not a tittle of evidence to show that Gray incited his wife to arson. As far as the man was concerned he should go free. There was nothing to hold him upon. He claimed that if there was any evidence of murder in the appearance of the trunk, the crown which was most unfair. The crown was not supposed to seek to connect in this manner, but only to bring out the facts of a case—not to try to take the prisoners unawares by a sudden coup.

The magistrate said there was certainly evidence that the woman had said she would commit the crime.

Mr. Stratton said that he did not see how these assertions affected Thos. Gray.

The magistrate thought they only affected him indirectly. The statements that Mrs. Gray was said to have made in threatening to take Scollie's life had not been contradicted. Mr. Stratton could place her in the witness box if he chose and if she swore she had never uttered these threats, it would simply be a question of whom to believe.

Mr. Stratton urged that if the Crown had medical evidence to prove that murder was committed it should be forced to put it in. Murder had not been proven so far. The supposition he held, at present, was that Scollie had been burned to death.

The magistrate thought that testimony had also been adduced showing that other factors were also at work.

Mr. Stratton still held that no evidence of the murder had been adduced.

The Magistrate:—Witnesses have stated that in their opinion the man was dead before the fire ever reached him. Then, too, the head being missing is a peculiar circumstance.

Mr. Stratton expressed the opinion that the head and feet had both been burned off, as neither had been protected by clothing and blankets, as had the rest of the body. Mr. Belleghem's evidence went to show that the neck resembled the sharpened point of a lead pencil, showing clearly, he thought, that it had been burned off. It would be taking a most unfair advantage of the prisoners to spring evidence at the last moment of the trial which would be impossible to rebut, owing to the procedure of the court. The prosecution, he held, were trying to this court in order that their medical testimony would not be subjected to so searching an examination. He asked for the discharge of the prisoners on the ground that the evidence was too flimsy for a committal.

The County Crown Attorney, Mr. Wood, in his remarks urged that the guilt of the male prisoner rested on the conviction of Mrs. Gray. The female prisoner had made threats to kill the deceased and made hints concerning fire. The death of Scollie had occurred in accord with the the threats, which were entitled to be more strongly considered than if they occupied any other position. There was no reason why Gray should have expected Scollie to have passed away, whilst he (Gray) was away at the shanties. Then after the fire came Gray's statement to McGregor about his wife being the smartest little woman in Canada who knew how to get rid of the damned old brute whilst he was out of the way. This he argued was proof of a guilty knowledge. Then came the sudden flight in the middle of the summer the day after the sale of the farm. These he urged were facts sufficient for a committal of the case for trial. It was open for either party to examine the remains for the purpose of securing medical testimony. Reference was made to the difficulties between the Gray's and Scollie, and urged the motive and asked that the prisoners be committee for trial on both charges—of murder and arson.

Police Magistrate Edmison said he was glad that he was not called upon to decide the guilt of the parties—which under the circumstances, he would have considerable difficulty in doing. He carefully reviewed the evidence, and concluded by saying that from that evidence there was no course left open to him than to commit the prisoners for trial.

The prisoners were asked if they wished to make any statement.

Mrs. Gray seemed to constitute herself spokesman, and with a rather contemptuous toss of the head indicated her counsel to state that they had nothing to say.

The case for the crown has been presented, and although the Police Magistrate has felt that the evidence submitted constituted a prima facia case, justifying him in committing the prisoners for trial, yet it seems that it will require much more evidence, and much more to the point, to convince a jury that Thomas and Hessie Gray are guilty of the terrible crimes of murder and arson with which they are charged. At any rate that seems to be the popular feeling, and juries are chosen from the people. The general remark made is that there is no probability of the Grays being convicted. However, the trial at the assizes, which open on Sept. 24th, will put an end to all surmise.

Unprejudiced onlookers cannot help feeling that the evidence brought out by the post mortem examination should have been submitted at the preliminary hearing. In cases of this nature it is more the rule than otherwise, to submit the full evidence developed by a post mortem examination. What is desired is the facts, so that not only the interests of justice may be subserved, but that the claims of mercy should be recognized by giving two unfortunate human beings, charged with the gravest of crimes known to the law, a fair chance in their fight for their lives.

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4 000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practise the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

—The "Saratoga" is the special summer make of the P. N. Corset ladies grow so enthusiastic over. Its intrinsic value as a cool, comfortable corset is the sum and substance of its success. BLAMES A MYTHICAL MR. HATCH

The Identity of the Children Admitted, But Mrs. Pitezel Will Visit Toronto —"I Guess I'll Swing for This," Was Holmes' Cool Remark.

Toronto, Ont., July 18.—The Nudel cottage was the scene of a further search made yesterday by Detectives Geyer and Cuddy, to satisfy themselves and the public that the remains of Howard Pitezel were not concealed somewhere in the cellar where his sisters were buried or in the adjoining yard. The cellar was thoroughly searched, every spot being turned up to a depth of some feet, the yard was carefully explored and the old cistern examined, but nothing was found, and it now appears to be beyond doubt that the boy was murdered and his body disposed of in Detroit.

It is probable that Holmes will yet be brought to Toronto to stand his trial for the murder of the Pitezel girls. His counsel in Philadelphia claim that it is a case of mistaken identity, and that Holmes was not in Toronto the day of the murder.

The man who removed the trunk has been located.

The post mortem examination of the body of Etta Alice is being conducted by Drs. Caven and Harrington.

No reply has yet been received from Mrs. Pitezel, who is in Chicago, but she is expected here in the course of a day or two. The body of Nellie is being prepared, and will be shown to her when she arrives.

Nellie's mouth was peculiarly formed, and enough remains of her face to show this peculiarity. Her hair is well preserved, and will assist the mother in her identification of her child.

When the present inquest closes a post mortem will be made of Nellie's body and an inquest opened by Coroner Orr. This course is being taken as a precaution against any technicality which might arise on the fact that the body of Etta Alice was not identified.

Beyond the witnesses who were summoned to appear there were few spectators when Coroner Johnson continued the inquest at Police Headquarters last evening. Another session will be held Friday evening, when the medical evidence will be presented, and it is expected Mrs. Pitezel will be a witness.

B. F. PITEZEL, THE FATHER OF THE MURDERED CHILDREN.

Detective Frank P. Geyer entered the witness box with his evidence in manuscript form, and read to the jurymen a complete history of the Pitezel case from the day the house was rented in Callow Hill-street, Philadelphia, by B. F. Pitezel, under the name of B. F. Perry. His review of the case was listened to with eager attention by the jurymen, to whom the story became doubly interesting when heard from the lips of the shrewd, far-seeing man, who had spent the past half-year in welding a chain of circumstantial evidence around Holmes, which brings home to him the murder of Benjamin F. Pitezel, Howard Pitezel, Etta Alice Pitezel and Nellie Pitezel, and reveals a story of crime more thrilling in its details than the boldest flight of the dime novelist.

Continuing, Mr. Geyer said that when Pitezel was murdered on Sept. 2, 1894, Mrs. Pitezel and the children were at St. Louis, Mo. Alice did not see her mother after identifying her father's body. Holmes went to St. Louis, where the money was divided, and gained possession of Nellie and Howard by telling Mrs. Pitezel he was going to take them to Indianapolis to join Pitezel and Alice. When he left St. Louis, Mrs. Pitezel started with Dessa and the baby to her father's home in Galva, Ill. Holmes kept Mrs. Pitezel apprised of his movements, and had her meet him at Detroit, where Holmes represented Pitezel to be with the children.

What was Holmes' motive in preventing Mrs. Pitezel and the children from communicating or meeting?—A. To keep the knowledge of her husband's death from Mrs. Pitezel.

Detective Geyer had some difficulty in making clear to some of the jurymen that it would cost Holmes his life if the children and Mrs. Pitezel met and that this fact constituted the strongest possible motive for the murder of the children. The photograph of Holmes, he said, had been positively identified at every hotel where Holmes had stopped, and by Mrs Nudel, from whom the fatal cottage was rented, and that Ryves identified that of Alice as one of the girls he had seen about the house.

While in prison in Philadelphia, Mrs. Pitezel, on May 30, wrote a letter to the Fidelity Insurance Company of Philadelphia, giving a list of what the trunk, sent from St. Louis, Mo., with Nellie and Howard, contained. Among these, as read by Detective Geyer, was an egg-shaped wooden toy, out of which when opened a little snake would jump This is undoubtedly the toy found in the upper room of the Nudel cottage by the boy Macdonald, whose mother was the first to occupy the cottage after the date of the tragedy.

Mrs Nudel, owner of the now famous Nudel cottage, followed the corpulent hotel bookkeeper. She recognised the photo shown her as that of the man to whom she rented the cottage, as near as she could remember, on or about Oct. 20 last. He came to her house on a Saturday afternoon, and asked to rent 16 St. Vincent-street for his widowed sister, who, he said, was coming from Detroit. He offered to pay six months' rent in advance. The rent she fixed at $12 per month, but he said his sister had two children to support, and he finally agreed to pay $10 for the first month and $12 thereafter. The $10 for the first month was paid. She did not hear any more of it until near the end of the same month, when she was somewhat surprised to have a lady come and ask to rent the house. She went up and found the house vacant and the key left next door.

She was followed by Thomas W. Ryves, the man to whom Detectives Geyer and Cuddy are indebted for the information which led to the solution of the mystery by the discovery of the bodies of the girls. He recognized the photograph of Etta Alice Pitezel, and said that in October last he saw her and another girl, smaller in size, around the Nudel cottage on two or three different occasions. The first time he saw them they were on the verandah, and afterwards went into the house. The second time he saw them they were in the yard. He was within two or three yards of the face of the elder girl, whom he was sure was Etta Alice. He did not see the face of the younger girl, but noticed she had long hair.

The first day a large trunk came.

The witness thought it must be a week or so afterwards when Holmes again appeared, and this day a bedstead and a mattress arrived.

and lay on the verandah for a day or two. The next day he came again with the children. One day he missed them, but the next day he saw them. On this last occasion the witness saw the girls in the yard.

Holmes was in the house and borrowed a spade from the witness between 4 and 5 o'clock. Holmes said he was going to fix a place in the cellar to put some potatoes, which he had bought in Churchstreet. The witness never saw any potatoes come to the house. The spade was returned the following morning between 9 and 10 o'clock. He handed it over the fence to the witness, and thanked him for the use of it. The witness did not see the girls again. It was next day, the witness thought, that the trunk was taken away and the key of the house left

The trunk which came to the house was a very large one. It was brought in the afternoon. Next morning the witness went and found the door wide open. The trunk was standing in the hall. He lifted an end of it and shook it,

A Case of Mistaken Identity.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 17.—The developments in the Holmes-Pitezel case today were a statement from the prisoner's counsel endeavoring to explain away the discovery at Toronto and the information that District Attorney Graham may indict Holmes for the murder of Benjamin Pitezel in this city.

Holmes himself passed a quiet day in his cell, but continued to exhibit the nervousness which has characterised his demeanor since his outbreak Tuesday, when he exclaimed upon hearing of the finding of the bodies in Toronto; "Well, I guess I'll have to swing for this."

District Attorney G. S. Graham said tonight: "In view of the discovery of the bodies of the two Pitezel children in Toronto, the reasonableness of the theory that Holmes killed Pitezel at the house No. 1216 Callow Hill-street, this city, becomes apparent, and whether the prisoner, who is securely held in our county prison, shall be tried for the murder of Pitezel in this jurisdiction, or be taken to Toronto to be tried for the murder of the two little girls there, remains to be determined. It will depend upon circumstances, but the public may rest assured that no effort of mine, or my office, will be spared to bring this great criminal to justice, where he shall be made to suffer the penalty of his misdoings. I wish to say that it is my design to have Holmes tried for murder, and if it shall appear that his conviction can be readily secured at Toronto, I will arrange for his being sent there for trial, and withdraw all objection to his removal, otherwise I will see what can be done with him here on the charge of murdering Pitezel. In event of his being taken to Toronto and securing an acquittal, I will endeavor to so arrange matters that he may be returned here at least for sentence on the charge of conspiracy, and very likely to answer to the charge of murder in relation to Pitezel."

Mr. Shoemaker, counsel for Holmes, said that the charge connecting Holmes with the death and burial of any of the Pitezel children is utterly and absolutely false. There is no question but that it is a case of mistaken identity. The party who rented the house in which the children were found claims to identify Holmes as the tenant merely from a picture and after the lapse of almost a whole year. Granting that these are the murdered remains of the Pitezel children, Hatch, a friend of Holmes, is the man that must have done it. Holmes was in another city, and it would have been a physical impossibility for him to have committed the murder at the time the prosecution states. Hatch met Holmes in Detroit. Miss Williams was there with him. Holmes gave Howard to Miss Williams. From Detroit Holmes went to Toronto with the two girls, and he met Hatch there in Toronto about a day after.

"He gave one girl $400 and the other $1000. He then turned the two girls over to the care of Hatch, who solemnly promised to take them to Buffalo, where they ewer to meet Miss Williams and Howard by prearrangement. It was also understood that Miss Williams, Hatch and the three children were to then leave for Europe. This is the last that Holmes saw of any of the five.

"If murder was committed Hatch did it. There was a motive for him to do it; there was a $1400 motive; in fact Holmes can prove these steps, so there remains no other conclusion than that Hatch, being a notorious character, did not scruple to murder the children and obtain $1400, and Hatch, by the bye, resembles Holmes in appearance."

Murdered and Thrown on the Track

Bucyrus, Ohio, July 17.—Harry Bowden, an operator for the Pennsylvania Company, was murdered and robbed last night by tramps. He had just received his month's salary. The murderers threw Bowden's body on the road track, and a train ran over it and cut the head off, EMBEZZLED A QUARTER MILLION.

An Absconding Trinidad Magistrate Captured in New York.

New York, July 17.—Arthur Newsam, 45 years old, was arrested at his home in Brooklyn to-day on the charge of embezzlement. Newsam was formerly a prominent citizen of Trinidad, British West Indies, where he held the position of magistrate, and was the administrator of several large estates. In March, 1893, he disappeared, and upon investigation it was found, as alleged, that he had recently converted a large sum of the property in his keeping into cash. This aroused suspicion, and a thorough investigation revealed the fact that he was short in his accounts to the amount of £50,000. A few months later he was traced to this city, but eluded arrest.

FIVE FATALLY SCALDED.

Explosion of a Steam Pipe on an American Torpedo Boat.

New London, Conn., July 17.—Shortly after noon to-day the lighthouse steamer Cactus came steaming up the harbor. She had on board five men from the engineer's department of the torpedo boat Ericsson, who had been terribly scalded by the bursting of the exhaust steam pipe. The men were at work at their stations when the accident happened, and they had no chance in their confined quarters but to take the full effects of the steam. The Cactus was within hailing distance when the accident happened, and she responded at once to the signal of the Ericsson. The sufferers were taken on board the Cactus, and their bodies were painted with white lead to exclude the air from their exposed flesh, from which the cuticle had been removed in great patches on body, back and limbs. Their sufferings were excruciating. The men will die.

Killed by a Live Wire.

Norwalk, Conn., July 17.—Kate Valentine, aged 16, fell face down across a live wire in a field this morning, and was killed by electrical current. The wire was a telephone wire that had been blown down and become crossed with an electric light wire.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Miss L. McClelland is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mrs. Griffin and Miss Mabel Griffin are visiting friends here.

Mrs. Carmichael and Mr. C. G. Carmichael, of Markham, spent Sunday in town. They have gone to their cottage at Stony Lake.

The 12th passed very quietly here, a large number of citizens being out of town.

Mrs. D. Fraser visited her parents in Peterborough this week.

Mr. W. Stewart, who has spent some time in Norwood, has returned to his home in Thornbury.

On Monday an exciting runaway took place on Peterborough street, near the railway crossing. Mr. P. Fallon was driving towards the railroad when the noon express came along. The team were frightened and became unmanageable. Seeing that the train was likely to strike the waggon Mr. Fallon jumped and escaped without injury. The horses continued their mad race and passed just ahead of the engine. They were stopped on the Belmont road. There was no damage beyond the loss of a couple of bags of wheat, which was spilled along the road.

A pleasant event took place last Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Matthew Knox, who resides on the Asphodel side of the boundary, between that township and Dummer. His youngest daughter, Miss Annette, was united in holy wedlock to Rev. J. R. Peake, pastor of the South Dummer and Westwood Methodist churches. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of friends and relatives by Rev. Mr. Peake, of Norham, father of the groom. Miss Bertha Knox was bridesmaid, while Mr. Wm. Peake, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride and bridesmaid were beautifully attired in cream silk. After the ceremony the guests partook of a bountiful repast. The wedding presents were very numerous and handsome. The bridal couple left in the evening for a two-weeks trip down the St. Lawrence as far as Montreal. They have the best wishes of hosts of friends.

Mr. John Thompson was driving a milk wagon through a gateway when the gate slammed against the front axle, suddenly stopping the wagon. Mr. Thompson was thrown under the horses feet and received a number of kicks. There were no serious injuries, but his face was badly lacerated by the shoes of the horses.

TRAVELLING DAIRY.

The travelling dairy visited Norwood on Tuesday under the auspices of the E. P. Farmers' Institute. The meeting was held in the town hall, a fair sized audience being present. On motion of Chas. O'Reilly and Jas. Andrews, J. P. Brown was elected chairman. He delivered a short address, at the conclusion of which he called upon J. Sleightholm, B. S. A. The speaker began by referring to the object of the travelling dairy, which is to give the farmers the benefit of the opinions of the most successful buttermakers as to the making of butter. He asked those present to assist him by bringing forward any points they wished to be discussed. Coming to the subject of dairying he said that the temperature of the cream was very important. There is no set temperature for churning as it depends wholly on the character of the cream. If this be thick or sour have it at a lower temperature than if thin or sweet. Have the cream warmer if in a larger quantity. In all cases have it so that it will churn in from 20 to 30 minutes. If churned in less than twenty minutes neither quality nor quantity is as good. Every dairy should have a thermometer for the proper testing of the cream. The cream should be strained through an ordinary wire strainer into the churn, as this removes the curd, which lowers the quality of the butter. In the handling of milk cleanliness is, of course, essential. It should be strained immediately after milking, and set as soon as possible. If for factory use it should be thoroughly aerated. Better care of the milk will show better butter fat. There are three methods of separating the cream—shallow pans, deep cans and centrifugal separators. In using the first the pans should not be more than three inches deep. It is a mistake to have pans deeper than this as the cream does not all rise. It should be set in a room with a temperature of about 60 or 65 deg. There is no necessity to allow the milk to sour. Deep cans are excellent for separating the cream, but they generally require ice to preserve a uniform low temperature. In some cases they have done good work when stood in a trough through which there is a constant stream of spring or well water. Some lower cans in the well with good results. Centrifugal separators were not considered, as at present their cost prevents their common use among farmers. When churning add some water as soon as the butter breaks. When it is like grains of wheat draw off the buttermilk and wash off the butter. It is better to wash the butter milk out than work it out. No more washing should be done than is necessary. The market should always be the guide as to salting. It is important that first-class salt should be used. To secure uniformity the butter and salt should always be weighed. It is better to work the butter twice, incorporating the salt the first time and often allowing it to stand for an hour or so re-working until the butter is wholly uniform. Some salt their butter in the churn. To do this, use a little more salt, give the churn a few revolutions, then allow it to stand for an hour or so before working. A lever butter worker is the best for a private dairy. It saves labour and does not injure the texture of the butter. The finished product should be done up for market as neatly as possible. A good way is to make it into pound prints and wrap it in parchment paper. The appearance of the article influences the price almost as much as the flavour. When a good market is once secured, keep it by having the butter uniform in quality and appearances. While Mr. Sleightholm was delivering his address the process of manufacturing butter was shown practically by Mr. J. Hume. A can of cream supplied by Mr. Geo. Elliott was put in the churn at 50°. After turning the crank for about twenty minutes, added some water and then gave the churn a few more revolution, after which the butter milk was drawn off. The butter was well washed and was then removed to the worker. Salt at the rate of 1 oz. to the pound was added, after which the butter was worked for about fifteen minutes. It was then made into prints and wrapped in wet parchment paper. The whole process only occupied about one hour. Ten pounds of gilt edged butter were made from thirty-two pounds of cream.

Mr. Sleightholm next spoke of the advantages of the Babcock tester. It enables the farmer to find out which are his most profitable cows. By removing the poor ones and adding good animals to the herd the profits of the dairy are greatly increased. Again, many farmers lose a large percentage of the butter fat in the skim-milk and butter-milk. If several neighbours clubbed together they could secure a tester for about $1 each. The working of the tester was practically illustrated by the speaker.

After votes of thanks to Messrs. Sleightholm and Hume and Mrs. Geo. Elliott, the meeting adjourned.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practise the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

TALK WITHOUT A VOTE

Members Fight Shy of McCarthy's Amendment.

REJECTED WITHOUT A DIVISION

Many Members Spoke on the Amendment, But at 3 This Morning Only McCarthy and O'Brien Stood Up to Ask for a Division.

Ottawa, July 18.—The school question held the undivided attention of the House at yesterday's sitting. Many speeches were delivered, chiefly from the Treasury benches.

Most of those who spoke declared against Remedial Legislation, but were willing to give the Government time in which to negotiate with Manitoba.

At a late hour, Mr. Laurier announced he would vote against Mr. McCarthy, because he did not desire to see political parties divided into two religious camps.

At 2.40 a.m. the question was put from the chair, only Mr. McCarthy and Col. O'Brien rose to the call for a division, and the Speaker thereupon declared the amendment lost, and the question was disposed of in this abrupt manner.

Mr. Lariviere resumed the debate on the school question. He denounced Mr. Sifton's description of the Separate Schools of Manitoba before 1890. They were, at all events, equal to Protestant schools, in proof of which he cited the success of the Catholic schools' exhibit at the Colonial Exhibition of 1886. He claimed the act of 1890 was not passed because of the inefficiency of Catholic schools, but for a political purpose. He denied also that the school money had found its way into the coffers of the church, or that schools were only open a day or two in the week, because a school had to be open 200 days in order to obtain the grant. He quoted the figures previous to 1890, to show that the attendance was as high in Roman Catholic as in Protestant schools. In conclusion, he claimed that the minority in Manitoba should have the same rights as Quebec.

Mr. McNeill was the next speaker. He desired to give his reasons for not supporting the amendment of Mr. McCarthy. He said the resolution appeared to him to be framed, not so much to obtain the sense of the House on the question as with a view of embarrassing the Government at the very time when they had been fighting the battle of the province to this extent, at least, that they had been resisting a strong effort made to induce them to proceed with Remedial Legislation at once, and they had insisted upon time being given to arrive at an amicable adjustment of the difficulty, if possible. It seemed to him that under these circumstances and at this time, it would be an especially ungracious act on the part of anyone who, like himself, desired at all hazards to withhold the rights of the province to vote to defeat the Government. It also seemed to him that if he assisted to defeat the Government and brought in the Opposition, he ran the risk of bringing in a party which might go much further in the direction he disapproved of than the present Government were prepared to go, for they might force Separate Schools on the province at once, without making any attempt at compromise, so that, to use a familiar saying, he would simply find himself out of the frying pan into the fire. Lastly, he opposed the resolution because, apparently, in order to secure support from a certain section of the Opposition, its scope was reduced to such narrow limits as to be quite inadequate to express his (Mr. McNeill's) views. The condemnation it contained was confined to Remedial Legislation on the lines of the Remedial Order. In his opinion, it ought to go much further and condemn any attempt to force Separate Schools on Manitoba, whether on the lines of the Remedial Order or not. Had that been a simple, straightforward resolution, condemning any attempt to force Separate Schools on Manitoba, he would have voted for it. But he refused to risk defeat of a Government whose general policy he approved, with the risk of bringing in a Government whose general policy he would disapprove, and whose policy on this question the leader of the party carefully concealed. He refused to do this merely to support a transparently tricky, half-hearted resolution of this kind. If the time ever came when it was attempted to force not merely Remedial Legislation on the lines of the order, but Separate Schools of any kind, on the people of Manitoba, he would be prepared to oppose the attempt with voice and vote.

Proceeding, Mr. McNeill said that, while Mr. McCarthy was now his political enemy, having selected his constituency as the first into which to put a McCarthyite candidate, yet he was bound to Mr. McCarthy by strong ties of past personal friendship, and he would resent as unwarranted the imputation that Mr. McCarthy was actuated by mercenary motives in his advocacy of the cause of national schools in Manitoba. He had no charge of intolerance to make against his Quebec friends who were fighting the cause of their co-religionists and compatriots in Manitoba. But Manitoba had undoubtedly the right to settle its own educational affairs. There should be one law for all, and if the Jesuit Estate Act could be forced upon an unwilling minority in Quebec, the Manitoba minority had no right to expect their will to be enforced on the majority of that province. Then he went on to deal with the constitutional aspect of the case. The first subsection of section 22 of the Manitoba act restricted the educational law-making powers of Manitoba to laws that should have no prejudicial effect on the rights or privileges with respect to denominational schools which any persons had at the union. It had been adjudged that the minority had no Separate School rights at the union. The second subsection provided that when an act of the Manitoba Legislature affected any educational right or privilege of the minority, an appeal therefrom shall lie to the Governor-General-in-council. The words, "An appeal shall lie," did not, he argued, mean that this Parliament should enact the restoration of those rights. If it were intended that the minority should be guaranteed for all time rights or privileges that might be acquired after union, a word added to the first clause would have fixed that, because it would declare ultra vires any law taking away those rights; the guarantee was for rights existing at the union; rights of the future were left to the future. (Dr. Weldon: Hear, hear.) Mr. McNeill proceeded to quote from the Imperial Privy Council decision to prove that their Lordships only decided that this was a case for appeal to the Governor-in-Council, and gave no indication or direction as to the method by which the Legislature should remove that grievance.

After recess, Mr. McNeill continued his speech. He said the question to be decided was whether Parliament was obliged from moral considerations to redress the grievances complained of. It did not follow, nor was it granted by any Legislative Assembly in the world that the existence of a grievance was a necessary reason why the grievance should be redressed. The Irish Land Act of 1870 carried with it certain grievances, but for years Parliament would not interfere with it. In the same way, grievances existed in connection with the Irish Church, but Parliament was reluctant to abolish them. The question for Parliament now was whether the grievances of the minority should be redressed, or whether the majority of the people of Manitoba should be compelled to legislate in a way contrary to their wishes. He believed if Manitoba were approached in a reasonable, kindly and friendly spirit, a satisfactory solution would be reached. He commended such a course to his Catholic friends in the House. If it came to be a struggle between the Dominion authority and the province, no man could tell where it would end. (Hear, hear.)

Hon. N. C. Wallace said he desired to address the House briefly, and would first of all refer to Mr. Lariviere's speech. That hon. member desired restoration of Separate Schools in Manitoba on the same basis as they existed before 1890. He (Mr. Wallace) did not think a proposition of that kind would meet with the approval of Parliament. On the evidence of Attorney-General Sifton, out of 26 per cent., constituting the Catholic population of Manitoba, 24 per cent. were unable to sign their names. With such a condition of affairs existing, it appeared to him (Mr. Wallace) that the time had arrived in Manitoba when a change was necessary if the provincial authorities were to do their duty by the rising generation. If the Separate Schools were granted to the Catholics of Manitoba every branch of the Protestant Church would demand the same rights, and he did not see how their request could be refused. Restoration of the Catholic schools meant that children would grow up without education. If it should be decided by Parliament to pass Remedial Legislation, it would create endless trouble and difficulty in this country. The provincial authorities controlled the purse strings and educational machinery, and if they were hostile to any proposal of the Government of Canada they could interpose obstacles innumerable. The suggestion, therefore, of the Dominion Government that an effort should be made to settle this difficulty by negotiation met with his hearty approval. The Controller referred to the fact that Mr. Laurier had quoted a portion of his (Mr. Wallace's) speech on the 12th of July, in which he condemned the proposal of the Bishop of Nicolet to influence the judgment of the Imperial Privy Council Committee. "I would like to ask the leader of the Opposition," continued Mr. Wallace, "whether he also approves of that sentiment or mine?"

Mr. Laurier: Ask your own colleagues. (Laughter.)

Mr. Wallace: They have been expressing their opinions pretty freely all along. The leader of the Opposition has been pretty silent. I thought it was time he opened his mouth. Continuing, Mr. Wallace said that, while he agreed with much Mr. McNeill had said, he did not take much stock in what he said about Mr. McCarthy being above suspicion of mercenary motives. Mr. Wallace held quite different opinion of Mr. McCarthy. In speaking here in advocacy of a cause he had been paid for upholding as a counsel, Mr. McCarthy was guilty of a gross abuse of privilege as a member of Parliament. Then Mr. Greenway made a corrupt bargain once with a rich bishop of St Boniface, in connection with the formation of the Cabinet, that induced his school legislation, but because of his being a paid advocate of that Government, he was, of course, prevented from standing up in this House and condemning that bargain. The Controller held this was not the only occasion on which Mr. McCarthy had endeavored to urge upon Parliament views which he was paid for advocating in courts. In this connection, he quoted Mr. Blake's accusation against that gentleman regarding the Northern Pacific Junction Railway presidency, and produced a check from the Government for $9000 to the St. Catharines Milling Company, and was proceeding to connect Mr. McCarthy with it, when the Speaker declared it was not in order as bearing on the question before the House.

Mr. Wallace, in conclusion, said he could not vote for Mr. McCarthy's resolution.

Dr. Weldon, Messrs. McNeill, Maclean, Hughes, Davin, Hasson and Col. O'Brien made strong speeches.

Mr. Laurier hoped parliament would be spared the settlement of this question. It would be lamentable if party lines were broken into Catholic and Protestant. It was because he did not desire to see that he would vote against the amendment.

Col. O'Brien spoke, and then the question was put by Mr. Speaker and declared lost.

House adjourned at 2.45 a.m.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

The Children's Aid Society has received notice of another sad case of destitution and degradation in the country. There is a family of five children that are not only in a destitute condition but morally degraded, living like wild animals, and if kept in their present condition sure to grow up a burden upon society as paupers or criminals, or both. The society is doing all its powers, limited by lack of means, will permit it to do. Will not the philanthropic come to the help of the society in its excellent work ? The heathen at home are deserving of more missionary attention than they now receive.

The Hastings Star says: The Rev. Father Collins, lately appointed to the Brighton parish to take the place of Rev. Father McCloskey, who goes to Campbellford to take the place of Rev. A Violation of the Liquor License Act.

Yesterday morning Magistrate Deacon and License Inspector Short of Lindsay, proceeded to Omemee, with a charge of illegal liquor selling against Jos. Franzee, foreman of the gang of Italians working at the G. T. R. gravel pit. The inspector has been quietly working up the case for some weeks, but experienced great difficulty in getting at the facts owing to the men being intimidated by Franzee, who is also interpreter for the gang, and possibly also because they sympathize slightly with the illicit business. Franzee was convicted on the charge, and fined $50 and costs, $6.50, for selling beer, failing to pay which he will spend the next three months in gaol.

Peculiar Accident to a Horse.

Yesterday evening Calcutt's brewery van was delivering goods in the lane on Hunter street. An old shop door that had been placed along the wall of the passage fell down, and the shaft of the door knob, with the top knob broken off, projected upwards. In backing up the nigh horse stepped on the point of this square iron shaft, and must have put his whole weight upon it, for the shaft penetrated the frog of the right hind foot to the depth of three or four inches. His weight at any rate was sufficient to break the lower knob and allow the shaft to project upwards to its greatest length. Dr. Beatty, V.S., was called and attended to the horse's serious injury to his foot, which from the penetrating nature of the wound will be some time in healing.

Mr. Calcutt, whose boat conveyed the excursionists from Peterborough to the Point, intends giving the boys a good time, and will have the Str. City of Peterborough run from Hastings, and the Str. Daisy from Harwood, from which points it is expected a large crowd will turn out.

The Late Mrs. Joseph Walton.

The numerous friends of the family of Mr. Jos. H. Walton, Smith, eldest son of the late John Walton, town, learned with deep regret of the death of Mrs. Walton, which took place in Toronto on Wednesday afternoon, at 2.30. The deceased lady, who was sixty years of age, was Elizabeth Parsons, daughter of the late Mr. Parsons, of Toronto, where she was born. About thirty-five years ago she was united in marriage to Mr. Jos. H. Walton, Smith. To this union were born eight children, of whom five are living.—Miss Annie Walton, Mr. John E. Walton, St. Thomas, Dakota, Mr. George S. Walton, Smith, Miss Jennie Walton, Smith, and Mrs. Arthur Jones, of Toronto. Mrs. Walton has been suffering from serious ill health for many years and her death was not undreaded. Mrs. Walton was held in very high esteem in the community where she passed so many years of her life. The funeral, which is private, will take place from the residence of Mrs. John Walton, 289 Hunter street' to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m.

MACKENZIE'S NARRATIVE OF THE REBELLION.

A Rare Pamphlet Dealing With Stirring Times—Three Copies in Peterborough.

A paragraph in the Hamilton news of the Toronto Globe states that a citizen of the Ambitious City has recently received a copy of Wm. Lyon Mackenzie's "own narrative of the rebellion of 1837," and adds that there are supposed to be only fifteen copies of the narrative in print. If this is the case Dr. R. W. Bell, town, has three of these copies, one of which lies on the desk on which it is written. Last summer Dr. Bell was at Carleton Place, and discovered among the papers of his father, the late Robert Bell, ex-M.P., some fifteen or twenty copies of the narrative amongst the several cart loads of pamlets. etc., accumulated during his father's life, of which he secured three, the others being presumably destroyed, with valueless pamphlets and papers. One of these narratives is included in the collection of early Canadian pamphlets and documents—115 in number—from the library of the late Robt. Bell, presented to Queen's College, Kingston, and now in its library. The narrative mentioned was printed in 1838 at the "Palladium" office, York street, Toronto. The full title of the narrative is :

The editor of the pamphlet was evidently not in sympathy with Mr. MacKenzie, for in one of the numerous foot notes, in reference to Mr. Mackenzie's declaration of his efforts towards hastening "the happy time when Canadian vassalage will be exchanged for freedom and peace," the editor says :

Should MacKenzie's eye ever rest upon these notes, we shall here assure him that his very name is held in execration even by his former friends in Canada—and both his public and private conduct has secured the inheritance of an eternal infamy! and the very way to secure the freedom and peace he so hypocritically talks about—is to bring himself and all others equally guilty with himself to speedy justice.

This is an opinion, which it is apparent posterity has rather radically revised. Mr. Mackenzie's emeute, though ill advised and ill managed, is recognized as the exciting cause of the mother country extending to Canada the liberal measure of constitutional liberty we enjoy. Mr. Mackenzie's sad failure of 1837-38 has resulted in a glorious success, of which we enjoy the benefit.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

The 38th Annual Convocation of the Grand Chapter—Leading Members Present—Address by the Grand Z—Election of Officers.

The 38th annual convocation of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Canada was held yesterday in the Masonic Temple, Toronto. There was an excellent attendance.

After the Grand Chapter had been called to order, the Grand Z. welcomed the companions in an exhaustive and accurate review of the work accomplished during the year. He outlined in clear and precise terms the conditions of the various chapters and the inner workings of the organization.

At the conclusion of the address the reports of the Committees on Audit and Finance, Warrants, Credentials, Grievances, Benevolence, Jurisprudence, Condition of Capitular Masonry and Foreign Correspondence were presented and adopted.

In view of the approaching union of the chapters under Canadian warrants in Australia with the Grand Chapter of Victoria, it was resolved to confer past ranks of various grades upon a number of companions at the antipodes in recognition of faithful services.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year, the three Grand Principals, Grand Scribe E. and Grand Treasurer being re-elected by acclamation: M. E. Comp. J. Ross Robertson, Toronto, Grand Z; R. E. Comp. M. Walsh, Inger-Grand H.; R. E. Comp. W. J. Reid, Hamilton, Grand J.; M. E. Comp. T. Sargent, Toronto, Grand Scribe E.; R. E. Comp. L. W. Burke, London, Grand Scribe N.; R.E. Comp. Aubrey White, Toronto, Grand Principal Sojourner; R. E. Comp. Hugh Murray, Hamilton, Grand Treasurer; R.E. Comp. Philip T. Lee, Newmarket, Grand Registrar.

Executive Committee elected—W. Roaf, Toronto; D. MacWatt, Barrie; D. H. Martyn, Kincardine; A. Shaw, Kingston; A. R Birrel, Hamilton.

At the meeting in the evening Central District No. 12 of the Royal Arch was, by resolution, divided into two districts. The chapters on the Grand Trunk railway and adjacent lines will be distinguished as the St. Lawrence District, No. 12, of which J. F. Graham, of Prescott, has been made Grand Superintendent, and those chapters on the C. P. R. will collectively be designated as Ottawa District, No. 13, W. B. McArthur, of Ottawa, being Grand Superintendent. The new constitution, as outlined in the address of the Grand Z, was adopted. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting in Toronto, on the fourth Wednesday in January, 1897.

LACROSSE AT MILLBROOK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Yesterday was the first time in many years that the first teams of Peterborough and Millbrook crossed sticks and that the result was a surprise to both the visitors and the home team, as well as the backers of both clubs goes without saying. Never since the time when when the old Riversides and Millbrooks crossed sticks was such enthusiasm displayed by Millbrook's backers as at yesterday's match. After two hour's hard play the referee gave the match to the home team by a score of 2 to 1. Of course the visitors were weakened by the absence of McDonough and Lipsett and had they been on, the score might have been different. Millbrook, too, was greatly weakened by the absence of Walter Coombe, the star home player, who sprained his ankle the night before while practising. While the match was in progress there was considerable "chewing" over the referees decisions, but before the game was over Peterborough was satisfied with how he performed his duties. The match was not what might be called a rough one by any means and any bruises any players have were the result of accidents. The number of spectators was small owing no doubt to the fact that it was not known until the day before the match that the visitors were coming, therefore there was not much time to advertise the match. Peterborough has good defense men in Lynch, Brown and McDonough. They indeed played brilliant games, and any time any one of them got the ball he had his throw.

Galley at centre played a good game, too, but the home sadly lacked combination work. When any of Peterborough's home secured the ball he seemed to think his duty to be to run in and shoot, but he got sadly left when he ran up against Bateson, McMahon or Carveth of the Millbrook defence. Richards between Millbrook's flags played a star game, and stopped many a hot one, while their home got in some pretty combination work. It was ten minutes to four o'clock when the teams lined up before Referee Alf. Raper as follows:—

ATHLETICS.		MILLBROOK.
F Dobbin	goal	J Richards
F Lynch	point	T McMahon
D Brown	cover point	S Carveth
J McDonough	1st defence	W Strain
T McMahon	2nd defence	J Bateson
W Thompson	3rd defence	A Irwin
W Galley	centre	G Leach
P Rubidge	3rd home	F Coombe
W Borland	2nd home	S Pickup
E Hickey	1st home	F Southern
E Wasson	out-side home	J Nattrass
J McCabe	inside home	G Carveth
P J Doris	captain	L F Clarry
F Jones	umpire	A Mulligan

Galley secured the ball at the face and down it came on the Millbrook flags. In a few minutes it could be seen that the home team was playing a defence game, and it looked as if Peterborough was going to have a walk over. Things took a change, however, after about fifteen minutes play. Millbrook's defence proved too much for the Athletic's home, and the rubber hovered around Dobbin's flags. Millbrook's home began to get in some neat work Carveth sent in a hot one, but Dobbin made a clever stop.

After forty-five minutes play Nattrass scored for Millbrook. Play was resumed and honours were evenly divided. McMahon of the home team accidentally come down rather heavy on Borland's head, which caused a delay of a few minutes. The ball was again faced and after 15 minutes Natrass by some clever dodging ran in and scored for Millbrook.

When the ball was faced again Peterborough seemed to be determined to win. The Millbrook home now seemed to get rattled and the visitors' prospects appeared brighter. The home team's defence was made to hustle and many a hot shot Richards stopped. At last by a clever shot from McCabe the visitors scored. Time, five minutes.

Again the ball was faced, and several times the Athletics came near scoring. After fifteen minutes play the referee called time, and the match stood 2 to 1 in Millbrook's favour.

The return match will be played shortly in Peterborough.

Note—The members of the first team of the Athletics who did not play were Jack and Tom McDonough, Geo. Lipsett and Bolan. The Athletics thought the Millbrooks were "easy," but found out their mistake when they met them. When the return match is played the Peterborough team expects to turn the tables. All the players are requested to turn out regularly for practice in order that the team may be in good shape to go to Port Hope.

BASEBALL.

Mr. John Fanning last evening received a telegram from Picton containing a message to the secretary of the baseball club—"Will you meet Kingston here (Picton) July 24th, to play for a $30 cup." This is the date of the Grand Cantonment of the Patriarchs Militant, I.O.O.F. The Peterborough baseball club has accepted the challenge.

THE WHEEL.

A large gathering of wheelmen assembled at the Brantford agency last night, in response to a call issued for the ostensible purpose of forming a new club and furthering the interests of cycling in Peterborough. The chair was taken by Mr. Ewing, who has recently taken up his residence in town, and is an enthusiastic wheelman. In opening the meeting he stated that he understood dissatisfaction existed in the ranks of the Peterborough Bicycle Club owing to the fact that no club runs had been held and that there were no club rooms in existence in connection with the organization

A large number of the members of the Peterborough Club were present, in fact almost everyone in attendance at the meeting belonged to the organization. Mr. Geo. Horkins, captain of the club, was the first speaker. In regard to the complaint that the Peterboroughs held no club runs he stated that at the beginning of the season a run had been held. Thirteen members turned out to it. On the following week only two took the run, and the same number turned out the week following. This was regarded by the officers as an indication that the members were not in favour of club runs, and so they had been discontinued. The matter of club rooms had also been discussed, but, as the membership fee would have to be placed at five dollars per annum to keep up the rooms, it had been found impossible to secure sufficient contributors to warrant the taking up of the rooms.

Upon the hearing this plain statement of the facts the chair inquired if there were any more grievances, but none were mentioned.

On motion it was then decided that Messrs. Alex. Gibson, George Horkins and Gus. Hay, on behalf of the Peterboroughs, and Messrs. Gus. Gough, Herbert Walker and Ewing, on behalf of the meeting be a committee to select suitable rooms for the club and to make estimates of the cost of supporting the same. Their report will be made at a meeting to be held on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock, in the Brantford Agency.

It is improbable that a new club will be formed, as in such an event Peterborough would stand a poor chance of getting the C. W. A. meet next year. In order to get this meet the wheelmen of the town must all pull together, and with a split in the ranks harmony would hardly prevail.

Last night's meeting has had one good effect. It has wakened the wheelmen of the town up and brought them together. Hereafter the interest will probably be more marked, and when the next club run is announced the attendance without doubt will be a large one.

In reference to that 400,000 bicycle syndicate story, the Studebake's the wagon manufacturers of Fort Wayne, Ind., are said to be the firm ready to make the bicycles. The original prices have been changed, for it is now said the wheels can be made for $18 and placed on the market at $40. Some dealers say that no one firm could turn out 400,000 serviceable wheels in two years.

Angus McLeod got sweet revenge for his defeat by Zeigler at the Toronto meet on the last day of the Ashbury gathering, beating him badly in the final of the mile open, and was only a foot behind Gardiner, winner of the race. In his heat, which he won, he fairly ran away from F. J. Titus and Mike Dirnberger, the exploded Buffalo "phenom." Harley Davidson in the third heat got third to Bird and Kennedy, who were among the "also rans" in the final.

E. C. Bald is the king of the American racing men. At the National meet just closed he started in four races and won them all, being the only man who secured more than one first. Coulter secured a first and a second. Bald has competed in 13 mile races this year and won 11 of them. In the two that he lost he finished second to Cabanne, who was disabled on the first day of the meet.

THE CORBETT-FITZSIMMONS FIGHT.

Austin, Tex., July 15.—A delegation of the ministers of Austin have called on Gov. Culberson and earnestly appealed to the Governor to prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at Dallas, saying it was a burning shame. The Governor gave them a respectful hearing and assured them if the provisions of the law were adequate the officers would see to it that the fight did not come off. Ministers say they want the laws made adequate so as to prevent the fight. The sales of reserved seats on the first day of the opening of the plan amounted to $18,000.

What is a "Quick Meal" Gas Stove?

It is a solid, but light, pretty contrivance, fed with gas instead of coal or wood, and is especially invented for ladies who want to do their cooking comfortably in summer time in a cool kitchen. They are made of cast iron and wrought steel; nicely japanned and handsomely ornamented with fine nickel-plate and tile. The price of a small "Quick Meal" is small and the cost of gas is but little. All expense ends with extinguishing the flames. We would like to have it understood "RIGHT HERE," that on a "Quick Meal" you can accomplish the same as on the best wood or coal stove, baking, roasting, broiling, cooking, washing, ironing and everything else. STYLE AND FABRIC.

A SUMMER INSPECTION OF FALL GOODS IS IN ORDER.

New York Fashions—Mate Leroy Finds in the Vegetable Kingdom Many Similies for the Appearance of the New Goods.

In the midst of summer, with the sun scorching and the thermometer at 100 degrees, busy people are preparing for the fall, and the women can sit in their lawns and laces and think about the prospects and begin to plan their fall styles. Some of them may have to plan the ways and means whereby they can manage to buy them. At any rate, by good fortune I was shown a line of samples of the goods to be worn not only for fall, but into the winter. The very thinking of them carries my mind into the cool days, and I forget how hot it is. May the reading about them have the same effect on my sisters.

In the first place, four-fifths of the goods will be bouche effects, which we all know mean knots and knobs, curls and loose hairs over the surfaces. The cheviots have little rings of mohair or wool on each ridge of the weave or in thickly curled stripes down the length of the material. These are varied in width in the shape of the curls or knobs, so that each new design makes virtually another goods of the fabric. The cheviots are shown in several weights and with wide and narrow wales. The cunning little knots of wool standing up on the edge of each wale remind one of a garden with its long furrows topped with drumhead cabbages. Some of these are arranged with large rows in the center and two graduated rows of tufts on each side. This gives a deeply furrowed appearance and is very rich. This comes in all the sober and elegant fall colors, sometimes the tufts being the color of the foundation and sometimes of a contrasting one. Some pieces have lines of very close and small curls up and down. This is peculiarly handsome.

NEW SILKEN PETTICOATS.

The mohair that has been so popular as a plain goods has been adorned with tufts, knots, knobs and curls of that glossy texture, until it is simply wonderful for its richness and beauty. The plain camel's hair of other days has bloomed out into a hundred different styles of boucle effects. I saw one kind where the curls were just an inch above the surface of the fabric and were first waved, and the ends curled under. It was superb. There is other camel's hair of thick, firm twill with loose hair caught in the weave and left to lie straight on the surface. The camel's hair is shown in all the fall colors and black. Perhaps there are 200 different designs in those fancies, so that everyone's tastes may be satisfied. There is one very neat design called inelegantly nigger head, which is certain to be a favorite. The curls are very close and tight, so that the whole piece looks like a barrel of turnip seed. I do not know why my similies should be found in the vegetable kingdom to-day, but really that is just how the cloth looks.

Among these rough fabrics is a wool crepon which has one stripe like a ribbon slightly gathered between lines of the crepon. The crepon itself is woolly and straggly, but is a very original looking stuff, and such pleases most women.

Crepons pure and simple are not shown among the new samples. The thicker varieties show boucle effects, and I saw several patterns of deep crinkle and crossbar crepons, where the boucle effect was very marked. Some of these, I was told, would be used as cloakings, and several most superb mantles made in Paris are shown as high novelties. Some of these black crepons have silken dots, knots or curls over their surface, the whole effect being lumpy and uneven. The cloaking crepons come only in black; the others in all other reasonable colors. There are also some regular honeycomb patterns in these crepons, where the hollows are so deep that you can put your finger in them. These crepons are woven in camel's hair. There is also a regular basket weave, very thick and handsome with long straggling hairs woven in.

Next to those in richness and beauty come the raised broche figures in mohairs or silk on plain Australian wool. The patterns are for the most part interwoven and arabesques of different designs. This material is thick and heavy and rather stiff, but it will be made up into costumes for ceremonious occasions for the middle aged and elderly. Many fine mantles will be made of it and probably trimmed with fur, as no other garniture is worthy of such a fabric.

There is a large variety of swivel woven woollens, and when done on dead fine material like silk warp henrietta or eudora or empress cloth, there could be nothing more beautiful, not even silks. I saw one piece of eudora with violets scattered over it in swivel weave. There were also many seeded grounds with no end of pretty fancies in small figures. Some are done in mohair, some in silk and some are simply thrown off the same thread.

The melrose and empress cords are to have a favorable season, and the heavy railroad cords are shown among the newest. These three goods are smooth save for the corded lines, and they fold very richly. The melrose has a silk warp. There is a silk warp crepe cloth which is suitable for mourning or ordinary wear, according to the manner in which it is made. Another silk warp black fabric, which had no special name, had brocaded or woven patterns all over it, looking like broken dry twigs. There is legion of different designs in this fabric, from the tiniest flecks in dots to the large chain lightning pattern. There are very many elegant black goodes woven in Jacquard figures. These promise to be very popular for house gowns and visiting. They are as rich as silk, and many ladies consider that a Jacquard woolen in fine quality is more distinguished than silk. There is one pattern or design which is found in several fabrics. I allude to a singularly close imitation of the priceless old Laticina porcelain. This has a dark ground with a lighter overweave, and the upper color seems to have broken away in the process of making, producing an irregular, latticelike appearance. This, produced in dead wool and mohair, makes a beautiful stuff, impossible to describe. There is another pattern somewhat like this, but the upper layer, so to call it, appears to have cracked like an old teacup.

The cheviots, while still retaining their essential qualities, are showing new ideas, principally in their newly developed growth of curly hair. Some, however, remain smooth and are produced in wide diagonal wales, and small ones, in serge cheviot, cravanette cheviot and basket weave. This last is very rich in black. The drap d'alma grows in beauty and has several new qualities to recommend it this season. It is the most elegant of all material for mourning cloaks, just as eudora cloth is for gowns. In this connection I may say that there is a new English crape which is made perfectly waterproof. Rain nor sea air affects it. Therefore in trimming, also for veils, this is very useful, particularly for those who cannot afford to renew crape as often as it become stringy. This kind is quite as handsome as the other.

There is a wide choice of large cheviot and Scotch plaid for the coming season, every figure outlined, both across and lengthwise, with a curled stripe, and often, too, the centre of the plaid will be one mass of boucles. All put together shows us that we are to have a shaggy and woolly winter.

I was in a silk manufacturer's place this week, and after looking over all the stock it suddenly occurred to me that few pieces shown were suitable for dresses. I asked about it, and the attendant said: "As well as we can judge now, madam, nine-tenths of the silks worn this coming season will be for fancy waists and petticoats. We are doing very little in strictly dress goods this year. Of course there will be a number of silks, mostly black figured, and perhaps swiveled and Dresden and chene effects will have some demand, but we expect this to be a wool season."

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

A Constantly Growing Force.

Every Day Gives Momentum to the Success of South American Nervine.

Canadian Citizens from Every Quarter Tell of the Extraordinary Results Following the Use of This Wonderful Remedy.

MR. C. G. CHAPIN, OF BURK'S FALLS, ONT.

There is encouragement in the knowledge that even after the skill of eminent physicians has failed, and many medicines have been used, a certain cure for the diseases of life is to be found in South American Nervine. This is a remarkable medicine, especially when the trouble is nervous debility, indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, or a general breaking-up of the system. It has made thousands of cures of Canadian citizens all over this beautiful Dominion, and they have not been slow to sing its praises.

The strength of South American Nervine rests in its being something more than a mere tonic. A tonic will give temporary benefit, but if disease is in the system something more is needed to remove it. South American Nervine possesses all the virtues of a tonic, but more than that, it is a disease-healer. It has been discovered that certain nerves have entire control over the stomach, liver, heart, lungs and indeed all internal organs. When disease comes upon the individual, if a careful analysis is made of the trouble, and things are not gone about in hap-hazard fashion, it will be shown that the disease has its origin in a derangement of these nerve centers. South American Nervine goes at once to the nerve centers and removes the disease. Then strong, rich, pure blood runs through the veins and gives health and exhilaration to all parts of the system. This is one secret of the power of South American Nervine. But it does not stop here. There is no medicine that is so great a nerve-builder, nor flesh-producer as Nervine. It purifies the system. It imparts to it health and vigor, and builds up the constitution.

Now, this is exactly what was done in the case of Mr. C. G. Chapin, a well-known jeweller, of Burk's Falls, Ont. He says: For years I had been much troubled with nervous debility, and believe I had tried all proprietary medicines, but none seemed to relieve me, until I used South American Nervine. To my surprise the first bottle gave me great relief. I am still taking this great remedy and must say I have not felt so well in years. I highly recommend it to all suffering from nervous disease, for it has made a great change in me."

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

STYLE AND FABRIC.

That sent me to a retail house to see some of the petticoats. I found that they were making mountains of them for the early fall trade. The skirts themselves are far less ornate than they were a year ago. There was a pinked out or corded ruffle under the hem, and one from 6 to 10 inches wide on the outside, set on by gathering and stitching the ruffle directly on the skirt. These ruffles were nearly all covered with another of black lace, though I saw a few having white lace, and some others where the ruffle was embroidered in black. All the pretty light taffetas were used in any or all colors.

The waists of silk will positively run through another season, so the dealers say. Well, they deserve it. I saw one suit just finished and ready to send out. This is a summer outfit, and I describe it. The skirt was of striped duck, black and white, and the stripes were 4 inches wide. The skirt was not trimmed. The waist was a polka of brick red foulard, with white dots. It was gathered in at the waist with a belt. Down the front there was a plastron of pale Japanese silk, simulating revers and vest front. There were eight large silk-covered buttons. To wear with this was a rice straw hat covered with large wild roses and foliage. It is nothing to make such a suit, but it is very stylish when done and worth the little labor.

While at this place I saw two other handsome gowns suitable for summer idle days. One was of pale rose fayetta silk, with a puffing around the bottom of the skirt and bows of reseda velvet. There was white lace down each front gore. The figaro was of white lace draped with the velvet. The belt, collar and balloon sleeves were all of this delicate soft shade of green, and the whole dress was delightfully suggestive of a dainty pink rose. There was a garden hat to wear with this gown of a gypsy shaped milan braid, covered with pink roses.

The other dress was for walking or carriage, and it was marked by quiet and fine taste. The gown was of biscuit armure wool, fine and soft. The front breadths were left open to show a plaiting of white satin. On one side were set cloth-covered buttons and on the other were simulated buttonholes up to the knees. From there on up were other buttons, placed so as to make the skirt appear closed. The back of the skirt lay in godet folds. The belt was of white satin and the revers. The full vest was of pale blue china crepe, and the stock was also of the crepe. The sleeves were very large gigots.

ALLADIN'S PALACE.

Mr. Brush's Residence in Cleveland is More Brilliantly Lighted, and the Wind Does It All.

Mr. Brush, the electrician, has a wonderful electric plant at his magnificent residence on Euclid avenue, Cleveland. The house is provided with nearly 400 incandescent and a number of arc lights, and the electricity for these is furnished by storage batteries.

There are, so he told me, ten tons of storage batteries in the house, and the power which charges these with electricity is an enormous windmill which he has erected in the rear. Every breeze that blows produces light for his house, and the batteries are so large that if there should be a dead calm for a whole week they would still contain enough electricity to run all the lights. The windmill itself is in large part the invention of Mr. Brush. It is the biggest windmill in the world, and it is operated by a wheel which has a sail surface of about 1,800 square feet. The tower of this windmill is as high as a six-storey house. It is set in heavy masonry, and so made that it can turn with every wind that blows. Within it there is an enormous dynamo, connected with the tower by a system of belts and pulleys, and the whole machine is so automatic in its make-up that it needs only a little oil now and then to keep it perpetually in motion with the wind. It has been in operation now for more than seven years, but it is so made that it works as well as when it was built. It produces enough electricity to charge the hundreds of cells of these ten tons of storage batteries, and it furnishes the light for the house and gives power to run the machinery of Mr. Brush's laboratory, which is located in the basement. It costs him, Mr. Brush told me, much more than if he used the electric light furnished by the city, but he prefers to be independent, and the machinery is a pet invention of his own.

The arrangement of the electric lights in the house is after the plan of Mr. Brush and his wife. Some of the rooms are lighted from the ceilings. Others have lights so shaded by opalescent globes and reflectors that only the softest rays surround you, and each of the magnificent paintings which cover the walls has an electric flame in front of it, so covered by a green reflector that you do not see it, and you know of its existence only through the rays which are thrown back on the work of art behind. In the top of the building there is a great hall in which Mr. Brush has one of the finest magic lanterns in existence, and this he operates through an electric light of 3,000 candle-power. The average calcium light, or that produced by oxygen-hydrogen gas for magic lantern use is, he tells me, 500-candle power.

FRANK G. CARPENTER.

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

He Tells How He Came to Take Up Burglary as a Pursuit.

"Curious, isn't it," said the retired burglar, "how often our choice of occupation, and so of course our whole lives, may be determined by circumstances? I never had any particular inclination for the burgularly business: in fact, I think my inclinations would naturally be rather against it. But when I was a very young man I suffered greatly from insomnia: I couldn't sleep nights and I couldn't keep awake days.

"Now, in these days, when things are kept going all the time, there are plenty of night occupations; if I had been born now I could have found plenty to do. But in those days things were slower; things used to stop at night, and people used to go to bed and begin again in the morning, and there was mighty little choice for a man in the way of night work. So I suppose it was natural enough for me to drift into the burgulary business.

"Well, I hadn't more'n fairly got settled down into it before my insomnia left me and I had the worst time you ever heard of to keep awake nights. I didn't dare to sit down anywhere for fear I'd go to sleep. I think very likely that in reality this was a good thing for me, for I had to keep right on the alert every minute, and keep moving, and I dare say that that kept me many a time from getting into trouble; but still it always seemed a kind of pity that I couldn't have got over the insomnia just a little earlier than I did. You see, then, I should have gone into some other business, and I should have liked it better, I know." —New York Sun.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Ssytematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

SOME COOL DRINKS FOR THE SUMMER.

TRY SOME OF THESE CONCOCTIONS AND THEN BE HAPPY.

How to Make Sherbet, Claret Cup, Punches, Fruit Lemonades, Eggnog, Sherry Cobblers and a Lot of Other Beverages.

When the mercury climbs up and keeps near 90 degrees in the shade, all manner of cold things in the way of meats and drinks are suggested, but the most acceptable seems to be something cool to drink, in fact the one is inseparable from the other, says the N. Y. Sun. It is important that care should be taken in what we eat and drink, and for our drinks one does not always want to visit the soda fountains or clubs, but would like something made at home.

Apollinaris lemonade is better by heating the sugar. Put one cup of sugar and a half pint of water over the fire to melt. Add the grated rind of one lemon. When the sugar comes to a boiling point strain, and when cool add the juice of three lemons. Turn into this just as it is to be served one quart of ice-cold apollinaris.

Strawberry sherbet is a refreshing summer drink. To one quart of fresh strawberries mashed fine add the juice of one lemon, one teaspoon of orange flower water, and three pints of water. Let it stand two hours at least. The strain through a fine sieve and add three quarters of a pound of suguar. Put in some cracked ice when ready to use.

To make eggnog, place in a large bowl the beaten yolks of four eggs and stir in four teaspoons of powdered sugar. Add half a pint of Jamaica rum and one quart of milk, beating thoroughly. Then add the beaten whites of four eggs, and put in a cold place. When you wish to serve add cracked ice.

Raspberry soda is made of the juice of one lemon, one teaspoon of sugar, and a large tablespoonful of raspberry syrup. Mix thoroughly with plenty of cracked ice, then add a bottle of plain soda or apollinaris and serve.

A mild Roman punch may be made as follows: Take three cups of strong lemonade, quite sweet, juice of two oranges, one glass of champagne, one glass of rum, the whites of two eggs beaten to a froth, and half a pound of powdered sugar. Mix well and have plenty of cracked ice.

The sherry cobbler is a delight. Cut several slices of pineapple in quarters, slice a lemon and an orange very thin; take a wide-mouthed pitcher that will hold three pints and place the fruit in the bottom with half a cup of powdered sugar and some cracked ice; let this stand a few minutes, then add two tumblers of water and stir until the sugar is dissolved; fill the pitcher nearly full of cracked ice, and add one tumbler of sherry, put a slice of each fruit in the glasses before pouring in the liquid.

A good summer drink may be made thus: Boil one pound of sugar in a quart of water ten minutes, squeeze in the juice of three lemons with a little of the grated peel, the and one good-sized pineapple, sliced and rubbed through a sieve. Just before serving pour in a bottle of apollinaris.

For egg lemonade, beat the whites and yolks of four eggs separately, dissolve one cup of sugar in one pint of boiling water, add the juice of four lemons, turn into about two pounds of finely cracked ice, and stir eggs together and add to other mixture, then stir briskly and serve.

A refreshing and delicious drink can be made by mixing two cups of sugar and one quart of water and heating to dissolve the sugar. While hot add a banana sliced, a grated pineapple and a cup of pitted cherries. When cool add one cup of lemon juice, one pint of berry juice, and ice water to suit your taste, or if you prefer, you can use apollinaris or plain soda.

A Frenchman says: "Punch is one grand contradiction—sugar to make sweet, lemon to make it sour, water to make it weak, brandy to make it strong, and this is the best punch made." In the punch bowl put the juice of three lemons and two oranges, one pound of sugar, and a coffee cup of strong black tea, two gills of brandy and two of rum, and a large piece of ice. Let it stand a half hour and add a quart of champagne.

An Englishman describes the following as "the best punch made": Take the juice of ten lemons and two oranges and dissolve in two pounds of powdered sugar. Let it stand an hour. Stir in gradually the whites of eight eggs beaten to a froth and freeze.

WHEN READY TO USE

have your punch bowl cold and turn into one pint of rum, half a pint of brandy, a cup of green tea and a pint of champagne, then add the frozen mixture and stir rapidly until all is dissolved.

The following comes from an up-town chef:

Champagne Cup—Squeeze the juice of one lemon in a pitcher that will hold five pints. Sweeten with one tablespoon of sugar, then add two ponies of red curacoa, one bottle of plain soda and two slices of cucumber rind, then pour in three pints of champagne, adding about a quarter of a pound of cracked ice. Then mix thoroughly with a spoon and ornament the punch with a few strawberries, some thin slices of pineapple, a finely sliced orange and a half bunch of fresh mint. Send it to the table with champagne glasses.

Champagne Punch—Have a punch bowl large enough to hold three quarts. Prepare a pot of oolong tea and set aside to cool. Pour in one pony of arrack into the bowl, two wine glasses of Rhine wine, one pony of brandy, one pony of maraschino, one bottle of plain soda, and one quart of champagne; then strain in the prepared tea. Mix thoroughly together with a ladle; then put in about a pound of ice. Peel a medium-sized banana, slice thin, and scatter over the punch; slice an orange and add.

A cooling drink is made of the white of one egg, the juice of one lemon, and two teaspoons of powdered sugar. Thoroughly beat it up with a spoon; pour four tablespoons of fresh milk and one and one-half ponies of Old Tom gin; add some finely cracked ice, and beat hard; add plain soda, seltzer or apollinaris; mix well.

Coming down Pigeon Lake, just near Sandy Point, an accident occurred to the machinery of the Columbian, Monday, that left it almost powerless on the water. The boat was coming to Chemong Station to take Young Woman's Christian Association excursion back to Sturgeon Point. She was steaming along at an ordinary rate, when the condenser of the engine refused to work owing to the breaking of a piston rod.

How the break occurred is a mystery; but the good-humoured Capt. McCamus made the best of it, and managed to reach the station by a slow action of one of the engines, about noon. By this time the disappointed excursionists had either gone back to town or went on as far as Bobcaygeon by the Maple Leaf. A few remained, however, at the Chemong station and were brought down to the Park here, where they spent their afternoon until train time. The Columbian now lies at Chemong Station, where she will remain some days until repairs are made.

There is a plentiful species of bass in this lake known as the silver variety. With their great mouths, differing from the familiar white bass, and resembling the gamy black bass in their fighting propensities. These river bass are lively when hooked. If you attempt to draw them in rapidly you have indeed set yourself a task. Not satisfied with their being hindered from running all over the lake with you, they open their large mouths and offer such resistance that a freshman would think this little four lb. bass was a 10 lb. lunge. A few days ago Jacob, a familiar Indian—better known as Sullivan's guide—brought in his morning's catch from the head of the lake numbering 28 of these silver beauties.

Several have remarked that the recent rain fell in greater quantities at the Park here than it did in town. We feel sure our thirsty grass on this elevation required it rather the more than to encourage the fish biting. For among the good catches made on the previous day Mr. John Mervin took pride in a 12 pounder.

If there is one person enjoys Chemong breezes more than another it is Mr. J. S. Knapman in his trim sailing craft Alma.

The little children have abundance of fun catching sunfish and perch during the evenings. Occasionally a bass takes hold and then there is general excitement among the youngesters.

Miss Mary Cogan, Lindsay, who has been for the past week the guest of Miss Lizzie O'Brien, Hyacinth Cottage, returned home Monday.

Miss E. Parker, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Henderson, Rosedale cottage.

Mrs. Wilber Daly is occupying Mr. Rackham's cottage.

Mrs. Young, Toronto, is visiting at Mr. Robt. Hamilton's cottage.

Messrs. R. Carton and S. Ray have opened out their cottages.

Mr. G. H. Giroux and Master Stanley are spending a few days here.

Mr. Henry Denne and family are at their beautiful summer home.

The first divine service of the season was held at the pavilion Sunday, by Mr. Parker, manager of the Ontario Bank, town. About fifty-five were present.

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

WALLACE UNDER FIRE

His Retention of Office an Act Unprecedented.

HIS RESIGNATION IS IN ORDER.

Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Mills and Mr McCarthy Point Out the Anomaly of a Minister Opposed to the Government's Policy Clinging to His Office and Salary.

Ottawa, July 19.—Clarke Wallace's determination to cling to his office and its emoluments, in spite of his disagreement with the Government's policy, brought him under fire in the House of Commons to-day. Sir Richard Cartwright took the matter up immediately upon the House opening. The Controller's position, he declared, was an unprecedented one. Within a few days the Government, in a formal manner, had made a formal declaration of policy upon the Manitoba school question. Moreover, they proposed to take unusual, almost unheard of, measures to give effect to that policy, if necessary. After committing themselves, and by gaining the consent of His Excellency, committing him also, they found themselves confronted with this situation—that a junior member of the Administration had arisen in his place in Parliament and condemned and repudiated that policy. This class of under-officials was new in his country, and the House had no experience from which to draw precedents or conduct under such circumstances. But he thought these officials were of a similar character to the Under-Secretaries in the English Parliament. This being so, he believed no English precedent to warrant the conduct of the Controller of Customs could be found. Upon a disagreement arising between an Under-Secretary and the Administration, one of two things happened: Either the Under-Secretary would hand in his resignation or the Premier, for the time being, would ask him for it. Honor, reason and common sense alike required a like course to be followed. Upon higher grounds, the good faith of the Government was at stake. One of the colleagues of the members of the Cabinet had left them because, he said, he did not believe that the Government's promised policy would be carried. It looked as if he had some grounds for his doubt. This was a crucial test of the Government's sincerity. If they retained the services of this junior official, who had publicly repudiated their policy, the House could not be expected, nor could the colleagues who lately left them be expected, to retain any confidence in their promises. If they should dispense with the services of the junior colleague, then, whether their policy should be considered wise or not, they would at least have given evidence of their sincerity. The English precedents all required that the Controller, after repudiating the Government's policy, should give in his resignation.

Sir Richard said he had not been in love with the methods of Sir John Macdonald, but he believed that under him 24 hours would not have passed after the Controller's speech without his being called upon to resign or to retract his words. The House and country had a right to know that the Government, for the preservation of its own self-respect, as well as to show the sincerity of its promises. To give the House and country an opportunity to consider this constitutional question he moved that the House adjourn.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper was the first of the Ministerialists to reply. He did not admit that the Controller had denounced or repudiated the policy of the Government. The position taken by the Controller could not fairly be described as denunciatory of the Government's policy, or as being a repudiation of it. If a Remedial Bill were proposed, the Controller would either have to support it or retire.

Hon. Mr. Mills pointed out that years ago in England there were those who maintained that there was no impropriety in a Government having a number of open questions, upon which its members might take different positions. If to-day a Government were to declare its policy on a public question, and a member of the Administration who was also a member of the Cabinet should combat that policy, there would be but one course open to him, and that would be to tender his resignation. He did not deny that the Controller might, according to the recognized usage in England, be at variance with the views expressed by the Government, postpone his resignation until the question came properly before Parliament, but that contention was controlled and limited by other considerations. It was not usual for a Government to come down to Parliament and announce a policy that it was not prepared to carry out immediately, nor was it usual for members of the Administration to come before Parliament and declare their hostility to the policy of the Administration. He was in exactly the same position as a member of the Administration who combatted a Government bill submitted to Parliament, and resisted its adoption.

A member of the Crown who was not a member of the Cabinet was not obliged to make known his dissenting opinions to anticipate the action of his colleagues, and so he might with propriety, as long as that difference between them remained unknown, continue to be a member of the Administration. In this case the Government had enunciated its views, and the Controller had combatted them, and, that being the case, his self-respect and that of his chief, the head of the Department of Trade and Commerce, made it necessary that his connection with the Government should come to an end. The position of the Controller was wholly inconsistent with the principle of united Ministerial responsibility.

Mr. Davin made an argument, the feature of which was that the Controller, not being a member of the Cabinet, is not consulted on questions of policy, and is, therefore, not responsible.

Mr. Casey said that this would be very pleasing information for the friends of the Controller, who imagined that he was a power within the Government, although he was not within the sacred precincts of the Cabinet itself. He asked if Mr. Ouimet and Sir Adolphe Caron had agreed to allow the Controller to oppose the Government's policy in order to secure the Orange support in Ontario, while they attended to their compatriots in Quebec.

Mr. Devlin went for the Controller without gloves for his statements in his 12th July speech referring to Bishop Gravel and the hierarchy of Quebec. The statement, Mr. Devlin said, came with a bad grace from the Controller, who, not content with insulting and vilifying the great living heads of the church in Canada, had also insulted its mighty dead in the person of Archbishop Tache, when he declared that he had been a party to a corrupt bargain with Premier Greenway. These charges against men so superior to himself, and who had done so much more for the country till became a member of the Administration.

Mr. Martin challenged Sir Hibbert Tupper's hope that a settlement of the school difficulty would be obtained from Manitoba which would do away with the necessity for the Canadian Parliament doing anything. It was clear beyond all argument that there was no hope for such a consummation. Manitoba had considered the matter fully and deliberately, and had given her answer to the Remedial Order. The Government of Manitoba would not be allowed by the people of the province to recede from the position they had taken. Mr. Martin went on to refer to his letter to The Ottawa Citizen, and repeated his opinion that Manitoba would be willing to make a compromise which would give to the minority the right of teaching their religion in their schools.

Mr. McCarthy, taking up the constitutional question raised by Sir Richard Cartwright, took the same view as that hon. gentleman of the position which the Controller occupies. He quoted Todd, who says that the office of Under-Secretaries is to "render active assistance in sustaining the policy of the Government." It was therefore, he thought, a scandal that had never before been allowed, that on a question which was a crucial one with the Government, and which required that public opinion should be educated up to it, that the junior member of the Administration should be free to stump the country and arouse the people against that policy.

Mr. Dickey came to the defence of the Controller. He said that a difference of opinion between the Controller and the other members of the Government as to the administration of his department, or a radical difference on a question of administration, would be fatal to his continuance in office. The Manitoba school question, though a part of the policy of the Government, was aside from its general policy. The Controller had not expressed hostility to the policy of the Government, but he had expressed himself as being against Separate Schools on principle. This, he held, was not a matter of vital importance, though he spoke with great reserve, not having considered the question.

This concluded the discussion, and the motion to adjourn was withdrawn.

EDITOR STEAD FINED $500.

Committed Contempt of Court in Calling Jabez Balfour a Rogue.

London, July 18.—In the Queen's Bench, Mr. Stead, editor of The Review of Reviews, was fined £100 and costs for contempt of court, on an application made on behalf of Mr. Jabez Balfour, who complained of an article published in The Review of Reviews, headed "Sir Roger and Jabez," and containing these words: "Another rare rogue, in the shape of Jabez Balfour, will reappear at the Old Bailey, and then we may expect to hear no more of him for some time."

The Thunderer on the School Question.

London, July 17.—The Times has an article on politics in Canada, in which it says: "It may be premature to forecast the breaking up of the Dominion as the ultimate result of a lamentable quarrel between the Roman Catholic minority in Manitoba and the Provincial Legislature.

"There can be no question that the effect of the dispute, will be far beyond the frontiers of Manitoba, and the already strongly-marked racial and religious differences that distinguish the population of the Dominion will be accentuated and strengthened by the dispute, unless it be handled in a spirit of broadest and enlightened statesmanship."

BOYS MURDER THEIR MOTHER.

Incredible Crime of Two Lads of 11 and 13 Years.

London, July 18.—A most horrible case of juvenile depravity and brutality came to light in Plaistow, an eastern suburb of London, this morning. Two boys named Combes, aged respectively 13 and 11 years, were brought before a magistrate upon the charge of having murdered their mother, and the accusation was substantiated by their own confession of the crime.

The boys killed their mother by stabbing her through the heart, ten days ago, since which time they have occupied the house alone with the woman's fast decomposing body. The husband of the murdered woman and father of the two boys is a ship's purser, and is absent from home on a sea voyage. The house was well furnished, and possessed all the requirements of a comfortable home.

After the boys committed their crime they pawned a number of valuables they found in the house, and proceeded to enjoy themselves by taking trips to various places on the river, and in the interim visiting cricket grounds and indulging in other forms of amusement. When they were arrested they were playing cards in the house containing the decomposed corpse of their mother, in company with a half-witted man, and apparently getting the highest degree of enjoyment from their pastime, despite the stench which pervaded the rooms.

The magistrate was astounded at the developments of the case and amazed at the cool demeanor of the boys. He declared that he could not believe the younger sane, and remanded them, pending their mental examinations. The minds of the boys seem to have been upset by reading novels which made heroes of cutthroats, robbers and the like. The crime has created a great sensation in London.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

The Liberals in the British elections are not only out, but are coming out decidedly second best in the general elections now going on. Unless the Liberals can throw up in the contests in the country a dyke to stem the Unionist tidal wave of success, it is probable that the Unionists will have in the new house a majority of 100 over both Liberals and the Irish party. The issues involved are semi-socialism and local option and the Liberals claim that the Unionists are being floated into office on beer. The element of reaction has also it seems an influence, a noteworthy feature being the defeat of prominent labour candidates. As regards the Irish elections, it appears that the Parnellites are largely increasing their vote throughout the Green Isle. Both of the Irish parties will of course be "agin the Government" as well as each other. The mode of conducting elections in Great Britain is dissimilar to the Canadian way and it may be of interest to Canadian readers to suggest something of the general modus operandi. On the day of the dissolution of Parliament, which in the present instance was the 8th inst., the writs are sent out from what is called "the hamper,"—that is the central authority, which is virtually the Speaker of the House—to the returning officers of the constituencies, these latter being municipal officials, not representing the Government in any sense whatever. Within not less than two days in towns or boroughs the returning officer must hold the nominations, and within six days in towns and boroughs and ten days in counties the polling must take place. Take for instance the city of Perth, which is reached by a fast express in eight hours from London. There the provost received the writs on Monday, the day of the dissolution, held the nominations Wednesday, and the polling on Saturday, and the result was declared on Saturday night. In the Orkney and Shetland islands the polls are open for two days, and everywhere else for one. According to the terms of the Electoral Reform bill, which the Liberals introduced last session, but which has not yet been passed, the nominations and polling will take place, as in Canada, on certain fixed days simultaneously in all the constituencies; the system of "one man one vote" will be adopted; and the election expenses, which at present amount to at least £250 for each candidate, will be defrayed wholly from the local and Government taxes. It will be seen that, under the present system, wealth has "the pull" over the popular champions in the Parliamentary race.

THE Toronto Mail and Empire, which has never shown any extravagant prepossession in favour of Ontario's Grand Old Man, has the following: "Whatever news has been received in Canada regarding the movements of Sir Oliver Mowat in Britian has shown incontestably that the veteran Premier has been accorded a gracious reception there, and has been generally recognized as one of Britannia's distinguished sons. In another column will be found an extract from a Scotch paper, showing that in the land of his fathers he has been given a warm welcome, and has been presented with the freedom of the Royal Burgh of Wick;" And the people of the old lond don't know Sir Oliver half as well as we do in Ontario and cannot therefore have so high an appreciation of his brilliant statesmanship that has been placed at the service of this province for the past quarter of a century.

CANALS, LOCKS AND BRIDGES.

The Three Departments in Which the Dominion Government Displays its Incapacity, Extravagance and Boodling Propensities.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

So far as scandals, boodling and public robbery are concerned, the present government might well be known in history as the "bridges, locks and canal ministry." The record against them in this respect is long, varied and touches almost every section of the country. There is Haggart's ditch, the Tay Canal, which as all know, cost the country some $800,000, and produces the magnificent yearly revenue of $126. Then there are the Montreal bridges. In this "clear case of steal" about $270,000 was taken from the public coffers. Then we have the Little Rapids lock. In this some $250,000 is filched from the taxpayers. Then the Sheik's Island dam, the modest sum of $125,000 illegally vanishes in connection with it. The story of the Welland canal is too complicated to discuss save at great length. Then we have the semi-wild cat scheme of the Trent Valley canal, of which "more anon," when "My Dear Onderdonk" comes to reckon with the government. And now the much vaunted Sault Ste. Marie canal is turning out to be another proof of how sometimes good men go wrong. And the Chignecto ship railway! Whew! It almost takes one's breath away to recall the Acts and Orders-in-Council by means of which it was proposed to make ducks and drakes with the people's money over this monstrous absurdity. Then there is the St. Mary's bridge, over which Minister Foster travels to find a seat in another county, and which has absorbed some $40[illegible]000 of the people's money. But time would fail to tell all that could be told of the doings of the government in these respects. But now there comes a wail from the Maritime Provinces concerning the St. Peter's canal. It appears that, to some extent at least, the remarkable doings at the Sault are being repeated in connection with this work. Bad work, bad material seems to have been the order of the day, and more than that it is charged that an inspector of masonry was appointed who discharged his duties so honestly and faithfully that he became obnoxious to the contractors, who, who through the influence of their friends at court had him removed and another appointed, who notoriously neglected his duty, for the cement was of a consistency little better than wetted sand, and there was nothing more than a pretence of puddling. The result of all this is that the walls leak so badly that it is next to impossible to pump out the locks. Patching and botching are the order of the day. It is needless to add that as usual in these cases, the leakage of public moneys owing to the abominable mismanagement and bungling exhibited, is likely to be as great as in the other notable cases of boodling indicated above. Repairs which were estimated at $22,000 have already mounted up to $50,000, and were bad begins, in the matter of Dominion governmental contractors, worse probably remains behind.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Death of a Respected Resident.

After a lingering and painful illness Mr. Lewis Kennettle, of this place, passed peacefully to his rest on Sunday evening July 7th, in the thirty-seventh year of his age. In the death of Mr. Kennettle a well known and highly esteemed resident has been removed from this community. Manfully and patiently he battled with a distressing disease of kidney trouble and more than once it seemed as if he might recover and enjoy again the days of returning health and strength. The most cherished hopes were, however, to experience a bitter disappointment, for deceased was never confined to his bed until a few hours before he died. Deceased was unmarried, but leaves behind to mourn his loss a mother, three sisters and two brothers, one of them residing in Manitoba. His remains were followed to the grave by over fifty vehicles.

The hay crop in this vicinity is almost a total failure, and if rain does not come soon to advance the grain crop, the farmers will have to slaughter some of their stock or dispose of them at probably ruinous prices.

A somewhat heavy frost visited this section last week, doing considerable damage in the low lying districts, but the uplands escaped uninjured.

Mr. Chas. McMahon, who had his barn burned last spring, is actively engaged in erecting a large frame barn on the same ground where the old one stood.

Mr. Samuel Lyle, who tore down an old dilapidated building to build greater, is completing a frame barn, 30x50, with a good stone stable underneath.

Mr. H. Byrne, who had a valuable horse at pasture a distance from home, alongside the railway track, had the misfortune to get it killed by the train. Apparently the fences along the track were down.

The pupils of school section No. 4, learn with regret that their teacher, Mr. W. J. Torpy, who went away to spend his vacation with his parents in Otonabee, is not going to return, as he has some other prospect in view. Mr. Torpy, who taught this school for over a year, was highly esteemed by both pupils and parents, and a general favourite among the young people, who wish him success in whatever his calling in life may be.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Shelburne, July 12.—At the cheese market here to-day 14 factories offered 2,630 boxes last half June and first half July colored cheese. About 1,000 boxes sold; prices ranged from 7⅞ to 7¾c. Bidding slow. Four buyers present. Next meeting of the board Friday, July 26th, at 2 p.m.

London, July 13.—Forty-two factories boarded 10,640 boxes June and 170 boxes July. Sales—839 at 8c and 510 at 8 1-16c; salesmen holding for higher prices.

Kingston, July 13.—At the cheese board to-day 34 factories offered 95 boxes white and 2,790 boxes colored. Sales—320 colored at 7 15-16c and 700 colored at 7⅞c.

Brockville, July 11.—About 2,600 boxes of cheese were boarded here to-day, of which 536 were white, balance coloured; market dull; 7⅞c. offered for both white and coloured. Only one lot of 160 accepted this figure.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practise the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 369 George street

Weak and Nervous

Whenever the body has been weakened by disease, it should be built up by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

BRITISH ELECTIONS.

Hon. John Morley Defeated in Newcastle.

THE UNIONISTS CONTINUE TO GAIN.

Campbell Bannerman Holds His Own, But Mr. Asquith's Defeat is Looked For—Unionists Think They Have Captured Gladstone's Stronghold, Midlothian.

London, July 18.—The polling thus far gives the following results: Conservatives, 256; Unionists, 47; Liberals, 75; anti-Parnellites, 36; Parnellites. The Conservative net gain now is 49. The Unionists have gained 16 seats and the Liberals 10.

The tide of Unionist success flows on with monotonous persistency. The result in Hythe, which was announced at about midnight, completed the long list of successes in the English boroughs, which are now all polled. Whatever prospective comfort the Liberals draw from the remaining English counties and Scottish and Welsh electorate must needs be chastened by the defeats and qualified by the successes heretofore recorded in those quarters. The popularity of Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman, lately Secretary of State for War, enabled him to retain the Stirlingburghs with an increased majority, but the Liberals have qualms regarding East Fifeshire, represented in the last Parliament by the Right Hon. Herbert Asquith, the Home Secretary, and Midlothian, Mr. Gladstone's old district, in both of which constituencies polling took place to-day. The result will not be known until midday to-morrow. The Unionists, who are cock-a-whoop, believe that they have wrested Mr. Gladstone's old seat from the Liberals and wiped out Mr. Asquith's majority of 294 given him in 1892. The worst blow that the Liberals received to-day was the announcement of the defeat of the Right Hon. John Morley, formerly Chief Secretary for Ireland. The party leaders had little, if any, hope that he would be returned, but under the present circumstances they are grasping at straws, knowing full well what a bad effect defeat of members of the late Government will have upon elections yet to be held. It is freely said that Mr. Morley will not seek re-election in any other district, but that he will retire from political life and devote himself to literature. But the same rumor was current respecting Sir William Harcourt, who is now actively campaigning in the West Division of Monmouthshire, after his defeat in Derby. The loss of Sir William, Mr. Morley and such members of the party would be a loss from which the Liberals would be a long time in recovering. The party will require old parliamentary hands to make their opposition in the next House felt, and the matter of fighting the Unionists cannot be left to green men. Should the party leaders be defeated in all the districts where they stand for re-election, it would not be at all surprising if some of the obscure, newly-elected members from safe Liberal constituencies should resign.

Cardiff, heretofore a Liberal stronghold, to-day rejected Sir E. J. Reed Liberal, an authority on naval shipbuilding, in favor of J. M. Maclean, Conservative, the owner of The Western Mail, a local daily newspaper. Sir E. J. Reed had represented Cardiff since 1880. There was a heavy falling off in the Liberal vote in parts of Liverpool, and in one district, the Exchange Division, the party lost a seat to a Liberal-Unionist. In the West Derby, West Toxteth and East Toxteth Divisions, the decline in the Liberal poel was particularly noticeable. The reduction of Mr. T. P. O'Connor's majority in the Scottish Division of Liverpool is ascribed chiefly to the lukewarmness of the priests, owing to Mr. O'Connor's attitude on the education question and the opposition of The Sun, his newspaper, to Cardinal Vaughan, in connection with the London School Board elections. The defeat of Sam Woods, the Liberal and Labor candidate, in the Ince Division of Lancashire, is noteworthy. Mr. Wood was the author of the amendment against the contracting-out clause of the Employers' Liability Bill, which the House of Commons carried, and which resulted in the House of Lords wrecking the measure. The Unionists contend that his defeat proves that the workingmen are not opposed to the clause, and that the action of the Tories was justified.

A majority of the remaining returns will be announced in the daytime. The figures following show the results of the latest elections:

GREATER THAN STEAM.

Successful Trial of the Big Electric Motor in Baltimore.

Baltimore, July 17.—The officials of the Belt Line Railroad are jubilant over yesterday's successful test of the giant electric motor. The result leads the authorities to believe that the days of the steam locomotive are numbered.

The electric motor left Camden station and entered the tunnel drawing 13,000 tons, in the shape of 23 cars and two banked engines, and the trip was made in 5 minutes, or at the rate of 17 miles an hour. It required two steam locomotives to draw the same train afterwards. A public trial is contemplated in the near future.

STAMBULOFF IS DEAD.

Bulgaria's Ex-Premier Dies From the Assassin's Wounds.

Sofia, July 18.—Ex-Premier Stambuloff, who was attacked in the street on Monday, died at 3.30 o'clock this morning from the terrible wounds he received at the hands of his assailants. He was 40 years of age.

He had earned for himself the title of the "Bismarck of Bulgaria," and his last words were, "God protect Bulgaria." His death has intensified the bitter feeling that exists between his partisans and the supporters of the present Government, and it has been freely charged that Prince Ferdinand and his Ministers were directly responsible for his assassination.

M. Petkoff, M. Stambuloff's personal friend and editor of his newspaper organ, The Svoboda, who was with him at the time he was set upon by the assassins, and who was himself wounded, has been sitting beside the body ever since death occurred. He refuses to leave the dining-room of the Stambuloff residence, where the remains are now lying. His wounds are in the head. The funeral of M. Stambuloff has been fixed for Saturday afternoon. Rumors are current that the poignards used by the assassins had poison on their blades, but these reports are not generally believed.

Prince Ferdinand a Coward

London, July 18.—The Pall Mall Gazette, in an article on the assassination of ex-Premier Stambuloff of Bulgaria, says: Prince Ferdinand, in sitting still in Carlsbad, without a pretence of bringing his instruments to justice, while at the same time he sends his chamberlain to express his hypocritical sympathy with Madame Stambuloff, proves himself a coward.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT.

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is the same folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

Street Railway Extension.

When the matter of street railway extension under the condition of the franchise, was brought up in the council, Mr. Calcutt said that he had been informed by the president that the work of extension would go on this season. This is a wise decision, as the work will never be done cheaper than it can be done now.

Supreme Ranger Flagged.

Yesterday afternoon when the delegates to the Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters, which is to be held in England, went on board the Chippewa to make the first stage of their long journey, Captain McGiffen, in a neat and appropriate speech, presented Dr. Oronhyatekha, the Supreme Chief Ranger, with a flag. The doctor made an appropriate acknowledgement of the presentation. Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Meldrum sailed on the steamer, Mr. Meldrum being one of the delegates to the Supreme Court.

"See the Point?"

Court Stanley, No. 7860, A.O.F., will hold their annual excursion this year to Sturgeon Point via G.T.R. and steamer Columbian, on the Civic Holiday, Thursday, August 15th. The active members of this pushing Court have the reputation for running a good excursion, and do not mean to be behind hand this year. An efficient committee has been appointed, who will do their level best to provide every comfort for their party and bushels of fun as well. Sturgeon Point is the "point" you want to see. "See the point?"

THE ANCIENT FORESTERS' DEMONSTRATION.

Shall it be Held Here on August Nineteenth?

As will be observed by the report of the council last night, the application of Court Stanley A.O.F., for a grant to assist in entertaining visiting Foresters at a grand demonstration to be held on Aug. 19th, was flatly refused, and in consequence of this a committee of citizens have taken the matter in hand and are endeavouring to raise a sum by private contribution to assist the Foresters in extending the hospitality of Peterborough to their visiting brethren. The committee will meet the deputation from Court Stanley this evening and report the result of their success. If they succeed in raising the sum of $100 the demonstration will go on, if not, the matter will fall through. It appears that Court Cosmopolitan, A. O. F., Toronto, contemplate, in co-operation with the sixteen other lodges in Toronto, and the Foresters of seven other towns in the district, holding a grand demonstration on August 19th. Peterborough is proposed as the place, and the local Foresters of the A.O.F. order are energetically co-operating with them. When it is remembered that Court Cosmopolitan has 400 member, and that there are sixteen other lodges in the city, that there are numerous lodges in the other seven towns intending to participate and that every member has a certain number friends outside their families who will join them, it is apparent that there will be a very large gathering in Peterborough on August 19th, if arrangements can be made to have the demonstration here. The events in connection with it, the sports and games, etc., will be held in Riverside Park. The band of the Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, will accompany the visitors and give a grand promenade concert in the evening. It is to be hoped that the citizens who are helping the Foresters will meet with a liberal response to their appeal for funds, so that the town may get the benefit of the presence of several thousand visitors in town on Aug. 19th. Peterborough could and should be popularized as an objective point for excursions. The town is easy of access and there is no town or city in Canada that has a finer or more closely connected and conveniently situated system of parks than Peterborough. And the sooner street railway extension as contemplated unites these parks, which could be done by a belt line by Smith street, and through Ashburnham by way of the locks bridge, the better. Our public-spirited citizens should unite to take action. Apparently little can be expected from the present council.

A VOLUNTEER UP IN THE POLICE COURT.

One of the Rangers Absents Himself From Drill Without Permission.

A test case was tried in the police court this morning and as the result Private Alex. Redding, of Captain Schofield's Company, in the 57th Battalion, was fined $5.00 for absenting himself from drill without permission.

Private Redding was an enrolled volunteer, but did not wish to go to Picton on the annual outing of the Battalion.

He saw Captain Schofield relative to the matter and asked leave to remain in Peterborough, giving as his reason, that he expected friends from a distance to be in town. His captain stated to him that this was not sufficient cause for him to absent himself from the drill and Redding then interviewed Col. Bell with the same result.

He decided, apparently, to risk the consequences, and was not present at the muster in the armoury on the evening of July 29th, when the troops embarked for Picton.

This morning he appeared in court in answer to a summons, and plead guilty to the charge of absenting himself without permission. Col. Bell explained that this was merely a case which the officers had brought into court in order to show the men that after signing the roll they could not do as they pleased. He asked the court to deal as lightly with Redding as possible. In consequence of the Colonel's appeal no costs were imposed in the case.

It measures 41 inches around the body, 22 around the neck, 12½ around the hind leg and 11½ around the front leg just above the knee. The length of the calf from tip to tip is 71 inches.

THE ILLUMINATED CANOE PARADE ON LITTLE LAKE.

It Was Indeed a Pretty Spectacle—Otonabees Deserving of Great Praise for the Management.

It is many years since an illuminated parade was held under the auspices of the canoe club, but the members have evidently not forgotten the knack of decorating their canoes for an occasion of this kind.

One mistake was made and the rectifying of it will make the next parade even a greater success than that of last night. The error consisted in the decorating of many of the canoes in such a manner that whilst they looked pretty enough to win first prize when moved alongside the wharf, yet when out on the water the fancy Chinese and Japanese lanterns in many instances covered each other in such a manner as to display only one string of lanterns, instead of two, as the wires supporting the illuminations generally ran in parallel lines the LENGTH OF THE CANOE.

At the next parade, however, experience will have taught the decorators how to obviate the difficulty. It might be suggested that pocket storage batteries could be employed to produce very pretty and unique effects.

As it was, however, the parade was a thing of beauty, indeed, and as the long line of canoes followed each other in single file around the lake, the many spectators gathered along the shores were greatly delighted. Lanterns of course were the only things which would show up well, and there were lanterns exhibited of every kind imaginable. About twenty-five canoes were in line and in their serpentine wanderings an opportunity was given all the spectators to minutely examine the pretty and unique manner in which the boats were ornamented.

Mr. R. M. Roy was the judge as to which presented the most attractive appearance and awarded the first prize to Mr. Chas. McClelland.

IF ANY V. H. C.

certificates had been given out Mr. Orville Shortley would certainly have been entitled to one as he spared no pains to beautify his craft which was most brilliantly illuminated. Mr. William Thompson, Mr. Fred Dixon, Mr. Walter Squires, Mr. Felix Brownscombe and Mr. Jas. Connal also had their craft handsomely decorated for the occasion as had Mr. Ernie Rutherford.

The North Star, Rob Roy and Libellula took out large numbers on the lake to witness the parade, but Burnham's Point appeared to be the spot from where the best view could be obtained, and hundreds strolled out from town to enjoy the novel sight. Quite a few were on the Ashburuham wharf, and many more took up their position along the cemetery shores. Of course every available canoe and skiff was out on the lake, and for the coolness and skill of those taking part that no accident took place.

Mr. H. O. Fisk placed the Libellula at the disposal of the canoeists, as did Mr. Roy his steam yacht, and for over an hour the long string of canoes were towed around the lake.

Roman candles and sky rockets, which were sent off from the Rob Roy and several of the canoes, contributed to make a scene of rare beauty, and fired the spirit of those witnessing it to such an extent as to guarantee the next parade to be even a greater success.

On Thursday evening next a number of races will be held on the lake under the auspices of the Otonabee Canoe Club, and already quite a number of entries have been received. The events will consist of a quartette, double and single canoe race, as well as an obstacle and an up-set race, and in all probability an illuminated parade will be held afterwards. One drawback was the absence of music, and if it could be arranged that the Fire Brigade could give one of its weekly concerts at the Point, at one of the parades, the success of it would be delightfully enhanced.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Rev. C. B. Kenrick's Port Hope Parishioners Heartily Congratulate and Gracefully Welcome Him.

On the occasion of a picnic of the congregation of St. Mark's parish, Port Hope, held yesterday, Rev. C. B. Kenrick, the incumbent, was presented with the following address :

The Rev. C. B. Kenrick, M.A., Incumbent St. Mark's Parish, Port Hope.

REV. AND DEAR SIR,—This occasion being the first opportunity offered since your induction, your parishioners desire to express their congratulations to you on your appointment, and their sense of deep satisfaction at your coming amongst them. The work you have done in your last office, and the warm esteem and appreciation in which you were held in Peterborough, are abundant evidence of your high and honourable character and Christian zeal, and it is a source of very great joy to your people here that the Lord Bishop of the Diocese was pleased to send you amongst them.

Coming to Port Hope, as you did, almost an entire stranger, your activity, energy and consistent deportment have already won for you a high place in the esteem and love of the parish, and one and all are only anxious that you may be prosperous in the work you have undertaken and may never have cause to regret your coming to St. Mark's. To this end they pledge you their loving support in every good work that you may deem desirous in the interests of the parish and that you may long be spared to go in and out amongst them is the prayer of every member of the congregation. We remain reverend and dear sir on behalf of the congregation,

Yours very sincerely,

W. F. SMITH, }

The numerous friends of Rev. Mr. Kenrick in town, while they are very much pleased that he is receiving such cordial appreciation in his new field of labour, are not at all surprised at the circumstance ; for they know that he is deserving of all the approving sentiments his Port Hope parishioners have expressed. It was inevitable that Mr. Kenrick should be heartily appreciated and it is safe to predict that the experience of Peterborough will be repeated, and that the longer they know him the better they will like him, and the more they will "esteem him very highly in love for his work's sake."

PRESENTATION TO FATHER COLLINS.

The Local Members of Court St. Peter, Catholic Order of Foresters, Express Their Regret at the Coming Separation.

At a largely attended meeting of St. Peter's Court, No. 225, Catholic Order of Foresters, last evening, in their hall on Hunter street, Rev. Father Collins, the Chaplain of the Court, who is about to be moved to a the parish of Brighton, was presented with the following address accompanied by a piece of gold :

Rev. Father Collins :

REV. AND DEAR FATHER,—Having heard it officially announced that His Lordship has promoted you to preside over an important parish in this diocese, we the members of St. Peter's Court No. 225, C.O.F., desire to extend to you our most heartfelt congratulations on the well deserved promotion : and, although we deeply regret your departure from our midst, still we cannot but rejoice that your unassuming, kindly manner, earnestness, charity and zeal in fulfilling the duties of a priest of God's Holy Church has won the esteem of all, both young and old, as well as the approbation of our beloved Bishop.

During the time that you have acted as our worthy chaplain, you have given us many proofs of your unflagging zeal and disinterested ebergy in furthering the noble and beneficial aims of our Order. By example as well as precept you have taught us that it is not inconsistent with the highest ideals of manhood to be ever ready to succor needy and distressed. We take pleasure in testifying that you have, by your readiness at every call of duty—no matter at what self-sacrifice—and by the energy and willingness with which you always assisted us in everything relating to our spiritual and temporal welfare, won our deepest love and gratitude. In bidding you farewell we bespeak a warm place in your affections and hope we may prove ourselves worthy of your continued confidence and esteem.

The accompanying purse we kindly beg you to accept as a trifling testimonial of our sincere regards and filial devotion.

Signed on behalf of St. Peter's Court.
Peterborough, July 18th, 1895.

In his reply Rev. Father Collins stated that he was very much flattered, as well as greatly surprised by the munificent gift of the court and by the expressions of regret, which he felt were sincere, concerning the separation which was so soon to take place. He took pleasure in congratulating the members of the court on their attention to their religious duties as well as to the calls of the fraternity of which he had the honour of being the local chaplain. Though many miles would soon lie between him and his brethren in Forestry, still he assured them that his heart would always be with Court St. Peter, and it would always be with interest that he would receive news of its advancement and growth in membership. He concluded by again thanking them for their kindly rememberance.

Short speeches were made by Brothers A. G. Gough, John O'Brien and James Bogue, in which the general regret of the members of the court was expressed at losing their much-loved chaplain.

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

It was Carried too Far, Though, and Proved Rather Expensive.

James Hayes got into a scrape, yesterday afternoon, through his tendency to indulge in practical jokes.

Patrick Kane purchased a pair of chickens, and on his way home with them dropped into Sandy O'Brien's for a chat, and laid the chickens, tied by the leg, down by his side. James Hayes espied them, and when Kane was not looking quietly picked them up and stepped out of the back door with them. Just as he disappeared Kane noticed his loss, and running out into the street informed Constable McGinty of the circumstance.

Hayes was easily traced to Halpin's stable, where he met the constable at the door, and gave up the chickens without being asked, explaining that they were merely taken in a joke. The joke had been carried too far though, and Hayes was placed under arrest.

This morning he explained the matter to Magistrate Dumble who, under the circumstances, allowed him to go on payment of the costs—$3.50, explaining that the country could hardly be expected to stand the expense of such jokes.

2. Your committee recommend that the Bell Telephone Co. be paid for the telephone in the street inspector's residence up to date, and be instructed to discontinue it.

3. We recommend that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be instructed to make a new arrangement with the Light & Power Co., for the incandescent lights in the town buildings.

4. The Street and Bridge Committee, to which the matter of the claim of Mrs. Chrysler was referred, having settled the matter for $75, your committee issued a cheque to the solicitor for that amount to settle the claim.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

THOS. CAHILL,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE GRANT TO ROSA'S BRIDGE.

Mr. Cahill also presented the report of the Committee of the Whole Council recommending that a grant of $750 be made towards the erection of a bridge at Rosa's, over the Otonabee, between South Monaghan and Otonabee townships.

The report was adopted.

WATER FOR ASHBURNHAM.

Mr. Belcher was heard in reference to getting permission from the town to carry a 2-inch water pipe across the Hunter street bridge, for the purpose of connecting with a stand pipe on the Ashburnham side of the river.

THE CASE OF MARTIN CONNORS.

Mr. Dawson moved that the Clerk be instructed to write to the Police Magistrate in reference to the application of Martin Connors in regard to the charge against him respecting defective hotel accommodation, requesting the former to further adjourn the case till the council should consider the question.

Mr. Stone advised the Council to move cautiously and not interfere with the administration of justice. They had interfered in this direction enough already.

Mr. Cahill introduced a by-law to amend clause three of By-law 703, so as to permit hotels to have stable accommodation within reasonable distance of an hotel. The by-law was given a first reading, and there the matter rests.

MOTIONS.

Mr. Mills called attention to the fact that the 500 feet of hose recommended by the Fire, Water and Light Committee, had not yet been purchased, and he moved, seconded by Mr. Phelan, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be instructed to procure 500 feet of Baker Fabric hose at a price not to exceed 90 cents per foot with the usual cash discount.

GRANOLIPHIC PAVEMENTS.

Mr. Mills moved, seconded by Mr. Phelan, that the Street and Bridge Committee meet the property owners on George street between Brock and Charlotte streets with reference to constructing uniform and permanent sidewalks on both sides of the street.

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSION.

Mr. Dawson inquired if this was not the year for the Street Railway Company to comply with the conditions of the franchise in reference to extension of their line and the clerk was instructed to write the Street Railway requesting them to comply with the agreement.

Mr. Cahill spoke of the gratification the council had at seeing Councillor Dawson with them again after his accident.

Council adjourned.

THE WHEEL.

Each day adds some new virtues to the long list of those already credited to the pneumatic. The latest of these is that the wheels of a bicycle being encircled by a band of India rubber and dry air—which is a perfect insulator—the rider is completely insulated from the earth, and consequently is impervious to the attacks of the electric fluid. Thus day by day it becomes more and more a fact that life without a bicycle is neither safe nor worth living.

A great number of wheelmen intend riding out to Burleigh to spend Sunday. Arrangement should be made so that a large party can go together, instead of riding out in twos and threes.

The bicycle is established among the conveniences of civilization. It is as much a necessity to modern comfort as the steam engine, the electric telegraph, the telephone and the trolley car and promises to become of an even more general usefulness than any of them. Men and women still form bicycle clubs and look upon the bicycle as a source of amusement pure and simple. Other men and women—and their number is rapidly assuming the proportions of a majority—have begun to count the bicycle one of the first necessities of their working existence. The bicyclist knows the worth of his machine and the whole world is beginning to recognize it. In a word, this excellent engine has come to stay.

It must be plain, then, to bicyclists and general public alike that a definition of the right of wheelmen on the streets and highways is necessary. The law is settling the matter in all parts of the world. By such processes, there will be evolved a universal code, to be observed of wheelmen and incoporated in the ancient laws of the road. Not every bicyclist is a "scorcher," but some are. And decent bicyclists and the general public need protection against the rider whose recklessness is a menace to the safety of life and limb among pedestrians. Not every pedestrian is an anti-bicycle crank, but some are, and there are many drivers of horses whose special delight is the maiming of harmless wheelmen. Against the anti-bicycle crank and the vindictive or careless handler of horses, the bicylist needs protection, and he has an indisputable right to it.

There is in process of evolution in Toronto a measure which is the first of a series leading to the definition of a bicyclist's rights. The bylaw in question is framed for the purpose of protecting the general public from injury at the hands, or the wheels of reckless bicyclists. There is no reason why it should not be so enlarged as to remedy certain of the palpable grievances suffered by bicyclists themselves.

The bylaw provides that every bicyclist shall carry a bell, "which he shall ring whenever there is any chance of his running down any pedestrian." It provides also that he shall carry a lantern at night. With these provisions it is not probable that serious fault will be found. The provisions as to the speed at which a bicycle shall move, however, are more open to question. To limit to six miles an hour the rate at which bicyclists shall travel within the city would be to rob the bicycle of the chief use to which it is put by hundreds of men who live in the outskirts. To reduce to a horse walk the rate of the bicyclist at street corners might be held, for a like reason, to be a questionable piece of legislation.

These are matters on which duly appointed representatives of the wheelmen might well be heard before the measure passes into law. It is not probable that such representatives would advise legislation which would be hurtful to the interests of the people at large. There is so very much to be said from all standpoints that the aldermen should take all possible measures to make their first piece of bicycling legislation the best in existence.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.

Mr. Charles Eastwood, of Whitby, Severs an Artery in His Arm.

On Wednesday, Mr. Chas. Eastwood, who with a large party of friends are camped at "Forest Nook, Stony Lake, met with a severe accident while walking up the rocks to the house from his canoe.

He had just returned from the Juniper Island store, and slipped and fell on the bottles he was carrying, breaking his right arm and severing one of the arteries, from which he lost a considerable quantity of blood before the bleeding could be stopped.

On Thursday morning he returned to his home in Whitby.

Whitby Camp is one of the most popular on the lake, and this accident is much regretted by all. Too much care cannot be exercised while moving about on the rocky islands.

It is a solid, but light, pretty contrivance, fed with gas instead of coal or wood, and is especially invented for ladies who want to do their cooking comfortably in summer time in a cool kitchen. Canadian Saratoga.

Saratoga Lake, July 17.—Scarcely a breath of air stirred the surface of the water, and most of the oarsmen who are to take part in the regatta were out during the afternoon for a practice spin. The morning opened cloudy, but at 11 o'clock the sun began to break through, and the prospect of a pleasant day for spectators, as well as a good one for the contestants, improved.

The judges' launch took its position at the starting line at 2.55 p.m. The first event was started promptly at 3 o'clock. It was the first heat of the senior singles. The starters were Fred Hawkins of the Harlem Club and J. A. Rumohr of the Torontos. Both rowed on even terms to the half mile, Hawkins led by a length at the turn, Rumohr gained after the turn and crossed into Hawkins' water, leading him by two lengths at the mile. Rumohr won in 10.12.

The second heat, senior singles, was started at 3.17 p.m. The starters were J. J. Whitehead, Columbia Rowing Club, Boston; R. McKay, Argonaut Club, Toronto; Fred Cresser, Vespers, Philadelphia, and J. L. Hackett, Rat Portage Club. Hackett of Rat Portage won the second heat of senior singles; Cresser was second, Whitehead third, McKay fourth. Time 10.04 1-2.

Joe Wright and P. J. Mulqueen of the Torontos won the pair-oared shell race, defeating Ingram and Dix of the Pennsylvania Barge Club. Time 9.46.

W. S. McDowell of the Delaware Club, Chicago, won the third heat, after a hard race, Johnston of Burrard Inlet Club, Vancouver, and now connected with the Argonaut Club of Toronto, pushing him hard at the finish. Time 9.54 1-2.

Yesterday's British Elections.

London, July 17.—The latest returns show the election of 239 Conservatives, 42 Unionists, 83 Liberals, 23 anti-Parnellites and 6 Parnellites. The total gains thus far are: Conservatives, 40; Unionists, 14, and Liberal, 10, making the net Unionist gain, 44 seats. The story of the polls to-day was much the same as on previous days. The returns announced to-day show that the Unionists continue to gain seats, increase their former majority, and, where they were unable to oust Liberals, to materially reduce the latter's figures.

Sir William Harcourt yesterday addressed a letter to W. S. McLaren, Radical member of Parliament for the Crewe Division of Cheshire, in which he wrote: "If we were doing well I should be glad of a holiday, but in this storm I must stick to the ship, and am off for another fight."

Sir William Harcourt was greatly cheered as he made his appearance to speak at Tredegar, and was frequently interrupted by applause. In the course of his remarks he re-asserted that temperance would be the chief plank in his platform. He declared himself a staunch adherent of the "Grand Old Man," but it was noticed that he did not allude in any way to Lord Rosebery as the Liberal leader.

The Chronicle says: "We are not quite sure whether we share the enthusiasm over the re-appearance of Sir William Harcourt after his defeat, and would have counselled his temporary cultivation of the fireside. He declined to meddle with the agitation against the House of Lords, and took up the local veto instead. Is his renewed leadership to be the pledge of a veto-ist policy pure and simple?"

Harry Marks, the Unionist candidate in the St. George's Division of the Lower Hamlets, while addressing an outdoor meeting last evening, was struck in the eye with a stone hurled by some unknown person. Marks fainted from the pain he suffered and had to be removed. There is a strong feeling against Marks, growing out of his recent cowardly attack in his newspaper upon his opponent, Mr. Benn, whose insane brother murdered his father. This matter was raked up by Marks, who attempted to use it against Benn, but instead of accomplishing his object he had been making Benn votes at a rapd rate.

BEER FROM BANANAS.

How African Natives Make This Spirituous Beverage.

To the natives of Africa of the present time beer prepared from malt and hops is unknown. Yet there exists no lack of intoxicating beverages among the sons of the Dark Continent. They are not required to wait for the fire-water of the Europeans to be sent to them. They understand how to prepare spirituous beverages of their own, and they also become intoxicated by them. The Africans make wine and beer, but neither grape juice is used for the former nor malt extract for the latter. Palm leaves of different kinds, bananas and millet furnish the raw materials.

Palm wine is made from the sap oozing from the cut-off blossom stems of the oily palm tree and of the cocoa tree. It is a pleasant, refreshing beverage, and sufficiently known. From the fruit of the banana tree a beverage is made in Africa which they drink there as wine or beer.

Banana beer is chiefly used by the natives of Uganda, a country bordering on Lake Victoria. The people there are fond of such beer, and when Emin Pasha went to Rubaga to meet King Mtesa he wrote in his diary: "This is a real beer trip; from village to village, or, rather, from beer-pot to beer-pot, we are marching on.'

In that country the manufacture of the banana beverage is very extensive. Dr. Felkin, an English physician, who formerly lived there, describes the different kinds of the banana beverage. He makes a distinction between banana beer and banana wine.

According to his description "mubisi," a cooling banana wine, is manufactured in the following manner: A big hole is dug in the ground, lined with bananas, and kept covered by mats and earth until the fruit has become completely ripe. Then the bananas are slit, mixed with fine hay, and placed into a large, boat-like, wooden trough, which at one end has an emptying pipe.

After the addition of some water the whole is thoroughly mixed by the hand or by short wooden sticks. Thereupon the trough is covered with banana leaves and the mixture is left standing for about one or two hours. After the expiration of that time it is taken out, and through glass sieves poured into large calabashes. It is then ready for use, and represents a sweet, agreeable and not intoxicating beverage. But if the mubisi is left standing for three days it undergoes a fermentation, and becomes a slightly acid, refreshing beverage, which is strongly intoxicating.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Ssytematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

"SUN" LIFE
Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

Free from Eruptions

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

CHARACTER IN THE FACE.

The Jaw and Eyelids as an Index of Mental Equipment.

The celebrated physiognomist, Dr. Louis Robinson, lays down in Blackwood's some common principles for the explanation not only of character and temperament, but also of profession or occupation, but the index of the features. It seems that the process of nutrition transfers the impress of the mind to the face; that is to say, a man in good health, who lives well, and has a sound stomach, is likely to exhibit his emotional or professional bias so that he who runs may read. The musician, for instance, is "baggy" under the eyes, and the priest, for some unknown reason, is abnormally nourished over the cheek bones and under the jaw. Dr. Robinson omits all women from the operation of his theory. He says that women exhibit but few conspicuous traces of emotional influence upon facial nutrition as compared with men of mature age, whereupon the speaker remarks:

"Now we know why the wicked lady in novels usually looks angelic, and gazes at a confiding man with a blue eye which seems to him like a celestial messenger. The villian always carries proofs of guilt in his jaw or his eyelids; but the adventuress cannot be distinguished facially from the image of innocence. This phenomenon does not become more intelligible in the light of Dr. Robinson's science. Why should not 'Special emotional stimuli' cause a 'deviation in the features of lovely woman? Why does the machinery of nutrition throw up the brush, so to speak, and refuse to adorn the daughters of Eve with the warning signals which are visible on the features of man? How many a pang would be spared our unsuspecting breasts, could we but see the real Blanche Armory on the canvas, as it were, and discern the schemes of the artful Beatrix hung on the line! Woman ought to be the crowning exemplification of our physiognomist's system of pictorial betrayal; and yet she baffles him so completely that he escapes from the problem under a cloud of words."

But it seems that this is not the most serious defect of Dr. Robinson's general principles. Accident, he admits, may make the just man look like a scoundrel; "for," says he, "the molecular impulses welling forth from a distended emotional centre may chance to flow along channels usually occupied by less innocent currents, and may produce an impression nearly identical with that which accompanies some form of vice."

"You may be as honest as the day; you may be the joy of all who really know you; and yet you are fated to carry the stamp of infamy merely because the 'molecular impulses' have a sense of ironical humor! In such a case it will be seen that, in spite of outward appearances, not only is there no guilt, but there may be also a complete absence of evil inclination.' In this airy way Dr. Robinson dismisses a mystery which is of vastly more importance to the community than his speculations about the cause of the village blacksmith's frown, and the influence of malt liquor on the brewer's drayman.....Does this facetious physiognomist plunge us into despair merely for his own amusement? In our opinion, every man of blameless character and evil countenance ought to call on Dr. Robinson, and put him to the question.

Let our friends with the hand-dog look and the heart of gold, with the open purse and the glance of avarice, with the gentle tongue and the forbidding scowl, wait on the oracle in a body, and demand why their machinery of nutrition, which is in admirable working order, produces such facial wagaries. Is it destiny or diet? Shall they become vegetarians, or submit to the unmerited torture of an inexorable caprice?"—Literary Digest.

ELECTRIC THIEF CATCHER.

Two Wires Baited With a Tempting Purse.

On the fifth floor of a large manufactory on the West Side of Chicago is a department employing a number of girls, who have been complaining for several months of thefts committed in their dressing room on the sixth floor while they were at work. Silk handkerchiefs, veils and money disappeared from time to time with increasing frequency, until the management began to realize that it was time steps were taken to detect the thief. As the dressing room was kept locked, the key being accessible only to those employed in the department where the losses were reported, it was decided that one of the girls using the room was rifling the pockets of the others.

Accordingly, a trustworthy girl was taken into the confidence of the management, a double wire was sewed in the lining of her cloak, connecting a spring jaw in the pocket with the two hooks on which the cloak hung. The jaws were placed in contact with one of the wires and insulated from each other by a small tongue of leather placed between them while forced apart, and this tongue was sewed to the bottom of a purse. Each of the two hooks (which were of brass) supporting the garment was held in place by a long brass screw which went through the partition and connected with a wire on the outside of the dressing room. Here the wires were carried along under a moulding, through the floor, to a single cell battery, and a bell, placed in series, were hidden in the room where the girls were at work, 50 feet away. A switch was placed in a convenient position, which broke the circuit, until the other arrangement were completed. After closing the switch the only opening in the circuit was at the spring jaws, which would be brought together by removing the purse and insulating tongue. The trap had been set but three hours when the bell rang, and the owner of the cloak hurried to the room, where the garments were kept and there found the guilty girl; and upon this evidence the girl was immediately accused and discharged, after she had admitted her guilt.—Western Electrician.

Lost Art of Letter Writing.

Everyone knows, of course, that the actual number of letters passing through the mails of every civilised country is greater, rather than less, year by year. But everyone also feels that these letters are no longer letters in the true sense at all. They are amplified telegrams, bald and bare statements of fact; and they have the loose and disjointed and careless phraseology of the telegraphic message. That sense of the fit expression, the graceful concept, that feeling for the lucid and connected exposition of ideas, for its composition, in sort—the very term is pre-Adamite to the end-of-the-century ear—that used to preoccupy the best letter writers of another generation, have gone from the present day scribblers of hasty notes, as though such musty things had never been. The only people who "compose" their letters now are cultivated old ladies. Their collegebred granddaughters, intellectually armed and professionally equipped, exhibit productions in that line of which, for the most part, it might be said, as Henry James remarked of the notes of invitation of the London society women, that they have nothing in common with the epistolary art but the postage stamp.

It may be held that such an accomplishment is not, after all, of the greatest value. But behind it, there is an instinct, deep-seated in the race, that a widespread habit of careless writing effects very directly the thinking of a people. And this one canont but believe to be the case. It takes no intellect to put plain facts into honest, self-respecting phrases. But it takes self-restraint and attentiveness and these lead in time to a disciplined and coherent way of looking at life.—Scribner.

The Bicycle Era.

As an evidence of the grip which the bicycle has on this community—if any evidence were necessary—a gentleman in Englewood tells this: "I had arranged to have a new walk laid in front of my house, and it was necessary to do some other work in connection therewith. The morning the work was to commence the contractor arrived—on his wheel. A few moments later the plumber came—on a wheel. Then the carpenter arrived—on a wheel. And next the forman of the gang—on a wheel. And then I left—on a wheel."—Chicago Tribune.

The Butterfly Bow.

One of the distinguished features of the butterfly bows that are to trim so many of this summer's gowns is that they will be all loops and no ends. This fact will add greatly to their wearing qualities.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

ANNUAL COMMUNICATION OF THE GRAND LODGE.

A Large Number of Delegates Present—Welcomed by the Mayor—Able Address by the Grand Master—Election of Officers

The fortieth annual communication of the Grand Lodge A.F. and A.M. of Canada opened Wednesday morning in Massey Hall, Toront. The Credential Committee, consisting of Messrs. W. Roaf, (chairman) R. B. Hungerford and W. Rea, were busy all day receiving the various delegates, of whom over 600 registered. The Grand Master, Mr. W. R. White, Q.C., of Pembroke, presided, assisted by Mr. W. Gibson M.P., Deputy Grand Master, and the District Deputy Grand Masters, who are as follows: Messrs. Ernest S. Wigle, Windsor; W. J. Ward, Brighton; A. E. Cooper (acting), London; R. H. Collins, Exeter; Thomas Wilson, M. D., Tara; W. F. Miles, Burford; R. R. Hopkins, M. D., Grand Valley; Thomas McCallum, Hamilton; E. C. Roper, Orillia; H. J. Johnston, St. Catharines; J. A. McGillivray, Q. C. Uxbridge; F. Rae, M. D., Oshawa; John Shaw Stirling; John Hewton, Kingston; J. A. Huston, M. A., Smith's Falls; E. Abbot Johnson, L'Orignal; W. I. Bradley, Sault Ste. Marie; Thomas Sacret, Huntsville.

The following Past Grand Masters were also on the platform,—M. W. Bros. D. Spry, Barrie; J. M. Gibson, Q. C., Hamilton; Henry Robertson, Q.C., Collingwood; J. K. Kerr, Q. C., Toronto; R.T. Walkem, Q. C., Kingston; Hugh Murray, Hamilton; A. A. Stevenson, Montreal; and J. Ross Robertson, Toronto.

The following members of the craft were present from Peterborough:—Corinthian Lodge, No. 101—Rt. W. Bro. E. H. D. Hall, P. D. D. G. M., V.W. Bro. R. Max Dennistoun, G. S. D., W. Bro. R. A. Morrow, W. Bro. T. E. Bradburn, W. Bro. R. E. Wood and Bro. W. F. Johnston; Peterborough Lodge, No. 155—Rt. W. Bro. Benj. Shortly, P.D.D.G.M. and W. Bro. W. H. Walkey.

As an evidence of the healthy condition of the order the Grand Master in his address referred to the opening of the following lodges by himself: At Windsor, on September 27th, 1894; at Pembroke, on November 22nd, 1894; at St. Thomas, on January 14th, 1895; at Wyoming on March fourteenth, 1895; at Galt, on April twenty-sixth, 1895; also those opened at Aylmer, on November 5th, 1894, by P G.M., M. W. Bro. J. M. Gibson; and at Thamesford, on February 7th, 1895, by R. W. Bro. William Gibson, M.P., D.G. M. He also suggested that in mos of the cities and large towns in the jurisdiction efforts should be made to acquire property in business localities and by means of joint stock companies or otherwise erect suitable buildings.

The following dispensations for new lodges had also been granted:—Bonnechere lodge, at Eganville, on 23rd October, 1894; Algonquin lodge, at Elmsdale, on 11th May, 1895.

On the question of abolishing representatives to other Grand Lodges, he expressed his opinion that while there may be strong arguments in favour of such a course, it must be borne in mind that they cost nothing, and may be both useful and ornamental. At all events they form a sentimental link in the chain of fraternal courtesies that are constantly being exchanged between the Grand Lodge and other friendly Grand bodies. He also referred to the other amendments of which notice had been given.

With reference to the removal of a lodge with consent of the D.D.G.M., which had occasioned some comment, he stated that while he had not felt called upon arbitrarily to cancel the consent, he thought it might be well to consider, in the light of this case, whether the powers of the D. D. G.M's. in such matters should not be restricted somewhat. He also spoke strongly against the practice of canvassing for office, which, it was stated, was becoming prevalent, and hoped the evil was exaggerated.

The following resolution was moved by Mr. John Ross Robertson, and was defeated after a long discussion:

That article No. 144 (page 46) of the constitution be amended by adding thereto the following words:—"Neither is it lawful for any private lodge to permit any brother or brethren, hailing from a foreign jurisdiction, to illustrate, practise or administer within its precincts, under any circumstances whatsoever, other than the authorized work of Grand Lodge, and that where special work is authorized in the jurisdiction, the same be confined to the meeting places of lodges having permits."

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

M. W. Bro. W. R. White, Q.C., Pembroke, Grand Master.

R. W. Bro. Wm. Gibson, M.P., Beamsville, Deputy Grand Master.

R. W. Bro. Benj. Allen, Toronto, Grand Senior Warden.

R. W. Bro. J. D. Rankin, Chatham, Grand Junior Warden.

R. W. Bro. J. J. Mason, Hamilton, Grand Secretary.

M. W. Bro. Hugh Murray, Hamilton, Grand Treasurer.

R.W. Bro. Rev. Horace Mussen, Aurora, Grand Chaplain.

Board of General Purposer—Elected—W. Roaf, Toronto; S. D. Martin, Woodstock; J. A. Harding, Q.C., Stratford; J.H. Burridge, Q.C., Pembroke; and W. J. Toner, Collingwood. Appointed—Geo. C. Davis, London; R. L McLean, Kingston; R. L. Gunn, Hamilton; Thos. Sargant, Toronto; E. S. Wigle, Wigle, Windsor. Mr. R. E. Wood, of Peterborough, was appointed District Deputy Grand Master for the 12th Masonic District.

The next annual meeting will be held at Belleville.

JUBILEE TESTIMONIAL TO DR. BARNARDO.

The work associated with the name of Dr. Barnardo has long been recognized by all who are interested in social and philanthropic agencies. For 29 years "Dr. Barnardo's Homes" have kept open doors for waif, orphan and destitute children, without distinction of age, sex, creed, birth-place or physical condition. The results attained have contributed to the diminution of crime, to a larger recognition of the claims of childhood, and to that broader spirit of sympathy in dealing with the young which happily now prevails.

Over 26,000 children have been rescued by the Homes from undoubted misery and degradation, and trained for useful and honourable lives, while 7,500 selected emigrants, whose subsequent careers have been highly successful, have been sent out to the Colonies. Nearly 5,000 boys and girls are now under training in the institution. This year Dr. Barnardo reaches his jubilee birthday, and it is felt that the occasion should not be allowed to pass without some recognition of the services which Dr. Barnardo has rendered to the cause of humanity, and more especially to waif and destitute children. With this object in view, a movement has been set on foot to promote a jubilee testimonial to Dr. Barnardo.

Cheques may be made payable to "The Barnardo Testimonial Fund," and forwarded to the bankers, Messrs. Barclay, Bevan & Co., 1 Pall Mall East, S.W., with whom an account has been opened by the committee, whose names are as follows:—Lord Brassey, Lord Kinnaird, Lord Polwarth, the Archdeacon of London, Colonel Howard Vincent, M.P., Mr. Samuel Gurney Sheppard and Mr. Howard Williams.

If you would have an abundance of dark, glossy hair, if you would have a clean scalp, free from dandruff and irritating humors, or if your hair is faded and grey, and you would have its natural colour restored, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is unquestionably the best dressing.

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

WESTWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Westwood organized a football club last Saturday evening with the following officers:

Honorary President—Thos. Blezard, Esq., M.P.P.

President—W. J. McMillen, Esq.

Vice-President—G. A. L. Humphries, Esq.

Secretary-Treasurer—Dr. MacNaughton.

Captain—Hugh Brackenridge, Esq.

Curator—Ed. McMillen, Esq.

The first practice was Saturday evening last, and although a professional foot-ball player looking on might have seen plenty to criticise, still there is plenty of material in and around Westwood to make an A 1 team with practice. Neighbouring clubs desirous of a match will be accommodated by writing the secretary.

The churches of Westwood purpose having a union picnic in a neighboring grove on Thursday, Aug. 22nd. Particulars later. In the meantime keep the above date vacant.

We get our mail here at 10 o'clock now, instead of 3 o'clock p.m. as formerly. The change in the time is a subject of universal complaint. Our dailies come a day late, which make them no better than tri-weeklies; our weeklies any time during the month. If this state of affairs continue, people east of Peterborough will certainly stop their dailies, as now they are not getting value for their money. We all feel that our worthy member, Mr. John Burnham's attention has not been drawn to this, or he would surely move in the matter.

Unless you can tell farmers how to make the grass grow, and how they are to feed their stock this winter, you had better not be on speaking terms with them at all during this very dry time.

Mr. Hamilton Spence, B.A., a graduate of Victoria University, Toronto, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church here last Sunday.

A great deal of harm is done, and still more good is left undone, by the simlet eyed jeweler and watchmaker. Jack of all trades, good at none, who in ignorance, or in yet more dangerous half-knowledge, fits glasses by specious "advertisement of diploma, certain kinds of glasses superior to any others;" the man who babbles about "finits" or boasts a set of American "trial glasses" with achromatic lenses. He commonly will fit a customer from his trial frame with just enough accuracy to give some assistance in many cases, and some relief in others. But in many instances he will maltreat cases of disease by yielding in interested ignorance to the belief of the patient that all he requires is a "pair of spectacles," and in large proportion—especially of children and adolescents—he will pass over all the more subtle defects which permanently affect the near and distant future of the eye as a life servant. He does so—and this is a matter of daily observation among practicing ophthamological eye-specialists—because the only complete examination of the refraction of the eye which can be made with a due appreciation of the physiological meaning, precise character, and the consequence of such defects is that made by the study through the opthalmoscope mirror of the interior structure of the eye, and the calculation by the same marvelously beautiful and simple instrument of the refraction of the imperfect eye.

'MY TWO DAUGHTERS'

Mrs. Pitezel Identifies Her Children.

HER STORY TOLD TO THE CORONER

When Shown the Toy Which Was Found in the St. Vincent-street Cottage She Goes Into Hysterics and Her Examination Has to Be Postponed.

Toronto, July 20. — Mrs. Carrie Pitezel, widow of Benjamin F. Pitezel, who was murdered in Callow Hill-street Philadelphia, and mother of Etta Alice and Nellie Pitezel, whose bodies were taken from the cellar of the Nudel cottage in St. Vincent-street, visited the Morgue yesterday, and identified the remains as those of her two children. She did not see Nellie's body, but the hair of Nellie and the teeth of Alice she positively identified.

Quivering with fearful expectancy, Mrs. Pitezel was almost carried into the room. As she entered the door, and the weird scene met her gaze, she shuddered and started backward. "Oh," she said. In a moment she was herself again, and stepped to the foot of the slab where the body of Alice lay concealed beneath the covers. As she caught sight of the entangled hair of her children lying at the feet of Alice her tears flowed freely.

The sympathetic officers stood silent at the first outburst, but when the weeping had subsided Detective Geyer picked up the plait of hair which fell from Nellie's head when she was removed from the grave in the Nudel cellar.

"Oh, my God, that is my Nellie's hair!" said Mrs. Pitezel.

"Yes, that is Alice's hair, too," she said as Detective Cuddy picked up the entangled mass.

This was all that was wanted here, but the most trying ordeal was yet to come. Mrs. Pitezel was conducted to the head of the slab where a cotton shroud had been placed over the head of Alice. Then followed a reproduction of that act in this drama of death which was enacted in the Philadelphia cemetery on a September afternoon, when Alice Pitezel was led, trembling and fearful, to the covered corpse, and looking through the rent in the newspaper, said "Yes, those are my papa's teeth," words which proved to be her death warrant.

While Detectives Geyer and Cuddy supported Mrs. Pitezel, Dr. Bingham carefully drew aside the shroud sufficiently to expose the teeth. At first glance the recognition was complete and the stricken woman uttered a shriek, as the last proof of the awful fate of her children was presented to her. The scene was painful in the extreme. As no one had any desire to prolong it, the shroud was drawn back before the sound of the shriek had died away, and the heart-broken mother was led from the place. As she turned away, her eyes wandered enquiringly towards the slab where Nellie's form lay, but she was not permitted to see it. She was escorted to the carriage and driven rapidly away to the hotel.

From the lips of Mrs. Pitezel, the mother of the two murdered babes, the coroner's jury heard last night the story of how Holmes snared her husband and three of her little ones in their doom. The bereaved woman, who has been subjected to a suffering worse than death, by the Philadelphia monster, sat for an hour and a half by the side of Coroner Johnson, and told her story in the listless accents of one half dead with anguish. She was neatly dressed in black, and was veiled during most of the ordeal. She bore up well until the most important part of her testimony was divulged. When she commenced to tell of how she had identified the bodies of her children at the morgue, and spoke of their little childish belongings, she broke down and had to be borne from the court room. The session of the inquest drew to a close amid the cries of a mother weeping for her children.

William Macdonald, 17 Russell-street, the 14-year-old son of Mrs. Macdonald, who was the first to occupy the Nudel cottage after the murder had been committed, told of the finding of the wooden toy which will form so important a link in the chain of evidence. He said he found it in a satchel in the small cupboard in the northwest corner of an upstairs bedroom. His people were living in the house, and one day in December, on looking into the cupboard he saw a satchel. In addition, he saw some pieces of women's or girl's clothing. The satchel was a black one about eight inches long and about nine inches deep, and had a metal top with a spring fastening. The only mark he noticed upon it was a small rent in one side near the fastening. It had a round leather handle fastened to the metal bar by two rings. The satchel contained some small square pieces of colored silks, similar to those used for crazy work, some pieces of paepr and the toy egg. He took these out and put the satchel back into the little cupboard, but did not know what finally became of it. When the witness and his father and mother moved into the house some children's boots were found in the kitchen and upstairs. The witness also saw the bedstead and mattress. No peculiar odor was detected about their house during their tenancy of it.

When the boy stepped down from the witness box, the old door leading from the main hall into the court room creaked on its hinges, and as it slowly opened Mrs. Pitezel appeared leaning upon the arm of the Police Matron. A hushed silence fell over the assembly as the frail figure, attired in deep mourning, entered the room and cast her eyes about her as though half expecting a repetition of the terrible scene of the afternoon. She hurriedly scanned the two-score of persons who were in the room, and walked with a nervous, unsteady step to a chair at Coroner Johnson's right hand.

As she seated herself a heavy sigh fell from her lips. Lying directly before her was the wooden toy which she had packed away with other childish playthings in the trunk when Nellie and Howard left St. Louis on Sept. 28. It was the first object to meet her gaze, and with the tears welling from her eyes she whispered to Coroner Johnson, "Oh, take that away, it was Nellie's toy; I can't bear to look at it!"

In a few moments the paroxysm of grief had passed, and she sat waiting to begin her testimony. Stenographer Butcher took up a position where he could hear her whispered words, and as she told her story, punctuated with tears and heavy sighs, Coroner Johnson repeated it that the jurymen might hear.

Her name, she said, was Carrie A. Pitezel, widow of the late Benjamin F. Pitezel of Philadelphia. The first time she met Holmes, whose photo was handed to her by the coroner, was in 1893, the exact date she did not remember. She met him in Chicago under the name of Holmes. She and her husband were in a restaurant in a building in 63rd and Walter-streets. Her husband went out, returning with Holmes, to whom he introduced her. Holmes went by the name of Howard in St. Louis, Mo." "It was some time after that when I saw him again," said Mrs. Pitezel. Holmes and my husband went to Texas, I think, in January 1894. After that Holmes called once or twice at our house in Chicago, and talked to my husband, but I was not present any time. I did not see him again until June or July, 1894, at St. Louis. He and my husband had been South, and I saw him when they came back. He went away again, and it was on or about Sept. 6, after the trouble in Philadelphia, he came down to St. Louis, where I was.

I saw the account in the paper of my husband's death, but I got a letter, signed with my husband's name, saying he would come home. But, instead of his coming, Holmes came. I said: "Oh, dear, my husband said he would come home, baby is very sick, Nellie has fainted in school and had to be brought home and I want to see him." Holmes replied: "If you don't want to get into trouble, you had better keep quiet." I put it into the hands of a lawyer, Jeptha D. Howe, who gave me one of his cards. I went to Mr. Holmes' office, and Holmes or Howard was there, as he always was when I went.

He asked me for my insurance policy and any papers I had, and I gave it to him. The Fidelity Insurance Company sent a despatch, saying I must come, but I was sick and could not go. They asked for the marks on my husband's body, and I gave them to them.

Jeptha D. Howe and Holmes went to Philadelphia for me, and they took with them little Alice to identify the body.

The thought of the last parting with her child completely overcame the struggling woman, and for a few moments she wept bitterly. Regaining her composure she continued:

Alice identified the body, the money was paid to Howe, who gave it to me all but his fee of $2500.

I was given $500 to pay the expenses of my trip, and Holmes got $5000 to apply on a real estate deal, which he said he and my husband were interested in at Fort Worth. He gave me an unsigned note for the balance, but when I showed the note to a lawyer he told me it was worthless. I never got any more of the money.

Holmes came back to St. Louis, and brought Alice as far as Indianapolis. He told me I had better go to my parents in Galva, Ill., and he would take Nellie and Howard to Indianapolis, and send the three of them to school. He took the children away, and I left for Galva on Oct. 6. Dessie and my baby went with me. We stayed there until Oct. 13, then went to Chicago, then to Detroit. We got into Detroit about 8.30 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 14, and took us to Geis' European Hotel.

We stayed there until the 18th, leaving on the 12.30 train for Toronto, arriving in Toronto the same evening. We had to wait about an hour and a half at the depot. Then Holmes came and took us to the Union Hotel. We stayed there until the night of the 20th, when we took the train for Prescott, and crossed over to Ogdensburg. I saw Holmes nearly every day while in Toronto. On Saturday afternoon he came and said he and his wife were going to Niagara Falls. He asked me why I did not go out, and I said I did not feel like it. He always told me that at these places I would meet my husband, but I never did see him.

He told me the children were at Indianapolis, and while at Galva I got two letters from the girls, who said they were homesick and wanted to see me. On Monday afternoon he told me he was going to furnish a house here, that my husband was in Montreal, and when the house was ready I would see him. He came again and said I could not see my husband here, and I would have to go to Ogdensburg. On Oct. 25, I was making some purchases in a store in Yonge-street, and I met Holmes face to face. He told me he had expected to see me and said he was going to buy something for me. He went into the store, telling me not to wait too long as he wanted me to go to Ogdensburg that night. I waited for a time until baby got troublesome. An hour afterwards he came to the hotel and got me to pack up my trunk to start east.

The next I saw of him was next afternoon in Ogdensburg, N.Y. He stayed there until Nov. 1. He said he was going to rent a house there but it was too small a place. He then told me he had got a house in Burlington, Vt., where he said I would see Ben. When I got to Burlington Holmes was there, but was very mad. He took me in a cab over to the house at 126 Winooski-avenue. Holmes left us. Dessie and I had a little supper and retired. Holmes came next day on the day after, and said he would send for Ben, whom he said was in Toronto. When I was in Toronto he told me he was in Montreal. He was always some place else. When I asked why I did not hear from my husband he said he must be sick or drinking. I wanted to hear from the children, but Holmes said he did not hear from them. I said I would like to hear from them, as I was anxious about them. Holmes brought me a letter in Toronto, which he said the children wrote me. It said Howard was a bad boy in school, and would get dirty, that they had lots to eat, that their teacher was good to them, and they wanted to see me. I got a letter in Burlington, which Holmes said was from Ben. I could not read it, and when Holmes came I asked him about it. He said it was his writing, that he copied it for my husband, who had been drinking. I stayed in Burlington until a detective took me to Boston, where they and Holmes under arrest.

Coroner Johnson then read to Mrs. Pitezel the history of the case, as written and read by Detective Geyer to the jury Wednesday evening. The witness followed the narrative closely, and said the close said as far as her knowledge of the case went, it was correct in every detail.

Continuing, Mrs. Pitezel said she saw Holmes about ten days before his arrest, and on this occasion Holmes told her the children were in Toronto. I asked to be allowed to see them, but he said I must not see them until I had seen Ben.

"Did you ever hear anything of any nitro-glycerine while at Burlington, Vt?"

"I received a letter from Holmes, in which he said to look under the stairway and get a bottle of dynamite and take it to the attic and put it up there. I saw the bottle, but did not remove it, as I would have had to carry it up three flights of stairs. He said if I did not take it up there, to put it under the house. He said he was taking care of it for some St. Louis parties. After leaving Philadelphia, I went to Galva, then to Chicago, then to Toronto, arriving here yesterday evening."

She said she had not seen Holmes from Sept. 28 till she met him in Detroit. Holmes said his wife was with him, but Mrs. Pitezel never saw her until she reached Boston, and never conversed with her.

At Detroit she told Holmes she expected to hear from her children. A day or two after she reached Toronto he handed her a little note written in cipher. The cipher was that which had been arranged between her husband and herself, with figures to represent letters. She thought at the time it was in her daughter's hand writing. He told her the note had come in a letter to him. It was unsigned and undated.

The Coroner at this stage pointed out to the jury that possibly the papers in the satchel, which young Macdonald could not read, were in cipher.

Witness testified that she went to the morgue and identified the bodies shown her as those of Alice and Nellie Pitezel. There was no doubt in her mind of this. She identified one by her teeth and hair and the other simply by the hair.

There was a little satchel in the trunk which she sent away with Nellie when she went with Holmes to Indianapolis. It was yellow in color, but soiled so that it appeared darker. She used it to keep little trinkets and playthings in. She identified the little egg shown to her as one which Nellie always kept in the satchel.

During this part of her testimony Mrs. Pitezel began to break down. Her words were almost inaudible, even to the coroner, who sat by her side. She seemed to be brooding to herself over the death of her little ones. She sobbed quietly to herself, and the smelling salts, which Detective Geyer had ready, failed to revive her. Finally the detective took her away to the matron's room for a brief rest. In a few moments she was seized with hysterics, and her shrieks and cries could be heard all over the building. "I want my children, I want my children," she cried in heart-piercing tones, and it was some time before she was pacified.

Dr. John Caven was then put in the box, and read a deposition to the effect that he had made a post-mortem examination of the body of Alice Pitezel. It was badly decomposed, and no signs of external violence could be distinguished. The hair was abundant and dark brown in color; the teeth were all in position. He was present and saw Mrs. Pitezel identify the body. The stomachs had not yet been analyzed. There were some kinds of poison traces of which would entirely disappear after a short time had elapsed. Such a poison as arsenic, however, would always remain.

Dr. Harrington, who assisted Dr. Caven in the post-mortem, subscribed to the former witness' statement.

The coroner then adjourned the inquest until Wednesday next at 8 p.m., informing the jury that the evidence had reached a most satisfactory stage, owing to the positive identification of the bodies by Mrs. Pitezel.

Detective Geyer will leave to-day for Detroit, where he will prosecute a vigorous search for the body of the boy, Howard Pitezel. He will remain there for a few days, when he will proceed to Philadelphia and make a detailed report of his work and its results. He will return to Toronto again when Holmes is placed on trial for the murder of the Pitezel children. Since his arrival in Toronto Detective Geyer has won many warm personal friends, who respect and esteem him for his clever work and genial disposition.

To comply with certain formalities in connection with the Crown's case against H. H. Holmes, Coroner Orr opened an inquest on the body of Nellie Pitezel at the Morgue last night. The jury consisted of Arthur Case, Thomas Calhoun, N. Boy,

No Canadian industry shows the same progress as cheese-making. The exports increased from ten and a half million dollars in 1890 to sixteen and one-quarter millions in in 1894. And this is one of the industries that is impeded rather than aided by a policy of high protection.

MR. MASSON was the Ontario member of the Commons who, on Wednesday, declared his approval of the Federal Government's school policy. And, the Toronto News points out, it is something more than a coincidence that Mr. Masson has secured the office of postmaster at Owen Sound for his brother, and expects, unless rumour does him an injustice, to obtain a judgeship for himself.

THE latest estimate of the spring wheat crop in the United States brings the aggregate crop up to 475,000,000 bushels. Owing to the improved condition resulting from the recent rains, the yield will certainly be from 25,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels greater than was expected a month ago. The prospects for corn are also promising, the yield is expected to reach the highest figures ever touched, although some weeks must yet pass before the crops can be regarded as out of danger.

THE Christian Endeavourers are justifiably proud of their big rally at Boston, but it is significant of the skin depth of Christian culture that the Endeavour convention "won't be in it for a minute with the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight which is to be "pulled off" in Dallas, Texas, in a month or two. An auditorium with a seating capacity of 52,000 being erected in the city that has the honour of furnishing a site for the brutal exhibition, and it is safe to say that every seat will be filled at fancy prices for tickets, entitling the holders to a view of two men converting the human face divine into pounded beef steak.

THE Toronto Star sounds the note of warning for Ontario when it says that province will never tolerate the introduction of Sir Hector Langevin into the Cabinet. The Star continues: "This is a concession, a kind of diplomacy, which every honest Conservative believes to be disgraceful and dangerous. The Dominion Government, if it pursues such a course while grasping after Quebec, will surely lose Ontario." And the Star might have added that if Sir Hector should be admitted to the Dominion Cabinet he will not be lonesome from lack of congenial colleagues. There are members of the cabinet who couldn't qualify for a franchise, to throw stones at Sir Hector on the head of his politico-moral record. In fact it is open to question whether or not Sir Hector Langevin would not be wanting in self respect if he entered the Cabinet.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N. B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Robert Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

MR. BLAKE ELECTED.

South Longford Returns Him by Acclamation.

EX-SECRETARY ASQUITH WINS.

The Total Returns Show 270 Conservatives, 48 Liberal-Unionists, 88 Liberals, 43 Anti-Parnellites, and 6 Parnellites—Results of Yesterday.

London, July 9.—The returns to-day are somewhat less favorable to the Unionists. The success of ex-Home Secretary Asquith in East Fifeshire and of Sir T. D. Carmichael in Midlothian, Mr. Gladstone's old district, have given heart to the Liberals and disappointed their opponents, who were almost certain that they would capture both seats. The Unionists experienced other unpleasant surprises in Dumfrieshire, the Litchfield Division of Staffrieshire, the Lichfield Division of Staffordshire, Londonderry and North Tyrone. In the first two-named constituencies the Liberals captured the seats from the Liberal-Unionists. In Londonderry, Mr. Knox, a Nationalist, defeated the Conservative candidate, and North Tyrone will be represented by a Liberal instead of a Conservative.

Hon. Edward Blake was returned without opposition.

Nevertheless, on the day's returns, the Unionists go one better than the Opposition, while several material reductions in Liberal votes and increases in Unionist votes are to be noted. Exceptions to this, however, are not wanting.

The total returns thus far show the election of 270 Conservtaives, 48 Liberal-Unionists, 88 Liberals, 43 anti-Parnellites and 6 Parnellites.

The net gains of the Conservatives are now 53. The Liberal-Unionists have gained 15 seats, the Liberals 13, the anti-Parnellites and the Parnellites two.

Patrick Ready of St. Catharines Meets a Horrible Death.

St. Catharines, July 19.—Patrick Ready, aged 32, worked as a farm hand for Mrs. Moot, and was engaged drawing in hay, using a wagon with a rack with iron uprights. He took a large load into the barn, and, not thinking of the iron uprights, attempted to slide to the ground, when one of them pierced him near the hip, impaling him and coming out near his mouth. The poor fellow screamed fearfully, and as soon as possible he was taken off the stake. He died about midnight.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit, practise the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

Physicians

prescribe Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites because they find their patients can tolerate it for a long time, as it does not upset the stomach nor derange the digestion like the plain oil.

Scott's Emulsion is as much easier to digest than the plain oil as milk is easier to digest than butter. Besides, the fish-fat taste is taken out of the oil, and it is almost palatable. The way sickly children, emaciated, anæmic and consumptive adults, gain flesh on Scott's Emulsion is very remarkable.

HITTING THE BULL'S EYE.

Canada's Team at Bisley Continues To Do Good Shooting.

London, July 18.—At Bisley to-day, in The Graphic contest, seven shots at 500 yards, Tink of Canada made the highest possible score, but was beaten in shooting off ties. The other Canadian scores were: Boville, 34; White, Rolston, Spearing, Marris and Hayhurst, each 32; Armstrong and Mitchell, each 31; Chamberlain, Broadhurst and Skedden, each 30.

In the second stage for the Queen's Prize, two shots each at 500 yards, Boville scored 68, making his aggregate 136; Hayhurst, 66, aggregate, 140; White, 63, aggregate, 133; Spearing, 63, aggregate, 133; Skedden, 62, aggregate, 134. Boville tied with two other marksmen at the top single score.

In the contest for the Queen's Prize, Sergt. Hogg of the Roxburgh Volunteers is leading, with an aggregate of 205, and wins the silver medal.

In the second stage, 15 shots each at 600 yards, Hayhurst of Canada scored 65, making his aggregate 196; Skedden 66, aggregate 196; Spearing 60, aggregate 193; White 53, aggregate 186; Boville 49, aggregate 185; Nutting 50, aggregate 179. Hayhurst and Skedden will probably shoot in the final stage for the Queen's Prize.

In the contest for The Daily Telegraph Cup, seven shots at 600 yards, Russell scored 35. In shooting off ties he made 14 out of a possible 15. Skedden and Boville each scored 34. The Canadian team has won altogether £200 in money prizes.

Sir Charles Tupper, in presenting the Canada Cup this afternoon to Major Markham, who will give it to the highest Canadian scorer at the end of the meeting, said that the Canadians had taken such a position in the contest as showed that if the time ever came when the Canadian forces were required to stand side by side with their fellow-countrymen of the United Kingdom and the colonies, they would be found worthy of those who had carried the prowess of England to every quarter of the globe. There never was a time when the officers prepared at Kingston were held in higher regard than at present. Major Markham made a brief response.

His Back Broken. But Alive.

Milton, July 20.—Charles Porter, while moving grain from his barn, fell in a sitting position in front of the wheels, with his back towards them, and they passed over his doubled body. His spine was broken and the lower part of his body paralyzed, but he still lives.

Three Injured by a Falling Beam.

Guelph, Ont., July 20.—An accident happened at the rolling mills building which is being erected here. The last beam of the frame was being put in position when a rainstorm started, preceded by a whirlwind, which blew the building to the ground, together with three workmen. William Tuck of Guelph is the most seriously injured, both collar-bones being fractured, but it is thought that all three will recover.

LACTATED FOOD is the most perfect substitute for mother's milk that physicians have ever tested.

A trial tin of this grand food has saved many an infant from death. Give it a trial mothers, during the hot weather.

SUICIDE!

This Was Offered One Woman as a Remedy for Suffering.

Mrs. Thomas McMaster's Awful Experiences.

She Escapes With Both Life and Mind.

Repeats the Story to a Star Reporter.

From Toronto Evening Star.

In a pleasant little home at 46 Cumberland street, in this city, is a happy woman, whose experience during the past few years have been so wonderful as to almost demand a recital of them for the public.

The lady is Mrs. Thomas McMaster, and both she and her husband are well known in the city and especially in the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer. She is a woman in middle life, and no one to see her with her two children playing about her knee could ever guess, unless the lines of hair in her head told them, that she had passed through such suffering as few women have ever done and lived.

But she has done this as those who read her strange story to its utmost conclusion will agree. Sitting in her own parlour, not far from busy Yonge street, she told me the tale as follows:

HER OWN STORY.

"About ten years ago I was attacked with neuralgia," she began, "and though I was treated successively by no less than six doctors, and took perscription after perscription, the disease grew worse until it nearly drove me insane. The medical men couldn't agree as to what was the matter with me, although some of them called it neuralgia, and one rheumatic pains. I can hardly express it, but the pain felt just as if the bones in my face were being slowly gnawed by some little animal. It was terrible. Why, I used to be so distracted and bothered with the agony that I often punished the little ones when they really did't deserve it."

The reciter's eyes filled with tears at this remembrance, but at a question from me she went on, "I was for one summer an 'out-door' patient at the hospital here, but the relief I got was only temporary. The pain always came back.

"I was sleepless for nights, my digestion wa bad and I would feel a pain in my stomach every time I ate anything. Oftentimes I have sat down and cried with the pain after eating a morsel of food. For days at a time I suffered the most intense agony. I will never forget it, and I often wonder that I didn't go crazy.

WHAT THE DOCTORS TOLD HER.

"If I tried to even walk the floor the most excruciating pains would shoot through me, and I would just have to sit still and suffer. Then my nerves got out of order and my eyelids used to twitch and I couldn't see in front of me. I went to a doctor for that, and he told me that he didn't think he could save my sight. He prescribed an elaborate course of treatment, told me to take a cold bath three times a day, etc. He said that I would have to go to the hospital and stay in a dark room while my eyes were being treated.

SUFFERING OF YEARS.

For years I suffered this way—suffering so much that I don,t know that I ever will be able to get it out of my remembrance, when one day when I took one of the endless prescriptions given me by the medical men, to the druggist, I asked him bluntly, "Will this cure me or will it be like all the rest?" I was pretty nearly desperate, I can tell you.

The druggist said, "No, nothing will cure neuralgia. I have it myself until I often think of suicide. I take opium usually and sleep it off."

"I took the prescription away unfilled and went home, thinking over what the druggist had said of suicide and I was utterly disheartened. I have that prescription yet.

"Then one day my deliverance came. A lady, I don't know who she was, told me that she had suffered just as I had, that she was nearly insane, and that a remedy known as Paine's Celery Compound had actually cured her.

"I had read a lot about Paine's Compound, but I felt towards it as I did towards other medicines and then I took it as a last resort.

WHAT THE REMEDY DID.

"And what was the result?" I asked eagerly, being deeply interested.

"Well," and Mrs. McMaster smiled a happy smile, "it simply made a new woman of me. The pain vanished as if by magic, my eyesight returned; I felt myself growing well and strong, and I never was so happy in my life. It seemed as if after my long years of enforced idleness I couldn't get work hard enough about the house. I am now well and strong and I want nothing more; I am perfectly happy.

TRIBUTE WHERE IT IS DUE.

"And every bit of this is due to Paine's Celery Compound to which I shall always feel grateful. All I regret is that I didn't try it sooner. It's really nice, you know, and—the children—if they would get hold of the bottle they'd drink it all I think. If they feel the least bit wrong they ask for Paine's Celery Compound, and then they think all their troubles are gone.

"I will always be ready to say a good word for Paine's Celery Compound."

And the writer who had gone in a skeptic came out thoroughly converted by Mrs. McMaster's earnest manner.

Those who wish to know more about Mrs. McMaster's wonderful case will find her at her home, 46 Cumberland street, ready and willing to talk about the great medicine. She is an active missionary for Paine's Celery Compound.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

THE KING OF THEM ALL.

A Thirty One Pound Lunge Captured at Chemong Yesterday.

Last evening Peter McCue, the Indian, had the good luck to hook and land at Chemong the largest lunge which has been caught in this vicinity for years.

No particulars have yet been received concerning the struggle between fish and man, but it must have been a sight indeed worth witnessing. It is the general opinion that no man could play such a monster and land him unaided unless he paddled to shore and pulled it out in this manner.

The huge lunge is now on exhibition at Mr. George Carton's store, corner of George and Charlotte streets, where it has been surrounded all day by a curious crowd of sight-seers.

It tips the scales at 31 pounds exactly, and measures four feet one inch from tip to tip. It will take a big one to beat this.

A Lively Move.

Owing to the scarcity of water P. McNulty, of East Peterborough, had to dig a well last week which was a very dangerous job, as his men went eight feet through quick sand without a crib, and George Colby, while working in the bottom of the well, narrowly escaped being caught by its caving in. His unequalled activity in climbing a rope was such as to place him at the top in an instant. Jas. Lynn, who was on the windlass above, says it was the only lively move he ever saw George make.

Two Cows Killed.

Robert Taylor, living near Caughnawaga, had the misfortune to have his stock break out and three cows were struck by the train at Knox's crossing the other night, two of which he had to kill and the other is in a dangerous condition. Mr. Taylor's loss is about $75 and he has the sympathy of the whole neighbourhood over the mishap, as he is a careful industrious farmer and never leaves his stock on the road to trouble anyone, while several of his neighbours have stock on the road all the time that dodge the cow catcher every trip.

Gilmour Logs.

The first block of the Gilmour "drive" of logs from the Dorset limits, is now going through. It contains about 35,000 pieces, 10,000 of which were held over at the Dorset tramway from last year, the rest coming from the limits at T lake, some thirty miles from Dorset. The tramway worked well this year, the block now here being put over the tram in three days and three nights. There are five blocks with 55 men in the drive, averaging about three thousand each. The second is now at Rosedale and it is expected that the first two blocks will reach the mill at Trenton this season. The other three will hang up probably between here and Lakefield, according to the run of water.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

To Finish Up.

In about another week we expect to desert our present store to occupy our new and most commodious premises, now nearing completion in Burnham's block. In the meantime we will have plenty of excellent bargains every day before removing. A lot of new and desirable lines not intended for sacrifice have been turned out on our bargain tables, such as waterproof coats, umbrellas, etc. These, together with a large quantity of gentlemen's furnishings, shirts, underwear, gloves, suspenders and short lengths of splendid cloths, will be cleared out at prices to save removal. THE WHEEL.

In common with ships and railway engines the cycle like all machinery devised by man inherits not a few of his peculiar and contradictory ways. In fact there is a deal of "human natur'" in it that is apt to discover itself when least expected by the observant biped who bestrides it.

Take for instance the squeak of a complaining bicycle. We are riding along congratulating ourselves on the smooth and easy riding of the bicycle, likening ourselves to Abaris bestriding his arrow, when of a sudden, "Wheet! wheet!" —the plaint of the cycle begins. It is quite a special sort of squeak, casting no slur upon the integrity of the tubing, nor betraying a thirst for oil on the part of the bearings, nor does it proceed from the saddle or lamp.

Nevertheless, we dismount, and after a close examination of the tubing and brazing we offer a libation of oil to the bearings, and resume the even tenor of our way.

"Wheet! wheet!" continues the machine with increased vigor, and tortures us for the remainder of our ride with its querulous plaint. There is absolutely no cause for its wailing. The road is smooth, it is well adjusted and oiled, and the tubing is perfect, yet it cries aloud in its metallic treble as though the brazing of every joint were tearing asunder. How like the grumbling of a spoilt child, or a girl with the vapours, or a man with the blues, is this causeless plaint of the cycle! We lay it away taking no further notice. Its temper evaporates, and the next time we mount it not a suspicion of a squeak is heard.

The cycle becomes quickly aware of the presence of a green hand in the saddle, and does not scruple to take advantage of its incompetent rider.

Then does it shoot madly across and across the road, betraying a wild desire to collide with anything and everything within hailing distance of its path of destruction.

It slides toward the juggernant tramcar as though drawn by an irresistible magnetism, it flirts with kerbstones, ditches, lamp-posts, and pillar-boxes with the most abandoned impartiality. It seeks out and buck-jumps its rider over any loose stone that may lie in the road, and, be it the property of that long-suffering "other fellow," it will convert its tires into automatic pincushions, and will gather in half a mile such a collection of headless nails, thorns, bottle-glass and crowbars, as one could not collect from the same spot in a month of Sundays.

Then, having deposited its rider in the only patch of mud to be found in the road, it bites a piece out of his leg, and would run away home if it could; but at that point its power for mischief is exhausted, and it discovers that, after all, it is only a cycle.—The Cycle.

HIS 40TH ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Father Conway has Laboured in the Priesthood for Nearly Half a Century.

Monday, July 15th, was the 40th anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Father Conway, of Norwood. He was ordained in Toronto by the late Bishop Charbonell on July 15th, 1855, and spent nearly 30 years (in the Archdiocese of Toronto, labouring for a number of years in the then newly settled portion of the diocese.

He was Parish Priest of St. Catharines for a number of years and also held for several years the very important position of Rector of St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto. He came to Peterborough with the late lamented Bishop Jamot, remaining with him until his death in March 1888.

He was installed as first Parish Priest of St. Paul's, Norwood, by Bishop Dowling, and has laboured there since, and it is the wish and prayer of his many friends that he will remain in Norwood to carry out the good work of religion and temperance which he has so successfully established.

Thanks to his business abilities there is not one dollar of debt on the parish. May he remain with Norwood to celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination.—COM.

GONE TO ANOTHER CHARGE.

Father Connolly, of Campbellford, Says Good Bye.

Before leaving his pulpit in the Roman Catholic church on Sunday last, Rev. Father Connolly, of Campbellford, took occasion to express his sorrow at leaving the congregation, as he said he had been most happy during his pastorate there of about one year and a half. He thanked them for their good will and the special kindness shown him, and referred also to the good feeling which had prevaled in the community since he came to Campbellford. Neither would he forget his Protestant friends, some of whom had shown him great kindness.

On Saturday evening a number of the ladies of the congregation met at the residence of Father Connolly and made him the presentation of an arm chair and a purse containing gold. This was accompanied by an address. Father Connolly replied in feeling terms expressive of gratefulness to those who had in this way given some evidence of their regard for him.

The teachers and scholars of the Sunday school also remembered their pastor with three photos of themselves, in three groups, one of the former and two of the latter. This, too, was accompanied by a brief address.

On Monday evening the members of the C. M. B. A. met at the residence of Father Connolly and presented him with a well-filled purse. A verbal address was given by the President, Mr. Jas. Gibson.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB COLUMN.

XXII.

A BRIEF REVIEW OF A NOTABLE BOOK—"MERRIE ENGLAND: A PLAIN EXPOSITION OF SOCIALISM."

[Correspondence on the subject of this letter is invited, and should be addressed to Box 194, Peterborough.]

"It is very evident what mean and sneaking lives many of you live for my sight has been whetted by experience."—THOREAU.

"As soon as the land of any country has all become private property the landlords, like other men, love to reap where they never sowed, and demand a rent even for its natural produce * *"—ADAM SMITH.

"How contempt of human rights is the essential element in building up the great fortunes whose growth is such a marked feature of our development, we have already seen. And just as clearly may we see that from the same cause spring poverty and pauperism. The tramp is the complement of the millionaire."—HENRY GEORGE.

"The actual producers have been slaves, compelled to produce as much as force could extort from them, and consume as little as self-interest or the usually very slender humanity of their taskmasters would permit."—JOHN STUART MILL.

The Fortnightly Column is devoted for this evening to the already famous work whose title appears above. I use the words, because of the instant popularity it has won, no less than one million copies of it being sold of it within a few months of its publication. This popularity is a pleasing sign of the revival amongst the people of a hope for something better than the degrading slavery of these latter days.

"ALREADY FAMOUS,"

The struggle for life is great. Then let the spirit of the humane prevail. Unless a capitalist born, a child entering upon life with a gleeful idea of enjoying the bounties of nature is almost certainly doomed to disappointment. Why is this? For what is all this cursed struggle, this inhuman conflict? There was a theory not long ago that anyone could gain a living honestly who wanted to work. The theory gained credence because the opposite seemed too absurd. But no one believes it now. The few may; but the many are driven to industrial slavery.

"Merrie England" places the picture before you and appeals to your common sense. The people are in the labyrinth, who shall lead them out? Of all those, who stand cynically or indifferently or designedly by, it may be said, "Verily they shall have their reward." This excellent book is written in the form of a series of letters to one John Smith, who is taken to be the typical Englishman of the working class.

"Now Mr. Smith," says the writer, "if "you really are a man of hard shrewd "sense, we shall get on very well. I am "myself a plain practical man. I base my "beliefs upon what I know and see and "respect a fact more than I do "a lord-mayor. * * * The present national ideal is to become the workshop of the world. My ideal is that each individual should seek his advantage in co-operation with his fellows, and that the people should make the best of their own country before attempting to trade with other countries. I propose, Mr. Smith, and I submit the proposal to you who are a sensible and practical man, as a sensible and practical proposal, that we should first of all ascertain what things are desirable for our health and happiness of body and mind, and that we should then organize our people with the object of producing those things in the best and easiest way. * * * Now I shall show you that our people and badly fed and badly housed. * * * The work needed to supply the bodily and mental needs is very slight. Why then "the struggle for existence?" I know that the Manchester school will tell you that pure air, bright skies, birds, flowers and the like that cannot exist side by side with the factory system are mere sentiment. Do you find the champions of the factory system despising these things? No, you will find them spending their long holidays on the continent. To make wealth for themselves they destroy the beauty and health of your dwelling places, and then they sit in their suburban villas or on the hills and terraces of the lovely southern countries and sneer at the "sentimentality" of the men who ask you to cherish beauty and to prize health. * * * "How do men grow rich? In these days the three chief sources of wealth are (1) Rent, (2) Interest, (3) Profits. First, rent—who earns it? Labour."

The author here goes on to lay down the proposition that whilst Labour earns and pays the rent the landlord "does nothing." This is about the only important statement in the book that is not sound. The landlord, it is true, does not appear to do much but his earned wealth or capital provides the accommodation for which the rent is paid. The real trouble is, in my opinion, not that the landlord, as he says, "does nothing," but that he has a right of ownership in a positive and universal necessary (land), which gives him a complete grasp of "the means of existence." The man who controls the land really controls everything upon it. Yet it is true that men are not endowed either mentally or physically equally by nature, some having just as great an advantage as this, in other ways, over their fellow-mortals. However, what nature has done we may leave to nature, whilst we busy ourselves in re-modelling what we have done ourselves. As soon it is universally recognized that it is the duty of the government to put all citizens in a fair relation to each other so that no one individual is allowed to monopolize natural advantages to the detriment of another, the larger part of the difficulty will be solved. It is further claimed that it is necessary that there be co-operative or public ownership of all the machinery or other instruments of labour. If this really be necessary to free the people from industrial slavery then of course it should be brought about, but I am inclined to think that the ideal man is he who stands upon a free soil, himself free, not merely as a citizen but free to make full use of before him. To provide him with tools is to go the length of making him a capitalist, and capital is logically the end not the beginning of labour. An oppressive system must give way to the general good, for it certainly is incontrovertibly true that no one man has a fundamental right over any other.

As to the third division "profits," it may be included in interest which the law of God bids us to take in reason. Economically no argument attaches to them. They are merely incidents of a system of doing business and are in no sense fundamental. With the disappearance of the power of capital over that we must have to live upon all other improprieties will disappear or will automatically regulate themselves. There are cases in which disproportionate returns are not unfairly got, but these are few and far between. In the great majority of instances, as the author clearly points out, capital adopts unscrupulous methods. The correction of this wrong is ready at hand to the workingmen the moment they choose honest men instead of time-serving politicians to to make their laws. There is no dearth of honest men, but one knave can undo a legion when that legion refuses to fight with knavish weapons. The reason we have so many good men in the public service as we have is largely that capitalists must have a few such for their own ultimate safety, otherwise the capitalist and his capital would be, like the Jew of York, in the hands of his persecutors. This is the general spirit in which the work is written. It aims at the emancipation of the workingman from a condition of things in which he has not a fair opportunity to enjoy the blessings of life. There are good capitalists and bad workingmen; but it is not with men, it is with the system that the author deals. After all, is life merely the putting of food into the mouth, or is it a noble thing? The system of competition is radically and cruelly bad. "Why not remedy it?" he asks.

We will close with a few lines of quotation from this admirable and simple book, a book that everyone can buy, for it is as cheap as it is good. Everyone can understand it, and it will richly repay the reading.

"Also some day, perhaps, I will talk to you, not as a practical man but as a human being. I will ask you to feel with me the pulsing of the universal heart, to see with me the awful eyes of the universal soul gazing upward dim and blurred and weary, but full of wistful yearning for the unrevealed and unspeakable glory which men call God."

What is a "Quick Meal" Gas Stove?

It is a solid, but light, pretty contrivance, fed with gas instead of coal or wood, and is especially invented for ladies who want to do their cooking comfortably in summer time in a cool kitchen. They are made of cast iron and wrought steel; nicely japanned and handsomely ornamented with fine nickel-plate and tile. The price of a small "Quick Meal" is small and the cost of gas is but little. All expense ends with extinguishing the flames. THE TERRORS OF DYSPEPSIA

A DISEASE THAT MAKES THE LIFE OF ITS VICTIM ALMOST UNBEARABLE.

A Sufferer For Years Tells How She Obtained Relief—A Bright Ray of Hope for Those Similarly Affected.

From the Bowmanville News.

The editor of the News, in company with Mr. Jury, of the well-kown firm of Stott & Jury, visited the home of Samuel Wood in the township of Darlington, for the purpose of ascertaining the particulars of another of those remarkable cures happily brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It was Mrs. Woods who had thus been released from suffering, and when the newspaper man made known his mission he said, "Yes, I can give a bright testimony in favour of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I believe that if they did not save my life, they at all events released me from untold misery. Some three years ago dyspepsia came upon me in a severe form. I doctored with one of the local doctors for more than a year, but all the time was growing steadily worse. The medicine I took cost me a dollar a bottle, and the expenditure was worse than useless for it did me no good. Then my husband thought as I was growing worse, it would be better to try something else, as they felt that unless a change soon came I was doomed to live through the terrors of a dyspeptic's life. Sometimes I would be fairly doubled up with the pain, and it seemed as if a knife was cutting into me. I then tried a number of medicines recommended for dyspepsia, but none of them brought the hoped-for relief. We had so often read of the remarkable cures achieved by Dr. Williams Pink Pills that I determined to give them a trial. I got a supply and before the second box was gone I found myself getting better. I continued the use of the pills until I had taken eleven boxes when I was fully recovered. This was a couple of years ago, and I have not now the least sign of dyspepsia." Mrs. Wood further said that her husband had been a victim of kidney trouble for a long time and had taken a great deal of medicine for its cure but to no avail. When it was seen that Pink Pills were doing his wife so much good, Mr. Wood determined to try them, and they acted like a charm as he is now entirely free from his complaint, and he attributed all to the use of Pink Pills and would not be without them in the house.

Messrs. Stott & Jury informed the News that Pink Pills have an enormous sale. They have handled Pink Pills for years and say that they cannot recall a single instance in which a customer came back and said they were not perfectly satisfied with the results. This is certainly a remarkable record, but then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is a remarkable medicine, and cures when other medicines fail.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper (printed in red ink), and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail of Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y., at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Killed by a Milk Can.

Lisle, Ont., July 20.—John Gallaugher, Reeve of Tossorontio, was killed by a wagon upsetting. Mr. Gallaugher was struck by a large can of milk, his injuries proving fatal in a few minutes.

A Hamiltonian Loses a Foot in Buffalo.

Buffalo, N.Y., July 20.—While attempting to board a moving Lake Shore train yesterday afternoon, Fred Sturns of No. 616 Sycamore-street, Hamilton, Ont., was thrown under the wheels. His left foot was so severely crushed that it was found necessary to amputate it.

Railway Officials in a Smash-Up.

Pittsburg July 20.—Two engines and a baggage car were demolished and a number of people injured on the Lake Erie road, near McKee's Rocks, by a coal train attempting to cross over the main track, and the passenger train crashed into the engine of the coal train. The injured are: Engineer John Cummings, Fireman Frank Johnson, Assistant General Passenger Agent Fouts, Division Passenger Agent R. H. Wallace, General Passenger Agent Myron Wood; Charles B. Leach, ticket agent at Youngstown, with three men whose names were not learned.

Three Causes Which Are Affecting Business in Canada.

New York, July 19.—Bradstreet's says: Grasshoppers and lack of rain have injured the crops in the Province of Quebec, and in Western Ontario the outlook is so unfavorable in some localities that cattle have been turned into wheat and hay fields.

General trade at Montreal is only fair, and requests for renewals have increased. Fears as to the consequences of the banking embarrassment there have subsided in large part. The general trade prospect there, as at Quebec City, is not bright, as it was 10 days ago. Business is quiet at Toronto, with a moderate improvement in demand, based on general crop prospects and the demand for wool from the United States. The outlook is favorable at Halifax and fair in Prince Edward Island. Drouth and forest fires have added to the disaster in Newfoundland, but the fishing season in that colony is said to have been uncommonly good. Bank clearings at Winnipeg, Toronto, Hamilton, Montreal and Halifax aggregate $20,073,000 this week. 20 per cent. less than last week, 5 per cent. smaller than in the week a year ago, 5 per. cent. larger than in the third week of July, 1893, and 10 per cent. less than in the like week of 1892. There are 29 business failures reported from the Canadian Dominion this week. Last week the total was 30, one year ago it was 40, and two years ago 40.

CYCLONE IN LAMBTON COUNTY.

Heavy Damage Reported at Courtright—Two Deaths and Several Drownings at St. Clair Mich.

St. Clair, Mich, July 18.—This afternoon a terrific wind struck here, approaching a hurricane in its velocity. Several yachts are said to have been overturned in the river, and two children were crushed under a falling chimney. They were the children of William Lee.

The Hotel Cadillac was unroofed, the tower of the Court House and City Hall was wrecked, and the roof lifted off. Trees and chimneys have everywhere been blown down, and telephone and telegraph wires prostrated. Heavy damage to property is reported at Courtright, Ont., across the St. Clair River.

The schooner Malta, consort of the steamer Maruba, was parted from the steamer and driven aground on a bar. It is feared several drownings have occurred.

WITH A BROKEN BACK.

Woman Struck By a Trolley Car Wanders About New York.

New York, July 19.—The police found a woman at Wooster and 4th-streets yesterday behaving in such a manner that she was arrested for intoxication. She was taken to the Mercer-street Station, where she became so ill that a doctor was called to examine her.

He said he thought her skull was fractured, and at his recommendation the woman was taken to Bellevue Hospital last evening in an ambulance.

There she told the doctors that she was Mrs. Jennie Williams of No. 130 Hudson-street, Hoboken, and that she had been struck by a trolley car in Newark three days ago, injuring her back.

Yesterday the pain became so bad that some friends she had come to visit in this city induced her to take a drink of whisky to relieve it. She drank the whisky, and remembered no more until she found herself in the police station.

When the hospital doctors examined Mrs. Williams they found that her back was broken. They do not think she can recover.

They Call the Child Marion.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., July 19.—The President and Mrs. Cleveland have named the little girl, now 12 days' old, Marion Cleveland. As in the case of both Ruth and Esther, no middle name is given.

Toronto Markets.

Flour—Trade is very quiet, and prices are unchanged. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.80 to $3.90, Toronto freights.

Bran—Bran is firm, selling at equal to $15.50, Toronto freights. Shorts $19.

Wheat—The market is quiet, with a limited demand. The feeling is easy, with sales of white and red, west, at 77c to 78c. No. 1 Manitoba hard sold at 93c, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade dull and prices easy, with sales at 57c to 58c, west.

Barley—Trade is dull, with little or none offering.

Oats—The demand is slow, and prices unchanged.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARBOLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

BIG PROFITS ON Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

Free from Eruptions

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

HE KILLED PITEZEL.

Holmes Has Made This One Admission.

MRS. PITEZEL NOW IN TORONTO.

To-Day She Will Identify the Bodies of Her Children It is Now Said Holmes Is Not Likely To Be Brought to Canada For Trial.

Toronto, July 19.—Mrs. Pitezel, mother of the victims of the S.. Vincent-street tragedy, arrived in Toronto last evening by the 8.35 C.P.R. train. The authorities were wired that she had left Chicago in a very nervous and enfeebled condition. The news of her expected arrival had spread through the city and a crowd of curious sightseers more morbid than considerate thronged the platform of the Union Depot when the train which bore the heart-broken woman arrived. Dressed entirely in black, with careworn and prematurely aged features hidden behind a heavy veil, the woman stepped from the train with an unsteady movement which betrayed the terrible nervous strain she had undergone.

The shock occasioned by the news of the discovery of the bodies of her children, followed by the long journey unattended and the reception accorded her at the Union depot, have completely unnerved Mrs. Pitezel, and it was not thought judicious to allow her to be interviewed last evening. Should the night's rest strengthen her sufficiently she will undergo to-day the terrible ordeal of visiting the Morgue to identify the ghastly forms upon the marble slabs as those of her daughters Etta Alice and Nellie, whom she last saw alive in St. Louis, Mo., in September last.

Will Try to Hold Him.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 18.—Slowly the web is being woven which will bring the stolid, secretive H. H. Holmes, now sitting in his lonely cell in Moyamensing Jail, before the bar of justice, where he will have to face the charge of murder, whether in Philadelphia for killing B. F. Pitezel or in Toronto for slaying the two little daughters of Pitezel. Holmes, since his one outbreak on Tuesday, has refused to talk to any extent, a decided change in demeanor, as before the discovery of the bodies in Toronto he was only too willing to suggest schemes for the recovery of the missing children. His attorney still sticks to the statement that if the bodies found in Toronto are really those of the Pitezel children, it must have been the man Hatch who killed them. Pitezel's body was buried in this city, but certain portions of it have been taken from the grave and are now in the possession of the officers of the insurance company victimised by the arch-conspirator Holmes.

"Holmes was all alone in this horrible crime," was the utterance of Special Assistant Barlow, "and that to my mind, is one of the most remarkable things about this great mystery. Every bit of evidence points to the fact that he worked alone, except to use others when aid was needed to hoodwink somebody. His only accomplice was Pitezel, and he was made away with. There is no doubt about it being Pitezel who was killed in the Callow Hill-street house, and it was his body that was found there. We have evidence to prove that which will satisfy the mind of any reasonable man. Twice Holmes has confessed that the body which was found incinerated at the house No. 1216 Callow Hill-street was that of Benjamin Pitezel."

"A job had been arranged to bring here the body of a college subject," said Holmes, "but Pitezel became scared, fearing the insurance people would detect him in the crime. He went on a spree, and while drunk committed suicide by taking chloroform."

At this important point Holmes quit, and failed to tell how the fire occurred that partially consumed the body. He has all along contended that he could produce Pitezel, but now admits that the man is dead and that he knows how the death occurred. It seems as if the prisoner is becoming rattled, and his suicide would not be surprising.

There is every assurance felt by the district attorney that Holmes can be convicted of Pitezel's murder. No indictment has yet been framed charging Holmes with the murder of Pitezel, but it is expected that the document will be drawn up in a few days.

The latest and perhaps one of the most important developments in the case today is the fact that the criminal's alleged wife is expected to reach the city inside of 12 hours. She has been summoned here by District Attorney Graham. Georgianna Yoke was the woman's name before she allied herself with Holmes. The latter's alias at that time was Howard. Miss Yoke took the name Howard after the alleged mariage at Franklin, Ind., the home of Miss Yoke's parents. This was shortly after Holmes' swindling operations in Chicago and elsewhere. The pair spent their honeymoon in Denver, where Holmes is said to have made $27,000 through crooked methods.

Working Up an Alibi.

The principal development in the Pitezel case to-day was the appearance on the scene of a witness who is to prove an alibi for Holmes of the charges of murdering the children in Toronto. The witness refused to give his name or where he is staying in the city. This afternoon a man of medium height, with remarkably bushy iron-grey hair and mustach, and chin whiskers also streaked with grey, went into the office of Lawyer Shoemaker, counsel for Holmes. The man had the appearance of a foreigner, and it was subsequently learned that he was a French-Canadian. Mr. Shoemaker and the stranger were together for some time. When the latter left the office he was accosted by the waiting reporters. In replying to the questions put to him he spoke with strong French accent and declined to give his name or address. He stated, however, that he had come from Toronto to Holmes' assistance. He said that he would be able to prove that he saw Holmes deliver the two Pitezel children to the care of mysterious Hatch, and that he also saw Holmes at Fort Worth, Texas. This was practicaly all that could be extracted from the man and his story was subsequently confirmed by Mr. Shoemaker. Mr. Shoemaker said that he would not tell the man's name until he had consulted with Holmes and that he would not the latter to-day.

Rivers-Wilson Coming.

London, July 18.—Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, President of the G.T.R., leaves for Canada on Aug. 7, and Mr. Price, the vice-president, on Aug. 11. Their visit is to inaugurate reforms in that service. Some reforms have already been instituted by instructions from the new board.

DENIAL BY MGR. GRAVEL

That There Was Any Intention to Influence the Privy Council.

Montreal, July 18.—A very distinguished foreigner passed through this city to-day in the person of Prof. L. Proscouriakoff, of the Russian Railway Department. Under instructions from the Czar, the professor goes to Ottawa to consult with the chief engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, with a view to obtain hints in the building of bridges, the same to be utilized, so it is said, in the construction of the Trans-Siberian Railway.

Archbishop Langevin and Bishop Gravel of Nicolet were both in the city to-day. His Grace of St. Boniface has adopted the Orangemen's watchword of "No Surrender," and says there can be no compromise, as far as His Lordship is concerned.

Mgr. Gravel made the following statement to the press: "It is not true that there was ever any intention of asking Rome to influence the Privy Council, and that this was to be done through Cardinal Vaughan. Cardinal Ledochowski, at the time of my visit to Rome, asked me what the Vatican could do in the matter, and suggested that it should call the attention of the British Government to this matter, and that this might be done through Cardinal Vaughan, as Cardinal Ledochowski was not acquainted with the British Ministers. You may rest assured," concluded His Lordship of Nicolet, "that there never was any idea of influencing the judges or of having any relation with them, and that Rome never so acts.

"What I had suggested was that the then Colonial Minister in London be reminded of the engagements made by the Colonial Minister of 1869, when promises and engagements were made with the Manitoba Catholics of those days. The honor of the British Crown was at stake in the matter, and we wanted Rome to tell the British Government that. On my return from Rome last January I found that my clergy were not quite acquainted with the true state of affairs, and for the purpose of informing them I wrote the letter. I also thought the question was finally settled by the judgment of the Privy Council, and I wanted to create a public opinion which would enable the Dominion to act in the matter and give the Catholics their rights."

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

UNLIKE ANY OTHER MEDICINE.

FOINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH.

SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It—Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record—Cures at the Nerve Centers, and Thus Cures Permanently—A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility—Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but by scientific methods he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health, only when the nerve centers are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centers. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centers, from which comes these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centers are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

STAB AT MR. LAURIER

Attempt to Depose His Brother From a Postmastership.

PAYING $300 A YEAR TO DO IT

Belgium Raises the Cattle Embargo, But Nothing Being Done to Induce Britain to Do Likewise—Changes Made in the Lumber Duties.

Ottawa, July 19.—The inauguration of a new system of party warfare was developed in the House of Commons to-day in the discussion on the St. Lin Postoffice scandal. St. Lin is a village in the County of L'Assomption, distinguished as the birthplace of the Liberal leader, whose brother is th epostmaster, keeping the postoffice in his store, which is situated in the centre of the place and readily accessible to everybody. The Government pay nothing for the use of this store, and nothing for light or fuel, yet they have decided to take the postoffice away and place it in a building is a distant quarter of the community, for which they have agreed to pay a rental of $300 a year. The building has never rented for a larger sum than $60 a year and is assessed for $1000. In thriving villages in western Ontario, where the postal revenue is double what it is in St. Lin, $784, the rental paid for the building where the postoffice is placed, varies from $40 to $60 per annum. Not a shred of justification was offered by the Governemut today for the removal of the postoffice, and it is clear that the only object was to wound the feelings of the Liberal leader by forcing his brother to resign the position of postmaster in his native shire. That men in public life should stoop so low as to treat a distinguished political opponent with such cruel vindictiveness and engage in such a paltry attempt to injure the family of an opponent is the strangest possible testimony as the men now engaged in administering the government of Canada. As if it was not bad enough to squeese Mr. Laurier's brother out of his office, in which he has given every satisfaction, it has been done by the perpetration of a job thus staining the birthplace of the Liberal leader with the ignominy of political corruption. So defenceless did the Government find themselves when threatened with a motion of censure that Mr. Foster asked the Opposition to withdraw the motion, but the Opposition very properly refused, and the motion was voted down.

Upon the motion to go into committee of ways and means Col. Prior, the Conservative member for Victoria, B.C., gave expression to the universal desire of the people of British Columbia for representation in the Dominion Cabinet.

Sir Richard Cartwright (to the ministers): Which of you will go?

Col. Prior, continuing, said that the friction which had sometimes occurred between the different departments of Government and persons in British Columbia would never have occurred had there been a representative in the Cabinet who was thoroughly well acquainted with the requirements of that part of the country. The Premier had said that he hoped the time was not far distant when locality would not be a factor in the selection of Cabinet ministers but that ability only would be the test. Year after year, the Colonel said, men were promoted to the Cabinet, not because of any particular ability, but because they happened to be representative French-Canadians, or Catholics, or Protestants, or Orangemen, or Nova Scotians.

Mr Foster made a conciliatory speech in reply, but no promise.

Sir Richard Cartwright, after expressing his sympathy with the desire of British Columbia, said that he would offer to Col. Prior a couple of prosaic but practical suggestions. He would say to the representatives of British Columbia they should remember that now was the time, and they must reflect also that if they wanted to make their desires felt they must kick as a united body. There was great worldly wisdom as well as scriptural warrant for the doctrine that there was much more joy over one sinner, let alone six sinners, that repented, than over the ninety and nine just men that needed no repentance. Col. Prior's object would probably be far better attained, not by attempting to secure for his province a Cabinet situation, but a controllership.

Mr. Lister brought the fact to the attention of the House, that the Minister of Public Works had awarded the contract for supplying coal to the departments to J. W. McRae & Co. of Ottawa, at $4.70 a ton, without calling for tenders. He produced a letter from T. G. Brigham, another dealer, undertaking to supply coal at $4.45 a ton.

Dr. Borden called the attention of the Government to the fact that whereas seed drills were being admitted at a rate of duty of 20 per cent., potato planters were being made to pay 35 per cent. He wanted to know whether it was the Government's intention to put those farmers who sow potatoes in a worse position than farmers who sow grain. He thought the potato planter was a seed drill, because the same machine sowed corn, peas and beans.

Mr. Foster replied that no changes were being made in the tariff this session, except those on whisky and sugar, for the purpose of raising revenue. He promised that the Government would take the most liberal interpretation of the tariff possible, and would be glad if it should be found that the planters could be rated as seeders.

In reply to a question, Mr. Foster read a letter just received by him from the Premier. It stated that the Belgian Government were instructing the Belgian Consulate at Ottawa, by mail, that Canadian cattle would be admitted freely into Belgium during the remainder of this shipping season, and that if no pleuro-pneumonia were discovered in them the embargo would be permanently removed.

Mr. Mulock rising brought the Government's attention to another phase of the cattle trade question and a more important one. He showed from the correspondence between Imperial and Canadian Governments, that on July 21, 1893, within a year of the imposition of the embargo the Board of Agriculture of England had written to the Canadian Government suggesting a course to be pursued for the purpose of clearing the reputation of Canadian cattle from the suspicion of disease. He showed also that, although the Imperial authorities had subsequently repeatedly reminded the Dominion Government of their suggestion, nothing had been done to meet their wishes. The suggested course was that Canada should engage some English veterinarians to make an examination of Canadian herds t omake a report as to whether there is any pleuro-pneumonia in this country. This suggestion, Mr. Mulock considered should have been followed. That it had not been was, in his opinion, a most regrettable and culpable thing. Canada was not in a position to dictate to England and even if the suggestions had been unreasonable the interests of the Canadian cattle trade should have required of the Government an attempt to meet them. It was, in his opinion, most unfortunate that the Government had not taken this view of their duty. Mr. Mulock's presentation of his facts and arguments was in an admirable spirit, and nothing more than the facts were needed to establish the Government's responsibility for not making any effort to persuade the Imperial authorities to remove the unfortunate embargo upon the cattle trade.

The Secretary of State, replying for the Department of Agriculture, said that in his present attack Mr. Mulock was no better advised than when he attacked the Government last session on the ground that the cattle quarantine regulations were being neglected. There had been no complaint with regard to the quarantine, and there could be no fault found in connection with the matter now introduced by Mr. Mulock.

Mr. McMullen took up the criticism and condemned the utter disregard with which the agricultural interests of the country have been treated. He hoped the Government and the Department of Agriculture would wake up to the importance of this subject. If Mr. Mulock's efforts should result in this happy consummation he would deserve the lasting gratitude of the farmers of Canada and would receive it.

Mr. Featherston added his opinion that this year, above all, the farmer would welcome the lifting of the embargo, because, with a great many cattle in the country, there was not going to be feed enough to carry them through the winter.

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50% less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

The jury viewed the remains and then W. S. Elliott, one of Undertaker Humphrey's assistants, deposed that the body which had been viewed was taken from the cellar at 16 St. Vincent-street. Esplanade Constable Williams testified to the bringing of the remains to the Morgue. The jury was then dismissed until called for. The coroner explained that the inquest was merely a formal one, in conjunction with the main inquest which is being held on the remains of Etta Alice Pitesel by Coroner Johnson.

"As Innocent as a New Born Babe."

Philadelphia, July 19.—Holmes was seen in his cell at Moyamensing by a World representative to-day, and contrary to his usual demeanor he manifested an eagerness to talk. When asked if he would explain the sudden and mysterious disappearance of the three Pitesel children, Howard, Alice and Nellie, he said: "I am as innocent as the new-born babe of the charge of murdering the Pitesel children. I don't believe they were ever murdered, and if they were I am not guilty. Why, the last time I saw the boy, Howard Pitesel, was in Indianapolis. Miss Williams was then in Detroit, and we had arranged that she take Howard east.

"So one afternoon I sent the boy to her in Detroit, intending to follow soon afterward. Before I reached Detroit, however, Minnie Williams had taken Howard east and stopped in Buffalo. I then came east with the two girls, and finally wound up in Toronto. We had been there a short time when my wife arrived. She knew nothing of the existence of the Pitesel children. Mrs. Pitesel, Dessie and the baby came to Toronto shortly after. Neither Mrs. Pitesel nor my wife nor Alice aand Nellie Pitesel knew of each other's presence in that city.

"I had good reasons for not letting Mrs. Pitesel know of the proximity of her two children, for she was then in very delicate health. We first thought of sending Mrs. Pitesel along with Minnie Williams and the three children to England, but her delicate health precluded that idea. The man Hatch was in Toronto at that time. Finally, it was decided to send Alice and Nellie Pitesel on to Niagara Falls, where Minnie Williams and Howard were. Everything was gotten in readiness for their departure, and I had quite a hard time keeping the children's presence hidden from Mrs. Pitesel.

"I escorted the children to the railway station. Hatch was there by pre-agreement. The four of us got on the train, and I rode probably a few miles out of the city with the children. When I was about to get off the train Hatch suggested that he accompany the girls a few stations further, so that there would not be any mistake about their tickets.

"Nellie and Alice were traveling on half fares, and I wanted to be sure that they got along on the whole ticket, which the conductor had not taken up when I left the train, so he went with the children, and he can tell where they are to be found if anybody can."

This talk of Holmes about the Toronto murders being done by a man named Hatch is the veriest nonsense," said District Attorney Graham. "Hatch is a myth. Holmes cannot produce a single person who has ever seen him. That explanation is to offimsy by far.

DECENTLY LAID AWAY

The Pitezel Babes at Last Get Christian Burial.

A FATAL SEARCH FOR A CORPSE

Had Two Men Give Up Their Lives in the Search for It—A Tank Explodes in Holmes' Chicago House With Fatal Effects.

Toronto, July 22.—Mrs. Pitezel left on Saturday for her parents' home in Galva, Ill. She was accompanied as far as Detroit by Detective Geyer, who goes to that city to continue his search for the remains of the boy, Howard. Mrs. Pitezel was in a very weakened condition, as a result of the nervous strain upon her during Friday afternoon, and evening. She remained in her room at the Rossin Saturday up to 5 o'clock, when she was taken by Detectives Geyer and Cuddy to witness the burial of the remains of her daughters, which took place at St. James' Cemetery. Undertaker B. D. Humphrey conducted the funeral, which was very quiet, only a few being present. The burial service was read at the grave.

The discovery of the bones in a Chicago house, which had been rented by Holmes, and which the authorities there say they will be able to prove are the remains of Minnie Williams, completely destroys the alibi which Holmes, through his counsel, has been setting up.

Mrs. Howard, Holmes' third wife, who was with him when he murdered the Pitezel girls in October last, Assistant District Attorney Barlow and Barrister Moon, counsel for Holmes, are expected in Toronto before the next sitting of the inquest. Mrs. Howard and Moon will spend their time in working up a defense for Holmes.

Mrs Holmes in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., July 21.—While the chain of evidence that is to convict H. H. Holmes, the insurance swindler, of the murder of the Williams sisters is not yet complete, it is being forged link by link, with every prospect of making a complete case. The original story sent all over that some jewelry and a number of bones, pronounced by physicians to be those of a woman, had been found, is not verified, and the police are putting very little credit in it.

The bones are said to have been found in a stove in the basement of the building where Holmes lived by Patrick Quinlan, the janitor, and given by him to a Philadelphia detective. The story was given credence to by a jeweler residing in the neighborhood, who said he recognized the jewelry as that worn by Miss Minnie Williams. Later in the day, however, he denied to the police that this statement was true.

Holmes' wife, who lives in Wilmette, was out at the scene of the search Saturday, making inquiry as to whether her husband had transferred the property before going to jail where he is now lodged in Philadelphia. She found that by means of a quit claim deed which he secured from her that he had put the property out of her reach, and went back disheartened. She told Dr. Robinson, who, with Jeweler Davis, rents a store in the building, that she hasn't a dollar in the world, and no means of support. She tried to sell a diamond ring which Holmes once gave her, but the doctor and Jeweler Davis thought it best not to make the purchase.

Quinlan, the janitor, who is said to have found the first traces of human bones in Holmes' store, went to Elgin last Monday to secure work, and will be brought back by the police that his story may be heard.

Detective Fitzpatrick has a clue to the place where the Williams girls boarded when working for Holmes, and an endeavor will be made to find out when Minnie was last seen.

A bottle of carbolic acid was found in a closet that was broken into. The label read, "Leland Hotel Pharmacy." Mrs. Loomis of 611 Wallace-street, who was formerly Holmes' housekeeper in 1889-90, was at the Sixty-third-street tenement to-day, and told about his queer actions when she was in his employ.

"Holmes would come to me one day," she said, "and tell me to pack his things for him in a valise as he had to go to Canada that night. I would get everything in readiness, and would suppose that he had left the house. The next day, or the day after, I would accidentally meet him walking through one of the upper hallways on tiptoe. He would be surprised and angry when I saw him, but would make some excuse about missing the train, and that he had just returned. He was always up to some sort of trick. I believe he told me those stories about going away so as to be able to establish an alibi. At the very time he was supposed to be away he was probably engaged in some crime."

To the long list of murders and other crimes already traceable to H. H. Holmes must now be added the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. I. L. Conner and her 12-year-old daughter, with a reasonable certainly that they have been disposed of in the same manner in which the rest of his victims met their death. Mrs. Conner and her child were last seen in the company of Holmes in this city in 1893. Since then all trace of them has been lost, and the detectives who have been working on the case are now of the opinion that the finding of their bodies is the only possible solution of the mystery. The search for Mrs. Conner and her child has not until lately been made on the theory that they had been murdered. It was pursued in an effort to locate the woman and get her away from the influence of Holmes, in whose net she had been trapped, and it was not until the disclosures of his work in connection with the Pitezel murders were made that her friends began to fear the lives of herself and child had been taken. Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Conner, with their 12-year-old daughter, came from Davenport, Ia., to Chicago, in 1889. Holmes at that time was beginning to execute the swindles for which he afterward became notorious. One of his schemes was the drug and jewelry store in the Englewood flats.

Conner, who was a jeweler, was employed to conduct the jewelry store and moved, with his family, into a flat above it. When Holmes had perfected his plan of robbing his creditors, he pretended to make a sale of the store and stock to Conner. Mrs. Conner was given a position as bookkeeper. Soon afterwards Holmes, wishing to get rid of Conner, furnished him with proofs of his wife's infidelity.

Conner promptly abandoned his wife, and she, it is alleged, became a partner in the nefarious schemes of Holmes. In this capacity she soon learned the character of the work he had in hand, and to a degree had him in her power. They had many violent quarrels, and in 1893 the woman and her child disappeared.

The theory of the people who have been investigating the case is that they were murdered to prevent exposure. If Mrs. Conner and her child are dead, as now seems almost certain, the list of murders with which Holmes is charged numbers eight, viz.: B. F. Pitezel, the three Pitezel children, the two Williams girls, and Mrs. Conner and child and there is a plausible theory for the crime in each case.

During to-day's search of the Englewood premises, formerly occupied by Holmes, three men, who were digging in the cellar, were seriously injured by an explosion of some sort of chemicals placed there by the confessed swindler and suspected murderer. The injured are: Tim Mulcale, Fire Marshal James Kenyon, and Charles Ohlset. Mulcale will probably die. The men were running a tunnel towards the street when they encountered a well that gave a hollow sound. When they broke through it they encountered an odor that indicated a charnel house. A plumber was sent for, and the men gathered about while he proceeded to investigate. The first thing the plumber did was to light a match. There was a terrific explosion inside the chamber, and flames poured out into the cellar. The only one that escaped uninjured was the plumber. Subsequently, when the chamber was opened up, a tank was discovered, in which Holmes had pretended to manufacture gas from chemicals. There was a small box in the centre of the tank. When this was opened by Fire Marshal Kenyon an ill-smelling vapor rushed out. All ran except Kenyon, who was overcome by the stench. He was dragged upstairs, and for two hours acted like one demented. He says his head still feels queer.

These incidents created great excitement in the neighborhood. There were more volunteers, and the tank was thoroughly searched, but nothing more was found. This tank was formerly in the centre of the cellar. Holmes had filled it with water, then tapped a gas main under the street, and conveyed the gas into the tank, and ran a pipe with many jets up through the water. He brought investors to view the tank, and while they were looking in would throw in 30 pounds of chemicals and light the gas. This was the great Holmes Gas Co., capital $50,000. He caught four men for $15,000. The Englewood Gas Company finally found where a big share of their output was diverted, and he was arrested for fraud.

More bones were found in the stove to-day, but they are so small, and the original outlines are so nearly destroyed, that they don't offer much of a clue.

A woman's shoe was found closely pressed into the crevices of the fire-brick of the stove, and several buttons partly charred turned up in the ashes. Late in the day the stove was taken down, and some hair was discovered in the chimney. The shoe is not large enough to consume a body unless it were cut into pieces.

Some years ago Chicago was startled by the bold kidnapping of little Annie Redmond, daughter of a South Side blacksmith. Her abductors, while keeping their identity a secret, admitted in a series of notes sent to the parents of the child their sole object was to hold her for a big ransom. The kidnapping, as afterwards proved, was done by a Mrs. Gurley, who some time later was arrested for the crime and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Mrs. Gurley refused to talk much about the case at the time, but threw out hints about having done the job for other parties. This was considered by the police to be done merely for effect, and no organised effort was made to look up the woman's associates. Since the exposure of Holmes' rascality it has been ascertained that the Curleys were not only neighbors of his at 63rd and Wallace-streets, but were on intimate terms with him. It is believed now that the abduction of the child was put up by Holmes.

The rib-like fragments found in the ashes under the stove in the room of the Holmes building at 63rd-street, and supposed to be the remains of the two missing Williams girls, were late last night subjected to a chemical test by Dr. C. P. Stringfield, and pronounced by him to be bits of fire clay. When matched together the pieces of fire clay formed a section of a circle which, if complete, would equal the inside circumference of a large stove.

Twenty men to-morrow morning, under the direction of detective sergeants, will continue the search of the cellar at 701 Sixty-third-street for more traces of the murderous work of Holmes. If there are any bones of Holmes' supposed victims the detectives expect to find them.

CAPTURED BY A CANADIAN.

A Member of the 13th Battalion of Hamilton Wins the Blue Riband, the Gold Badge and £250

Bisley Camp, July 20.—Pte. Hayhurst of the 13th Battalion and Boyd of the 3rd Lanarkshires tied at 279 each for first place in the Queen's Prize competition.

Pte. Hayhurst thus captures the gold medal, the gold badge and £250.

There was the wildest kind of excitement in camp. The winner was hoisted on a chair and borne by his comrades back to the Canadian headquarters, a band in front playing, "See the Conquering Hero Comes." Through long lines of excited volunteers the procession passed. The victory is a most popular one, and on all sides are heard congratulations for Canada and the plucky Hamiltonian who carries away Bisley's blue riband.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

It Cost Jakobowski, the Composer, $2500 to Call a Young Woman His "Tootsie Own Sweet One."

London, July 21.—A London jury has mulcted the composer Jakobowski of New York in the sum of £700 in a suit for breach of promise of marriage brought by the operatic artiste Carla Dagmar. No defence was made, the defendant failing to appear, so only the plaintiff's side of the story was heard. According to this, the defendant, after becoming engaged to the plaintiff, married in New York a widow named Brown. Shortly afterwards he wrote to Miss Dagmar's sister, saying: "Something has occurred, financially and otherwise, that obliges me to give back my promise to Carla. I can never support her, and am now utterly broke. Consider me a stranger in future."

In his letter to Miss Dagmar, the defendant called her his "Tootsie own sweet one," and declared that he was "greedy to kiss her."

Had Cut 14 Teeth at 18 Months

London, July 21.—A baby show for children of aristocratic parents has been held during the week past at the residence of Mrs. Robert Crawshay. The first prize for children under 1 year of age was awarded to Dermot, son of Lord Castle Cross, 11 months old, who weighed 33 pounds. The prize for weight and general development for children over 1 year old went to Angela, daughter of Lord Ashbourne, 18 months old, who weighed 28 pounds, and had cut 14 teeth.

A Candidate for Bulgaria's Throne.

New York, July 21.—(World cable.)—It is stated that Prince Adolphus of Teck, who married the daughter of the Duke of Westminster, is a candidate for the throne of Bulgaria.

This despatch would imply that Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria will have to go to make room for a successor satisfactory to both Russia and England.

Prince Ferdinand is now at Carlsbad, hiding himself from public places, and in constant dread of assassination. Stambuloff's death, which practically removes Russia's most powerful barrier in dealing with Bulgaria, will tend to complicate matters.

Prince Adolphus has a powerful influence behind him in England, and if Russia can be diplomatically arranged with his candidacy for the Bulgarian throne is sure to give Prince Ferdinand some uneasiness.

A FRIEND'S PLAIN TALK.

The soul of Don of Saturday night, good Conservative though he be, is stirred to the depths at the pitiable exhibition the Conservative administration at Ottawa is making of itself. He thus unburdens his disgusted soul: "The spectacle of the leader of the Opposition asking each man separately if he has "taken the pledge;" the idea that in a Canadian Parliament each Cabinet Minister's name must be written on a document before he is believed in, is a stigma upon the reputation of every Canadian. If we are listed as a nation of liars and contemptible wrigglers we can only blame the members of Government whose fuse to believe in one another and have made our country a spectacle amongst nations by demanding pledges and personal assurances which it has not been the habit of honourable gentlemen to give anywhere. I am a Conservative, but I am not proud of my party; I am a Canadian, and the attitude that our Government has occupied for the last few weeks has made me almost ashamed of acknowledging my nationality. We are posturing before the other nations of the world as a thoroughly corrupt and spineless aggregation of political nobodies. How can any man take a pride in his country when the conduct of his government is so absolutely venal? Is it any wonder that we are nationally unsuccessful and generally despised? How can honest men stomach the performances which have made the closing days of our Federal Parliament stink to heaven? Of what material are we made that we permit people to conduct public business in the name of the Canadian nation in this manner? What Conservative is there, who is not the hireling and tool of a ward politician, who can, without a blush of shame, confess to a decent neighbour that he belongs to the party? In the old days of France when politics were most corrupt, a bitter critic once stigmatized a minister as having the manners of a dancing master and the morals of a prostitute, and to-day our whole Government occupies quite as disgraceful an attitude; it can change its step and pose and perform, but what of its morals?—not personally, for it is unnecessary to go into that sort of thing, but politically. We drive the strumpet from our streets and politically we seem to drive them into Parliament instead of into the Reformatory. Why is it conceivable that there should be any political partizan discipline powerful enough to hold men who represent men, not things, into the servile and sycophantic attitude of permitting great big nobodies and demagogues like Ouimet—men who are political bloaters—to coerce Ontario and all the provinces that have any sentiment outside of subsidies and purchasable representatives? The devil himself could not suggest a more contemptible parliament. Not half a score of men seem to dare possess their own souls. Whoever resigned from our Parliament or from lucrative office because the business was so dirtily conducted as to become unendurable! How is it Ministers remain in position as they do? Is it not for the salary? In our system men are elected to office and promoted to the Cabinet because they are so poor that they cannot resist the coercion of our contemptible politics. It is to be hoped that this is really a crisis and that it may produce a change. If we have reached the lowest depths, decent people may now take hold of politics and reorganize them. If not, what is to become of Canada?

SINCE Sir Oliver Mowat has been presented with the freedom of Wick, it is now quite in order for the Hamilton Spectator to refer to him as the "Wicked Partner"

THE Liberals have in the past day or two done better in the British elections, but they cannot recover their lost ground, and will be, numerically, much over-weighted in the House.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE'S election by acclamation for his old constituency, South Longford, is a disproof of the rumour that he is tired of Imperial politics and a proof of his popularity. By the look of things at present, however, Home Rule won't cut much of a figure in the next House.

THE prolonged absence of rain is a serious matter. Not only are the crops destroyed, but the levels of the waters in our great lakes is becoming seriously low. The waters on our lakes seem to be gradually and permanently lowering from natural causes, and now there is another danger. The Chicago Drainage Canal, now being constructed at a cost of twenty one millions of dollars, will, when completed next year, affect the water levels of the great lakes. The engineer of the canal admits that it will lower the lakes by three inches; other engineers estimate that its effects will be more serious. The American Government, acting on the representations of American lake cities, have appointed a commission of three eminent engineers to investigate this summer and report. If this canal is to lower the water in the great lakes, it becomes a question whether Canada, which is deeply interested, has not the right to make objections to its operations. This is certainly a matter which the Government of this country should look into.

THE New York Banking Journal pays the Canadian system of banking a high compliment in its reference to the suspension of the Banque du Peuple. The system was highly praised, and its adoption advocated by the Bankers' convention recently held in the States. The Journal points with admiration to the fact that while the broken bank has $786,000 outstanding in notes, that amount "is easily taken care of by the Redemption fund accumulated by the Canadian Government out of a bank circulation tax, and amounting to $1,800,000." It, however, expresses the fear that the Canadian system, good though it be, might not be practicable in the United States on account of the magnitude of the financial doings in the Republic, and cites the fact that in 1893 some 140 banks failed in the United States, and adds that these 140 failures would have wiped out any redemption fund which had the proceeds of a 5 per cent. tax as its only basis. But the system, if it is in theory as good as the banking authorities confess, can doubtless be adapted in some way to the requirements of the Americans, and made available for their use in practice.

THE RAILING GAVE WAY.

A Buffalo Woman Falls 150 Feet Into the Niagara Gorge.

Niagara Falls, July 21.—Mrs. Charles Grahm of Buffalo fell over the high bank on the Canadian side in front of the Clifton House about 4.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Grahm came down for a day's outing, and was accompanied by Mrs. George Auer of No. 354 North Division-street and her little daughter Irene. The party was walking along the sidewalk between the tracks of the electric railway, and the iron railing that skirts the bank. At a point that is called the Clifton House dump she reached to a high trailing vine to pick a bunch of green berries. The railing gave way, and she was precipitated 150 feet below, landing upon the refuse that has been thrown over the bank. Everybody expected that she had been killed, but when the rescuing party reached her it was seen that she breathed, and she was taken to the Maid of the Mist dock and up the roadway there to the Parkside Inn, near the Clifton House, and a physician summoned. Here she regained consciousness, inquired what had happened to her, and complained much of her back. Mrs. Grahm weighs nearly 200 pounds, and is 40 or 45 years of age.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS CRIME.

Burned His Employer's Barn and Then Deliberately Drowned Himself.

St. Catharines, Ont., July 21.—A barn belonging to Stewart Jones, a colored farmer of Grantham Township, was burned on Saturday night about midnight, and about $500 damage done to the barn and contents. The fire was of incendiary origin, and is supposed to have been caused by a colored man named Hogan, formerly employed by Jones, who has disappeared and is supposed to have committed suicide by jumping into the new canal. He has a peculiar walk, and his footsteps were traced from the barn to the canal bank, where his hat, stick, vest and purse were found. A party have been dragging the level all day, trying to find the body, but so far without success. Hogan was 70 years old.

KILLED WHILE PLAYING GHOST.

A Young Man Loses His Life Trying to Frighten a Companion

Niagara, July 21.—A sad affair took place near Six-Mile Creek some time last evening, in which a young man named George S. Rodgers lost his life while playing a practical joke on an Italian named Dominick, employed by Mr. Frank Havens as a farm hand. The two young men were cocking hay, when Rodgers left the field, and, going to the house, returned with a sheet, intending to frighten the Italian, who has a mortal fear of ghosts. Enveloping himself in the sheet, he hid behind a cock of hay, and as the Italian came along suddenly sprang up before him. The Italian, being nearly frightened to death, quickly thrust his pitchfork into Rodgers' eye, inflicting injuries from which he died almost immediately. Nothing has as yet been done with the Italian.

It is your duty as well as privilege to look young as long as you can. One way to do so is by dressing your hair with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It causes the hair to retain its colour and fullness to a late period in life, and keeps the scalp in good, healthy condition.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Philip H. Brant, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results."

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 68 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

VICTORY CONFINED TO NO SECTION

Local Conditions Were Not a Factor in the British Elections—A List of the Distinguished Statesmen Who Will Stay at Home.

New York, July 21.—Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune as follows: The old story about Noah's friend, who thought it would not be much of a shower after all, has been on many Liberal lips this week. Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour, Mr. Chamberlain and all their relatives have been in the ark with the full Unionist menagerie, and have been very comfortable, especially Mr. Chamberlain; but the troubled waters outside have been rising steadily over the despairing Liberals. No political party in England was ever overwhelmed with a more disastrous defeat; there has been nothing like it for three generations. All the great towns have turned against the Liberals, and the counties have followed the boroughs. All the local issues on which the party leaders depended have been repudiated. Derby has gone against the local veto. Welsh disestablishment has been answered by Unionist gains in Cardiff, Pembroke and Swansea. The London program has produced a remarkable turnover of Liberal votes to the Unionists. The democratic budget made no friends anywhere. Newcastle rejects Home Rule in the person of its chief English advocate, Mr. Morley. Lancashire, with its industrial hives, is not more emphatic than the agricultural shires in declaring against the Newcastle program. The Unionist gains are not confined to any section, class or industrial interest. The swing around of the constituencies is general and independent of local conditions. It has involved in some instances the turning of over 2000 votes in three years.

The result is so stupendous that all partisan attempts to explain it away are futile. Some apologists began by charging the working classes with treachery, the Irish faction with stupidity, and local constituencies with ingratitude; but, in the face of the general demoralization of Liberal voters, this is mere beating of the air. Other commentators assert that the party has been punished because it committed the fatal blunder of choosing a peer to head the assault upon the House of Lords; but the sight of the prostrate form of Sir William Vernon Harcourt outside the breastworks of Derby does not give color to that assumption.

Another explanation tends to show that the electors have not repudiated Liberal principles, but only condemned Liberal tactics; but that is too fine a distinction. Modern democracy does not split hairs in choosing between parties. Principles and tactics go together when the sheep are divided from the goats in a national election. The bi-metallists also contend that their issue was of paramount importance, and certainly it was a factor of the result in Lancashire and other industrial centres, although it was less influential in the agricultural shires; but it is plain that the general elections have not been carried on the currency question.

The safest generalization that can be formed is that, with Mr. Gladstone in retirement, Mr. Parnell dead, the Irish party rent with feuds, and the Liberal leaders unable to carry out the Newcastle program, and unwilling to make an aggressive fight against the Lords, the people have considered it necessary to have a change, and to give Mr. Chamberlain a chance to show what he can do with his Tory democracy. To this may be added the fact that the Unionists had a superior organization and all the money they needed for a successful canvass. The Liberals lacked leaders, organizers, candidates and money. The mortality among the Liberal leaders has been remarkable. Seven official or semi-official members of the last Government have been already defeated. There is a marked contrast between Sir William Harcourt's manner of accepting a situation and Mr. Morley's retirement from Newcastle before the Unionists had finished laughing over his misfortune. Sir William Harcourt was at Tredegar fighting for the Welsh seat with his usual aggressiveness. Mr. John Morley, in his hour of defeat, thanked his followers for their devotion and zeal, praised his opponents for treating him with fairness and courtesy, and accepted his own fate like a philosopher. Mr. Arnold Morley, Mr. Shaw-Lefevre, Sir John Hibbert and Sir E. J. Reed have all lost their places on the front Opposition bench. An evening journal facetiously suggest that Sir Augustus Harris may be willing to supply "supers" from the Grand Opera to fill their seats. Mr. Asquith, Mr. Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Herbert Gladstone are safe, the last plucked like a brand from the burning. Mr. Speaker Gully was also re-elected, despite the intervention of Mr. Balfour.

Mr. Rider Haggard had a melancholy experience in East Norfolk, where he was defeated after being mobbed by rioters, who would have been more congenially employed in the wilds of Zululand than in an election scramble of a peaceful agricultural county of England.

Exclusive of to-day's pollings, the Unionist gains are 62, equivalent to a majority of about 100, with a probable majority of 140 in the next Parliament. The current is running strongly in one direction and steadily increasing in power. It is probable that their majority will exceed 120 when the elections are closed. This majority will release Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour from dependence upon Mr. Chamberlain, whose political aims and ambitions would have been better served by a less sweeping victory. While the Liberals have been harassed three years with a small majority, the Unionists may be embarrassed by having one so big as to be unmanageable.

If any Unionist leader can claim a large share of the credit for the victory, it is Mr. Chamberlain. He prevented the passage of Mr. Gladstone's first Home Rule bill, organized the Unionist coalition, and held it together during the present canvass. His scheme of Tory democratic reform has been accepted by the electors as a practical substitute for the Newcastle program. As a tactician and organizer, he has no superior in English politics, and the Liberal rout is due in large measure to his practical talent in that line of work, as Mr. Middleton, the chief Conservative agent, will not deny. But Mr. Chamberlain has always been a restless and unmanageable Ministerial colleague. Even now he has taken so active a part in the canvass, and is triumphing over the results of the election so ostentatiously as to obscure Mr Balfour's prestige of leadership. His success, moreover, in providing handsomely for all his political followers has excited the resentment of some old Tories. With a narrower majority, Mr. Balfour would be at Mr. Chamberlain's mercy; with a large majority the notes of Tory democracy may go to protest, like the irredeemable fiat currency of the Rosebery Government.

The Irish elections are hotly contested in factional fights. Mr. Redmond is doing more than holding his ground and may have a baker's dozen of seats before the pollings close. Mr. Healy, having had a break with Messrs. Dillon, Blake and McCarthy, may be forced ultimately into an alliance with Mr. Redmond. A leader with a strong will like Parnell is needed to restore the prestige of the Irish cause, but no man of his stature and commanding genius is now in sight. The unopposed return of Mr. John Daly for Limerick, while he is in prison, is an unfortunate incident.

The Independent Labor party has lost most of its strength in the Commons, although it has forced the Liberals in many boroughs to recognize its influence.

Keir-Hardie has been beaten, and John Burns has had a narrow escape in Battersea, through the third party movement. Many Liberal seats were sacrificed, and the labor cause has been set back a decade in the Commons.

Many partisans proclaim that the Liberal party has been destroyed. That was said also in 1874, but the party returned to power triumphantly in six years. Great parties do not die easily.

A Heaven Sent Moses

New York, July 21.—Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: Ex-Home Secretary H. H. Asquith turning up with a notably-increased majority is in its way quite as dramatic an episode on the electoral battlefield as Harcourt's phenomenal tumble at the very outset of the fight. His defeat had been so entirely taken for granted that bets of 10 to 1 against him were offered satirically in the National Liberal Club Thursday night, amidst laughter at the notion that anybody would be silly enough to take them. Naturally the amazement at his victory, which is wholly a personal triumph over immense odds, is promptly followed by the excited conclusion that he is a heaven-sent Moses who is to lead the Liberals out of the wilderness, and people talk as if he would be hailed with acclamation at once as the leader of the party. This is not the case. No voice will be raised when the forlorn remnants of the party get together in opposition to Harcourt's re-election as its chief in the House of Commons.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

A New Fire Team.

The members of the Fire, Water and Light Committee are wasting a good deal of money by hiring a horse for corporation work instead of buying one immediately. "Too many cooks spoil the broth," and as long as the entire committee sits in judgment on every horse submitted for inspection, an agreement will never be reached. Councillors Brady and Dawson made a good choice in purchasing the last horse from Mr. John Hull, of Lakefield, and and might be entrusted with the buying of the one that is now needed.

THE STREET RAILWAY AND THE GENERAL ELECTRIC CO.

Their Little Trouble on Saturday.

The apparent trouble on Saturday between the Street Railway Company and the Canadian General Electric Company attracted considerable public attention and comment, and inquiry into the matter reveals the source of the difficulty, at least from one point of view.

The President of the Street Railway Company informs the EXAMINER that on Saturday about 11 o'clock the Electric Co. expressed a wish to test a car, built, it is said, for the Belleville Street Railway Company, and to use for this purpose the tracks of the railway company. The Electric Works superintendent was informed that the line could not be used for that purpose as the railway company had all their cars in use and the test would interfere with traffic. The president says that the reply received from the Electric Company was to the effect that they were going to make the test and put on a car under the agreement. The superintendent insisted upon moving the new car, and the President of the Street Railway Company instructed his superintendent to cut the wires near the entrance to the Electric Company's premises—just outside the gates. In addition one of the street railway cars was left on the track at this point, and placed in charge of three or four men to prevent its being shoved out of the way by the more powerful cars, the Electric Company wished to place under test.

The clause of the agreement entered into on April 13th, 1893, when the franchise was transferred from the Electric Company to the Street Railway Company, upon which the President justifies his action of Saturday, is as follows:

And that the Electric Company shall be entitled to use the tracks of the Street Railway Company for the purpose of testing any new equipments or appliances for street railway purposes, manufactured, owned or held for sale by the Eclectric Company, provided always that such use of tracks shall not unduly interfere with the ordinary running and operation of the street railway system.

The President states further that in the several tests heretofore made of new electric cars there has resulted serious interference with the traffic of the Street Railway Company.

In reference to the affair of Saturday the Superintendent of the Company was called upon and he stated that he had nothing to communicate in reference to the matter.

A special meeting will be held this evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of starting a ladies circle of the Emerald Beneficial Association. All the young ladies of St. Peter's Cathedral are urgently requested to be present. The Organizer will address the ladies on the aims and objects of the Association. 2d Better Look Out.

School Trustee Bell, of Toronto, who has been waging war on "bloomers," had better be warned in time. The new bicycle woman is not to be trifled with. A Mrs. Wackenbarth, of London, England, got off her wheel the other day and administered chastisement to a young woman who made remarks about her "knickers." A witness said that the fair bicyclist pulled her opponent's hat off, broke the pins in it, pulled her hair, knocked her down and pulled her across the street by the hair. She was fined $3.

Toronto Industrial Fair.

An unbroken record of successes in the past is the best possible guarantee that the Toronto Industrial Exhibition of 1895, which opens on the 2nd of September, will be a display of unrivalled attractiveness. Many improvements in the buildings and grounds have been made to further the convenience of exhibitors and the public, and with the return of an era of prosperity the enterprise of the management will doubtless be rewarded by a thorough appreciation of the inducements offered. The volume of exhibits this season will be larger and more diversified than ever before, and special attractions of a brilliant and exciting character will be presented, including the novel military spectacle, "The Relief of Lucknow," with gorgeous Oriental accessories and pyrotechnic effects on a scale of grandeur and variety hitherto unequalled. The system of cheap railway fares and special excursions from far and near enables all to visit the fair at trifling cost and everyone should take advantage of the opportunity, as it embodies all that is best worth seeing and knowing in mechanical progress and scientific invention. All entries close on the 10th of August.

SOMETHING TO THE POINT.

And a Pointer to Others to go and do Likewise.

The following communication and its important accompaniment is very much in the line of the "pure religion and undefiled," which St. James writes about:

PETERBOROUGH, July 22nd, 1895.

Mr. F. W. Miller, Agent of the Children's Aid Society:

DEAR SIR,—Enclosed please find $3.00 as a contribution from Cold Springs Union Sunday school, of Otonabee, to assist the work of the Children's Aid society of the County of Peterborough. Wishing the Society success in its necessary and praiseworthy work, we remain

Yours very truly.

M. W. MATCHETT,
Supt. Cold Springs Union S. S.
LAURA BENNETT,
Secretary Cold Springs Union S. S.

[No doubt the Coldsprings Sunday school, in spite of its frigid title, has a warm heart. It has in its history undoubtedly sent considerable money to the heathen, but it is safe to say that it never placed $3 in a better place than in the coffers of this society.

The work of the Children's Aid Society is one that deserves much greater practical encouragement than it receives. It is capable of grand work, but it must have the financial means. The example of the above Sunday school is one that should be extensively imitated.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Rev. Father Scanlan is Presented with a Cane in Lindsay.

On Friday evening some forty or fifty of the prominent members of St. Mary's congregation assembled at the C.M.B.A. rooms Lindsay, to bid adieu to Rev. Father Scanlan, curate of St. Mary's church for the past three years, on the eve of his departure for Peterborough.

Upon the arrival of the guest of the evening, accompanied by Very Rev. P. D. Laurent, V.G., and Rev. Father Brethertton, of Downeyville, Mr. Thos. Brady was voted to the chair.

In a few brief sentences that gentleman explained the object of the gathering, and was followed by Mr. A. P. Devlin, county crown attorney of Victoria, who in fitting language bore testimony to Father Scanlan's great popularity in the parish, and said that while all regretted his departure the keen edge was taken off their sorrow by the knowledge that his transfer to the Cathedral should be looked upon in the light of a promotion. They could not permit him to depart, however, without conferring upon him some slight evidence of their regard, consequently they must ask him to accept a gold-headed cane and a purse of gold.

Rev. Father Scanlan returned thanks in feeling terms, and said he regretted very much having to leave Lindsay congregation, and especially Vicar-Gen. Laurent, his very kind and indulgent superior, but he was not going far away and hoped to be able to visit them often.

Short addresses were then delivered by Vicar-Gen. Laurent, Rev. Father Brethertton, Dr. Lynch, Mr. A. D. Mallon, Mr. A. O'Boyle, and Mr. Wm. Steers.

The cane presented to Rev. Father Scanlan was a very handsome one, and bore a suitable inscription.

THROUGH THE RAIN AND MUD TO BURLEIGH.

MUD-BESPATTERED WHEELMEN RIDE TO THE LAKES.

They are led to the River by their Friends, and Stand in the Water until their Clothing is Cleaned — A Good Samaritan Looks after Their Comfort Afterwards.

Half the town did not spend Sunday inhaling Burleigh ozone after all, as the threatening appearance of the sky was something that the more cautious were afraid to brave.

On Saturday night a large carriage load drove out from town, and the first of the wheelmen made their start at about seven o'clock in the morning, reaching the Falls without getting much of the mud.

A couple more got away at about half past nine, and got within a couple of miles of Burleigh before the heavy rain caught them, although a couple of light drizzling showers had passed over

AS THEY RODE ALONG.

When the skies opened up they promptly took refuge in a farm house, and resolved to wait in this refuge until the rain passed over.

A well-known George street grocer was the next to make a start, and although the clouds looked black he sped away and by hard riding made Young's Point before the rain forced him to dismount and avail himself of the shelter afforded by the nearest hotel. Jupiter Pluvius, however, seemed to enjoy the joke of cooping the wheelmen up when so near their destination and the rain poured steadily down, without showing the slightest inclination to stop or lighten up in the least.

He who was confined in the hotel finally lost all patience and mounting his wheel sallied forth into the pouring rain. As his wheel ran through the first pool of water it carried a pound or two of slush up the bicyclist's back and deposited the greater portion of it on when it could take its choice of coming down outside or inside his clothing. His upper garments were well plastered before he had gone half a mile, and by the time his wheel had slipped a few times while traversing the pools his nether clothing was in as bad condition. He passed the two fairweather wheelmen in the farm house, but even if they had chanced to see him riding by they would never have recognised the neat George street business man in his mud bespattered condition.

Arrived at Burleigh he was given a wheelman's welcome, after which he was escorted to Pear's Creek, where he boldly waded out up to his neck and allowed the water to work its will with his clothing as being the most effective way of cleansing them. He could get no wetter as the rain to that part of the business only too assiduously. The swiftly running water acted speedily and after about five or ten minutes of this treatment he walked forth, minus the mud, and was taken in hand and clothed in dry garments by W. P. S. B. Lech, who has been re-christened and will be henceforth known as "The Good Samaritan."

The two wheelmen, who were only a couple of miles away from Burleigh in the farm house, thought that they observed a break in the clouds and essayed forth to complete their trip, but they had not gone a hundred yards, when old Jupiter Pluvius, laughing in his sleeve at his clever trick to draw them forth, opened the floodgates of the skies and when they reached Burleigh they were unrecognisable through their plastering of mud.

THEY WERE LED GENTLY

to the rapid river where in a few minutes they were identified as members of the bicycle club in good standing. Once again did Mr. Lech do the good Samaritan act and the boys soon stepped forth in their borrowed plumes but feeling most comfortable.

At four o'clock a start was made for home by five of the wheelmen, and although it wasn't raining they were liberally bespattered with mud before they reached Peterborough. Riding in single file, all close together, each man received a couple of pints of water in the face whenever the man ahead of him rode through a puddle of water. As the wheels plunged through these puddles the boys say that the slush flew in every direction.

After their experience the five riders state that they are willing to challenge any team in the district for a mud race.

All were able to get out to business this morning, and appear none the worse for the trip, although the wheels are a sight to be seen.

It was too wet to do any fishing at Burleigh, so the day was quietly spent in smoking on the broad verandah.

You cannot be well unless your blood is pure. Therefore purify your blood with the best blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla.

CRICKET.

A very interesting and amusing cricket match was played on Saturday afternoon between the bachelors and benedicts of the Peterborough cricket club. For two days and two nights previous did the bachelors brace each other up for the conflict. No stone was left unturned to get together the most formidable aggregation of bachelors that ever appeared on a Peterborough cricket field. Amongst their numbers were found Dave Rogers and Perry Goldsmith, fresh from Philadelphia, where they had covered themselves with glory by the excellent work they had achieved against leading teams in the United States. No wonder then that the benedicts, many of whom are rapidly passing into the "sere and yellow leaf of old age," had little hope of victory. Three of their team failed to put in an appearance and substitutes had to be secured. Mac. Poussette and Perry Goldsmith, owing no doubt to their matrimonial proclivities, offered their services to the benedicts, but their offer met with a polite but dignified refusal.

Many old timers were found on the field. Mr. E. A. Peck was the hero of the day. Finch Miller swore by the 57th Battalion band that he has not had a bat in his hand since he came to the country, but nevertheless he displayed his ability to stop a hot grounder. Principal Smith, of the Central School, did more leather hunting than any man on the field, and he did did it well.

The Benedicts went to bat first, facing the bowling of Rogers and Goldsmith. Stocker was soon a victim to one of "Intercollegiate" Goldsmith's breaks. Stocker, claimed that Goldsmith bowled him when he was not looking, and there is some truth in the assertion. Ray played patiently and well for his 13. The score for the Benedicts was made by Peck. His 28 was made without giving a chance. President Rogers, from whom so much was expected, met with hard luck and was disposed of for a duck. The total score was 63.

The Benedicts then took off their coats and marched bravely to the field. Stocker and Rogers did the trundling. Goldsmith was missed twice off Stocker before he had made a run. This seemed to discourage the bowlers, and scoring began in real earnest, Goldsmith especially distinguishing himself at the bat. He knocked the ball all over the field and into the surrounding pastures. The score of the day was made by Edmonds, who is rapidly becoming a star player. He and Goldsmith (jr.) made a determined stand and the score rose rapidly. All the bachelors batted well, but had the bowling of the benedicts been up to the mark the result would have been different. Drum-Major Packenham fielded brilliantly for the benedicts.

Messrs. Perry Goldsmith, Col. Rogers and D. B. Rogers have contributed to the Grace Testimonial, and the total amount of the Peterborough subscriptions, amounting to $3.50, was forwarded to-day.

Brighton defeated Campbellford on tha Brighton grounds Friday. Score: Brighton, 52 and 102; Campbellford' 57 and 71. How is it that Peterborough can get on no matches, whilst this whole district is swarming with cricket clubs! The management appears to be slow.

THE WHEEL.

This evening the adjourned meeting of the wheelmen of the town will be held in the Brantford Agency rooms on Simcoe street, and it is hoped the gathering will be even larger and more representatives than the last one. It will be remembered that a committee will report on the terms upon which rooms can be procured, and it is probable that the report will also contain a number of recommendations concerning the policy of the club. Every one interested in the advancement of bicycling in Peterborough should make it a point to be present at the meeting which will be called to order at eight o'clock sharp. Large numbers of the business men of the town are enthusiastic wheelmen and they are particularly urged to be present to give a word of advice to the younger riders. The last meeting was a great success and did much to re-awaken an interest in bicycling. Every wheelman should do his best to make this meeting as successful and should not come alone but bring a brother bicyclist with him.

"The Elbow" is the name of the latest wrinkle used to advantage in "quear riding." When the men are bunched closely toward the finish of a race the man near the pile is suddenly lifted in the direction of the grass by the rider to his right hoisting the pole man's handle bar up with the aid of his elbow. The unfortunate getting the "touch" is compelled to sit up and must therefore lose his position and incidentally the race.

The Campbellford Bicycle Club will probably hold a race meet on August 16th.

In certain European cities, where the practice of licensing wheelmen is in vogue, the applicant must prove that he is a master of his machine before a license is issued to them. I would like to similarly see every Canadian path aspirant put through his facings. Spills in novice and class races are now alarmingly frequent, just because in very many instances the riders cannot control their wheels when moving at a high rate of speed.

The Annerley 24 hours' race run off at Putney, England, recently, was won by Fontaine, who placed 474 miles and 1,568 yards to his credit, the second man, Paterson, being eight miles in the rear. Paterson led to the twentieth hour, when he became "baked" and was passed by the winner. His trainer revived him in the last hour by the application of ice to the spine and he made up a lot of ground.

Wheelmen as a class, says the American Cyclist, are prone to the abuse of oil. A half-ounce of good oil is enough to supply a bicycle for a year's time if rightly applied; but the average cyclist gets away with slathers of it. For the purpose of lubrication it is only necessary that the bearing surfaces be protected by the thinnest imaginable film of oil, and if you pour half an ounce of oil on the surface of a millpond and observe the size of the film that it forms on the water you will readily see that in film production a very little oil goes a great way.

Use your oil in drops, not in streams. You are not oiling up a locomotive but a bicycle, and a drop or two in each bearing is sufficient for many miles of travel. Prodigality in the use of oil is not to be condemned on account of its cost, for oil is cheap; but it is a form of wastefulness which keeps your machine in a nasty and unsightly condition, attracts dirt and grit to the bearings, and transmits grease-spots to your clothes.

The unctuousness of oil is such that it will find its way through most of the so-called oil-tight devices for holding it in check, and so the neat and safe carriage of it becomes something of a problem for the cyclist. Most tool bags in every day use are pretty thoroughly saturated and consequently disagreeable to handle and offensive to the nose. There are, however, to be had certain "oilers" so securely packed and sealed that, if carefully used and kept in order, they are perfectly safe for the tool-bag.

In oiling always be particularly careful never to annoint the tires, for oil is as bad for rubber as it is good for many other things.

Sid Black, the Cleveland trick cyclist, will probably be one of the attractions at the local meet on August 15th. The Wanderers' Club, of Toronto, will probably be in attendance in a body, with their famous band, which was so popular at Waterloo. Mr. Geo. Orr, Chairman of the Racing Board, will be the referee at the meet.

MY WHEEL.

The following lines are contributed to The Wheelman by Mr. Frederick Abbott, of London, the eminent Canadian elocutionist, who in addition to his love of poetry; possesses an enthusiastic fondness for cycling:

I hev read John Saxe's poem 'bout "A riden on the Rail";
En I've heer'd some fellers tellen 'bout the fun ther's in a sail,
But I want to tell you stranger that you'll never never feel
Like's et you kin lick creation, until you kin ride a wheel.

You kin brag about yer driven en yer shooten on the lake,
But they's simply jest "not in it" to a spinnen on a Bike,
And as to yer getten pleasure from a fish-pole line or reel,
You are only wasten life man! Go en get yerself a wheel.

Now as speaken for example; you can go en take a run
While the due is on the clover all a dancen in the sun,
While the daisies in the medders en the leaves upon the trees
Are a'bowen en a'nodden to the gentle mornen breeze.

When the soft-ting'd mornen glory en the golden butter cup,
En the holly-hocks en four o'clocks a jest a getten up,
Er ef you hed rather take it when the shadders softly steal,
You kin get a sight of pleasure from a "run out" on yer wheel.

You can go out with yer sister, er some other feller's girl,
En it don't make eny diff'rence ef you want to take a whirl
With a score of girls en fellers; it will make you fairly reel
With intoxicated rapture when you go to mount yer wheel.

They kin sing about their "Riden on the Rail" en all sech like,
But I'll take out my enjoyment by a riden on my bike;
En when e'er I get to Heaven I shall try to make a deal
For some spins around the pavements on my old pneumatic wheel.

BASEBALL.

The Lindsay Post speaks as follows concerning a game of baseball which took place there on Friday last:—"Yesterday the game of baseball announced for five o'clock between the Lindsay boys and the so-called Lifford team did not start until half-past five, some of the Lindsay players being late. The opposition team comprised four players from Lifford, four from Peterborough and one from 'Varsity team, Toronto. * * * * Just here Lytle, the greatest "kicker" that ever set a foot on a diamond, thought it was about time to gain a little notoriety and began to let off steam for fear of bursting a valve, afterwards leaving the field for the sole purpose of killing time and having the boys all know him the next time he comes to town. It took some time to coax him back, and had it not been for the gentlemen they were playing with, and the good-nature of the umpire, they would have lost the game as it stood. However, after a time he came back and went to bat, reaching first on a safe hit, where he died, McGill being put out on second base. * * * Here the kickers claimed the game, although they had had an extra innings and were not willing to play any longer. They were offered big money to stay over and play a game to-day, but they refused to do so. The umpire then decided the game a draw on account of darkness.

Lytle, Cathcart and McGill were the Peterborough players, and the Post by stating that Lytle kicked only shows that there was "crooked work" going on, as Lytle is not one to raise a kick without good cause.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The anthem "One Day Nearer Home," was admirably sung in St. Paul's last evening.

Miss Sophie Cameron's rendition of Torrington's "Abide with Me," last evening in St. Paul's church was greatly admired.

Rev. Mr. Pady conducted both services at the Park street Baptist church yesterday. In the evening there was a large congregation in attendance. The anthem "Seeking for Me," was rendered most harmoniously.

Miss Hendren, of Lakefield, sang the solo entitled "Redemption" at the morning service in the Charlotte street church yesterday. Her clear notes were provocative of much favourable comment. She also took the solo in the anthem "Come unto me," in the evening and during the offertory sang "The Lost Chord" with great effectiveness. It is said that Miss Hendren may be induced to to sing regularly in the Charlotte street church. If this is a fact the choir would be greatly strengthened by the addition of her excellent voice.

Rev. Mr. Hunter, of Erskine Presbyterian church, Toronto, conducted both services at St. Andrew's church, yesterday, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. MacWilliams, who is away on his holidays. The large congregations which were in attendance were greatly pleased with Mr. Hunter's fine delivery and clear explanation of the particular points which he wished to lay stress upon in his two powerful sermons. Rev. Mr. Hunter assumed charge of the services at St. Andrew's last summer also, and consequently has many warm friends in Peterborough.

EMILY FAITHFULL.

A Life Was Devoted to the Amelioration of the Social Condition of Women.

Emily Faithful, whose death in London yesterday is announced, devoted her whole life to the amelioration of the social condition of women, and was one of the most prominent and practical benefactors of her sex. She was the daughter of a clergyman, the Rev. Ferdinand Faithfull, and was born in 1835. Becoming impressed by the significance of the large surplus female population in London, she began her labors in 1860 by founding a printing office in which women were employed as compositors. This enterprise secured the approval of Queen Victoria, who appointed Miss Faithfull her printer and publisher in ordinary. In May, 1863, Miss Faithfull started a monthly publication called the "Victoria Magazine," in which for eighteen years the claims of women to remunerative employment were earnestly set forth. In 1868 she published a novel entitled "Change Upon Change." She also achieved marked success as a lecturer. In 1872-73 she visited the United States. After a tour in America in 1882-83, she published a book entitled "Three Visits to America," containing vivid descriptions of various feminine industries and life among the Mormons in Salt Lake City, California, Colorado, etc. She was also a frequent contributor to newspapers and magazines. She was an active member of the Ladies' Sanitary Association, which had for its object the spreading of simple, useful knowledge among the poorer classes, on important sanitary laws, teaching them by lectures and classes and simple pamphlets the importance of pure air, fresh water, exercise, etc. Her lectures on "Modern Extravagance; Its Cause and Cure," attracted much attention. In 1888 she was awarded a civil service pension in recognition of her beneficient labors, and at the same time the Queen expressed her appreciation of her services by sending her an autograph letter with a specially engraved portrait.

LOADING AN OCEAN LINER.

The Storage is Something Tremendous and Requires Careful Packing.

To watch the loading of grain, either from an elevator or a lighter into one of the mammoth vessels engaged in its transportation, is to witness one of the chief operations in the movement of the world's commerce. It is carried in long pipes, with a funnel-shaped moving appendage at the end, which is shifted by means of a rope from one part of the hold to another, according as the stream of grain fills up the spaces reserved for it. The grain flows into the vessel with the noise and velocity of a torrent, and sends a dense volume of dust and chaff upward, obscuring the depths beneath and making the men attending the stowage below look like ghosts in the rising mist.

The "trimming" of the grain in the holds is an important part of its stowage. After several thousand bushels have streamed into the hold, a dozen or more men are delegated to shovel the downpouring column in between the vessel's beam, a job for which they are paid at the rate of one cent a minute. In vessels of the Cunard stripe it takes between 12,000 and 15,000 bushels to fill a hold, and these vessels average 50,000 bushels in the total cargo. Ships carrying grain alone can take as high as 125,000 bushels, and when it is considered that from 4,000 to 7,000 bushels can be stored in an hour, every forty bushels weighing a ton, an idea can be had of the force of the torrent directed into the vessel.

Large vessels have four or five holds, and a distinction is made in storing the cargo in them. Grain, from its compact and dead weight, is reserved mostly for the centre of the vessel, while cured provisions are packed as far forward and as far aft as possible, for their better preservation from the heat of the ship's fires. In some vessels, like the great Cunarders, which carry passengers as well as freight, the heaviest weight is stored in the lowest hold; this is to steady the vessel, and is called in the technical parlance of the stevedore, "stiffening" the ship. It takes about 1,500 tons to stiffen a great Cunarder, and when this is done the lower hold is fastened and battened down, and work is begun on the next.—Donahoe's Magazine.

A Very Suitable Person.

Netherseal, a Leicestershire village, enjoys the distinction of being the only parish council in England whose deliberations are presided over by a lady. And it came about in a rather singular, not to say charming way. Mr. Shakespeare, a rather elderly, but hale and hearty Radical, was chairman; but at the annual meeting it was suggested that a president should be elected from outside the council, which is composed of four Radicals and three Conservatives. A resolution was accordingly passed that an outsider be elected "chairman" of the council. Mr. Goodall was the Conservative nominee. Then the chairman said: "I know a very suitable person, if the council like to choose her—Jane Shakespeare, my wife." And so the voting on the question Goodall v. Shakespeare. The voting was equal, and the chairman gave his casting vote in favor of his wife. The proposal which at first was regarded by some of the members as a joke being thus carried. Mr. Shakespeare invited his "better half" into the room, and she not only took her position as president, but proceeded to conduct the business with tact and ability. Her husband was elected vice-chairman. Whether Jane Shakespeare or her husband is the better "chairman" or not, it is a pretty bit of real life, and "Jane" has the honor of occupying the premier position in her parish.—Exchange.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as

Free from Eruptions

as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

AN OCEAN LINER.

HEAVY EXPENSES INCURRED BY THE ST. LOUIS.

Her Captain Alone Receives a Large Salary, but the Bills for Coal, Supplies, and Wear and Tear are Enormous—Handsome Profits Realised.

Much has been written about the great American steamship St. Louis, which promises to be the forerunner of a magnificent fleet of Yankee built and Yankee devised transatlantic liners. Her many wonders of workmanship and her great engines have all been described and applauded. Naval experts have studied her to discover her worth as a war vessel, as she now belongs to the auxiliary navy of Uncle Sam, and has been so constructed that almost instantaneously she can be converted into a swife cruiser, with speed enough to catch up w or run away, if the latter be necessary, from anything that floats.

An interesting feature of the St. Louis, but one which has not been touched upon, is the cost of maintaining her. She is a little city or municipality in herself, the captain being the Mayor, and the officers the Board of Aldermen. The agents of the big ocean liners are inclined to be shy about talking of the expense of their steamers as the rivalry between the different lines is so intense that none of them care to give out information which may be business ammunition for another. Clement A. Griscom, jr., son of the president of the line, controlling the St. Louis, however, agreed to give some figures on the question, when seen by the writer. He figured for some time, and then said that the expense of the round trip of a steamer like the St. Louis, averages between $60,000 and $80,000, according to the season.

This is the busiest time of the year for the big liners, and when the St. Louis gets back from Southampton her maiden voyage both ways across the Atlantic will have cost fully $80,000. The voyage between the two ports will take a trifle more than seven days, making the daily cost of operating one of these hugh sea monsters something like $5,500. In the winter time, when the passenger trade is down to a minimum, the expenses, of course, are much less, and that is when the cost gets down to $60,000 for the round trip. Men who spend $10,000 a month on a steam yacht, as Commodore Eldridge T. Gerry does, are regarded as terribly extravagant, but maintaining a vessel like the St. Louis for a month would cost something approaching the sum of $200,000.

No single individual on the St. Louis gets a large salary. Of course the captain heads the list, getting about $5,000 a year. Captains on smaller passenger steamers only receive $3,000 a year, which in these times of great salaries is not any too large. The chief officer of a ship like the St. Louis gets only about $1,500, which is somewhat small when it is remembered that the bulk of the heavy work falls upon his shoulders. The second officer's pay ranges from $900 to $1,200, according to the size of the ship, while the third officers only get from $600 to $900. All of these men have to perform duties of a responsible kind, and as there are no bonuses attached to their work, it can be seen that they are not overpaid. These items also show that while the vast sums of money are expended on running ships of the size of the St. Louis, none of it is thrown away.

The crew of the St. Louis numbers 410 men. Two hundred of these are in the engineer's department, and all of them are directly under the authority of the chief. The steward's department is the next largest, numbering 170 in all. The sailors, including the deck officers, number 40. The engineer's department is the most expensive of the ship, owing to the immense coal bills. The St. Louis burns more than 300 tons a day, or about 4,500 tons the round trip. This means an expenditure of $15,000 alone. The salaries of the men, the engineering supplies, including the thousand and one things needed for the vast machinery of a great ship, call for $5,000 more every round trip.

The chief engineer draws $3,000 a year, and his immediate assistants receive $1,500, $1,200, and $1,000 respectively. The stokers or firemen average about $30 per month, and the furnaces of the St. Louis require 180 of them working in different shifts.

The purser, who is the most important person on board, does not get much in the way of a salary, as the company, in fixing his pay, figured on the large bonuses he receives for changing money and preforming the little services which t wealthy travaller does not hesit pay for liberally. His salary is only $1,000 a year, but he makes another $2,000 in fees, and sometimes considerably more. The ship's surgeon only receives $900 a year for the same reason. He is brought in contact with numerous real and fancied invalids of the wealthy class, and, although no one is compelled to fee him, few fail to do so, and a big popular ship like the St. Louis is worth in the neighborhood of $3,000 to $4,000 a year.

The steward's department is one of the costliest on the ship, as it provides the provisions for all the passengers and crew. The provisions for a round trip cost in the neighborhood of $12,000, and the salaries of the steward's men amount to $3,000 more. The stewards are the least paid of any on the ship, for the reason that in the fees of the passengers they collect a very respectable sum annually. All the pay they get is $20 a month, but they take in $40 a month in tips. The real downright seasick man and woman are almost willing to give their last cent for some little service, and the stewards who are constantly thrown in with this class of unfortunates reap a goodly harvest.

The chief steward receives $1,500 a year, and also comes in for his share of the tips, as it is within his power to place many delicacies in the way of the liberal tourist. The chief cook is a great man on the ship, almost as great as the captain, and in all makes $3,000 a year out of his job. The breakage and wear and tear on the ship and its furniture is very heavy, requiring an expenditure in incidentals of about $5,000 each round trip. There are countless little things to be replaced, and a comparatively little thing like the washing of the ship's linen, means an expenditure big enough to support a man for a year in the lap of luxury.

While the expenses are, great, of course, the income is proportionately large. A round trip that costs $80,000 should bring at least $100,000 into the coffers of the company if not considerably more. But when the expenses are down to $60,000 the company is glad to break even.

Here are some odd facts about the St. Louis. There are fully 1,000 tons of piping of various kinds in the ship. The condensers will pump up at least 50,000,000 gallons of cooling water a day. The furnaces will consume no less than 7,500,000 cubic feet of air an hour. The boiler tubes, if placed in a straight line, would stretch nearly ten miles, and the condenser tubes more than 25 miles. The total number of separate pieces of steel in the main structure of the ship is not less than 40,000, and the total number of cubic feet of timber used in the construction is more than 100,000. The total number of rivets is not far from 1,250,000. A distinguished marine officer of England one estimated that in a ship of this size if all the steel which composes it were made into needles and placed in a line, they would reach more than ten times around the earth, or the distance to the moon, 240,000 miles. Another expert has estimated that if the ship were propelled by galley oarsmen, as in ancient times, it would require a force of 117,000 men continuously at work to develop the same power that the engines of this ship will produce.—St. Louis Republic.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

BOWELL AND SCOTT.

A Lively Time in the Senate Saturday.

OVER HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

House Not Yet Prorogued—Many Attended to See the End That Wasn't Reached—The Premier and Senator Scott Have It Out.

Ottawa, Ont., July 21.—There was a very slim attendance in the House on Saturday. Even the front benches on both sides were pretty well depleted. Both morning and afternoon sittings were devoted to the discussion of the Hudson Bay Railway bill, which was brought up in the morning in the form of a resolution.

The third reading of the bill having been moved in the afternoon, Mr. Mills (Bothwell) raised the objection that the bill should have been introduced by petition, as required in all cases of private bills.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper pointed out that the bill only provided for a rearrangement of subsidies, and was thus a measure which a private member could not introduce.

Mr. Laurier argued that the bill authorized the company to utilize another route than that provided in the original act. In this way, the right of the bondholders would be affected.

Precedents were quoted in support of the proposal to pass the bill as it stood, but after a longe debate the Speaker ruled that the objection to the change of location, as constituting the bill a private measure, was well taken. As this was dealt with in the third clause, the offending section was dropped, and the bill as amended passed through its final stage in the Commons.

Then, after some talk on the Portage la Prairie postoffice site, the House adjourned until Monday morning to await the Senate's pleasure with this and one or two other measures.

The fifth session of the seventh Parliament would have come to an end before 6 o'clock Saturday evening but for the Hudson Bay Railway bill, which in emasculated form reached the Upper House from the Commons early in the afternoon.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, having moved the first reading, the trouble was begun by Senator McInnes (Hamilton) moving the three-months' hoist.

In vain the Premier protested that the objectionable features as to change of location had been eliminated in the Commons.

"Is it not a fact," said Senator Scott, "that the Government were going to lend this company $3,500,000, and because public opinion was so pronounced they did not dare do it? At that time they intended to have a general election. Some people are wicked enough to say, though I wouldn't, that the Government had an interest in it, that they were going to share the spoils with the promoters."

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: I call the hon. gentleman to order. He should not impute motives to the Government. If he were not here, the paid agent or some other persons, he would not dare to use such language.

Senator Scott: I am not paid.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: The hon. gentleman ought not to have the audacity and impudence to accuse the Government of taking part in a swindle. It is only men who would enter into a bargain of that kind themselves that would accuse hon. gentlemen of such conduct.

Senator Smith: The Government is not made of that material that the hon. gentleman insinuates. If he knows a little about it, he had better take care.

Senator Scott: I said it was rumored outside.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: Rumor says that the hon. gentleman is paid for what he is doing here.

Senator Scott: It is not true.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: It is just as true as the other statement, and it is a piece of audacity to make such accusations against men who are more honorable than he is himself.

The discussion went on thus for some time. It was evident the Senate's blood was up, and that though the guard of honor was under arms on the square and His Excellency attired in full uniform was waiting the word to come up and prorog Parliament, the Senators were determined to fight out the bill to the bitter end.

At 6 o'clock it was announced that there would be no prorogation till the fate of the bill was decided, and the guards and the crowd went home.

The Senate held an evening sitting, when mutual apologies were exchanged between the leaders. Then the three-months' hoist was defeated by 11 to 7.

But the bill did not get to a second reading. It is, however, expected that Parliament will prorog to-morrow afternoon.

DESTRUCTIVE DROUTH IN GREY COUNTY.

Feeding Cattle on Brush of Trees—Grey and Bruce—The Cattle in a Terrible Condition—The Effects of Frost, Drouth and Grasshoppers.

A correspondent from Durman, Grey County, writes as follows to the Globe:

I see by to-day's Globe that Dr. Landerkin has called the attention of the Government to the condition of the crops in the central part of the County of Grey. I to-day drove through a portion of the Townships of Bentinck, Glenelg, Holland and Sullivan. Had your correspondent who is writing up the state of crops when at Mount Forest continued north he would have found the man who is cutting brush to keep his cattle alive very largely in evidence. Scores of farmers have been doing so for the last three weeks and are still at it. Had they not done so their cattle would have died. Pasturage there is absolutely none, and those who have no brush land on which to turn their cattle have no other recourse but to cut brush. The tract of country chiefly affected is a strip of about twenty miles in width extending from the valley of the Beaver River westward to Lake Huron, embracing the Townships of Euphrasia, Holland, Sullivan, Bentinck and Glenelg in the County of Grey, and the Townships of Brant, Elderslie, Saugeen and Bruce in the County of Bruce. For some ten miles back from the lake shore things are not so bad. Fall wheat will yield about 50 per cent. of an average crop; hay 25 per cent.; peas good, nearly up to the average; oats 35 per cent.; root crop very poor; fruit none. Through Brant and Elderslie all crops are very poor but it is only when you come into the Grey Townships, where a grass-hopper plague has been added to those of frost and drouth, that any person can form an idea as to what total annihilation of the crop means. I called upon a number of farmers to-day whose reports I subjoin. I may say that I was careful enough to call only on successful, energetic men. On all the farms visited were all the evidences of thrift—stone or brick houses, large barns, good out-buildings and fences; in fact a thrifty and successful community.

SPECIMEN CASES.

William O'Mara, lot 1, con. 1, Glenelg:
Twenty acres in hay, total yield 2½ tons.
Fifteen acres in oats, total yield 4 loads estimated.
Five acres in peas, total yield, 2 loads estimated.
Root and fruit crop, a total failure.
Five horses, eight cattle; cutting brush for two weeks.

Arthur Hughes, lot s. ½ 29, con. 3, Sullivan, 135 acres:
Twenty acres hay, total yield ½ a ton.
Nineteen acres oats, two bushels to the ton estimated.
Five acres peas, half a crop.
Thirteen cattle, three horses, nineteen sheep. He has cut brush for the last three weeks.

Wm. Vassey, lot N. ½ 29, con. 3, Sullivan, 100 acres:
Ten acres hay, total yield half ton.
Five acres fall wheat, one-quarter crop.
Eighteen acres oats, two bushels to the acre estimated.
Fourteen cattle, four horses, twelve sheep, cattle are running in the bush. Horses have lived for the last three weeks on brush.

Robt. Mills, lot N. ½ 29, con 4, Sullivan, 100 acres:
Ten acres hay, absolutely nothing.
Five acres fall wheat, absolutely nothing.
Three acres spring wheat, absolutely nothing.
Twelve acres oats, absolutely nothing.
Five acres peas, half crop.
Sixteen cattle, three horses, seven sheep; cattle in the bush four weeks past.

John Mills, lot S ½ 29, con. 4, Sullivan, 100 acres:—
Twenty acres hay, absolutely nothing.
Fourteen acres oats, absolutely nothing.
Five acres peas, half crop.
Four acres fall wheat, half crop.
Twenty-two cattle, four horses, twenty sheep.

Philip Corlett, lot 22, con. 5, Sullivan, 100 acres:
Twenty acres hay, 200 pounds total.
Forty acres oats, two bushels to acre eftimated.
Twenty acres peas, half crop.
Twenty-two cattle, six horses, twenty-eight sheep.

This is no fancy picture but a plain statement of hard facts. Throughout the section of country mentioned there is not sufficient produce to feed one-twentieth of the cattle, which are in bad condition and unsalable. Here is a case in which prompt action is required. The people do not ask for charity, but they do ask a return from the C. P. P. Company of a portion of the favours granted by them in common with the rest of Ontario in the shape of reduced freight rates on hay and straw from Manitoba to all points in Ontario. In a few weeks thousands of tons of straw will be wasted in Manitoba. Could not this be baled and shipped east and sold at a very low figure? The only obstacle is the freight charges, and if they were removed it would bring joy to thousands to whom the dark clouds show no silver lining.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Equiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

"I know—I had several specimens from England, but did not know Mr. Sproule had introduced them here. He seems to keep in touch with the best artists, don't he? My husband and I sit for PLATINOS to-morrow. You shall have one."

We will have to vacate our Millinery Show Room shortly, and take the stock upstairs for a time, and we are now giving special bargains in this department preferring to make a sacrifice rather than carry them over.

We have just received some repeat orders in Duck Suits, Blouses and Shirt Fronts, very choice goods. Also several patterns in Navy and Light Blue Stripe Prints. These are very scarce goods but will be sold cheap.

WIFE MEETS HUSBAND

Mrs. Holmes Confronts the Murderer in Prison.

ON THE VERGE OF A CONFESSION.

He Was About to Confess, But at the Last Moment Decided Not To—His Wronged Wife Refuses Any Reconciliation With the Murderer.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 23.—The developments in the Holmes-Pitezel case today were the bringing together of Holmes and the woman he married, and the conference between the prisoner and District Attorney Graham. This meeting was productive of two surprises, one to the district attorney and the other to the man who can solve the mystery of the Pitezel children, but will not.

Holmes was confronted by Mrs. Holmes, his wife, and the district attorney was surprised because Holmes steadfastly remained as silent as the proverbial clam respecting the disappearance of the Pitezel children. The conference lasted almost three hours and was about as exciting as anything of a similar character ever held in the district attorney's office.

Holmes was brought up from Moyamensing Prison about 10 o'clock in the morning. He presented a picture of the utmost misery and discomfiture. He was not half so composed as on former visits to the district attorney's office. Holmes has lost his defiant mien and his gait was remarkably slovenly. His face showed an ashy whiteness, and Holmes presented such a generally dilapidated appearance that a confession was looked for.

When the notorious criminal was led into the office he made a feeble attempt to be bold and indifferent. He took a seat in a comfortable chair, and after a few minutes proceeded to give a repetition of his previous fabrications concerning his movements in Toronto. Holmes had not progressed very far with his tale when, at a sign from the district attorney, the criminal's wife was ushered into the room.

Holmes started convulsively at her entrance, but he was not permitted to offer any greeting. Mrs. Howard looked scornfully at the man she once thought was her husband, and made no attempt to manifest any felicitation over the meeting.

Holmes was evidently taken by surprise, and the little spark of confidence he had managed to retain instantly vanished. That nerve which was Holmes' chief characteristic was now nowhere to be seen. He plainly displayed his feelings.

The district attorney saw his predicament, and so did Mr. Barlow. They never lost a moment in hurling questions at him, which he answered without much effort. For fully two hours Holmes was persuaded to give a corrected account of his doings from Indianapolis to Toronto. There were some slight variations from the tales previously spun by Holmes, but in the main his story was merely a repetition of his repeated falsehoods.

He persisted in telling about the mysterious movements of the man Hatch, whom he has accused of doing away with the Pitezel children. Holmes' tale in this respect was not different from that told by him at the last conference.

The criminal also adhered to his original story about the disappearance of the boy, Howard Pitezel. This fact alone greatly disappointed his examiners, as they anticipated an admission of some kind about the whereabouts of the lad, but Holmes maintained that he was telling nothing but the truth and insisted that he had not murdered Howard. There was a noticeable discrepancy between the stories of Holmes and his wife about the former's movements in Toronto, especially the time when Holmes claims to have been engaged purchasing goods for smuggling into the United States.

After being on the rack for two hours Holmes was relieved of further explanations.

It was learned this evening that Holmes has admitted that Mrs. I. L. Conner, the Chicago woman who is supposed to have been another of his victims, is dead. Nothing is known of what became of Mrs. Conner's 12-year-old daughter, who is also thought to have been made away with by Holmes at the time he killed her mother.

Wilmette, Ill., July 22.—It seems to be the general belief of the people of Wilmette that the woman who has lived in their midst for the past five years as the wife of H. H. Holmes, and who is now in Philadelphia, has no guilty knowledge of his deeds of murder, but that his swindling business operations were not unknown to her, and much of the money derived from them found its way into her hands. The revelations of his crimes have not shaken her devotion to him, and she does not show any feelings of shame or humiliation. She is daily seen on the streets, and takes an active interest in the works of the Episcopal Church, of which she is a member. With her 6-year-old daughter, her aged mother and a half-witted brother she lives in the large, handsome double house, just south of the First Congregational Church. This house, which is worth probably $8000, is an illustration of Holmes' business schemes. About four years ago he bought the lot and an old wooden house, his mother-in-law furnishing $100 to make the first (and only) payment on it. By plausible representations to dealers in lumber and materials he secured everything necessary to build the present structure around the original house. The nominal contractor was B. F. Pitezel, whom, it is charged, Holmes afterwards murdered. It is stated by men who have reason to know that not even the nails in that house were ever paid for. It is now covered with liens and mortgages, but it is said that they are nearly, if not all, worthless. The general belief is that Mrs. Holmes and her mother will be able to hold it against all creditors.

As is generally known, the woman in Wilmette is the fourth "wife" of H. H. Holmes. She was married to him in Minneapolis by an Episcopal clergyman, 11 years ago. They have one child, a girl of 6 years. It is not doubted that she had no knowledge of his former life. Her father, John Belknap, has led a varied life of misfortune, but is considered honest in intention. He was one of the soldiers in Randall's division of Coxey's army, and went "on to Washington." About a year ago he had a quarrel with Holmes in Wilmette, and was badly beaten. He disappeared the next day and nothing was heard of him for months; but the stories that he had been foully dealt with were set at rest by his reappearance in Wilmette. He is now a peddler of various wares, making tours through Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, returning home after irregular intervals. He was last in Wilmette seven days ago.

A Rope With a Running Noose

Chicago, July 23.—The police inspector in charge of the search of the Holmes residence here to-day found a rope with a running noose. He says he is not yesterday with a running noose. He says he is not yet ready with an opinion as to what use Holmes or any of his accomplices had for the rope found in the cellar. The theory that the former druggist strangled Minnie Williams and Howard Pitezel with it by hanging them down the elevator shaft the inspector admits as being possibly correct, but beyond that he will not commit himself. From the knowledge he already possesses of the wily Holmes and his schemes, the theory is scarcely tenable. More secret rooms and passageways were discovered in the house to-day by newspaper men. A trap-door in the floor of one of the upper rooms when opened discloses steps leading to a secret door entering Holmes' office. A letter directed to Holmes, and marked "personal," was found in a rubbish pile on the second floor. It is from the mother of Mrs. Conner, expressing anxiety as to the whereabouts of her daughter.

Mrs. Pitezel had an agent in the house tod-ay looking for a vault that has not yet been discovered.

The Novelist of Blood Has to Be Defended

London, July 20.—A mob composed of political opponents of the novelist, Rider Haggard, the Conservative candidate for East Norfolk, proceeded to the hotel in the village of Stalham, where Mr. Haggard was conducting his campaign, last evening and surrounded the house. Their attitude became so threatening that additional police were summoned, and at midnight it required a hundred of them, with drawn cutlasses, to conduct Mr. Haggard and his party safely to a more friendly district.

Drowned in Toronto.

Toronto, July 22.—Early on Saturday morning Wm. Hancock, a young man who resided with his parents at 128 Harrison-street, met his death by drowning in the Humber River, under the railway bridge. Early in the morning he hired a canoe and paddled up the river after waterlilies. He had just returned when he met his death, owing to the upsetting of his canoe.

Wheat—The market is quiet, but the feeling to-day is stronger. Sales of red are reported west at 80c, and this price is bid for white. Manitoba is weak, with sales at 92c, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade dull and prices unchanged at 57c to 58c, west.

Barley—Trade is dull with little or none offering.

Oats—The demand is limited and prices unchanged. White is said to have sold outside at 34c, while some dealers are only asking 33 1-2c.

AWFUL NEWS FOR HIM

The France's Purser Learns of His Sons' Terrible Crime.

TOLD HIM AT QUARANTINE.

Four Days After Melville Coombs Left His Home the Crime Was Committed—Thinks Crazy John Fox the Author of It—How Coombs Received the News.

New York, July 22.—Melville Coombs is the chief steward of the National Line steamer France, which arrived yesterday morning from London and is at her pier at the foot of West Houston-street. On July 4 Mr. Coombs stood on the porch of his little vine-covered cottage in Plaistow, an eastern suburb of London, and bade good-by to his wife and two little sons before leaving for his ship, which was to sail the next day.

The two boys were Robert, aged 13, and Nathaniel, aged 11. They were both bright boys, the elder unusually so. In school he was far in advance of any boy of his age, and he was a great reader of all the novels, good and bad, he could lay his hands on. Both boys had a large amount of independence, and when the father was telling them good-by he said: "Boys, take good care of mother."

How his sons obeyed his injunction the father did not know until the France was boarded yesterday morning at Quarantine by Capt. George Waldie of pilot boat Caldwell H. Colt, No. 13. Then he learned that the boys, according to despatches published here, had stabbed their mother to death on July 8, and had lived in the house 10 days with the corpse, subsisting on the money obtained by pawning some of their mother's jewelry.

When Capt. Waldie boarded the ship, Coombs was chatting with some passengers, who were thanking him for the courtesy shown to them on the voyage. When the pilot's story was told, the steward, who had listened like a man in a trance, turned slowly away and went below, where he remained until the steamer reached her pier. Then he came on deck again. His face was so pale and haggard that the officers of the France could hardly believe that he was the man whom they had known so long.

"My eldest boy had an enormous brain," he said, "and I was informed by my family physician that he must be carefully watched. There was always something peculiar about him. The half-witted man, John Fox, who is associated with the boys in this terrible crime, is responsible for it. He was formerly employed on the National Line steamers, but became so irresponsible that he was not permitted to go to sea again. He frequently hung around my premises doing chores and running errands. Latterly I have forbidden him to come to my house.

"When my elder son was born, he seemed to be devoid of anything like sense. He acted idiotic, but as he grew older he became more than ordinarily intelligent. He had an affectionate disposition, but at times he would grow intensely morbid. He seemed to be influenced by what he heard or read. Stories of murders seemed to have a fascination for him. One time, I remember, a man of the name of Reed committed a murder in London. The papers were filled with details of the crime, which was particularly revolting. The boy read everything he could find that gave any account of the murder, and then he ran away to London to see if he could not get a look at the murderer. When he came back we took him to a noted brain specialist in London, who gave as his opinion that the boy's skull was too small for the size of the brain it contained. He said there was not room for the brain tissue to expand, and that accounted for the lad's eccentricities, as well as for his periods of phenomenal brightness. The opinion was expressed that as the boy grew older his skull would enlarge, and that by the time he was 15 we would have no cause for worry about him. He did improve, and both his mother and I believed that it was only a matter of time when he would be just like any other bright boy."

Coombs is a very intelligent and educated man, 38 years old. Soon after the steamer docked, some friends of the steward boarded the steamer, and took him away with them to their home in Newark. He will remain there until the France sails.

Mrs. Coombs was less than 30 years old, and, it is said, her beauty was a subject of comment among the colony of maritime officers in London. Captain Hadley said that the mother was particularly proud of the precocity of her elder son. Besides the family physician, many noted doctors had seen the boy, and pronounced him, mentally, a wonder. The captain says that Coombs has no idea that his younger son had anything to do with planning the killing of his mother. He was peculiarly subject to the influence of his brother.

CHICAGO POLICE SENSATION.

Startling Evidence of Blackmail Said to Have Been Secured Against Officials.

Chicago, July 23.—Startling exposures of widespread blackmail and bribery in the Police Department will undoubtedly be made in the next few days. That such exists is said to be known to Chief Badenhurst and Captain Koch of the Harrison-street Station, who for a month past have been quietly carrying on an investigation. Patrolmen, sergeants, lieutenants and possibly officers still higher in rank are said to be implicated. It is said that there has been carried on a regularly-organized system by which officials have grown rich on the money wrung from divekeepers and criminals.

THE SESSION.

Any person who has followed the course of affairs at Ottawa for the past three months must have noticed that the session has been not only the most fruitless in useful legislation since confederation, but has been distinguished for a display of the utter incompetence and uselessness of the administration. The undignified wriggling and vacillation of the government began before the session, when the ministry were for a long time unable to decide whether they would face the country or risk another session of Parliament and face a huge deficit and a review of their crooked record. After a tentative ministerial stumping tour, the ministers withdrew in affright to the shelter of their offices, alarmed by the threatening attitude of the electors. An election meant loss of office, while a session meant a temporary enjoyment, at least, of its sweets. A blind trust in the chapter of accidents led them to decide upon another session. And the choice was a fatal one, which has brought out in strong relief the incapacity of the make-shift Premier and leader, who cannot lead, but has been the repeated victim of the dictation of his subordinates, who possesses none of the qualities necessary to secure respect. Neither Sir Mackenzie Bowell as the head of the Government in the Senate, nor Mr. Foster as leader of the House, have saved themselves from the obloquy of failure—of being guilty of blunders which in politics are worse than crimes. And other member of the Cabinet, if they have escaped the blunders, have been convicted at the bar of public opinion of the crimes. An appalling array of mismanaged public works that made the occasion of shameful plunder, have been exposed. Blunders and back-downs form a fitting epitaph for this practically defunct aggregation of incapables, for, unless the public conscience is dead, their days are numbered. Their back-downs include that on the butter bonus business which it was hoped would placate the farmers who had been bled white by high taxation the past sixteen years. The government, under pressure from one source, decided on a course of action in reference to cattle shipments by reducing the space per head on shipboard by two inches. In answer to the remonstrance of shippers who were put to the expense of coming to Ottawa, the old space was restored. Then there was the back down in the matter of the seizure of the Noble Bros. fishing plant. Then again there was the Hudson Bay Railway question in which the Premier had to eat his words. It will be remembered that while the government was in favour of dissolution, in order to get a chance to bleed contractors for election funds, an order-in-council was passed granting $10,000 per mile for the 250 miles of that mad scheme, the Hudson Bay Railway, which begins at Winnipeg and is to have its terminus in an ice floe. The session got well under way, and nothing was heard of this order-in-council, or of any legislation in sympathy with it, and a few days ago Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the nominal premier, informed the Senate that no legislation in respect of this project would be introduced this session. In order to show the spirit of harmony that prevails in the Cabinet, and to show how maturely the Government considered a subject that involved the squandering of two and a half millions of the people's money, almost at the same moment in the House of Commons Hon. Mr. Haggart gave notice of the introduction of a bill in reference to this railway, and Monday in the dying hours of the session this monstrous bill was brought up in the House and a successful attempt made to force it through its third reading. The bill received the third reading in the House and was rushed over to the Senate, where it became stuck, and the sitting closed with the bill at only its first reading. The first reading was carried by a majority of seven in a House of eighteen members. Thus the blundering and disregard of the public interests was again shown by bringing an important matter that involved, in the amended form of the bill, nearly a million of money, before a Senate, composed of 65 members, of whom only eighteen were present.

The blundering of the Government is further shown in the fact that they cannot even bring about prorogation on time. The Governor-General was sent for to prorogue Parliament at 5.30 on Saturday afternoon. But at that hour a message was sent to his Excellency asking him to call at a more convenient season and the prorogation was indefinitely postponed.

Isn't it a brilliant government that controls the destinies of Canada?

HOW OUR CROPS ARE LOOKING.

An Improvement Noticeable Since the Recent Rain.

A Globe correspondent travelling through the country, getting notes concerning the crops makes the following report on the Peterborough section:—

Having travelled over a considerable portion of Western Ontario and advised you pretty fully of the actual condition of the crops, in Oxford, Perth, Huron, Bruce, Wellington and adjacent counties, I have to-day taken a flying trip through portions of Ontario, Durham and Peterborough, in order that I could give some idea of the extent to which the prevailing drought has been felt east of Toronto. The time at my disposal has been too limited to make a very extended investigation beyond the line of march, but I have seen a number of farmers at various points, and have also talked with several who have constant intercourse and dealing with them, so that the particulars I may give in this despatch can be accepted as correctly indicating the present outlook for that section of the Province that I have mentioned. The rain of last week, which, I found, had brightened up things so much in the west has evidently been very general, and all through the district I have traversed to-day there was from six to twelve hours' downpour on Friday last. It has but we want much more, is the general verdict, and the appearances for a time this afternoon gave hope that more was coming, but so far it holds off very persistently.

The improvement, however, is noticeable already. There is a shading of fresh green struggling through the brown, scorched pastures. The corn, oats, barley and other crops are taking new lease of life. The garden stuffs have freshened up, and all nature is rejoicing.

As to the outlook in this vicinity say for 25 or 30 miles in either direction round this town, it is fair, but not as good as could be wished, and not as good as farther east, I understand, but still fair and far from serious. Spring crops are not bad and more rain will greatly help them yet. Oats vary, but will be short in the straw, though even now the rain would put on an inch or two if it comes in the next three or four days. Corn is scarcely fair; some has not come up at all. Hay, of course, barely a quarter of a crop in most places; in some few it approaches a half crop. Roots promise well. Potatoes are small at present, but strong and healthy, and the rain will help them. Fruit is better here than in some parts. The frosts of last May did not do as much harm in this section as in some parts, and there should be a fair apple harvest. Small fruits are a medium crop. By comparison with the wonderful and exceptional promise of the early spring the prospects now are, of course, disappointing, but it is never safe to figure on the harvest in May or even June; so much may happen in the meantime to upset the shrewdest estimates. One very good feature worth noting in this section is the excellent colour most crops have kept. I passed fields of oats, wheat and barley to-day as green as an emerald, with not a tinge of yellow yet appearing, and these will have a good chance to make up for lost time if the rain will only come. So far the prospects for the pasture are not of the best, but the grass has two months or ten weeks yet to grow, and much improvement is yet possible. Many farmers have sown corn to supplement their feed supply, and will get a moderate crop, while a few here and there are trying to raise crops of millet and Hungarian grass. But I am informed the results so far have not been encouraging. There is no doubt that feed will have to be imported from the eastern sections and from Quebec to make up the inevitable shortage.

IS AWAY DOWN;

A BRILLIANT INSPIRATION.

Whereby He Saved His Engine From Being Ditched.

Driver Sandy Laidlaw, who is now running an extra freight train between Lindsay and Midland, is, as is well known, one of the most kind-hearted enginemen on the whole Midland Division, and would not run over a jack-rabbit if it disputed his right of way—not, at any rate, while at the trottle of his new and handsome engine, No. 638.

Other drivers may boast of plowing through a flock of sheep, or riding "bumpety-bump" over a couple of sleeping heifers, but Sandy will not risk a scratch upon his beautiful machine.

These explanations are necessary to give a proper idea of Sandy's state of mind Wednesday when, on rounding a curve at Ney's gravel pit, between Victoria Harbour and Midland, he saw a very angry looking bull, with tail erect, waiting in the centre of the track to have a brush with No. 638. It being a little down grade at that point, the train was making about 40 miles an hour, and Sandy's sympathetic heart thumped like a trip-hammer as he thought that inside of about 20 seconds the poor deluded bull would be a shapeless mass.

Like a flash a brilliant inspiration came to him—grasping a huge lump of coal, and wrapping about it the red signal flag, he hurled it with all his strength at the enraged animal.

With a mighty bellow the bull made for the insulting red rag, his life was saved, and Engine No. 638, the pride of the division, escaped being ditched and defaced.

Scott's Emulsion

is Cod-liver Oil emulsified, or made easy of digestion and assimilation. To this is added the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which aid in the digestion of the Oil and increase materially the potency of both. It is a remarkable flesh-producer. Emaciated, anæmic and consumptive persons gain flesh upon it very rapidly. The combination is a most happy one.

Physicians recognize its superior merit in all conditions of wasting. It has had the endorsement of the medical profession for 20 years.

Prorogation of Parliament Finally Takes Place.

ANOTHER MONTREAL MURDER.

A Grey County School Teacher Gives Her Life for Her Sin—Dr. McGee, Lecturer in Toronto University, Drowned in Hamilton Bay While Bathing.

Ottawa, Ont., July 23.—The Winnipeg & Hudson Bay Railway bill, having gone through a further stage of emasculation in the Senate this morning, the legislative business of the fifth session of the seventh Parliament concluded, and at 4 o'clock this afternoon His Excellency performed the official duty of prorogation.

His Excellency had previously assented to the bills passed during the session.

The closing scenes were of a somewhat tamer character than usual, by reason probably of the uncertainty of prorogation. The Senators' desks were still in position in the upper chamber, precluding the usual display of full-dress attendants in the "Red" Chamber. The ladies who were there, including the wives of Cabinet Ministers, wore street costumes. The Cabinet Ministers in uniform were Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Adolphe Caron and Sir Frank Smith, officers of the headquarters staff, Lieut.-Col. Lake, Lieut.-Col. Macpherson and Major Smith, the Governor-General being attended by Capt. Urquhart, A.D.C.

At the conclusion of the state ceremony she joined His Excellency at the foot of the dais, and bade farewell to the assembled dignitaries.

Later a formal vice-regal reception was held in the chamber of His Honor the Speaker of the Senate.

Concluding proceedings in the upper chamber were confined to consideration of the Hudson Bay Railway bill, which was amended by striking out the clause extending the time for the completion of the railway to Dec. 31, 1898, leaving it at July, 1896, by which time it must be completed to the Saskatchewan River.

Senator Scott moved an amendment to the fourth clause, that neither the whole nor part of the subsidy be paid except upon operation of the line. The motion was lost upon division by 11 to 6.

The bill as previously amended then carried.

Meantime the Commoners had been whiling away the time awaiting His Excellency's arrival. The talk turned mostly upon military matters. Col. Prior, having suggested the propriety of a Parliamentary vote to Pte. Hayhurst of Hamilton to signalize his winning of the Queen's Prize at Bisley.

Hon. Mr. Dickey admitted the importance of Hayhurst's victory. The suggestion as to a medal, he said, was one for future consideration. Meantime all that could be done was to express Canada's gratification at the success of Mr. Hayhurst.

Speaking for the Opposition, Whip Sutherland re-echoed these sentiments, and, while the matter was still under discussion, the message from the Senate arrived with His Excellency's command, and prorogation ensued.

Colin George Snider, at present judge of the County Court of Haldimand, has been appointed senior judge of the Judicial District of Wentworth, with headquarters at Hamilton.

John Macpherson, Hamilton, now judge of the Thunder Bay District, headquarters at Port Arthur, has been transferred to Hamilton in Judge Snider's place.

Mr. Francis Fitzgerald, barrister-at-law, Hamilton, has been appointed judge of the Judicial District of Thunder Bay, vice Hamilton.

Hon. Malidie Bowes Daly, whose term has expired as Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, has been reappointed to the office.

SINNED AND DIED.

A Young School Teacher's Tragic Fate in Toronto.

Toronto, July 23.—Miss Sarah James, daughter of Walton James, a well-to-do Uxbridge farmer, died at 49 Bellevue-avenue, this city, yesterday as a result, the police say, of a criminal operation performed upon her. A coroner's warrant has been issued. Miss James had been teaching school in Corbetton, Grey County, and was betrayed by a young farmer named Albert Somerville, to whom she was engaged. She arrived in this city two weeks ago, and has been attended by Dr. Lehman, Spadina-avenue, who says either an instrument had been used, or the girl had been taking drugs. He removed a five-months' foetus from her last week. The girl's mother and her betrayer were in attendance when she died. Her remains will be sent to her parents' home for interment.

TOOK CRAMPS WHILE BATHING.

A Lecturer in Toronto University Loses His Life in Hamilton Bay.

Toronto, July 22.—David McGee, B.A., lecturer in Orientals at Toronto University, was drowned while swimming in Hamilton Bay this evening. He had gone out for a sail with his chum, Wm. Parks, lecturer in mineralogy at the same institution, accompanied by the latter's younger brother. About a mile from Burlington they went in for a swim and McGee was seized with cramps. Parks almost lost his life in trying to rescue him, but his efforts were fruitless. The body has not yet been found. McGee was a brilliant scholar and had recently received the degree of Ph. D. at Leipsic. He lived at 52 Sussex-avenue here and was the only son of his widowed mother.

SCHOONER WRECKED.

The Crew Take to the Boats and Are Picked Up.

Goderich, Ont., July 23.—On Sunday evening, while the schooner M. A. Hall of Port Dover was making for Sarnia, a storm arose, and in a short time the waves had washed away the deck load and had filled the vessel with water. As there was no safety on the Hall, the yawl was launched, but in doing so it was upset and the oars carried away. Eventually the boat was righted, and the men got on board, where they remained until picked up by the tug Evelyn Monday morning.

CLAIMS TO KNOW THE FIREBUG.

The Man Who Was Responsible for the Many Recent Fires in Lucan May Now Be Apprehended.

Lucan, Ont., July 23.—The last of Stanley & Dight's grain warehouses were burned at 11 o'clock to-night, together with three cars of wheat and three cars of oats. The building was undoubtedly set on fire wilfully by a man who was seen in the neighborhood of the building a few minutes before the alarm was given. A McGillivray farmer while passing the warehouse about 10.30 on his way home claims to have seen the incendiary touch the match to the west end of the building. Immediately the flames burst forth into his face and staggered him for a moment, giving the farmer a good view of his face. He claims he can recognise the firebug and will do so. Warrants are being issued and something sensational is sure to follow, which will probably explain the origin of many previous fires which have taken place here during the past two years.

MONTREAL'S FIREBUGS.

The Information Regarding Their Plots Came From New York.

Montreal, July 22.—Despite official statement from New York that the detectives there knew nothing of the Canadian gang of firebugs, there is good ground for the belief that the arrest of Jenkins and Hayes in this city by the Canadian secret service will produce evidence of a gigantic conspiracy with manufacturers in the principal cities of the United States and Canada. The arrest of Jenkins and Hayes is only the first step. The Crown officials and detectives have a mass of incriminating evidence, which, it is believed, will lay bare the whole plot.

Jenkins is said to have made a full confession, which will incriminate many others. The detectives will not divulge the details of the confession, but state that Jenkins has given important information. Their statement seems to be true, as Jenkins had a private examination in the jail, while an open court examination was given Hayes.

A press despatch says that the New York detectives claim to know nothing about the gang. As a matter of fact the information that led to the arrest first came from New York. Mrs. Heine, whose husband is now in New York, was not long ago in this city, and the detectives seized a valise in her possession, which contained incriminating papers. A conspicuous city official here is said to be compromised by the evidence.

KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Norman Ridout of This City Meets With a Terrible Death.

Toronto, July 23.—N. S. Ridout, 125 Tyndall-ave., son of the late Donald Ridout, was killed by a railway train at St. Annes, Quebec, Saturday. Mr. Ridout, who was a cadet in the Royal Military College, Kingston, was one of a surveying party who were working about 25 miles from Montreal. He was standing on one track and stepped on to the other to allow a train to pass. He stepped directly before a train on the latter track, and died 10 minutes after being struck. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CUT HIS THROAT A SECOND TIME

His Wife's Taunts Too Much for Jake Barquis.

Toronto, July 23.—Jake Barquis, the Russian Jew, who was recently sent to the Central Prison on a conviction of forgery, attempted to commit suicide in that institution yesterday. While in the prison Barquis received a letter from his wife in which she taunted him about an attempt at suicide when he was arrested by Detective McGrath. This worked on his sensitive nature and induced him to slash his throat with a knife yesterday. The cuts are deep, but not dangerous.

Minneapolis People Making Inquiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

A Pleasant Trip.

The Young Women's Christian Association postponed excursion to Sturgeon Point was well patronized indeed, this morning, full a hundred and fifty taking advantage of the low rate for the exceedingly pleasant trip. Those who boarded the nine o'clock train for Chemong rather had the appearance of a large private excursion so pleasant and friendly was their intercourse.

The Grain Improved.

Sunday's rain fell far more heavily in the country than it did in town. At Stony Lake the rainfall is estimated at about two inches. It did an immense deal of good, filling out the heads of grain in an amazing manner. The renewal of the pasturage will also be a great boon to the farmers in this vicinity who are so largely interested in dairying.

Put it on Your Slate.

The grand annual excursion of Court Little John, No. 92, C.O.F., which takes place regularly every year on the Civic Holiday, will be an unusually favourite and fascinating trip this year. The excursion is billed to go first to Toronto by C.P.R., then by steamers across to Queenstown, then up along the Niagara River by the Electric Railway on the Canadian side to Niagara Falls, and across on the American side from Lewiston to Buffalo via N. Y. C. Ry. To give some idea how cheap the rates are it may be mentioned that the regular return fare from Peterborough to Toronto is $3.85, and to Buffalo $9. On this trip, however, the fares have been pulled down to $1.75 to Toronto, and $3.00 to Buffalo. Tickets good for 3 days. sod

HE ONLY STRUCK HER IN SELF-DEFENCE.

Clancy was Attacked by Three Italians and a Woman—The Latter Gets Hurt.

John Clancy, was before the police magistrate this morning charged with assaulting Mrs. Frank Anthony.

Clancy was fined yesterday for being drunk and disorderly on Saturday night, and the alleged assault was said to have arisen out of a row caused by his kicking Frank's banana cart.

Clancy was charged by Anthony with throwing a stone against his door, and arousing his wife from her beauty sleep. On her appearing in the street Clancy was said to have struck her.

Inquiry into the matter this morning by the Magistrate went to show that Clancy was attacked by three men, one of them being Anthony's son, who struck him with a club. The woman then joined in the fray and also struck him, when he struck back in return.

Mr. Dumble held that if Mrs. Anthony had remained in her house she would not have received the blow, and that by interfering she might have expected to be struck.

The prisoner was fully acquitted and discharged.

TOOK IT FOR SAFE KEEPING.

And is Arrested But Honourably Discharged This Morning.

James York was arrested last night by Constable McGinty in connection with a rather peculiar case.

York was seen by a woman to take a watch from a drunken man and she instantly apprised the police and subsequently pointed him out to Constable McGinty.

York stated to the magistrate this morning that he found the man lying across the railway track in a perfectly helpless condition and dragged him away. As he was lifting him off the track the track the watch fell to the ground and fearing some one would steal it, he took the timepiece intending to hand it over to the police on the first opportunity.

The prisoner was honourably discharged but the owner of the watch cannot be found.

Keeping Fish.

A veteran fisherman advises never putting a fish in water after it is dead, as nothing will tend to putrify it quicker. If a fish is strung on a fine wire when freshly caught and uninjured it will keep in water for a week, but once dead it should not be allowed to be even damp if possible, unless iced.

Wedding Bells.

The following is taken from the Griggs, (North Dakota), Courier :—Married—At Cooperstown, N.D., on the 2nd day of July, 1895, by the Rev. O. D. Purinton, Mr. Peter Stewart, of Hannaford, N.D., and Mrs. Katie McFaul, second eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Spilsbury, Peterborough, Ont. The above event occurred about 8.30 p m. on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. Purinton and was a very quiet affair. It was quite a surprise to the groom's many friends here as no one suspected Mr. Stewart would be guilty of getting married, but we were all mistaken. The groom is an old resident of Griggs county and is at present engaged in farming pursuits. He is a jolly good fellow and his friends extend hearty congratulations. His bride is a new comer to Griggs county and will, no doubt, like her place in society as she becomes acquainted. The Courier extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, and hopes that they will experience a long and happy wedded life.

AS A MARK OF THE CITIZENS ESTEEM.

MR. CHARLES McGILL PRESENTED WITH AN ADDRESS.

A Representative Gathering of Professional and Business Men Assemble to do Honour to the General Manager of the Bank of Ontario.

It was a large and thoroughly representative gathering of the professional and business men of Peterborough which assembled in the council last night, to pay a tribute of respect to the many good qualities of their esteemed townsman, Mr. Chas. McGill, who has recently been advanced to the general managership of the Ontario Bank.

The chair was occupied by the Mayor, who briefly stated that the assemblage had been called to do honour to one of Peterborough's leading citizens. He then called upon Mr. D. W. Dumble to read the address, which was as follows:

To Chas. McGill, Esq.:

The citizens of Peterborough desire to extend to you their heartiest congratulations upon your appointment to the position of General Manager of the Ontario Bank, a position which it is felt you are eminently qualified to fill. We have long admired your administrative ability, and have recognized the qualities which mark the successful banker and business man. It is not therefore a matter of surprise to us that your eminent abilities have been recognized and your sphere of usefulness enlarged, or that you have been called to assume the most important position in the management of your bank. We entertain the assurance and sincerely hope that the success which has marked your management of the important interests under your direction here may be but an augury of future and greater success in the larger and more important field of labour to which you have been called.

We greatly appreciate your efforts on behalf of Peterborough. You have taken a kindly and active interest in our local enterprises since you you came among us, and by your co-operation and advice have helped many an undertaking to a successful issue. In your public position we believe you have been actuated solely by a desire for the public good, and we take this opportunity of expressing our entire satisfaction with the manner in which your duty has been performed, and while regretting your probable removal we would express the hope that you will continue to take an interest in the progress of Peterborough and all connected with the town.

It is with great pleasure that we refer to your kind and genial disposition, and your uniform courtesy, which have made our business relations at all times pleasant and agreeable.

Permit us in conclusion to wish Mrs. McGill and yourself many years of happiness and usefulness in your new position, and to assure you that you have no warmer friends than are to be found among the citizens of Peterborough, represented by the bodies on whose behalf and by whose direction we sign our names.

JAS. KENDRY,
Mayor.
JAS. STEVENSON,
Chairman of Board of Town Commissioners.
GEO. BURNHAM,
Chairman of Board of Education.
FREDERICK H. BRENNAN, M.D.,
Chairman of Separate School Board.
BENJAMIN SHORTLY,
President of the Board of Trade.

Peterborough July 22nd, 1896.

The address was most handsomely illuminated and was certainly the most beautiful piece of work of the kind ever presented publicly in Peterborough.

Mr. McGill thanked his friends very much for the address and the kind remarks contained in it. With regard to the remarks concerning his interest in public affairs, he thought that was incident to his position and that he was but performing his duty as a citizen in doing what he could for Peterborough. As treasurer, he was glad to say that the town was prosperous. When assuming the treasureship in 1888 there had been a surplus in the civic treasury and there was one there now. If he had any money to invest he did not know where he could put it to better advantage than in Peterborough debentures (applause). When he said this, he did not except even Toronto bonds. (applause). Mr. Mayor and Councillors, of Peterborough, said he, I thank you very much for the courteous way in which you have always treated me, while I occupied the position of town treasurer. The consideration received at your hands has always been appreciated. He was sorry to leave Peterborough, and since accepting his new position had often wondered if it was wisest so to do, as heretofore he was not aware that he possessed so many friends. Now, however, as he had taken hold he meant to go on, and to make a success of the institution with which he was connected. It was fifteen years since he had been moved to Peterborough, and he could safely say that those fifteen years were the most pleasant of his life. (Applause.) Any success which he had attained he attributed to the stability of the Peterborough people, and the high sense of honour possessed by the merchants. (Applause.) No town had so high a record in matters such as these, and there was no place he would sooner live. (Applause.) He thanked his friends for their kind reference to Mrs. McGill, and stated that he did not intend to remove his family from Peterborough at present and that he would always take a kindly interest in the town, and if at any time he retired from active business life, he knew of no place where he would sooner reside than in Peterborough. (Applause.) As he had been made an honourary life member of the Curling Club, he thought when he came back, the town should exempt him from taxation. (Laughter.)

Mr. D. W. Dumble, in making a few remarks, opened by saying that blessings brighten as they took their flight. If Mr. McGill had remained here for the rest of his life he would probably never have found out how highly he was esteemed. He was much pleased to hear Mr. McGill say that he did not intend to remove his family from Peterborough just yet. The tie of old association was not to be directly broken. He felt that the institution in promoting Mr. McGill to the general managership of the Bank of Ontario had made a wise move. Mr. McGill stated that he intended to succeed in his new position, and Mr. Dumble had not the slightest doubt that he would.

Mr. T. G. Hazlett stated that there was no one in the town who more heartly endorsed all that had been said of Mr. McGill than himself. For universal courtesy in business relations Mr. McGill had few to equal him and none to surpass him. He took pleasure in congratulating Mr. McGill on his advancement. He had noticed in all Mr. McGill's business relations the poor man received as much consideration as the rich. This pleased him very much.

Mr. Thos. Cahill, councillor, stated that it was indeed a gratification to him to be able to be present and pay his respects to Mr. McGill, congratulating him on his advancement and regretting his departure. He had been brought closely into contact with Mr. McGill, as Chairman of the Finance Committee, and could say that Mr. McGill always had the interests of the town as much at heart as those of the institution with which he was connected.

Mr. Richard Hall said that it afforded him pleasure to be present to offer to Mr. McGill his kind congratulations. Yet he was very sorry, indeed, to see so good a citizen about to leave the town. He had been associated with him for fifteen years, and had always valued his advice most highly. He looked forward to the time when Mr. McGill would once more come back to the town. None would miss him more than himself.

Mr. James Stevenson stated that what was good for Mr. McGill was a loss indeed to the town, as a more public spirited citizen could not possibly be found. During his residence in town he had set up a mark, which, if followed, would not only make Peterborough the best town, but one of the best cities, in Canada. Through Mr. McGill's promotion to the management of one of the largest institutions in the country, the town had become far better known in the business circles in Canada already. By taking an interest in public affairs Mr. McGill had well earned the hearty thanks of the citizens.

Rev. J. C. Davidson in the course of his remarks, expressed his pleasure at being able to testify to Mr. McGill's great interest not only in church work but in all philanthropic objects. He assured Mr. McGill that in assuming his new position he took it backed by the people of Peterborough, who had the strongest belief in his success.

Rev. W. R. Young, as a minister, did not know how he was expected to know much of a banker, except, may be, from observation, yet as his pastor for the past several years he had formed acquaintance with him and with his estimable wife and family, which had been most pleasurable. He joined with the citizens of Peterborough in wishing him God speed, and hoped that his future would be even more of a brilliant success than it had been so far.

Mr. Peter Hamilton spoke of the pain of parting with one so universally popular as Mr. McGill. Mr. Hamilton stated that he was one of the first to meet Mr. McGill on coming to town, and had always observed him to be most honourable, and by his close attention to his duties he had well-fitted himself to assume the position which he had accepted. Mr. McGill has proven that there is always room at the top for those fitted to take their position there. Mr. McGill had met his depositors as would a merchant meet his customers, and this was one of the powerful reasons, he thought, whereby Mr. McGill had become so successful. He met his customers as man met man and spared no efforts to be accommodating. As a citizen he was above reproach. He had no doubt that with his business ability Mr. McGill would in time place his bank at the head of the monetary institutions of Canada.

Mr. Poussette, Q. C., having been connected with the bank as solicitor since 1872, had with all the greatest pleasure in offering his congratulations. His business connections with him had been most pleasant and his association with Mr. McGill had given him an opportunity of judging of his abilities and he assured those present that the bank would have had great difficulty in choosing a more capable man for the position.

Mr. John Carnegie stated that he hoped Mr. McGill's most sanguine expectations in regard to the success attending him in his new position would be more than realised.

Mr. Peter Campbell, manager of the Bank of Toronto, had known Mr. McGill for the last twenty years, and had watched his progress with interest, and felt sure that he could not but be successful in his new position.

Mr. F. W. Taylor, manager of the Bank of Montreal, added his congratulations to those of the previous speakers. He knew Mr. McGill would do well in his new position as he never undertook anything which was not in the end successful.

Mr. Roper referred to the recent rise in the Ontario Bank stock as a favourable augury of the great success which would attend Mr. McGill's career as a general manager.

Mayor Kendry, as the executive officer of the town, took pleasure in bearing testimony to the warm interest which Mr. McGill had always taken in the town. He had always devoted his time to the endeavour to have Peterborough's financial condition in such a shape as to bear favourable comparison with any town in the Dominion of Canada. Mr. McGill's advancement would be a loss to the town, but the town should not stand in his way as it had a warm interest in seeing him climb the ladder of success.

Mr. B. Shortly, President of the Board of Trade, thanked Mr. McGill for his courteousness to him during the last eight years, since when he had known him. He extended the heartiest congratulations.

Mr. R. S. Davidson assured Mr. McGill that all that had been said of him during the course of the evening was true, although complimentary. Mr. McGill, he stated, had placed the town's financial footing on first-class basis. It had a splendid record in connection with the sale of its debentures, which sold at a figure far above that of other towns, as they were always floated without a commission. He joined with the others in wishing Mr. McGill success.

Mr. E. B. Edwards endorsed all that had been said during the evening, and congratulated Mr. McGill heartily on his success. Those assembled to-night were not appreciating Mr. McGill only on his departure, but had done so all along. If he went from them in the duties of his new position, he was glad to learn that his interest in the town still remained.

Mr. D. Belleghem regretted Mr. McGill's departure from the town very much. As a curler he would be greatly missed, as he would also be from financial circles. He joined heartily in all the previous congratulations.

Mr. W. H. Robertson added his regrets and congratulations to those previously expressed, as did Mr. Frank Dobbin.

Amongst those present and witnessing the presentation of the address were Messrs. Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. W. R. Young, R. S. Davidson, A. P. Poussette, Q.C., Peter Hamilton, T. G. Hazlitt, B. Shortly, President of the Board of Trade, D. W. Dumble, Town Solicitor E. B. Edwards, W. A. Stratton, A. St. A. Smith, Geo. A. Schofield, Jos. Mills, Campbell Sawers, John Carnegie, Jas. Kendry, W. H. Hill, Jas. Stevenson, M.P., Dr. Caldwell, representing Board of Education; Robert Innes, John, McKee, S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk; J. H. Roper, Richard Hall W. H. Robertson, Thos. Kelly, Alex. Elliott, F. H. Dobbin, J. J. Hartley, E. H. D. Hall, Robt. Fair, C. LeBrun, W. F. Nelson, W. D. Grassett, W. Hamilton, Thos. Fortye, E. A. Dixon, Thos. Cahill, Harry Phelan, Thos. Dunn, Dr. Brennan, representing Separate School Board; Dr. Carmichael, W. D. Parker, F. W. Taylor, manager Bank of Montreal; Geo. Morrow, Peter Campbell, manager Bank of Toronto, Wm. Johnston, N. St. C. Gurd, T. E. Bradburn, Wm. Langford.

The assembly broke up by the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and giving three rousing cheers for General Manager McGill.

CONCERT AT CHEMONG.

It was a Great Success, the Programme Being Admirably Rendered.

The first of a series of concerts was held in the ball room of the Chemong Park hotel last evening, for the purpose of raising funds for the repair of the organ used in connection with the Sunday service at the Park. The chair was ably occupied by Mr. R. H. Kells, and the following excellent programme was rendered:

PART I.

Piano solo	Mrs T H G Denne
Vocal solo	Mrs W H Moore, of Ottawa
Flute solo	Mr W Fobert
Reading	Miss O'Brien
Vocal solo	Mrs. Hopwood, of Toronto

PART II.

Piano Solo	Miss Parker
Vocal trio	Misses Macdonald and Miss Hamilton
Vocal solo	Miss Maggie Fobert
Recitation	Mrs. Hopwood
Vocal Solo	Mrs Moore

God Save the Queen.

At the conclusion votes of thanks were moved to Mr. Fobert for the use of the ball room, and also to those participating in the programme. Every cottage was represented at the concert, and about $10 was realized. It is intended to hold these concerts every two weeks, and it is hoped that the audience will be swelled by parties driving out from Peterborough.

Mr. R. H. Kells and Mr. T. A. Hay have been appointed a committee to complete further arrangements for the holding of concerts for the object stated, and for the conducting of Sunday services.

It is now beyond all cavil. The test has been made. The results have been satisfactory. You can have a good wine for a trifle. Wine has made glad the heart of man from time immemorial. It has made him eloquent; it has cheered him in despondency. But the masses could not get it, at least in countries into which it had to be imported. The Bordeaux Claret Co. will sell you an excellent wine at $3 and $4 per dozen quarts. This they have been doing for sometime past to the whole people. All are delighted. The orders are pouring in A sound wine, thoroughly wholesome, making blood and muscle. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

Korns. Korns.

There are more than one sort of korns. Some korn is planted in the ground and the other sort don't need planting; they grow quite naturally on men's toes and don't need hoeing. This kind of korn has two sorts—one gentle or tender like until Bill Jones steps on your foot, when it gets boiling mad and swears like everything; the other is hard headed and makes a row all the time, especially when your boots are on. I don't like korns, and use the extracting medicine, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, which removes them painlessly in 24 hours.

Heart Disturbance

There is more heart disturbance now than ever. Present day modes of living, hurry, excitement, worry, promote it. You needn't have heart trouble, because you can keep from having it.

Scott's Sarsaparilla

Palpitation or fluttering of the heart, smothering spells at night, swelling of the feet and ankles, shortness of breath, pain in the left side, fainting spells, mean that the heart is oppressed—circulation is out of order.

DELAY IS DANGEROUS

Note the papers daily chronicling the demise of some one by neglect of these warnings—sudden, total heart failure. Scott's Sarsaparilla cures heart disturbance by equalizing the circulation, restoring nerve power, supplying pure blood and relieving the heart of its burden.

STEVENSON'S PIRATICAL JOKE.

He Tells How Easy It Would be to Rob London Hotels on Sunday.

The last time I had the happiness of meeting Stevenson was on Sunday, August 21, 1887. He had been brought up from Bournemouth the day before in a wretched condition of health, and was lodged in a private hotel in Finsbury Circus, in the city, ready to be easily moved to a steamer in the Thames on the morrow. I was warned, in a note, of his passage through town and of the uncertainty whether he could be seen. On the chance I went over early on the morrow, and, very happily for me, he had had a fair night, and could see me for an hour or two. No one else but Mrs. Stevenson was with him. His position was one which might have daunted any man's spirit, doomed to exile, in miserable health, starting vaguely across the Atlantic, with all his domestic interests rooted up, and with no notion where, if at all, they should be replanted. If ever a man of imagination could be excused for repining it was now. But Louis showed no white feather. He was radiantly humorous and romantic.

It was church time, and there was some talk of my witnessing his will, which I did not do, because there could be found no other reputable witness, the whole crew of the hotel being at church. This set him off on a splendid dream of romance. "This," he said, "is the way in which our valuable city hotels—packed, doubtless, with rich objects of jewelry—are deserted on a Sunday morning. Some bold, piratical fellow, defying the spirit of Sabbatarianism, might make a handsome revenue by sacking the derelict hotels between the hours of 10 and 12. One hotel a week would suffice to enable such a man to retire into private life within the space of a year. A mask might, perhaps, be worn for the mere fancy of the thing, and to terrify kitchen maids, but no real disguise would be needful to an enterprise that would require nothing but a brave heart and a careful study of the City Postal Directory." He spoke of the matter with so much fire and gallantry that I blushed for the youth of England and its lack of manly enterprise. No one ever could describe preposterous conduct with such a convincing air as Louis could. Common sense was positively humbled in his presence.—July Century.

A Poor Likeness.

Here is a good story illustrative of the prosaic nature on which are makes no impression:

In Westminster abbey there is a large marble tablet in memory of a famous bishop. It is a basrelief, representing the bishop—a portrait—in the agony of death, sinking into the arms of an allegorical female figure, presumably intended for the angel of death.

It is said that an aged couple from the country were being shown round the abbey, and pausing long before the tablet, the old lady remarked to her husband:

"That's a good likeness of the bishop, but," regarding the angelic personage attentively, "it's a very poor one of Mrs. ——. I knew her well, and she didn't look like that."—Boston Traveler.

Stevenson's Incessant Gaiety.

Those who have written about him from later impression than those of which I speak seem to me to give insufficient prominence to the gaiety of Stevenson. It was his cardinal quality in those early days. A childlike mirth leaped and danced in him; he seemed to skip upon the hills of life; his inherent earnestness or passion about abstract things was incessantly relieved by jocosity; and when he had built one of his intellectual castles in the sand, a wave of humor was certain to sweep in and destroy it. I cannot, for the life of me, recall any of his jokes; and, writen down in cold blood, they might not be funny if I did. They were not wit so much as humanity, the many-sided outlook upon life. I am anxious that this laughter-loving mood should not be forgotten, because later on it was partly, but I think never wholly, quenched by ill health, responsibility and the advance of years. He was often, in the old days, excessively and delightfully silly—silly with the silliness of an inspired school boy; and I am afraid that our laughter sometimes sounded ill in the ears of age.

A pathos was given to his gaiety by the frugility of his health. He was never well, all the years I knew him; and he looked upon his life as hanging by the frailest tenure. As he never complained or maundered, this, no doubt—though we were not aware of it—added to the charm of his presence. He was so bright and keen and witty, and any week he might die. No one, certainly, conceived it possible that he could reach his 45th year. In 1879 his health visibly began to run lower, and he used to bury himself in lonely Scotch and French places, "tinkering himself with solitude," as he used to say.—Gosse's Memories of Stevenson.

CONSUMPTION

SENSATIONS OF STARVING.

Observations Made by a Man Who Had Gone a Week Without Food.

For the first two days through which a strong and healthy man is doomed to exist upon nothing, his sufferings are perhaps more acute than in the remaining stages; he feels an inordinate, unspeakable craving at the stomach night and day. The mind runs upon beef, bread and other substances; but still, in a great measure, the body retains its strength.

On the third and fourth days, but especially on the fourth, this incessant craving gives place to a sinking and weakness of the stomach, accompanied by nausea. The unfortunate sufferer still desires food, but with a loss of strength he loses that eager craving which is felt in the earlier stages.

Should he chance to obtain a morsel or two of food he swallows it with a wolfish avidity; but five minutes afterwards his suffering are more intense than ever. He feels as if he had swallowed a living lobster, which is clawing and feeding upon the very foundation of his existence.

On the fifth day his cheeks suddenly appear hollow and sunken, his body tenuated, his color is ashy pale and his eyes wild, glassy and cannibalistic. The different parts of the system now war with each other. The stomach calls upon the legs to go with it in quest of food; the legs, from weakness, refuse.

The sixth day brings with it increased suffering, although the pangs of hunger are lost in an overpowering languor and sickness. The head becomes giddy; the ghosts of well remembered dinners pass in hideous processions through the mind.

The seventh day comes, bringing increasing lassitude and further prostration of strength. The arms hang listlessly, the legs drag heavily. The desire for food is still left, to a degree, but it must be brought, not sought. The miserable remnant of life which still hangs to the sufferer is a burden almost too grievous to be borne; yet his inherent love of existence induces a desire still to preserve it if it can be saved without a tax on bodily exertion.

The mind wanders. At one moment he thinks his weary limbs cannot sustain him a mile; the next he is endowed with unnatural strength, and if there be a certainty of relief before him, dashes bravely and strongly forward, wondering whence proceeds his new and sudden impulse.

Wonderful Electrical Test.

Prince Henry of Prussia stood the other day with tongues of flame more than a yard long shooting forth from his hands in quivering zig-zag, accompanied by incessant cracklings. It was in the lecture room of the Scientific Society, Urania, at Berlin. He had offered himself as a subject to Professor Spies to demonstrate the fact that alternate electric currents of high power and great frequency passed through a human body, far from causing death, produce no ill effects. The Prince declared that he felt no inconvenience while Professor Spies was passing through his body a discharge of 10,000 alternations a second, with a tension of 10,000 volts.

Weak and Nervous

Describes the condition of thousands of people at this season. They have no appetite, cannot sleep, and complain of the prostrating effect of warmer weather. This condition may be remedied by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which creates an appetite and tones up all the organs. It gives good health by making the blood pure.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, cure headache.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of any thing better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

PRESERVING FRUIT.

RESULT OF EXPERIMENTS IN THE COLD STORAGE PROCESS.

Interesting Extracts From the Last Report of the Horticulturist of the Dominion Experimental Farm—The Lessons of the Experiments Summarized.

The following paragraphs are extracted from the report of Mr. John Craig, horticulturist of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for the year 1894:

One of the most interesting portions of the report refers to experiments which were carried on with a view of determining the value of cold storage as a factor in the preservation and marketing of our summer and autumn fruits. Experiments were carried on for the preservation of peaches and plums, and Mr. Craig reports that in storing these fruits at a temperature of 34 degrees Fahr. the results gained indicated that stone fruits as a class cannot be profitably stored for a longer period than three weeks, and that in the case of fruits originally well ripened, probably not so long, and that after this period there is a rapid deterioration both in flavor and firmness. The results of the experiments with pears are both interesting and encouraging. They are as follows:

COLD STORAGE OF PEARS.

Bartlett—Fully ripe, wrapped, packed in baskets, stored on September 1st, began to decay November 15th. The same unwrapped were badly decayed on that date.

Bartlett—Fully ripe, wrapped and packed in cases holding from 50 to 75 pears each, were in good condition on December 1st. Flavor unimpaired. On December 10th 25 to 30 per cent. were rotten; on December 15th fully 50 per cent. had decayed. Flavor somewhat impaired.

Flemish Beauty—Fully matured, wrapped and packed in baskets, decayed earlier than the Bartlett, beginning to show signs of rotting on October 15th. The same variety unwrapped began to decay on October 6th.

Flemish Beauty—Fully matured, wrapped and packed in kegs were in good condition up to November 1st; they decayed rapidly after this and few remained by December 10th.

The unwrapped in kegs had entirely "wasted" by December 6th.

Beurre Clairgeau—Wrapped in baskets, were in good condition when last examined, December 31st. The same unwrapped were also in good condition on the same day.

Beurre d'Anjou—Wrapped and packed in kegs and boxes, were also in good condition on December 10th; and the same may be said of Duchess.

It would seem that matured Bartlett and Flemish Beauty cannot be safely kept in storage after November 15th or at latest December 1st.

COLD STORAGE OF APPLES.

In the case of apples, it is shown that many of our hardy and productive summer apples can be kept into mid-winter in good condition at a temperature of 34 degrees. This is decidedly encouraging as in many portions of the country Duchess of Oldenburg can be grown readily and with much profit if a market can be obtained for the fruit. There is little doubt that growers this year will take advantage of the fact that this fruit may be preserved and place in storage quantities of the Duchess of Oldenburg for winter consumption.

The grapes include Lindley, Delaware and Niagara. These were kept in storage in good condition till mid-winter and later. Some of the important lessons gained from this trial in storing fruits are summarized by the horticulturist as follows:

1—Fruit for storage should be picked when fully grown, but before it has thoroughly matured.

2—Early pears, peaches and the larger varieties of plums should be wrapped separately in tissue paper.

3—Tight wooden boxes are the most satisfactory packages for storing and handling. When baskets are used they should be provided with strong "veneer" covers.

4—Stone fruits, such as peaches and plums, under ordinary circumstances should not be held for a longer period than two or three weeks.

5—The marketing season for early pears and apples may be extended from thirty to sixty days, and under favorable circumstances for a longer period.

6.—The outcome of experiments with fall and early winter varieties of apples and pears, including samples of grapes, yet remains to be developed.

To Make a Sulky Plow.

To change an ordinary plow into a riding plow, an old wagon wheel may be cut down to 36 inches in diameter and the tire reset. Then have a blacksmith make necessary irons (see illustration) and any intelligent man can do the rest at home. Either make a new axle or take part of an old wagon axle about 4 1-2 feet long and clamp over the plow beam, over the upright standard and on the forward end of the plate which lies on top of this axle. Directly over the beam have a hinge made to which the pole is bolted. The iron braces which are seen hinged from the end of the lever to the front end of the beam serve to lift the plow out of the ground and to keep the pole in its place over the beam. A brace of hard wood or iron must be fastened from the axle, near the wheel, to the front end of the plow beam. When the plow is lifted out of the ground it runs on its heel, but a wheel may be added if preferred. The seat of a mower or hay rake is bolted to the axle and the plow is complete. This plow will do as good work as any sulky plow in the market and the plow can be detached at any time if wanted for drilling potatoes or any work of that kind. The cut above is a reproduction taken from a plow in actual service in one of the extensive grain fields of Alberta.

Preparing for the Next Contest.

Berlin, July 21.—The Chinese Government is placing large contracts for rifles with German firms. China is also negotiating for a number of large Krupp guns, with a view of discarding her heavy British ordnance. The Chinese Envoy has obtained the assent of the War Office to engage 160 German officers to drill the reorganized Chinese army.

Severe Fighting Reported.

London, July 21.—The Chronicle publishes a despatch from Philippopolis, saying that severe fighting has taken place at Djuma, on the Bulgarian-Macedonia frontier. The Turkish troops at that place were attacked by a band of 1000 insurgents and defeated with heavy losses. The loss of the insurgents was also heavy. The situation is serious.

Toronto Markets.

Flour—Trade is very quiet and prices are unchanged. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.80 to $3.90, Toronto freights.

Bran—Bran is firm, selling at equal to $15.50, Toronto freights. Shorts $19.

Wheat—The market is quiet, with a limited demand. Bids are being asked for new wheat. A sale of old white, Toronto freight, is reported at 80c. In the west red is quoted at 77c. Manitoba No. 1 hard unchanged at 93c, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade dull and prices unchanged at 57c to 58c, west.

Barley—Trade is dull with little or none offering.

Oats—The demand is slow and prices unchanged. White quoted outside at 32c to 32 1-2c, and cars on track at 36c.

Rye—Nothing doing and prices purely nominal.

Oatmeal—Market is dull, with prices nominal at $4 to $4.10 on track.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Philip H. Brant, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results."

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell. 25c, 50c. and $1.00. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George Street.

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

A LADY OF WATERFORD COMPLETELY CURED.

Suffered for Two Years from Indigestion and General Debility.

Unable at Times to Attend to Her Household Duties.

Treated by Nearly All the Doctors in the Town Without Relief

"Six Bottles of South American Nervine Cured Me," Says Mrs. D. A. Gray, of Waterford, Ont., Over Her Own Signature.

MRS. D. A. GRAY, OF WATERFORD, ONT.

Certain dates are epoch making. They mark transitions in the individual life that are never forgotten. Their impress may be pleasant or sad, or both. As Mrs. D. A. Gray, of Waterford, Ont., an estimable and highly respected resident of that community, goes back in memory to the year 1893, her recollections are not of the most roseate character. Can there be anything rosy to one who is a victim of indigestion? All is sombre and sadness. But there was a silver lining to the cloud, as we shall see. Previous to 1893 Mrs. Gray tells us she had been troubled very much with indigestion and general debility for a period of nearly two years. Hers was no ordinary case. At times she was prevented altogether from attending to her household duties. Waterford has a number of skilled physicians in its midst and their services were called in, but in her own language, "I cannot say that they relieved me in any way." An era of joy was ushered in when her mother read the story of a cure by South American Nervine in a case where the symptoms, as Mrs. Gray says, "seemed to be exactly like her own. I bought a bottle and found much relief. After taking six bottles I was cured." The date was an epoch making date in this lady's life.

What the symptoms of Indigestion are, too many know. What the trouble is in its worst forms thousands know. People lament the spread of insanity in the present day. How far removed from loss of reason is a case of aggravated indigestion? The world to every such victim is blue enough, black enough, so uninviting and depressing that no wonder they are beside themselves. And yet the remedy is within the reach of all. That great discovery, Nervine, will cure the most desperate case of indigestion, debility or nervousness. You ask for evidence. A cloud of witnesses in the Dominion of Canada are saying amen, and amen, to the testimony of Mrs. Gray. Why suffer, fellow-citizens, friends and brethren?

LACROSSE.

To-morrow's game of lacrosse in Port Hope between the Ontarios of that town and our own Athletics, promises to be one of the fastest matches of the season and the trip should be taken by every lacrosse enthusiast. The team will be the best sent out of Peterborough this year, comprising the pick of the club. All players will be home boys and their friends should rally nobly to their support and go down to cheer them on to victory.

CANOEING.

At the conclusion of the canoe racing on Thursday evening there will be another of those much admired illuminated parades, and already some astonishing effects in coloured lights have been prepared for the occasion. The contestants in the races are practising hard, some of them being out on the lake every morning at five o'clock.

BASEBALL.

A game of baseball was played Saturday afternoon amongst the Lock Works employees, being the annual tussle between the married men and those who should be spliced. The prize was a valuable cup presented by Mr. John Clancy.

The teams were composed as follows :

Married Men.		Bachelors.
Ahearn	short stop	Daly
Thorne	3rd base	Ward
McDonough	pitcher	Heffernan
Donoughue	left field	Benard
Daly	catch	P Heffernan
Berber	2nd base	Flaherty
Brennan	right field	Hickey
D Donovan	centre field	Murray
O'Brien	1st base	McDonough

It is evident that with a little practice the Lock Works could put a first class team on the field, as the score was held down to 7-6 in favour of the married men.

The good plays made were numerous, home runs being made by Scriber, Donoghue, Donovan, Ahern and Daly for the married men, and by Hickey, Heffernan, Johnston and Murray for the men who should be married.

About the middles of the game a professional was placed on third base. He is known as John Copeland, alias John Kegg. Some objected to his presence, but he was allowed to stay on certain conditions.

It is understood that the bachelors have issued a challenge to play the married men for anything from a load of pumpkins to a case of lavender ties.

CRICKET.

"How gloriously well The Master looked," writes a correspondent referring to the Grace banquet at Bristol. "Middle age has clearly no terrors for him. In his face I can scarcely detect a change during the last twenty years. There is not a single wrinkle in his brow, but the merest suggestion of gray in his beard, and his disposition is that of a healthy young giant. To look at him as he stood muttering his few words of thanks, with never a reference to his career, one would never think that the early sixties saw his rise. As the Western Daily Press said: 'The great cricketer's career has been usually measured by its centuries, but there is another way of reckoning suggested by the political crisis. For Grace played his way into fame when Lord Palmerston was Premier, and since then Lord Russell, Mr. Gladstone (four times), Mr. Disraeli (twice), Lord Salisbury (twice), and Lord Roseberry have come in and gone out since Grace began to play, and still he is not out.'"

Supposed Murder of a Chinaman.

Montreal, July 23.—There was quarreling heard among some Chinese of Mount Royal-avenue at an early hour this morning, and shortly after the dead body of a Celestial who had been working for Ching Kee in the same street, was found. Foul play is suspected.

If you buy the cloth, you can have it cut free of charge at the mammoth Forced-to-Sell Sale of T. Dolan & Co. stock. 5,000 yds. of splendid Tweeds and other cloths clipping up at half price, and the cutting thrown into the bargain. Anything to clear the stock in 30 days! If you're too busy, send your wife to buy the stuff, then come yourself and leave your measure at Dolan's corner store. If you don't, you'll perhaps never know the real value of your loss

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers :—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4.000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

Canadians at Bisley.

London, July 23.—Owing to the confusion attendant upon breaking up camp at Bisley, the money prizes won on Saturday were not announced until to-day. The Canadians winning money prizes were : Chamberlain, in two contests ; Hayhurst, in two contests ; Meadows, in one contest, and Mitchell, one contest.

The consensus of opinion in the camp was that the Canadian marksmen had contributed most notably to the success of the meeting..

Caretaker of an Irish Farm Fatally Shot

Dublin, July 22.—The neighborhood of Dungarven, County Waterford, is greatly excited over an agrarian outrage which occurred there last night. While the caretaker of a farm whose tenants had been evicted was sitting in the house with his wife, a number of shots were fired at them through the windows. The man was fatally and the woman dangerously wounded. The latter, badly hurt as she was, crawled two miles to the nearest house to get assistance.

PREPARING A DEFENCE

Holmes' Counsel Visits Toronto for That Purpose.

A WARRANT ISSUED AT CHICAGO

Detective Geyer Takes That View and Has Gone to That City—A Warrant Issued at Chicago Charging Holmes With the Murder of His 7th and 8th Victims.

TORONTO, July 24.

Already the lawyers connected with the defense of H. H. Holmes have been active in investigating the Toronto end of the case against their client. E. Cooper Shapley, a prominent criminal lawyer of Philadelphia, and an ex-judge of the State of Pennsylvania, is one of those associated in the defence of the alleged murderer. On Friday he arrived in the city and registered at the Rossin House. On Saturday he visited the house at 16 St. Vincent-street, and made a thorough examination of the premises. He also had a lengthy interview with Mr. Ryves, the old gentleman who will be the chief witness against Holmes, should he be tried in Toronto for the murder of the Pitezel children. Shapley went into every detail of the old gentleman's story.

Judge Shapley remained in the city until Monday, when he returned to Philadelphia. Before leaving he expressed the opinion that Holmes would be tried in Philadelphia for the murder of B. F. Pitezel, and only brought to Toronto in the event of his acquittal on that charge.

Abandoned the Search in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., July 23.—Detective Geyer of Philadelphia gave up the search for the missing boy, Howard Pitezel, in Detroit this afternoon, and left in response to telegrams received about noon calling him to Indianapolis, where, it is said, certain developments have been made in the case. He says: "There is one thing certain; if Howard Pitezel ever came to Detroit he was destroyed in the furnace at the Forest-avenue house, and the indestructible portions of his clothing were carried away by Holmes."

Still Searching for the Bodies.

Chicago, July 23.—Four laborers dug all day in the cellar of the house formerly occupied by H. H. Holmes at 63rd and Wallace-streets and found little encouragement for their toil. The building is now closed to everybody. Not a clue has yet been discovered which is conclusive.

Arthur Manion of 418 State-street took out a warrant this afternoon for the arrest of Holmes for murder. Manion says he believes his aunt, Mrs. Julia Conner, was murdered by Holmes between Aug. 1 and Nov. 1, 1892.

Eighteen inches beneath the uneven surface forming the floor of the basement to the Holmes building in Englewood, was discovered last evening a bloodstained undergarment, supposed to have belonged to Minnie Williams before her disappearance. Detectives Norton and Fitzpatrick from the start have believed that the search of the Englewood basement would bring forth startling developments.

Last evening, when the workmen left the building, the detectives remained and began digging in a corner, which had not been touched. After digging some time a piece of stained muslin cloth, evidently half of a suit of underwear, made for a woman, was found. It was taken to Inspector Fitzpatrick, who made a careful examination, and expressed the opinion that the stains were those of blood.

A physician made an examination of the garment, and pronounced the stains those of blood.

A woman who had been washing for Minnie Williams said the missing woman wore underclothing like that found by the officers.

Pitezel traveled under three different names while he was with Holmes. These were B. F. Perry, B. T. Lyman and Robert Jones. Holmes assumed the names of Hiram S. Campbell and H. H. Howard. With these interchangeable names the two worked their various schemes to perfection. For instance, when constructing his castle Holmes would buy many of the supplies for H. S. Campbell, representing that he (Holmes) was only the agent for Campbell. In this way he purchased heavily of E. G. Curtis, 616 Chamber of Commerce building. In due course of time, when the bill became payable, Holmes turned over to Curtis the following note:

Chicago, July 25, 1892.

Four months after date I promise to pay to the order of H. H. Holmes, three hundred and seventy-eight dollars and eight cents, pay blc at 701 Sixty-third street. Value received, with interest at 7 per cent. (Signed.) H. S. CAMPBELL.

This note was not indorsed over by Holmes to Mr. Curtis, but delivered to him. November 9 Mr. Curtis returned it. Holmes never used it again. The body of the note is in the handwriting of Julia Connor and is in green ink. The signature is in black ink, in a woman's hand, disguised. On paper of this character Holmes raised considerable money.

Pat Quinlan's wife is delighted that her husband escaped becoming an insurance victim of Holmes. While Pat was in his employ he persuaded him to take out an accident insurance policy. He did so, and kept it for five months, when he ceased to pay the premiums and it lapsed. Mrs. Quinlan believes now that if her husband had kept the policy up in due time Holmes would have caused something fatal to happen to him and would then have cheated her out of the money.

Mrs. Pitezel's story of how Holmes hypnotized her has received singular confirmation through Detective Crawford of Philadelphia. He is the officer who arrested Holmes in Boston for the murder of Pitezel and took him to Philadelphia. In the party at the time was the Mrs. Howard Holmes of Franklin, Ind., and Dessie Pitezel.

Holmes said to Crawford while they were on the train:

"Let me hypnotize you."

The detective asked what for.

"So that I can escape. I will give you $500 if you will let me do it. I know how to hypnotize. I learned how from a professor whom I met in the west. It will be worth your while to let me try it."

Crawford refused, but Holmes renewed the offer several times before reaching Philadelphia and offering to pledge the word of his wife and mother that the money should be paid to Crawford if he let him escape in that manner.

The last clutch which it seems Holmes got on Pitezel before the latter's life insurance was taken out was the Terre Haute forgery. Pitezel appeared there on October 1, 1893, and, under the name of Robert Jones, attempted to pass a cheque for $10,000, but the bogus character of the signature was discovered and Jones or Pitezel thrown into jail. He then confessed that his name was Pitezel, that he was in the employ of H. H. Holmes and H. S. Campbell (a mythical personage used by Holmes in his business), and that the cheque had come to him through them. Holmes was sent for and came to Terre Haute. He claimed that the cheque had come to him through some Michigan persons with whom he had lumber deals and that if it was a forgery he would quickly have it straightened out. He so imposed on the authorities that they released Pitezel under small bail, the bond being secured by Holmes. The two immediately left the city and Terre Haute later found out that the bond was as bogus as the cheque. No attempt was made to bring the men back, as no trace of them could be found.

Will Be Tried in Canada.

Philadelphia, July 23.—To-day's developments indicate that Holmes will not be turned over to the Chicago authorities on the charges of killing the Williams and Conner women, but the case, as viewed from its present aspect, is now safe in the hands of the legal authorities in Canada, and it is fair to presume that his conviction there can be secured.

Lawyer Thomas Fahey, who represents the interests of Mrs. Pitezel in this city, to-day received a letter from the father of his client, who in strong language states that there are others in connection with the mysterious case who should be arrested. He stated that he thought all the conspirators were not yet known.

HALIFAX AND BERMUDA CABLE.

The British Government to Grant a Subsidy and the Cable to Be Extended to the West Indies.

London, July 23.—I have good authority to state that the British Government has agreed to grant a subsidy, which, in conjunction with the aid granted by the Canadian and other Governments, will enable the Halifax and Bermuda cable to be extended to the West Indies. This information is supplemented with the statement that departmental details are being now finally arranged for the grant. This matter is of the highest consequence to Canadian trade with the West Indies, which is now altogether dependent upon the American cable channels. I also believe that J. L. Huddart's scheme for the fast Atlantic and Pacific mail subsidies is making headway at last. Lord Ripon before leaving the Colonial Office left a memorandum strongly urging the matter upon Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, his successor. The latter gentleman expresses keen sympathy with all practical movements for improving the inter-imperial relations. The British Treasury is at the present time fully filled, and the new Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hicks-Beach, is more sympathetic to the idea than was Sir W. Vernon Harcourt.

FAVOR THE BLOCK SYSTEM.

Verdict of the Jury in the Craig's-road Disaster.

Quebec, July 24.—The coroner's verdict in the Craig's-road accident was rendered at 4.30 o'clock yesterday. They find that the collision was due to the carelessness and incompetency of the employes of the G.T.R. Co., then in charge of the train driven by Engineer McLeod. Moreover the jury shares the opinion that the "block system," as enforced on certain railway lines, would ensure security to passengers, if applied to the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada. The employes of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada should be made to undergo an examination for color blindness once a year. Furthermore the jury regrets that it has been duly established by evidence that Driver McLeod in charge of Conductor McCabe's train supplied himself with a quart of beer at Arthabaska station, this being strictly against the company's rules.

Hot weather proves depressing to those whose blood is poor. Such people should enrich their blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MR. ANGERS EXPLAINS

Why He Left the Bowell Government.

MANITOBA AND D'ALTON McCARTHY

He Will Await Developments and Meantime Enter Into the Practice of His Profession at Montreal—A Gossipy Budget of News From Montreal.

Montreal, July 24.—Your correspondent received the first statement made to the press by the Hon. Mr. Angers since the ex-Minister of Agriculture withdrew from the Cabinet, and it was made in reply to the following question:

"Is it true, Mr. Angers, that you propose holding a series of meetings in this province in order to explain the reasons which prompted you in leaving the Cabinet?"

"No; such is not my intention, and I will tell you why. My position has been in favor of minorities wherever they might be found, for had the liberties and rights of the minority in Quebec province been placed in jeopardy I would have taken a still firmer stand, and, perhaps, I would then have been better understood. However, as the Government has promised that justice will be done, I will wait and see what the outcome will be. I may also say that I think it would be most unwise to hold meetings just now, or attempt anything like agitation. If meetings were held here for the purpose of promoting Remedial Legislation, contrary gatherings would be called in Ontario and elsewhere, and the situation would be rendered even more complicated than at the present time."

Hon. Mr. Angers further explained that he had never been opposed to the delay or unofficial negotiation with Manitoba, but it was the idea of the Government re-opening negotiations with that province that he could not approve of."

"What in your opinion will be the Manitoba Government's answer?" asked the correspondent.

"Manitoba is in the hands of D'Alton McCarthy, and he will frame her reply, which, I believe, will be an evasive one."

The ex-Premier was then questioned as to his future plans professionally, and his reply was as follows: "I have to begin life over again, and, although I leave for Quebec this evening, I think it is quite likely that I will settle down here in Montreal, and practice my profession."

OFF ON THEIR VACATIONS.

The Cabinet Ministers Preparing for a Holiday—Crop Reports

Ottawa, July 23.—A telegram received at the Department of Agriculture to-day from Mr. Saunders, director of Experimental Farms, contained the following crop report: "Brandon, July 23.—Have seen crops between Winnipeg and Brandon to-day. They look very promising. The growth is in most places even and strong. Grain well headed, 'lodged' in spots in a few places only. Weather bright and warm. A grand crop if weather continues favorable. Crops on experimental farm very good."

Writing from Calgary, N.W.T., July 17, to the Secretary of the House Committee on Agriculture, John Craig, horticulturist to the Dominion Experimental Farms, says: "The crops in Manitoba and such parts of the territory as I have seen will be phenomenally large unless caught by frost. They have now had ample rain to carry through the grain to maturity, and the condition of the whole country is one of hope and encouragement."

The Department of Agriculture is in receipt of information from Ebenezer Wells, Croydon, England, to the effect that the system adopted by shippers of binding Canadian hay with wire has led to losses among the live stock to which it is fed. Mr. Wells is anxious that the matter should be brought to the notice of Canadian agriculturists, with a view to remedying what he regards in our hay as "its only defect."

Sir Mackenzie Bowell leaves Friday for Regina, accompanied by Hon. Mr. Daly.

Lord Aberdeen will formally open the new creamery at Renfrew on Thursday. The Countess of Aberdeen will on the same day perform the ceremony of dedicating Aberdeen Park. Their Excellencies will leave the same night for the west, their intention being, after the opening of the Territorial Exhibition, to proceed through to the Pacific coast.

There was a protracted sitting of the Privy Council to-day. The Ministers were engaged in the transaction of Departmental and other work accumulated during the declining days of the session of Parliament. Next week the majority of the Cabinet will have departed for their summer holidays.

The reorganisation of Customs Board on the lines of the bill recently passed by Parliament will be commenced without delay. The new appointments to the board will be made by order in Council.

The Controller of Customs will be in Halifax next week attending the meeting of the Grand Lodge of British America, of which he is grand master.

Hon. Mr. Costigan left yesterday for the Maritime Provinces. During his absence of a fortnight or so the affairs of the Marine and Fisheries Department will be administered by Sir Charles H. Tupper.

Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1895.

Not a little of the credit for Private Hayhurst's victory at Bisley belongs to Col. Gibson. The gallant commander of the Thirteenth has done everything possible to encourage rifle shooting in his battalion and to this encouragement is largely due the splendid showing made by the Hamilton corps at Bisley.

A glance at the speech from the Throne on the closing of the Dominion Parliament gives proof of the lack of legislative ability of the Cabinet and of the intention of the Government to not hold the session just closed. The practical part of the business seems to be the drawing of the indemity by the members and the voting of the surplus.

THE bill of the Independent Foresters to authorize the order to increase the policies they are all allowed to issue from $3,000 to $5,000, has been withdrawn for this session. The bill, thinks the Toronto News, ought to be withdrawn for good. No fraternal society should be permitted to insure any one life for more than $3,000 at the outside.

THE Irish Dairy Farmers' Association is arranging for a visit of its members to Canada. This is at once a tribute to Canada's position as a dairy country and a promise of probable livelier competition for Canadian factory men in the British market. The Irishmen are coming out to learn, and because they know they can learn and are quite likely to learn.

The American papers do not fail to note that the revenue of the United States during the fiscal year 1895 was larger by $31,000,000 than the previous one, and they point out that the increase was due to the Wilson-Gorman tariff. It would be well if Mr. Foster noted the fact also. It shows how an increased revenue can be obtained. We have at present an enormous deficit, and the Government is making the country insolvent. By removing the tariff burdens an increased revenue would be obtained. Let that be removed as the country desires.

So far as Mr. Angers is concerned, the strike of the Ministers is not at an end, and he proposes, says the Ottawa Free Press, to continue his opposition to the Government to the bitter end. It is understood that he has been holding conferences with the leading dissentient Conservatives and others, and that a series of public meeting will be held in Quebec with reference to the school matter. It is his intention also to establish a new paper in Montreal. Mr. Angers personal paper does not seem to entertain a high opinion of the present French Ministers. It says: "We say without hesitation that the singular conduct of Messrs. Caron and Ouimet has sealed the fate of the Manitoba schools, and consummated in a national disaster the dishonour of our race." It is evidently war to the knife.

THE winning by Hayhurst, of Hamilton, a member of the Canadian Bisley team, is a notable achievement, and the Ambitious City is justified in indulging in a vigorous cackle over the egg, which to strain the metaphor, its cock of the range has laid. Hayhurst must have a fine eye, correct judgment, a well subjugated nerve, and altogether a level head. To come out on top in competition with a thousand crack shots of the world is something to be proud of, and even Toronto, ever envious of the success of its bayside neighbour, is unstinting in its praise of Hayhurst's achievement. He showed the coolness that wins at the close finish. There are very few men who would not get "rattled"—had an attack of "buck fever"—when under the eye of thousands trembling with excitement and eager interest, everything depended on one shot. Hayhurst's success will go far to raise Canada in the eyes of the Mother Country and to minimize the condescending patronage with which the people in the mother land regard us mere colonials. Hamilton has the honour of bringing to this country the first Queen's prize that ever came to Canada; and this is a comparison credit to that achieved by Col. Gibson, now Ontario's Provincial Secretary, who, twenty years ago, captured the Prince of Wales' prize at the now historic Wimbledon meetings. Hamilton is fond of calling Toronto, Hogtown, but in the matter of monopolizing royal guerdons of marksmanship the Ambitious City is likely to become a lively competitor for the porcina-cognomen. It looks very much as if Hamilton, beginning with "G" and following up with "H", entered to run the gamut of the alphabet. The EXAMINER extends congratulations to Hayhurst and Hamilton.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT.

Youngest Burgess of the Ancient Town of Wick.

Sir Oliver Mowat is enjoying himself in Scotland. After being feted by the corporation of Glasgow and making a decidedly characteristic speech at the banquet tendered him in the second city of the Empire, he journeyed north to the homes of his forefathers. Mr. James L. Harriman, who is at the Russell on his by-annual trip representing several Scotch dry goods agencies for the fall and winter trades, had the honor of travelling in the same railway compartment with the Ontario chief when he went up to Wick in Caithness-shire. Seen on the subject, Mr. Harriman said: "I left Wick for Glasgow on my way here, the same night that Sir Oliver Mowat's presence literally turned the town upside down with enthusiasm. The corporation joined with the inhabitants in honouring the old man by giving the highest in their power to bestow—"the freedom of the burg." It is a very ancient custom in Scotland and marks the highest honour a Scotch community can award a stranger. The legal document illuminated on parchment is enclosed in a gold jewelled casquet and very few people are thus singled out by the Scotch towns or cities. The ceremony was headed by the Provost of the town, who, in an excellent speech, referred to Sir Oliver and his remarkable history as a Canadian, a lawyer, a politician and a premier in a manner that must have astonished him. Sir Oliver, when replying, said that he claimed himself to be a Caithness man. Although he had not been born there his forefathers for many generations had, his father having gone from Caithness to settle in Canada in 1816, having first served under Sir John Moore at the battle of Corunna, and having received his discharge at the peace proceeding Waterloo had emigrated to Canada, taking young Oliver with him. He continued talking in this strain for about half an hour and garnished his speech with some very amusing Scotch anecdotes. For the time being Sir Oliver Mowat of Canada was king in liberal radical Wick, in fact throughout all Caithness. His extreme popularity was not a little enhanced by the remembrance that a few years ago he presented the parish churches of Canisbay and Dunnet with magnificent silver services, and you know if you want to reach the northern Scotch Presbyterians heart "ye maun dae something for the kirk." Mr. Harriman further said that Sir Oliver was the picture of robust health and never was in better spirits.

The Gun Exploded.

Toulon, July 23.—A breech gun exploded on board the warship Bouvines during a trial here to-day, killing one sailor and wounding Admiral Chateaumineis and two of his officers and several members of the crew.

Rioting in Brussels.

Brussels, July 23.—A riot occurred today at a match at which King Leopold was a spectator. Cries of "Down with the school law," were hurled at the King and the loyalists responded with shouts of "Vive le Roi." The mob tried to rescue ten persons who were arrested, but the police charged the crowd and captured more of the rioters. Ten of these under arrest will be tried on the charge of insulting their Sovereign and seven for issuing manifestoes without the printer's name.

The Macedonian Troubles.

London, July 23.—A despatch from Constantinople says it is announced that the mobilization of 20,000 men of the Third Army corps at Monastir, Macedonia, has been ordered.

A fight between Insurgents and Turkish troops is said to have taken place at Uskup, in which 13 were killed and 30 were wounded.

The reported mobilization of troops in Macedonia excited little attention here, as similar statements are printed daily, and officially denied the day after.

The Standard to-morrow will publish a despatch from its Constantinople correspondent saying it is reported that the Council of Ministers had decided to call out the reserves along the whole seaboard of the empire and in all European vilayets. This, the correspondent adds, will entail great financial sacrifices, and can only be explained by an acute sense of the critical nature of the situation.

Bedouins Attack Lighters.

London, July 23.—A despatch from Jeddah says that a party of 150 Bedouins attacked five lighters lying at that port, and, after firing a volley, boarded and plundered them. Sixteen of the persons on board the lighters were wounded.

Another Fool Leaps From Brooklyn Bridge.

New York, July 23.—King Callahan, a bartender, who gave his address as 434 Third-avenue, dropped from the Brooklyn Bridge into the East River at 6.50 o'clock this morning. He was picked up by two men in a rowboat, and taken to the Hudson-street Hospital, where he now lies in a dangerous condition, having sustained internal injuries. A wager was made several days ago by which Callahan was to win $1700 if he successfully jumped from the bridge. Callahan is under arrest.

ROBBED HIS UNCLE.

Wholesale Jewelry Thefts in Toronto.

FOUR OF THE GANG IN CUSTODY

The Nephew of the President of the Goldsmiths' Stock Co. Steals Several Hundred Dollars Worth of Goods and Succeeds in Disposing of Them.

Toronto, July 24. — Through the shrewdness of a Kingston jeweler, a well-conceived scheme of large proportions for robbing the Goldsmiths' Stock Company has been discovered. Mr. Walter J. Barr, manager of the company, assisted by the police, has spent some days in getting to the bottom of the conspiracy, and it is now believed that all of the guilty parties but two have been discovered.

The supposed principal in the conspiracy is in New York. He is Gerard A. Fudger, a clerk in the employ of the company, and the nephew of its president, H. H. Fudger. All the chief parties to the robbery are youths of respectable parentage, whom no one would have reason to suspect of criminal tendencies.

Those under arrest are:

F. W. SMYTH, 124 John-street.

W. ROOTS, 22 Catherine-street.

FRANK CABLE, 241 Beverley-street.

FRANCIS WURSTER, 470 Queen-street west.

Warrants are out for the arrest of George Metcalfe of Kingston, Ont., and for the principal above alluded to. The prisoner Roots was an employe of the Goldsmiths' Company, and a companion of Fudger's.

For some time past Mr. H. H. Fudger, the president of the company, and Mr. Barr, the manager, have suspected that robberies were taking place, but as the stock is a large one and the goods of a portable nature, the thief could not be detected, nor was there any positive evidence of theft.

In a wholesale jewelry establishment, where most of the stock is under cover, thefts are not discovered easily, except through a laborious system of stock-checking, which is used only at stated intervals. Odds and ends were occasionally missed in the establishment, but suspicions had taken no definite form in the minds of the proprietors until a few days ago a letter was received from Messrs Johnston & Bro., jewelers of Kingston, Ont., to say that a watch had been offered to them at a rate which led them to believe it had been dishonestly obtained. From the nature of the goods offered for sale with the watch, the Messrs. Johnston believed the stock to have come from the Goldsmiths' Company.

They wrote that the explanation offered by the party who wanted to sell the goods was that a jeweler in Western Ontario was in financial difficulties and was quietly unloading his stock by this means. Messrs. Johnston & Bro. wrote, not with the idea that a theft had been committed, but to suggest that the Goldsmiths' Company find out which of their customers was trying to defraud them in this way. They enclosed the number of the watch offered for sale as a guide.

Messrs. Fudger and Barr, on receiving this letter, made investigations, and discovered that no watch of that denomination had been sold, and that one of the number in question should be in stock. Mr. Barr immediately went to Kingston to make investigations on his own account, and discovered that some $400 worth of the company's stock had been sold at low rates to different people in Kingston.

He got the names of several men who had offered watches for sale, and interviewed them, only to discover that they were selling them on commission for George Medcalfe, son of a well-known citizen, who during the winter had been a veterinary student in Toronto. He also learned that a young man named Smyth from Toronto had visited Medcalfe quite recently, and Medcalfe finally admitted having obtained the goods from Smyth, with whom he had boarded in John-street during his course as a veterinary student.

Coming back to Toronto, Mr. Barr caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of Medcalfe, but before it reached Kingston the bird had flown. Investigations in Toronto showed that Medcalfe and Smyth had been the chums of young Gerard Fudger and from him Smyth says he got the jewelry. The latter, hearing that inquiries were on foot, had also flown the coop.

It was learned that the employe in question had been the leading figure in a group of half a dozen youths of lively tendencies. Smyth, Medcalfe, Roots, another employe of the company, and Frank Cable, were all members of the charmed circle. Fudger, since his flight, has given information which led to the arrest of his partners and made admissions which tended to show that there were at least two distinct channels of distribution. One was through Kingston, where the conspiracy was discovered; the other was in Toronto by means of Francis Wurster, a jeweler at 470 Queen-street west, who is a cousin of Cable's.

Fudger, as a nephew of the president, was allowed access to the vault, a privilege not afforded the other clerks and which enabled him to steal with ease.

It would appear that the ringleader of the group arranged matters so that he never appeared as a party to the sale of any of the jewelry stolen, but used his friends as tools, and they in turn followed the same system, so that before a stolen article was disposed of it had passed through several hands, and got farther and farther away from any parties who might be suspected.

The method used by Medcalfe at Kingston was to go to some friend working in a large establishment, and offer him a commission if he could sell any watches to his fellow-employes. Mr. Barr brought back some $400 worth of stolen goods he had recovered from different parties, and in Wurster's two stores, one in Queen-street and the other at Weston, articles to the value of $150 were recovered yesterday.

So far as is known, there were no other channels of distribution, but this is by no means certain. Roots, Smyth, Cable and Wurster were all arraigned before the Police Magistrate yesterday and remanded for a week.

Mr. Barr said last night that no stone would be left unturned in securing the punishment of the thieves, as wholesale jewelers are more at the mercy of their employes than other merchants, and are obliged to protect themselves accordingly. Both Roots and his fellow-employe were trusted men, long in the company's employ.

WHO IS RAYMOND McINTYRE?

Claimed to Represent an Alleged Toronto Jewelry Firm

Rochester, July 23.—A tall young man, with smooth face, who said his name was W. Raymond McIntyre, and that he was engaged in establishing branch offices for the firm of McIntyre Bros., importers of jewelry, of Toronto, walked into a leading jewelry store here yesterday, and after displaying a business card of this supposed firm he jollied the proprietor several minutes, and said he would purchase a watch, "just for a joke, hoping you will return the compliment when you are in want of goods," and picked out a timepiece valued at $150. He then discovered that he had only $28 with him, and tendered a cheque in payment for the rest. He had a card printed showing office rooms in the Power block. The Rochester jeweler said he would take down the number of the watch. He then quietly despatched a boy to the Power building, and found the rooms were unoccupied. He then refused to accept the cheque, and the Canadian disappeared before an officer could be called.

Don't Like the Sectarian Bill.

Brussels, July 23.—A Radical and Socialist demonstration was made here today against the Government's sectarian education bill. The names of the King and his Ministers were hooted and the crowd became so disorderly that the police interfered. The efforts of the police to disperse the crowd met with much resistance, but after a time they succeeded in breaking up the gathering. Fifteen persons were arrested.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

THE 'LUNGE'S EXTRAORDINARY VORACITY.

It Tries to Steal a Bass off a Line and is Caught Itself.

Mr. John Belcher was on Saturday last the witness of an incident illustrative of the extraordinary voracity of the 'lunge in our northern waters.

He was up in the Bobcaygeon region and in the afternoon was out on Pigeon Lake near the mouth of Swamp River, where a number of Americans were fishing from boats.

Mr. Lamberton, of Pennsylvania, hooked a bass, which afterwards proved to be a pound and a half in weight, and as he was drawing it in towards the boat the line suddenly became taut, and by the vicious tug Mr. Lamberton knew that there was a 'lunge on the hook. He played the big fellow for some time and finally drew him in towards the boat. As soon as the 'lunge got its eye on its captor it spat out the bass and made off.

Not half an hour afterwards Mr. Lamberton hooked another bass and again the same thing happened, a 'lunge snatching it before it could be gotten into the boat. This time, however, there were two hooks on the line and the free one caught in the 'lunge's gills so that he could not follow the example of his predecessor and cough up the bass but perforce had to "stay with it."

Mr. Lamberton played the fish for over an hour with an eight ounce rod and finally landed it. The lunge weighed 16 pounds.

Have you seen those Men's Suits selling at $3.50, at Grafton & Co's, worth $5.00.

It's tone is something superb. tf

Interesting to the Fraternities.

A matter of considerable interest to benevolent society men has just come up in connection with one of the fraternal organizations in Toronto. A member of this order was convicted in court for drunkenness. For this he was not only fined by the court, but suspended by his order under the clause of the constition which makes the excessive use of liquors a sufficient reason for cancelling the insurance carried by a member. Before the offender in this case can be reinstated he must be approved of by his lodge and have a fresh medical examination. The action taken is just, because the man who indulges to an undue extent in intoxicants makes his risk extra hazardous, and no fraternal society should be expected to carry that hazard. The warning given in this case should not be lost upon others who are insured in benevolent societies and who sometimes linger to long over the flowing bowl.

Died at Rochester.

The friends and acquaintances of the late Mrs. Wm. Jackson will be sorry to hear of her sad and untimely end, which took place on Wednesday, July 17th. She was on a visit to her daughter and friends in Rochester. Her visit was for the purpose of improving her health, and her death was very sudden, the cause being apoplexy. She leaves behind a husband to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate wife, and five sons and one daughter to remember the love of a true mother and a devoted friend. Her maiden name was Jane Dunseith Kennedy and she was the daughter of the late Mrs. Michael Kogan, of Kingston. She was born in County Antrim, Ireland, in 1835, and came to this country at a very early age and resided in Kingston till the time of her marriage, when she came to Peterborough, where she has been a respected resident for twenty-eight years. The funeral was private and took place at Kingston from the residence of her cousin, Mr. William Kennedy, on Friday, July 19th, to the Cataraqui cemetery.

Upset in Rice Lake.

A drowning fatality at Rice Lake was narrowly averted on Monday by the providential arrival of assistance just as the victims were about losing hope. About 10 o'clock in the morning, J. A. Voschelle, president of the joint stock company which owns Idyl Wild, accompanied by his wife, went out fishing in a skiff. When out half a mile east of their starting point Mr. Voschelle drew his wife's attention to an object on land, and on her turning to look the boat capsized. Mr. and Mrs. Voschelle were instantly struggling in the water, but succeeded in keeping hold of the upturned boat. Mrs. Voschelle had been holding the trolling line previous to the upset and in her struggles had become so tightly bound up with it that she could hardly move her limbs. In this condition the two shouted and struggled, but no one heard their cries. After being in the water upwards of an hour, a resident of the locality named Hogg and his son rowed up and immediately relieved the drowning ones from their perilous position by taking them into their boat. The arrival of assistance came none too soon, for Mr. Voschelle and his wife were almost exhausted and were fast losing all hope of being saved. Mr. Voschelle is a resident of Rochester. We understand he acknowledged Mr. Hogg's services by a liberal reward.

AN EARLY MORNING WEDDING.

Celebration of the Tully-Fuller Nuptials —A Charming Bride and Popular Groom.

A quiet wedding took place this morning at six o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Jas. Fuller, No. 23 Chamberlen street, when he gave his daughter away in marriage to Mr. James A. Tully, head salesman for the firm of Gough Bros.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Rae, who returned from "Glen Oak" at Stony Lake for that purpose.

The bride looked most graceful and pretty in a gown of cream nun's veiling, and carried a most beautiful spray bouquet of cream roses. Her bridesmaid was Miss May Armstrong, who was also prettily attired in cream and carried pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. D. G. Armstrong.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests present, who were only the immediate friends of the family, were invited to partake of a most dainty wedding breakfast.

The many beautiful and costly presents received were an evidence of the high esteem in which the young couple have been held by their many friends. The amiability of the bride has always made her a great favourite with the young people of the town.

Mr. Tully has been engaged with the firm of Gough Bros. for nine years and for the past five years he has occupied the position of head salesman with them. He has many warm friends in town and as an evidence of his popularity it might be mentioned that he is the retiring Noble Grand of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F.

Mr. and Mrs. Tully left on the early train for Toronto, where after spending a few days they will take the Northern for Collingwood, from which point they will sail for Mackinac, remaining in that pleasant summer resort for about ten days.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Tully will reside at No. 708 Water street, opposite Inverlea Park.

THE PETERBOROUGH PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.

It Was Organized Last Evening and Is Now a Permanent Organization.

At the meeting of the town choirs last evening for rehearsal Mr. George W. Mulligan, the conductor, announced with regret that the big choir meet had been declared off on account of the refusal of the railways to give sufficiently low rates on their lines for the occasion.

Mr. Mulligan thought that as the choirs of different denominations had amalgamated together so well with such promising results, that it would be a pity to allow the members to drift apart again. He suggested a permanent organization.

On motion of Mr. George Ball and Mr. Alfred Miller, it was unanimously resolved to form the choir into a permanent organization to be known as the Peterborough Philharmonic Society.

Mr. Mulligan then suggested that a picnic would do much towards increasing the friendly feeling existing between the various choirs, and on motion of Mr. John Edmison and Mr. George Ball it was resolved to hold an excursion on or about August 1st. On a vote of those present being taken it was resolved to hold the outing at Bobcaygeon, where choruses could be sung on the picnic grounds. The Fire Brigade Band and Orchestra will be invited to accompany the singers on their trip.

WANT REDUCED RATES FOR LIGHTING.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee Thinks the Town Pays too Much for Illuminating.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the town council met last night and decided to recommend the placing of a hydrant on Sherbrooke street, five hundred feet west of the present one.

The committee will endeavour to make some arrangements with the Light and Power Company whereby the present rates for lighting the town may be reduced.

Mr Thos. Brady, chairman, was authorised to offer Messrs. Wynn & Cavanaugh $130 for their gray horse to take the place of the one belonging to the fire team which recently died.

The committee will purchase 500 feet of Baker fabric hose immediately.

An offer greatly in advance of the price paid for the horse purchased for the Fire Department from John Hull, of Lakefield, was received, but promptly refused.

A CHOIR MEET.

To the Editor of the Examiner :

PETERBOROUGH, July 17th, 1895.

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly announce through your columns that on account of the high railway rates agreed upon by both companies, I have been compelled to cancel our proposed choir gathering here on August 1st.

As neither Collingwood or Peterborough is a business centre, I was given to understand that we would be given rural district rates for our party, the same as last year for Sarnia, but on account of some agreement between the companies they now class our gathering as a demonstration and can only give us rates accordingly, which as we learned by experience at a meeting in London, last week, are practically prohibitive, as very often there are three or four members of same family belong to a choir, so that if the head of the family is called upon to pay high rates for a trip, all cannot go, and when several members of a choir remain at home, the whole choir stops out.

From the replies received and coming in we would have had a party of 2,000 and a chorus of between five and eight hundred voices.

Am sorry the hitch has occurred and hope that at some future time we may get low rates for our party.

Thanking the musicians of Peterborough for their hearty co-operation and the press for the use of their columns in working up the project, I am

Respectfully yours,
CHAS. A. WINTER
Secretary.

THE POSTOFFICE.

SIR,—Will you be good enough to urge the postmaster to get the mail assorted a little earlier in the morning. I really do not know when I am going to get all my mail. I go in the morning and get my letters, back at noon, and late in the afternoon I get my paper that I should have had early in the morning. If more help is required, by all means let it be obtained and have the letters and papers distributed as soon as they arrive. I trust Mr. Rogers will see to this and have it done more promptly. Yours truly,

PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD MEETS.

The Make of the Last of June Boarded for the Third Time.

For the third time the salesmen of the district boarded their make of the last half of June, having refused to sell at the prices offered on the two former occasions.

The following buyers were present,—Messrs. Wrighton, Cluxton, Cook, Madden, Hodgson, Jones and Moore and the factories boarded as follows:

Keene	95
Warminster	130

Before the bidding began Mr. Drummond, chairman of the committee to investigate certain charges made, stated that concerning the charge against Mr. Jones of refusing payment of a draft for cheese, it had been ascertained that two inspectors had visited Newtonville for Mr. Jones. Mr. Fitzgerald found the cheese all right, but did not report to Mr. Jones, who sent down Mr. Moore with orders to inspect it. Mr. Moore condemned the cheese, and as this was the only report received, payment of the draft was refused. As soon as the true circumstances became known the draft was honored. The committee held that Mr. Jones was justified in his action. The two inspectors and the different reports made showed that a factory could be unjustly condemned and the name of a maker ruined without cause. Too much care could not be excercised in the inspections and the patrons should be as zealous of the name of the factories as of the name of their families.

The Stony Lake case was justifiable. The charge against Lakefield of selling off the board to Mr. Jones had been looked into and the committee heard that Mr. Galvin had accepted an eighth of a cent more for his cheese than had been offered at the meeting.

In explanation Mr. Galvin stated that he had only asked 8 1-16 cents, the price offered on the board, but that Mr. Jones had been so glad to get it he gave the extra eighth.

Lakefield was exonerated under the circumstances.

Mr. Jones moved to know what was to be done with the factories which had sold during the past week without permission. He noticed that over a thousand boxes been sold.

Mr. Galvin and Mr. Sanderson moved that the names of the factories having sold be taken and that they be suspended until the fine affixed be paid.

Mr. Blezard and Mr. Anderson both stated that they were compelled to sell, as their cheese had filled up the factory to such an extent as to make it impossible to make any more until disposition of it had been made.

Mr. Anderson and Mr. Moloney, who had both sold off the board, stated they would withdraw their factories from the board without any motion if the matter was pushed.

Mr. Middleton and Mr. Stewart moved in amendment that the whole matter of selling off the board be referred to the Committee of Investigation to report.

Mr. John Riddell was anxious to see the matter dropped as he thought that the rules of the Board were such as to be hard of interpretation. He thought a provincial convention should be called to make new regulations for the government of cheese boards.

Another motion was made to the effect that the matter be dropped.

The motion referring the matter to the committee was finally carried.

The bidding was opened by Mr. Hodgson who offered 7⅞ for selections, Mr. Cook raised to 8 cents and Mr. Hodgson went to 8 1-16, and named Ormonde, which refused, and Keene, Pine Grove, Warminster and North Dummer, which accepted.

Mr. Hodgson then bid 8 cents for further selections, Mr. Wrighton raised it to 8 1-16 and Mr. Cook bid 8¼, and choose Westwood, Oakdale, Shearer, Maple Leaf, Ormonde and Lang, all of which accepted.

Mr. Wrighton opened at 8 1-16 for further selections and chose Fraserville, Peterborough, Central Smith, Otonabee Union, Bensfort, Lakeview, Ida, Treewern and Mount Pleasant, all of which accepted.

Mr. Cook offers 8 cents for further selections and was raised a sixteenth by Mr. Hodgson, who picked North Smith, Cherry Grove, Myrtle, Crowe, Millbrook and Young's Point, all accepting.

Mr. Wrighton offered 8c. for further selections, which bid Mr. Cook raised by a sixteenth, and chose Fleetwood, Perrytown, Blackstock, Newtonville, Orono and Manchester, all accepting.

Mr. Cook offered 8 cents for further selections. Mr. Wrigton raised to 8 1-16 and chose Warsaw, which accepted.

Mr. Wrighton offered 8c. for further selections, and picked Missing Link and Bobcaygeon, which refused. Mr. Cook took Bobcaygeon in his selections at 8 1-16 c.

Mr. Jones offered 8c. for Cedardale, which accepted.

Mr. Cook secured Port Perry and Beaverton at 8 1-16.

Mr. Middleton was given permission to sell Missing Link off the board and sold to Mr. Hodgson at 8 1-16.

The salesmen then placed their July make on the board, but the buyers were unprepared to bid to any extent. The following factories boarded:

Keene	175
Warminster	104
Shearer	130
Central Smith	118
Oakdale	175
Missing Link	121
Norwood	100
Melrose Abbey	131

Mr. Madden offered 8 cents for selections, which bid was raised a sixteenth by Mr. Cook. Mr. Hodgson offered 8⅛, at which price Millbrook alone sold, whereupon the Board adjourned for one week.

At Little Falls the following sales were made: 83 boxes at 7c, 3,409 boxes at 7½c, 68 boxes at 7¾c, 447 boxes at 7¾c, 209 boxes at 7⅞c. 12 packages of dairy butter at 16 to 17c, 21 packages of creamery butter at 17 to 18c. In cheese everything above 75c was small-sized or twins.

CHEESE SHIPMENTS.

There is Still a Fairly Liberal Movement.

Montreal, July 22.—The shipment of cheese from Montreal this week were fairly large, amounting to 57,135 boxes.

Compared with this week last year there is a falling off of 3,142 boxes.

Up to date the shipments are 74,183 boxes behind what they were a year ago.

Conditions the past week were certainly not very favourable towards a very large movement to the other side, and the big factor, of course, was the cable. Shippers have been given very small margins to do business on, while in many cases cables were absolutely unworkable.

The following statements of shipments from Montreal for the week ending July 20th is compiled by Cunningham & Lemesurier.

Shipments to date last year ..... 951,260 "

The shipments of cheese from New York for the week amounted to 17,676 boxes, including 11,509 boxes to Liverpool, 3,779 boxes to London, 870 boxes to Bristol, and 2,217 boxes to Newcastle.

The tables are crowded with snaps at Grafton's.

THE WHEEL.

A meeting of the officers and members of the Peterborough bicycle club will be held in the Catholic Association rooms, over the G. N. W. telegraph office, tomorrow (Thursday) evening at eight o'clock, for the purpose of considering and deciding upon the best means for advancing the local and general interests of bicycling. All wheelmen, whether club members or not, are urgently requested to be present.—Alex. Gibson, President.

The Canadian loop of the national circuit, the official announcement of which is this week published in our advertising columns, extends from August 24th to August 31st, inclusive, and will commence at Toronto on the first named date, and end at Montreal on the last named. From Toronto the circuit moves to Brantford on the 26th, a distance of 66 miles, thence to Stratford on the 27th, a distance of 28 miles, thence to London on the 28th, a distance of 30 miles, thence to Woodstock on the 29th, a distance of 27 miles. On the 30th it will hold forth at Peterborough, and on the 31st a jump will be made to Montreal, the closing date of the loop.

A uniform programme and prize value in each case has been arranged, the programme being as follows: Class A, mile novice, ½ mile open, mile handicap, mile open; Class B, mile open, ½ mile handicap, mile tandem, mile handicap, two mile open. Every prize will be an unset diamond, with the exception of the novice prizes. It is expected that a large party of Americans will follow the circuit with the racing men, who will go in a body.

The C. W. A. Racing Board bulletin is as follows:

Sanctions issued—August 16, Campbellford.

The 25-mile, class A, championship has been awarded to the Chatham meet on August 7. The Montreal Exhibition track has been measured and certificate filed with the board. F. C. Anderson, of Napanee, has been declared eligible for the novice class; previous classification was an error. Dr. Kerr, John Leuty, F. Clifford, and W. Ellis have filed evidence to show that the unsanctioned races in which they competed in were not for cash prizes. Professional edict removed and their suspension for unsanctioned riding will terminate August 5.

Suspensions—R. Jaffray, Montreal, for competing in class A unsanctioned races at Valleyfield, until September 5; Stevens and Leroux, until August 5; Harold Fraser, Brockville, until August 5, for competing in a novice race when not eligible; Harold Cook, Montreal, for competing under an assumed name, suspension to terminate June 30, 1896; H. Morin and J. B. Morris, for competing at a Sunday race, on July 14, at Royal Park, Montreal, suspension will terminate September 5. Professionals—J. Sullivan, Cumnock; E. Jackson, Alma; and W. Reilley, of Drayton, are reported to have ridden at an unsanctioned race at Alma for a purse of money. They are suspended until August 5, and then classed as professionals.

For the benefit of those who are misinformed, the board desires it to be understood that no race except a race limited to riders from one club will be considered a "closed" race. All other track races are provided for in the rules, and sanction must be obtained. Sure suspension will follow any bicycle track race where the entries are limited to any class of rider when sanction has not been obtained. Trades, picnics, societies, etc., can limit their entries as they please, but they must have sanction from the racing Board, who control all track racing in Canada. Riders do not want to take an assurance from the promoters that a race is sanctioned, but must insist on seeing the sanction, which should be in the referee's hands.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse team which the Athletics took to Port Hope to-day to represent Peterborough was composed as follows:—Dobbin, goal; Boland, point; Lynch, cover point; Brown, Thompson and Joe McDonough, defence field; Tom McDonough, centre; Rubidge, Hickey and Galley, home field; Lipsett, outside home, and Jack McDonough, inside home. The boys are all in prime condition, and if they do not win from Port Hope it will be a great surprise to their enthusiastic backers, who accompanied them. About seventy-five went down on the train.

BASEBALL.

The Maple Leaf baseball team, of Cobourg, which was to play the Hiawatha team at Jubilee Point, on Thursday, has had to postpone the match on account of not being able to procure a boat to take them over from Harwood. All the boats are busily engaged in towing. The match will probably come off next week.

Korns. Korns.

There are more than one sort of korns. Some korn is planted in the ground and the other sort don't need planting; they grow quite naturally on men's toes and don't need hoeing. This kind of korn has two sorts—one gentle or tender like until Bill Jones steps on your foot, when it gets boiling mad and swears like everything; the other is hard headed and makes a row all the time, especially when your boots are on. I don't like korns, and use the extracting medicine, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, which removes them painlessly in 24 hours.

—The "Saratoga" is the special summer make of the P. N. Corset ladies grow so enthusiastic over. Its intrinsic value as a cool, comfortable corset is the sum and substance of its success. No stiff unyielding parts anywhere. Light and ventilated, yet combines the supporting and protecting qualities so essential. R. Faie, Golden Lion, sole agent. d

CURIOUS FACTS RECORDED.

The Cunard line of steamers gives employment to 10,000 men.

Lord Beaconsfield is credited with having received $60,000 for "Endymion"—the largest sum ever paid for a novel in this country.

There are 800,000 more widows than widowers in England. In France for every hundred widowers there are one hundred and ninety-four widows.

If there were but one potato in the world, a careful cultivator might produce 10,000,000,000 from it in ten years, and that would supply the world with seed once more.

There being many wicked tongues at work in a certain German town, a society has been formed for the suppression of scandal. Slanderous utterances will be taken up and fought out, the cost being defrayed by the society.

A needle passes through eighty operations before it is perfectly made.

The world's blind are computed to number about one million—about one sightless person to every 1,400 inhabitants.

It is computed on excellent authority that 400,000 larks are sold for the gourmand's table every year at Leadenhall Market alone.

There were 159 railway servants killed in the United Kingdom last year while "standing on the line of duty" or crossing the metals in front of the trains.

After a lapse of thirteen years the front of Buckingham Palace is to be painted. It will cost over $10,000, and two tons of white lead will be used, besides material to preserve the stone.

With a population not much over half that of London, New York City consumes daily 138,000,000 gallons of water, against 190,000,000 for London.

Running 60 miles an hour a train of 350 tons, with the full breaking weight of the train utilized, and the rails in the most favorable conditions, could be brought to a full stop in 900 feet; at 80 miles an hour in 1,600 feet; at 90 miles per hour in 2,025 feet; and at 100 miles per hour in 2,500 feet.

A simple way to strengthen the voice is before going to bed bathe the chest and throat with cold water, and rub with a bath towel. To carry out this recipe regularly through cold weather will be an effort, but it certainly has its reward. Many people add sea-salt to the water, and find it very invigorating.

TRUTH IS POWERFUL.

The Revolution in Thought Which Huxley Lived to See Accomplished.

In an article on Huxley the Evening Post eulogizes him for the service he did in behalf of intellectual freedom and honesty. Describing the incredible state of affairs when he stepped into the controversial arena, it says:

"It is impossible for anyone not of middle age to understand the feeling toward scientific enquiry which prevailed when Huxley began his public career. It is enough to say that hardly anyone, either in England or America dared to express freely the conclusions which he reached, after honest and conscientious study, concerning the age of the world or the history of animal life. Not only the clergy, but the great mass of the laity, were suspicious of scientific men as a class, regarding them as prone to infidelity, and materialism, and in order to secure a favorable hearing it was necessary for the man of science to begin by announcing that his conclusions would be found to be quite in harmony with the truths of revealed religion. Agassiz was nearly canonized for declaring that men were the children of God, and not the children of apes, and we could mention instances where professors only kept their chairs by following the example of Galileo."

When he died, it had ceased to be necessary for a man of science to apologise for his views or to show that they harmonized with current conceptions.

Her Heated Pew.

In a large church in this city, which is always over-crowded with worshippers, there are some pew-holders who more frequently invite strangers out of their pews than in them. Last Sunday morning a week ago the wife of a civil service commissioner attended this church, and the usher seated her in a vacant pew, well toward the front. Just before the organist played the opening hymn there was a rustling of silks and a jingling of jet beads in the aisle, and a lady appeared beside the pew. She glared at the occupant and stood still a moment; then rustled and jingled herself out again. In another moment the usher appeared, politely asked the lady to allow him to show her to another seat, and gave her one opposite. Then the silk and jetted lady returned and devoutly took her seat.—Washington Post.

Flowers for Invalids.

In sending flowers to an invalid, it is much wiser to send them in dainty little nosegays, or a perfect single flower, perhaps a long-stemmed opening rose to-day, or a small bunch of sweet peas or violets to-morrow, than to send a large quantity of flowers in a formal bouquet that will fade as soon and perhaps be banished from the sick-room altogether by the physician. A growing plant in blossom will give pleasure for a longer time than cut flowers. Both plants and flowers should be removed from the sick-room at night. In sending fruit to the sick, lay a few leaves of the plant or tree in a tiny basket or over the top, or tie a bunch of them to the handle of the basket. A border of flowers that have grown outdoors is also attractive border for a basket of fruit. In serving fruit to the sick, see that it is cold. Small fruits should be served on glass, and have a little chopped ice sprinkled over them, whether for the sick or well. A most delicious fruit course at dinner, to be served as a salad, or in the place of Roman punch, is of red and white currants, with powdered ice and a little sugar and sherry. Red raspberries with ice are improved by adding to them a little lemon juice.—New York Evening Post.

Many Passengers Drowned.

La Spezia, Italy, July 21.—A terrible accident, resulting in the loss of 148 lives, occurred near the mouth of the Gulf of Spezia to-day. At half-past 1 o'clock this morning the steamers Ortigia and Maria P. ran into each other, and the latter vessel was so badly damaged that she sank in a very short time. The Maria P. had on board, in addition to her crew, 178 passengers bound from Naples for the River Plate, by far the larger part of whom were emigrants.

The night was pitch dark when the collision occurred, and the scene on board the sinking steamer almost defies description. Most of the passengers were asleep in their bunks at the time, and were awakened by the crashing of the steamer's plates, deck beams and planks.

From the reports of the disaster received here, it is impossible to determine whether any attempt was made by the Maria P. to clear away and launch her small boats, but, judging from the accounts given by the excited passengers, it is surmised that the steamer went down too quickly to allow this being done, though one boat got away. The blackness of the night added to the terror of those on board, and it is understood that some of the passengers, crazed with fear, jumped overboard.

The Ortigia on her previous voyage collided in the same spot with a French steamer, and this fact adds strength to the belief that she was responsible for this morning's disaster. Admiral Morin, Minister of Marine, has ordered an inquiry to be made into the affair to place the responsibility.

He Had Noted the Difference.

A certain small boy who has a sister named Nelly was quite obstreperous the other day and his mother said:

"If you behave so badly God won't have you."

"Huh!" he exclaimed, "God loves me all right enough. He loves me better than he does Nelly."

"How do you know that?" asked the mother.

"Didn't he make Nelly a girl?" was the response.

That Tired Feeling

Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver. 25c.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, tightness of the chest, and all throat and lung troubles. Summer coughs are more dangerous than winter coughs.

CURSES ON THE DEAD STATESMAN.

Appalling Telegram Received by Mme. Stambuloff From the Mother of an Executed Conspirator.

St. Petersburg, July 23.—The Novoe Vremya publishes a telegram received by Mme. Stambuloff from the aged mother of Milaroff, which says:

"Mourn over the bloodthirsty murderer, who, while making merry watching gypsies singing and dancing in the Monastery of Bourgas, signed the death warrant for my son, Svirtoslai. God gave me strength, when I saw the murderer swimimng in my own blood to console myself. I send my curses to his rotting body."

In describing the scene connected with M. Stambuloff's funeral, the same journal says that educated people were going about the streets of Sofia calling upon the public to curse Stambuloff's body for the last time.

The Russian press, after commenting with tact and dignity upon the assassination of M. Stambuloff, speaks contemptuously of the implacable hostility shown to Russia by the journals of England, Germany, Austria and Italy in blaming this country for an outrage to which it was quite a stranger.

Milaroff was one of 18 prisoners tried at Sofia in 1892 for complicity in a number of different plots which culminated in the murder of the Bulgarian Minister, Beltcheff. Milaroff, who had been one of those concerned in the kidnapping of Prince Alexander, was convicted of having conspired with a hostile Government—namely, that of Russia—of having plotted the murder of Prince Ferdinand, and of arming Bulgarian subjects for purposes of sedition and murder. He was condemned to death, and was executed July 27.

The British Elections.

London, July 22.—The polls declared to-day show a gain of two seats for the Liberals and three for the Conservatives. Forfarshire followed the example of the Brigg Division of Lincolnshire by reversing the verdict of the election in November, 1894, and giving Martin White, the Liberal candidate, a majority of 441. At the November election, which was occasioned by Sir J. Rigby, the then Liberal member for the county, being made a judge, Charles Maule Ramsay, the Conservative candidate, was returned by a majority of 286.

Sir R. T. Reed, Attorney-General under Lord Rosebery's Administration, has increased his majority in Dumfries boroughs. T. M. Healy, who represented the Nationalists in Louth, also had an increased majority. Four Liberals and two Conservatives show gains over the votes by which they were returned at the previous elections.

According to revised lists, the election returns now show the following results: Conservatives, 202; Unionists, 54; Liberals, 115; McCarthyites, 83; Parnellites, 7.

A Cambridge Professor Dead.

London, July 23.—Prof. Charles C. Babington, professor of botany at Cambridge University, died at Cambridge today.

Charles Cardale Babington was a son of the late Rev. Joseph Babington. He was born in Ludlow in 1808. He was educated at St. John's College, Cambridge, and in 1833 was elected to a professorial fellowship at that college. He was a well-known naturalist and had published numerous botanical works, among them the best known being "A Manual of British Botany." He had also contributed many botanical articles to scientific journals.

TO WAVE THE HAIR.

The Pretty Effects Secured Without Curling Irons.

How many dangers and annoyances enter into a delicate operation in vogue but yesterday, waving the hair. The hot iron has split the hair, withered it and little by little made it powdery. To obviate all this a famous Parisian hairdresser has invented a charming device.

NEW HAIR CURLERS.

It is a forked pin mounted upon a base with a spring at the juncture. It is decorated with a ribbon passed through an eye made for the purpose, ribbons in one shade or many colored, and this gives the air of one of those ravishing ladies celebrated by Watteau, Boucher and Lancret. Already the painters have apprehended the new "pincomb," the "Flou-Flou." Carolus Duran, Flameng, Boldini, all have painted portraits which in each case might well be named "La Belle aux Flous-Flous." Useful things can often be made attractive. We see in this instance how a device made with a most practical end in view is also decorative and charming, a source of beauty as well as of comfort.—New York Tribune.

What woman would not perform a painful pilgrimage if so she could but find her Jove, and then fall down and worship him? Alas! the actual Jupiters are very scarce. Somehow the average man has missed the God-like proportions, both in mind and stature.—Mary Clemmer.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

A High Valuation.

"If there was only one bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil in Manitoba I would give one hundred dollars for it," writes, Philip H. Brant, of Monteith, Manitoba, after having used it for a severe wound and for frozen fingers, with, as he says, "astonishing good results."

BIG PROFITS —ON— Small Investments

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $30,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOF, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Last week we did not publish our column owing to great press of other matter on the space available in our local papers. This week we publish all the Lookout Committee reports we have received. We are disappointed at not receiving more of them, as we wished to show actual work done, not only here but in Lakefield, Norwood, and in the scattered societies of the county. Many of them may have had better reports of work done than those we now publish, but we can only use what we have.

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S.C.E.

Lookout Committee report for June:—During the month we held three meetings of the committee—average attendance, 5; number of calls, 5. We are sorry there are still a number of our members who are unable to attend our meetings on account of business, our committee is still looking after them. We are also striving to bring others into the society. Number of invitations given, 14. Three strangers have accepted the invitations and are attending our meetings; others have promised to attend when possible. We are also striving to encourage our associate members to take part in our meetings and to become active. We are pleased that some have stepped forward and are taking part. One has joined as an active member. We feel this has been neglected in the past and ask your assistance in this work.

We are pleased to report the attendance somewhat larger this month than last. Last month it was thirty-two, this month over forty. We are also pleased that more have taken part. Last month between twelve and sixteen took part in the meetings, this month between twenty-five and thirty took part, which is very encouraging; it also makes our meetings more interesting.

We ask for a still better report for July. We would ask each member to strive and do their part, does our pledge not say "I promise to take some part aside from singing in every meeting." We purpose having the pledge repeated in unison once every month, and in this way keep it before the society. We are busy looking after strangers, have found some, and are trying to make them feel as much at home as possible.

One young lady who is a stranger in town has been taken to the Y.W.C.A. and made acquainted with a number of the members. We appoint one member of our committee to be at the door every evening at the close of the meeting to speak to and shake hands with all. In this way we hope that none may go away without being spoken to. Among the strangers we were pleased to find some river-drivers who were camped in town over Sunday. We sent them a parcel of good literature for Sunday reading which was received by them very kindly, saying they would be glad to read it. Our motto is "For Christ and the Church." We ask your prayers for us in our work.

GEORGE STREET.

Shortly after entering into office on the Lookout Committee, we met and discussed several plans of work to bring young people to the meetings of the society. The plan which was adopted was to send cards of invitation to the young people of the congregation who were not members of the society. In a way this worked very well, as several responded to the call, but through a lack of interest on the part of the active members of the society to make them welcome, it was very difficult to hold them, as they said no person seemed to want them or make them welcome. Again the committee met and discussed the situation and resolved to devote our attention to the active members of the society, getting them to understand their responsibility in making strangers welcome, which we find very difficult to do, but we are looking, trusting; working and praying for better results in the future.

MARK STREET SOCIETY.

The Lookout Committee beg leave to report as follows: They have been making a trial of the monthly ticket system and find that it works very satisfactorily. The tickets for the past month show that about forty invitations have been extended to strangers, and out of that number about twenty have accepted them and were present at some of our meetings.

The committee have had their eyes open for young men and women about to reside in our village, and have secured three of these as members of our society.

Looking up members who have absented themselves from our meetings has been an important point of the work of the committee for the past month. We are endeavoring to keep up interest in the meetings during summer months. S. T.

To the Members of St. Paul's Y.P.S.C.E.

Your Lookout Committee beg leave to report work done by this committee during the month of June. We held two meetings for prayer and to discuss plans of work. At the beginning of the month members of the committee were given the names of young people who might be induced to attend our meetings, with the following results: Two attended the prayer meeting, one of these applied for an active member's pledge and application blank. At the beginning of the month we gave out 60 monthly tickets, 8 of which were returned filled in—21 persons had been invited to our meetings in this way. After due consideration we felt that an intermediate society is necessary to carry on the work as it should be. Some of the older members of the Junior Society feel out of place among the little ones, and their studies prevent them from taking part in the Senior Society. We would suggest that some steps be taken to overcome this difficulty. The C. E. Society is the link between the Sunday school and the church, but we feel that as yet there is something lacking, and it will not do to allow those between the ages of 15 and 18 to get out of training. The world affords them an excellent training during this period. Let our society be equal to the emergency, and render help when it is most needed.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Ethel Cumming returned home last week from a visit to friends in Campbellford.

Miss Lillie Spence is the guest of Mrs. Dr. Jory, of Bloomfield.

Mrs. M. M. Boyd, of Toronto, was the guest of Mrs. R. Wilson this week.

The town is very dull at present, owing to many of the citizens being at Stony Lake. J. R. McKelvie is doing a hustling business.

Mr. R. J. Stuart is attending the Grand Encampment of Oddfellows at Picton.

There was considerable excitement on Peterborough street, near Duffield's jewelery store, for a short time Saturday evening. It was said that a tramp had broken into the vacant house next Mr. Duffield's. A crowd gathered around and Constable Scriver searched the house, but no traces of the tramp were found.

Lillie Morrow Cuthbertson, the adopted daughter of Mr. Wm. Cuthbertson, died very suddenly last week at the age of five years. The little girl was not in very good health and was suffering from an attack of whooping cough, which caused her death Thursday morning. The funeral was held on Saturday.

We are pleased to learn that the injuries sustained by Mr. J. Thompson, in falling off a milk waggon last week, were not serious. He is again able to be around.

A junior football team from Havelock visited Norwood, Monday evening, and played a friendly game with the Norwoodites. The play on both sides was fair, but by no means brilliant. During the first half time A. Fraser secured one goal for Norwood. This was the only goal scored. Following are the teams:—

It is now beyond all cavil. The test has been made. The results have been satisfactory. You can have a good wine for a trifle. Wine has made glad the heart of man from time immemorial. It has made him eloquent; it has cheered him in despondency. But the masses could not get it, at least in countries into which it had to be imported. The orders are pouring in A sound wine, thoroughly wholesome, making blood and muscle. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

Savage Reductions

Is the Policy that Dominates Every Department in the Mammoth FORCED-TO-SELL SALE of the

DOLAN BANKRUPT STOCK

Now we add fuel to the fire, and increase the roar of business. We have nerve enough to take the bull by the horns and sell the people brand-new Clothing, Cloths, Tweeds, Hats and Caps, Furnishings, &c, at

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4,000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50 % less than usual.

We can fit anybody, and especially those who never had a fit in their lives. Duncan Cameron, is the Cutter. It may be, but we don't think there is a place on top of the earth where you can get better value for your money, for the next two weeks. The best makers are represented in the entire stock—not a garment but what is reliable—not an article but what we can safely recommend.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. Geo. Chalmers, Peterborough, formerly of here, is visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances this past week.

Mrs. L. Barrie, Peterborough, for the past few days was the guest of Mrs. J. C. Kearney.

Miss M. Garey and A. Kearney, of Enismore, are visiting friends here.

Miss Annie Wier, Peterborough, is paying a short visit with friends here.

Mrs. D. Costello has returned home after paying a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Wm. McFarlane.

Miss Mary and Mr. T. Richardson, of Cavan, are paying quite an extended visit with friends here.

Stony Lake, that beautiful, healthful and invigorating summer resort, in close proximity to our village, is rapidly filling up with campers and families who have gone up to occupy their cottages. Last Saturday night the steamers Mary Ellen and Golden City had quite a large crowd on board.

Young's Point is as popular as ever as a summer resort. Tourists are constantly coming and going. Among those registered at the Lakeview House last week we notice Messrs. C. N. Lane and C. A. Lane, Rockport; F. W. Vanburg, C. M. Chase, R. Bennett, G. Jennie, George Went, U. Toddy, of Rochester; F. Ralley, of Toronto; Mr. Carnegie and wife, Misses Carnegie and Snider, Peterborough; W. A. Swinder, Montreal; Mrs. Barrie, New York; Mr. Lawson, Toronto.

Once more the gloomy countenances of the farmers have assumed a cheerful expression owing to the beautiful downpour of last Sunday, which was very much needed, especially in this part of the country.

We are now having daily mail which is being carried from Lakefield to Young's Point and Juniper Island post office by the steamer Golden City. It is fully appreciated by our villagers, but we regret to say that it will not continue during the winter months. It comes then only every other day.

A VERDICT OF MURDER

Returned Against Holmes by the Toronto Jury.

HIS SURRENDER TO BE REQUESTED

Holmes' Chicago Victims—The Skeleton of One of Them Found in a Basement—The Authorities Forming a Strong Chain of Evidence Against the Accused.

Toronto, July 25.—That Alice Petzel came to her death on or about the 25th day of October, 1894, at the city of Toronto, and that H. H. Holmes, alias Mudgett, alias Howell, alias Howard, did on or about the day last aforesaid at the said city of Toronto, unlawfully, wilfully and of malice aforethought, kill and murder the said Alice Pitezel.

After ten minutes' deliberation, the jury empanelled to enquire into the death of Alice Pitezel reached this verdict last evening.

In accordance with the finding, Coroner Johnson at once issued a warrant for Holmes, charging him with murder. Crown Attorney Dewart will lay the verdict and the coroner's warrant before the Attorney-General's department this morning, and extradition proceedings will be entered into at once. Every effort will be made to have Holmes tried in this city. The evidence of murder is much stronger here than in any other city where he is wanted, and the chances of his swinging in York County jail yard are good. The Chicago authorities are very anxious to try him there, but it is thought Toronto's claim on him will have precedence with the authorities of Philadelphia.

The jury empanelled by Coroner Orr to hold an inquest on the body of Nellie will be called together at once. The evidence and verdict of this inquest will be put in by Coroner Johnson.

One hour only was taken up with the airing of the evidence. Albert Lowe, who was bookkeeper at the Albion Hotel at the time of the murder, was shown the photos of Alice and Nellie Pitezel and of Holmes. The former, he said, were registered in October last at the Albion Hotel, under the names of Alice and Nellie Canning. His recollection of Holmes was faint, but he thought he had seen him there during the stay of the girls. The fact that the children seemed to be alone drew his attention to them. Their bills were settled each day by a gentleman who called, and who, the witness thought, was Holmes. The girls once or twice said they were expecting their mother.

Mr. Isaac Armbrust, tenant of the now celebrated St. Vincent-street cottage, said he was present when the bodies were taken from the cellar. He had noticed a very disagreeable odor emanating from the cellar some time before the bodies were discovered. A small piece of material, apparently a portion of what had been a light-colored waist and a scarlet hair string, were produced. The latter, which is a piece of narrow ribbon, was knotted as though it had been pulled from the end of a plait of hair. Mr. Armbrust said he had found them a day or two ago clinging to a piece of board which had been taken from the cellar. The find is a fortunate one, as it furnishes another proof of positive identification of the bodies as those of Etta Alice and Nellie Pitezel.

Mr. Armbrust also told of the discovery in different parts of the house of fragments of clothing, interwoven with straw, and partially burned, supposed to be remnants of the clothing of the murdered girls which Holmes had endeavored to dispose of by burning. One pair of girl's button boots, and one odd boot, were found in the wood-box.

Other witnesses had been summoned, but they did not answer when their names were called. Mr. Dewart thought sufficient evidence had been submitted and said he would not wait for the who were absent.

In opening his address, Coroner Johnson said the exact time of Alice's death could not be ascertained. She was seen alive on the morning of October 25, and nothing more was heard of her until her body was found. Where she met her death was at once apparent.

The coroner then reviewed the evidence as given, tracing Holmes and the girls through their movements during the interval between October 19 and 25, laying especial emphasis on the presence of Holmes and the girls in the yard of the Nudel cottage on October 24, and the complete disappearance of the girls on the following day. The identification was most complete, both of Holmes during his stay here and of the girls before and after death. The jury were reminded of the positive identification of the bodies by Mrs. Pitezel as those of her children. "Had she not identified them," said the coroner, "it would have been necessary for me to show you the teeth of Alice and ask you to examine the teeth of Mrs. Pitezel, to establish the relationship between the two. The teeth of the mother and of the daughter are exactly the same, showing the same marks of peculiar construction."

The motive for the crime was spoken of as being strong to a man of Holmes' disposition. Alice was the only person who could give evidence to convict Holmes of the murder of B. F. Pitezel, and she must be removed. Holmes and the two children were seen in the house together. If Alice Pitezel was murdered—and murdered she assuredly was—who could have committed the deed but Holmes?

The exact method by which the murder was committed, the coroner thought, might be of interest, but was not material. The duty of the jurymen was to decide whether or not she was murdered, and who was responsible for her death.

Found a Skeleton in the Chicago House.

Chicago, July 25.—Part of the skeleton of a human being was found yesterday by workmen who were at work in the Holmes building in Englewood. The pieces were found in the basement under the drug store. In the wet earth, mixed with quicklime, the men saw what appeared to be several ribs protruding. They dropped their shovels and spades, and carefully uncovered the bones with their hands. Seven ribs were thus taken out, when several sections of the vertebrae, and what is described as a piece of an upper jaw with two teeth attached, were found. Eleven more ribs were taken out of the place. With the ribs they found a portion of a woman's jacket. On the jacket was a small bunch of hair, too much discolored by the dirt to give a notion of its original color. The bones lay on a board 20 inches wide and 30 inches long, and this in turn rested upon a dirt-hard floor. The hard dirt underneath would indicate that it was the original floor of the cellar and that it had been filled with about two feet of earth at a later period. In this filled portion lay the bones.

Three sections of the vertebrae and four of the ribs were taken to the office of Dr. Charles F. North, who examined them carefully and gave as his opinion that they were from a human body.

"I am not able to apply any tests, but from a superficial examination I would unhesitatingly pronounce the bones as being from a human body," said Dr. North. "They are discolored with age, or the attack of some chemical substance, and the damp earth in which they have been lying has added to their discoloration. I believe a careful examination will disclose their human origin."

Two pieces of flat bones were found in the hole, probably, the police think, being shoulder blades. That sections of the smaller bones of the body should have been found without any trace of the larger bones of the arms and legs makes the find more mysterious. A glass vial, containing about four ounces of a fluid, was found in the same place, but its character has not yet been determined.

After reaching the building, the Chief of Police and Inspector Fitzpatrick and the detectives retired to the rear of C. E. Davis' drug store in the building, with the newly-found fragments. Joseph Owens, who was janitor, and who it is said assisted Pitezel and Holmes to carry the mysterious trunks into the building was on hand during the consultation. Druggist Davis suggested a theory that the bones were too small to be a part of the skeleton of either of the Williams girls, and he at once declared his own belief to be that they were a section of the remains of Mrs. Connor's little girl, who disappeared when seven or eight years of age.

Besides the finding of the supposed remains the detectives are to-night congratulating themselves on another matter which hardly seems less important. This is the finding of two janitors, Joe Owens of Bluffton, Ohio, and Patrick Quinlan of Evanston, who were formerly in the employ of Holmes. Both men were at the Holmes building this afternoon. They were taken down into the cellar where the bones were found and asked what they knew about the matter, but both stoutly maintained their complete ignorance of the whole affair.

Quinlan acted like a man who was badly scared, but Owens did not seem much disturbed. Both these men were employed at the Holmes building in 1893, the year the Williams girls are supposed to have been murdered. Owens was the regular janitor of the building, while Quinlan was a sort of jack-of-all-trades, turning his hand to any kind of work which came up for him to do, and Holmes with his many queer schemes kept him constantly busy. While neither man was placed under arrest, both are under police surveillance. At present the detectives have nothing on which to hold them except the strong suspicion that the men could tell considerable about the doings of Holmes if they desired. An examination of the men was made late this afternoon. Quinlan would say nothing, but Owens talked freely.

In regard to the mysterious box, which by many was supposed to have been used by Holmes as a receptacle for the bodies of the Williams girls, Owens said: "I helped Holmes and Pitezel to carry the trunk from the depot in August, 1893, about the middle of the month. In November, 1893, in conversation with me about the insurance, Holmes told me he wanted to keep the Williams girl in hiding so that he did not want her to be seen by any of the insurance people, and that he could telegraph and get $10,000 any time. About the last of November or the first of December, 1893, I assisted Holmes to establish the firm of Campbell, Yates & Co., for the purpose of getting insurance on the building at the southwest corner of 63rd and Wallace-streets, which insurance he received about November, 1893. Holmes came to me and instructed me to represent to the insurance companies that I was the secretary of the company, which I did, and I also took an affidavit to that effect. I also represented that I had met Yates and received stock from him. He also instructed me to make the statement then that I had met Minnie Williams, which I did. He induced me to make these statements by promising me my back wages, and by his hypnotizing ways. While I was with him I was always under his control.

"I never knew the Conner woman. I had heard of her, but never met either her of the Williams girl. I never saw any woman around the place. Pitezel was the man who hired me, and I met Holmes one day in the basement."

The bones found this morning are believed by the Central Station detectives to be those of Gertrude Conner, the daughter of Mrs. Julia L. Conner, who is now believed to have been one of Holmes' victims. Mother and daughter disappeared about the same time. This afternoon the workmen came upon another deposit of lime under the rotten stairway which was used as a secret means of ingress to the cellar. Only one bone was found here, and it was pronounced by a physician who examined it to be a part of a middle portion of the foot.

A member of a firm which manufactures large oil-burning furnaces was found yesterday. This firm was engaged by Holmes, the insurance swindler and murderer, to adjust an oil burner to a furnace which he had built in the cellar that is now under investigation at Sixty-third-street.

Holmes exhibited the furnace with reluctance. A burner was finally fitted to it, producing a temperature of 3000 degrees. Holmes afterwards erected a similar furnace in a shed at Sixty-fifth-street, which has disappeared. It is thought Holmes used one of these furnaces to dispose of his victims.

For four hours and a half Joe Owens and Patrick Quinlan were in the sweat box" at the Central Station to-night. The testimony of Quinlan was by far the more important. He was questioned closely regarding the disappearance of Mrs. Conner, and he admitted that he knew of it. Holmes, he said, first told him of Mrs. Conner had gone over to the north side to remain a few weeks, and afterwards said she had gone to California to live, and had got married there. It developed during the examination that Holmes had had Quinlan's 11-year-old daughter insured for $1000, but whether or not he had ever collected the insurance was not known. Quinlan says he can produce his daughter if necessary, and it is probable the police, with the fate of Minnie and Annie Williams in mind, will ask him to do it. Quinlan made many contradictory and improbable statements, and the police believe he can be made to tell a great deal more than he has yet told.

Assumption, Ill., July 24.—T. L. Conner, better known as "Ned" Conner, the divorced husband of the woman who is supposed to have been murdered by Mudgett, alias Howard, alias H. H. Holmes, has been living at Assumption for the past four weeks. He is in the jewelry business.

Conner was at one time a confidential friend of Holmes, but an estrangement resulted, it is supposed, over his wife. Conner secured a divorce and has since married. When seen Mr. Conner said:

"I can't tell all I know, as I think it would defeat justice, and I want to live to see that man's neck in the noose, and I propose to see that it gets there.

"I know something about Pitezel, and I know Holmes well, and, in fact, was exceedingly well acquainted with him when he was in the drug business at 63rd and Wallace-streets, in Chicago. We were partners in the drug business. I know enough about him to hang him, but what I know I will not divulge yet.

"I have nothing to say, even if I hate that man Holmes worse than any man living, but it won't do any good to talk now, and it will put Holmes on his guard. That man is as much above the average man in shrewdness as can be. He is up to all sorts of tricks."

Will Keep Him If They Can.

Philadelphia, July 25.—The authorities have now generally conceded that it will be absolutely necessary to find the body of Howard Pitezel before Holmes can be put on trial for the murder of Benjamin Pitezel. The District Attorney has evinced his determination to put Holmes on trial in Philadelphia for murder, but it is a well-known fact that he has not yet secured sufficient evidence to convict him. It is not very clear how the finding of the body of Howard will affect the murder of his father, but the fact remains that Holmes will not be tried until the body of the boy is found.

The authorities are hourly expecting

THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1895.

THE Pan-American Congress closed its sessions on Tuesday amidst a chorus of congratulations on the part of those who had been its chief promoters. The Pavilion was fairly filled. A resolution was passed to continue the existence of the organization. Secretary Sherin told the secret that the congress would not have gone to Toronto but for the solicitation of the railway companies. A collection was taken to meet a deficiency in the funds, the preliminary contributions of citizens having been exhausted. The impression seems to be that the Congress was a failure.

SECRETARY BOND has returned to Newfoundland from England, and the Government party is arranging a demonstration in his honour for successfully negotiating a loan of $2,500 000 to save the colony from bankruptcy. He failed, however, to obtain a separate loan for the savings bank on advantageous terms, owing to the English bankers contending that the Whiteway Government broke faith with them in the retrenchment scheme.

THE Globe, reviewing the session, says the Liberals ought to be well satisfied with the result of the session. "While among their opponents," it says, "there has been nothing but contention, distrust and one humiliating surrender after another, the Liberals have maintained unbroken and harmonious ranks. While in one party we have seen the rank and file girding at the leader, and even his Cabinet colleagues combining to bring his leadership into contempt, we have seen among the Liberals the most unquestioning loyality to and admiration of the leader, the utmost faith in his wisdom, integrity, unselfishness, breadth of view and patriotism."

THE shipment of frozen milk from Denmark to England is rapidly increasing and the business is a paying one for all connected with it. The industry is quite a new one, and it will be watched with interest by many countries, including ours.

A year ago a Danish merchant experimented in this direction by taking Danish milk, which is peculiarly delicate and rich in flavour, freezing it by the use of ice and salt, and sending it in barrels, by rail and steamer, to London. On its arrival the the milk proved to be as sweet and well tasting as if it had been just drawn from a cow in the middle of Sweden.

The views of the British Government on the resolutions of the Ottawa Colonial Conference, as contained in despatches to the Governor-General of Canada and the Governors of other colonies, made public the other day in England, are not all what the protectionists of this country expected or desired, and members of the Government do not conceal their disappointment. The trade resolutions dealt with by Lord Ripon, as Secretary of State for the Colonies, were as follows:

"Whereas, the stability and progress of the British Empire can be best assured by drawing continually closer the bonds that unite the colonies with the mother country and by the continuous growth of a practical sympathy and co-operation in all that pertains to the common welfare, and, whereas, this co-operation and unity can in no way be more effectually promoted than by the cultivation and extension of the mutual and profitable interchange of their products; therefore, resolved, that this conference records its belief in the advisability of the customs arrangement between Great Britain and her colonies, by which trade within the empire may be placed on a more favourable footing than that which is carried on with foreign countries; further, resolved, that until the mother country can see her way to enter into a customs arrangement with her colonies, it is desirable that when empowered so to do the colonies of Great Britain, or such of them as may be disposed to accede to this view, take steps to place each other's products, in whole or in part, on a more favoured customs basis than is accorded to the like products of foreign countries, and that for the purpose of this resolution the South African customs union be considered as part of the territory capable of being brought within the scope of the contemplated trade arrangements."

Mr. Lister brought the fact to the attention of the House that the Minister of Public Works had awaded the contract for supplying coal to the departments to J. W. McRae & Co., of Ottawa, at $4.70 a ton, without calling for tenders. He produced a letter from T. G. Brigham, another dealer, undertaking to supply coal at $4.45 a ton.

Scott's Sarsaparilla

IS A MOTHER'S REMEDY regulating and strengthening the maternal functions. It purifies the female system of ulcerative weaknesses and debilitating humors. It expels the first symptoms of hereditary humors in children and youths that may owe their origin to past generations. It scorches out and renders the system free from disease-breeding germs.

"THE KIND THAT CURES."

There are not many forms of disease upon which Scotts Sarsaparilla does not act favorably, because pure blood carries to the diseased parts restoring and building up properties. This medicine makes pure blood which builds up where disease has torn down, and carries away the impurities upon which it feeds.

Government Report Says Farmers Are Hopeful.

RECENT RAINS VERY BENEFICIAL

Owing to the Mild Winter and the Payment of a Bounty for the Destruction of Wolves There Is an Immense Calf Crop—Shipments of Horses Abroad.

Ottawa, July 25.—Prof. McEachren, who has just returned from the Northwest, has furnished the subjoined report to the Department of Agriculture.

"You will be pleased to hear that, following on the mildest winter we have experienced since starting ranching, the cattle business in Alberta is in a most flourishing condition. Perhaps next to the mild winter as a factor in producing the large calf crop which all ranches have this year (the Walrond branded 2000, Cochrane 1500, Oxley 1500, and others proportionately large), is the killing of 1600 wolves during the past 14 months, for which the Northwest Government paid out $8000. Never was the Government money spent to better advantage, as had this not been done wolves would have driven stock-raisers out of the business and the country within a few years.

Messrs. Gordon and Ironsides have bought nearly all the exportable cattle, amounting to close on 10,000 head.

"During June and July rain fell in abundance, and grass and water are plentiful. Horse breeders are much more hopeful. Large numbers of horses have been shipped east for exportation to Belgium and France, as well as to England, and better prices are being paid.

Walrond Ranch Company will ship two carloads of nearly pure-bred Clyde and Shire geldings to Montreal in a few weeks.

The sheep industry is progressing very satisfactorily. The entire wool crop has been sold to Toronto firms for satisfactory prices. Sheep throughout the Territories are in excellent health, and condition. Scab is now exterminated almost completely.

Crops in Manitoba are most promising. Throughout the whole Northwest there is a feeling of confidence and jubilation such as has not existed for years.

At yesterday's sitting of the Cabinet there was considered the draft of a reply to Manitoba on the school question prepared by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. It is understood the document has been approved and will be forwarded to Winnipeg.

This week Hon. Mr. Ouimet goes to Cacouna, Hon. Mr. Foster on Saturday, to Apohaqui, N.B., and Sir Mackenzie Bowell leaves for the Northwest Friday

Hayhurst to Return.

London, July 24.—The Canadian marksmen who won cash prizes at Bisley received their money at the office of Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, this morning. Hayhurst, the winner of the Queen's Prize, will return to Canada and resume his vocation.

SCARBORO TROLLEY FATALITY.

A Coroner's Jury Say It Was Caused by the Company's Negligence.

Toronto, July 25.—The coroner's jury empanelled to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of the boy James Stewart, who lost his life in the trolley collision between a Scarboro car and a Sunday school excursion car on Kingston-road on Saturday, July 13, in which accident another boy, Frank Townsend, also met his death, and motorman sustained such terrible injuries, brought in the following verdict at 1 o'clock this morning. After being out one and a half hours.

We find that James Stewart came to his death at the Toronto General Hospital as a result of injuries received in the Scarboro-road, by two cars of the Toronto Railway Company colliding on Saturday, July 13 We find that adequate instructions were not given to motormen and conductors of colliding cars. We find that the excursion cars were not properly manned and that there should have been a roadmaster with the motorman on the excursion train, as there is only one track. We are of the opinion that there should have been a lookout man at the curve or a proper system of signalling or other communication to prevent collisions. We find the single track is dangerous and recommend a double track. We find the Toronto Railway Company guilty of culpable negligence and that the conductors and motormen of colliding cars are not to blame.

The above verdict was rendered by 12 of the 13 jurymen

NERVE TRAIN ROBBERS.

A Gang in Ohio Obtain $8000 From the Safe.

Toledo, Ohio, July 25.—Train No. 37, the westbound New York and Chicago express on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, was held up by six masked men at 12 30 yesterday at a lonely place in the woods known as Reece Siding, between Archibald and Striker, Ohio, ten miles west of Wauseon. The train stops there to let the eastern express pass.

The latter train was approaching when the robbery took place. The robbers were mounted and rode out of the woods, which are dense and close to the track.

Conductor Darling, who was standing near one of the coaches, was ordered inside at the point of a revolver. Admission to the express car was secured, and the messenger was forced to open the safe.

The robbers were evidently entirely familiar with the trail, and it is thought employes of the road or of the express company were implicated either as principals or confederates. It was undoubtedly known to the band that there was a large sum of money in the safe. The amount reported to have been obtained by them is $8000, but it is believed that a much larger sum was taken.

No attempt was made to molest the passengers, none of whom knew anything of the occurrence. When the thieves had secured the contents of the safe they rode quietly away. The country is being scoured.

LOST HIS WHOLE FAMILY.

Five Children of a Manitoba Farmer Drowned in Lake Dauphin.

Winnipeg, Man., July 24.—The five children of Alexander Berch, a farmer of the Lake Dauphin district, near Winnipeg, were drowned Monday. The children, ranging in age from 5 to 15 years, went to the lake shore to bathe. Finding an old boat, they pushed out into the lake. A stiff breeze carried the boat out. The children had no oars and could not go back. The high waves filled the boat. The children hung on to the boat until they were exhausted, when one by one they let go and disappeared. The parents and several neighbors were witnesses of the drowning, but not having a boat were unable to go to the rescue.

Low Water Causes Typhoid.

Dr. Sheard, Medical Health Officer, says the general health of the city continues good. The contagious diseases reported during the present month are: Typhoid fever 10, scarlet fever 9, diphtheria 25. The fevers show a slight increase over last month, and diphtheria a decrease. The number of typhoid cases reported during the first six months of this year was 46, as compared with 98 for the corresponding period of last year. The increase in typhoid is attributed to the low condition of the water in the lake.

Chicago to New York by Electric Railway.

Chicago, July 24.—The preliminary steps towards the building of an electric line for the transmission of passengers, mail and express from Chicago to Buffalo are now on foot, and it is the intention to continue the line to New York. The run to Buffalo is to be made in four hours and to New York in from eight to ten hours.

Old Time Circus Clown Insane.

Jackson, Mich., July 24.—Billy Warner, the old-time circus clown and negro minstrel, was yesterday taken to the Asylum for the Insane at Kalamazoo. Twenty-five years ago Warner was as popular as any circus clown in the country and was the apple of "Yankee" Robinson's eye. That clever circus manager first brought Warner out as a clown and he made and squandered several fortunes and finally became a tramp.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquiries With Regard to a Canadian Discovery.

Minneapolis, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Post mortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

An Ugly Wound.

Mr. James Dicks, an employe, was seriously injured yesterday at the Canadian General Electric Co.'s Works, through being struck on the head with a belt stick with which a fellow workman was doing some shifting. The stick was twisted from his grasp and the heavy bolts in the end of it inflicted an ugly wound. Dr. King dressed the cut.

ORDINATION CEREMONIES

The Order of Deacon and Sub-Deacon Conferred This Morning at the Cathedral.

At eight o'clock this morning a very solemn service was held in St. Peter's Cathedral, when the ceremony of ordination was performed by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, assisted by Venerable Archdeacon Casey, and Rev. Fathers O'Connor, Fitzpatrick and Scanlan.

Mr. Joseph Phelan, son of Mr. Edward Phelan, town, was ordained sub-deacon, his full ordination of priest taking place next December. The order of deacon was conferred on Mr. Michael Callan, of Grafton, his ordination into the priesthood taking place in September.

The church was well filled with the friends of the two young men, who were taking upon themselves the solemn vows of the Church.

Coming Down the River.

The stray logs of another drive belonging to the Rathbun Co. have arrived at Campbellford, and have been boomed to await the arrival of the whole lot. The formost drive reached Crow Bay last week, while the drive following it was in Rice Lake, and some parts of it had arrived in Keene. It is expected to reach Keene in about a week, when the flood gates will be opened to swell the Trent river for the easier transportation of the logs to their destination at Trenton. There are about 250,000 pieces in the two drives, and their movement during this dry weather when the water is unusually low, will be a task which the river drivers will not enjoy.

The Bubbles Winking at the Brim.

It is now beyond all cavil. The test has been made. The results have been satisfactory. You can have a good wine for a trifle. Wine has made glad the heart of man from time immemorial. It has made him eloquent; it has cheered him in despondency. But the masses could not get it, at least in countries into which it had to be imported. The Bordeaux Claret Co. will sell you an excellent wine at $3 and $4 per dozen quarts. This they have been doing for sometime past to the whole people. All are delighted. The orders are pouring in A sound wine, thoroughly wholesome, making blood and muscle. Address—Bordeaux Claret Co., 30 Hospital street, Montreal.

Put it on Your Slate.

The grand annual excursion of Court Little John, No. 92, C.O.F., which takes place regularly every year on the Civic Holiday, will be an unusually favourite and fascinating trip this year. The excursion is billed to go first to Toronto by C.P.R., then by steamers across to Queenstown, then up along the Niagara River by the Electric Railway on the Canadian side to Niagara Falls, and across on the American side from Lewiston to Buffalo via N. Y. C. Ry. To give some idea how cheap the rates are it may be mentioned that the regular return fare from Peterborough to Toronto is $3.85, and to Buffalo $9. On this trip, however, the fares have been pulled down to $1.75 to Toronto, and $3.00 to Buffalo. Tickets good for 3 days. eod

Hotel Improvements in Norwood.

Visitors to the Brennan House, Norwood, will not fail to notice the changed appearance which the interior of this first-class House has undergone during the past month. The new proprietor, Mr. W. Clancy, formerly of the City Hotel, Peterborough, has left his mark of enterprise upon the premises already, apparently determined to put this well known house in the first rank. The whole premises have been overhauled, remodelled and furnished, new wall paper, fresh paint and varnish has been laid on every room throughout the building, and new room carpets, stair carpets and hall matting laid down. A new office has been fitted up off the large dining room for the private use of travellers and others and 10 large bedrooms on the second floor are specially furnished for first-class guests. The bar room has been remodelled and improved and the main office and corridors rearranged and reconstructed.

A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Died at Rochester.

The friends and acquaintances of the late Mrs. Wm. Jackson will be sorry to hear of her sad and untimely end, which took place on Wednesday, July 17th. She was on a visit to her daughter and friends in Rochester. Her visit was for the purpose of improving her health, and her death was very sudden, the cause being apoplexy. She leaves behind a husband to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate wife, and five sons and one daughter to remember the love of a true mother and a devoted friend. Her maiden name was Jane Dunsmith Kennedy and she was the daughter of the late Mrs. Michael Hogan, of Kingston. She was born in County Antrim, Ireland, in 1826, and came to this country at a very early age and resided in Kingston till the time of her marriage, when she came to Peterborough, where she has been a respected resident for twenty-eight years. The funeral was private and took place at Kingston from the residence of her cousin, Mr. William Kennedy, on Friday, July 19th, to the Cataraqui cemetery.

WAS HE MURDERED?

YOUNG WIGMORE'S TRAGIC DEATH.

It Will be Investigated Immediately—The Town Swarming With Detectives, who are Probing the Mystery to the Bottom.

The Wigmore case is about to be probed to the bottom and to-day the town was swarming with detectives, who under the instructions from headquarters, left no stone unturned in their endeavour to solve the mystery surrounding the young man's death.

It will be remembered that Wigmore left the Balmoral Hotel with some companions to go over into Ashburnham. He had a large sum of money on his person and was never seen again until recovered from the water, with a cloth cap drawn down tightly over his face.

It is now suspected that he was drugged and thrown into the river, and the books of a number of town chemists are being examined to ascertain if any drug of such a nature was purchased about the date of the supposed tragedy.

The town at the time was the headquarters for a large gathering of river-drivers, and it is understood that some of these self same shantymen are now in camp along the river, and to-day the detectives are closely questioning them with a view to picking up a clue which will lead to the arrest of the perpetrator of this terrible crime.

The detectives are keeping the affair very quiet and state that they are merely down on a fishing expedition, but it is not bass but something far more important for which they are angling.

Detective Murray was also in town to-day, but states that he knows nothing of the Wigmore case, being in town for the purpose of procuring a diagram of the Gray homestead.

SANCTUARY BOYS OUTING.

They Have a Jolly Time at Chemong Park—The Programme of Sports.

The annual outing given the sanctuary boys of St. Peter's Cathedral by Venerable Archdeacon Casey, took place, as announced, on Tuesday last at Chemong Park.

The boys arrived at their destination at about half past nine and sides for a baseball match were instantly chosen. Those not caring to play went fishing, but were not rewarded by one bass, although Father Fitzpatrick had several strong bites.

In the afternoon a game of football was played and altogether a most enjoyable day was spent. The majority of those present took their meals over on the Ennismore shore, as the fishing parties were all over there at meal time.

During the afternoon a programme of sports was run off with the following result, on the arrival of Father Casey and Father O'Connell, who drove out in the afternoon.

WOMAN.

BY MARGUERITE EVANS.

Woman!
What a creature;
What a feature
In the land.
Now a maiden influential,
Now a wife inconsequential,
Now a mother lowly bending,
And with care her sick child tending.
Now a maiden gay and bright,
Dancing, flirting half the night.
Oft-times fair to the beholding,
Sometimes fury-like with scolding.
Hers in kindness,
Hers in blindness,
Hers in sadness.
Oft beguiling
With her smiling
Man.
Here to believe,
Here to deceive,
Here to be fooled,
Here to be schooled
To patience.
Now in student's gown and cap,
Now in dainty hat and wrap
On the street.
Now the maid with lovers many,
Now the wife not wanting any Save the one.
Eyes of black and eyes of brown,
Eyes that smile and eyes that frown,
Eyes of blue and eyes of gray,
Eyes that many things can say
Has a woman.
Hers to soothe the brow of anguish,
Hers on couch of pain to languish Often.
Hers the pain that never falters,
Hers the love that never alters
Once 'tis given.
Sometimes bad,
Oft-times good,
Oft-times gracious,
Sometimes rude,
Oft by herself, but by man understood Never.
Weak and human Such is Woman.

ATHLETICS.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES IN EVERY LINE.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen Aquatic and Field Sports—At Riverside, the P.A.A.A. and the Driving Park.

LACROSSE.

About two hundred lacrosse enthusiasts accompanied the Athletics to Port Hope yesterday, where they crossed sticks with the Athletics of that town, and a splendid exhibition of the national game it was. True Peterborough was defeated in a score of 2 to 1, but the odds were dead against them, and it was only by a sheer good luck that Port Hope won the victory. Never in the history of lacrosse in Port Hope did the citizens of that town witness such a magnificent exhibition of clean scientific lacrosse, abounding in clever combination play, and in this Peterborough carried off the honours.

Wednesday afternoon being a half holiday in Port Hope, the citizens turned out in large numbers to witness the game and it was seven minutes to four before the two teams lined up in the centre of the field to the call of referee Griffin's whistle.

Then it was noticed that Port Hope's darling, Lou White, was still with them—and he was not alone, his dusky brother, Jack, who had recently been suspended from the Cornwall team, had been sent for to do battle for the Ontarios and adorn his belt with the scalps of his pale faced opponents.

Both teams were attired in scarlet guernseys and it was therefore hard at times to distinguish the players.

Following were the teams :

ATHLETICS.		PORT HOPE.
F Dobbin	goal	Crowhurst
Boland	point	A White
F Lynch	cover point	J Richardson
D Brown	1st defence	J White
Joe McDonough	2nd defence	T Tuer
W Thompson	3rd defence	R Hayden
Tom McDonough	centre	G Tuttnn
P Rubidge	3rd home	D Burt
E Hickey	2nd home	C Coleman
W Galley	1st home	M Sullivan
G Lipsett	outside home	T Hayden
Jack McDonough	inside home	E Foster
P J Doris	field captain	Hosey

Mr. Griffin, referee.

In the first game the honours were about equally divided, although it must be admitted the Peterborough defence was rather loose at times. During the progress of the play the sphere seemed to hover in the vicinity of the Ontarios flags, and at one period it was claimed that Peterborough scored, but the goal was not allowed. Jack McDonough and Lipsett held the reds well, but at last they secured the rubber and sent it down the field, where Coleman, by a clever shot, scored the first game for Port Hope in 8 minutes.

In the second game Peterborough seemed to waken up somewhat, but the two White boys on the Port Hope defence were a team in themselves and notwithstanding the fact that they had clever checks, still they played a faultless game throughout and at times the ball passed from "Dot" Brown's lacrosse to the White boys, only to be returned again in a short space of time. Bolan, Rubidge, Galley and Phelan did splendid service in this game, but Sullivan, of the Port Hope team, scored the next goal in ten minutes.

Things indeed looked blue for the Athletics, but when they lined up for the third game every man had the look of determination on his face and then ensued one of the prettiest exhibitions of the game that one would wish to see. Port Hope was outplayed at every point, the dusky braves on their defence were checked time and again and the Athletics combination work was indeed a pretty sight to witness. The Ontarios seemed to have become demoralized and at one juncture of the game you would notice Rubidge, Galley, Phelan, Thompson and T. McDonough playing a beautiful game on the side, while Lynch, Brown and J. McDonough, as well as Bolan, had everything their own way. Peterborough enthusiasts cheered their men on, and the excitement knew no bounds when Rubidge by a clever run on the Port Hope flags scored the first game for Peterborough in 29 minutes.

Encouraged by the turn of events the Athletics went in to win the victory, and again gave a clever exhibition of stick handling. Every man knew his place, and all played with such brilliancy and neatness that the enthusiastic cheers of the Athletics backers took the place of the shouts of the windy Port Hopers, who now held their breath and gazed on the peerless play of the visitors, who surprised themselves. It was simply a game of pass as far as Peterborough was concerned, but when it reached the Ontario's defence it would be sent back up the field by the red men. On several occasions it was thought Peterborough would score, but fortune seemed against them, and at the end of 31 minutes play the referee called time and the struggle was ended.

NOTES.

Peterborough may well be proud of their lacrosse team.

Dobbin in goal as usual played a faultless game and defended the flags well. He always did.

Every member of the home team played well and individual praise is not necessary.

Field Capt. Doris knows a thing or two about placing a team and was well pleased with the game.

Port Hope missed Tight and Jennings yesterday.

Who is Sullivan of Port Hope, anyway?

The financial backing of the Ontarios this year is rather weak.

Chief of Police Douglas, of Port Hope, was on the grounds during the game, but he behaved himself.

The members of the Ontarios were insured against accident before going on the grounds. They drew no money.

A pleasant feature of the game was the almost entire absence of rough play.

Richardson, the St. Catharines "star," failed to shine in the game yesterday.

Ex-manager Patterson, of the Ontarios, is at present in California, suffering from lung trouble, and his many friends will regret to learn that slight hopes are held out for his recovery.

On the return trip the lacrosse boys and their friends occupied the smoker, where speeches, recitations and songs were indulged in.

There is some talk of the return match being played at Jubilee Point, as the Ontarios of Port Hope are talking of running an excursion to that point. No arrangements have been made, however.

CANOEING.

The canoe races this evening will start at seven o'clock promptly, opposite Burnham's point in the Little Lake.

THE WHEEL.

Every wheelman in town should make a strong effort to be present at the meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle Club this evening, in the rooms of the Catholic Association, at eight o'clock. A number of committees will be formed, and all who have the interests of wheeling at heart should be on hand to have a voice in making the new arrangements which are contemplated. The meeting will be started sharp on time, and the turnout should certainly be a large one. All wheelmen are invited to be present.

It is especially urged that the business men of the town be well represented at to-night's meeting, as they should be vitally interested in anything tending towards bringing the big C.W.A. meet here next year.

One of the most puzzling things to the new rider, whether man or woman, is the determination of the proper setting of the saddle with reference to the distance between the top of it and the pedal when it is down.

First adjustments of this sort must always be experimental. It is well to start in with a pretty short reach and gradually raise the saddle as improvement in riding advances. Too long a reach at first increases the apparent difficulty of learning, and invariably retards progress in the art of balancing and controlling the machine. A successful "professor" who has profitably conducted a riding school for several seasons says that the beginner should not only be able to press the pedal firmly with the heel of his or her shoe, but should have considerable to spare at that. He advocates a distinct bend in the knee when the pedal is at its lowest point for all members of his primary grade. The position is awkward and uncomfortable, but the effect of it is to conserve the learner's self-confidence, and confidence in oneself and the machine is about all there is in learning anyway. After full mastery of the cycle is gained the saddle should at once be raised. How much it should be raised each rider must determine for him or herself. No fixed rule can be laid down for this very important adjustment. We would advise each new rider, as soon as road-riding is undertaken, to try the saddle at various heights and finally settle upon whatever adjustment seems most conducive to easy work.

A great many new riders, especially women, persist in riding with too short a reach. Such present an ungainly appearance and their cramped position utterly precludes the possibility of effective pedaling. On the other hand, too long a reach is very bad. Here the awkward appearance is avoided, but the loss of power makes riding a difficult matter upon anything but a smooth, level surface.

Most good riders seem to prefer that length of reach which just enables them to comfortably press the pedal at the lowest point with the heel. But there will be found many exceptions to this preference. One of the best woman riders we know insists that the heel should clear the pedal instead of touching it when fully depressed; and a terrific road scorcher of the other sex who has won a good many Connecticut road races prefers to heel the pedal with the knee slightly bent. Extremes in either direction should be avoided and the length of the reach may then be fixed upon according to the rider's individual notion of what is best.

It is your duty as well as privilege to look young as long as you can. One way to do so is by dressing your hair with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It causes the hair to retain its colour and fullness to a late period in life, and keeps the scalp in good, healthy condition.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Relative to the Death of the Late Thomas Box.

Services in memory of the late Thos. Box were held last Sunday in the Baillieboro' Methodist church, by Rev. T. S. McKee, of Fraserville.

Reference has already been made in the EXAMINER to the deceased gentleman, who was 73 years of age, and leaving behind him three daughters, Mrs. William Dawson, Mrs. Peter Dawson and Mrs. Symons.

The memorial service was very largely attended and the hymns sung were most appropriate to the occasion.

After referring in eulogistic terms to the many virtues of the deceased, the reverend gentleman took for his text the verse :—

"For David after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell asleep and was laid unto his fathers, and saw corruption; but he whom God raised again saw no corruption."

These words, said Mr. McKee, occur in Paul's first reported sermon. He, like the other Apostles "preached Jesus and the resurrection." Their business was to proclaim the historic facts—not to explain their mysteries.

While their success depended mainly upon "The Holy Ghost sent down from heaven," yet they studied to make the wisest use of circumstances. To their Jewish hearers they would talk of Abraham, Moses or David, and thus securing their attention and sympathy, they would use their names as rungs to climb to Christ. It is thus incidentally that Paul, here, mentions David.

As soon find an Orangemen who would weary at the rehearsal of the virtues of King William, as a Jew who would not be pleased to hear of David.

After saying of David that "he was a man after God's own heart" he declares that Christ was "of the seed of David," and further that David prophesied of Christ things that showed Christ to be his superior. Christ was son; he but a servant. He calls Jesus Lord, and said that he should not see corruption.

Paul thus preached David that he might more effectually preach Christ, and I desire in this memorial service so to speak of our departed brother that we shall give glory to his Saviour rather than to him.

Without doing violence to truth we might insert his name in our text instead of David's, for what is here said of David is true of all departed saints.

I. "By the will of God" he served his generation and has fallen asleep. God's purpose reaches all. He had a will concerning David and he has concerning us. God's purpose includes everything. If he wills our service, he also wills our rest. He wills our life and wills our death. He wills our adversity as well as our prosperity. He sees

"With equal eye as God of all
The hero perish or the sparrow fall."

God's will is expressed by his laws. His law is his method of work; and to think hard of his law is to think hard of Him. God is behind His laws and takes the responsibility of them. We sometimes chide the Almighty or what is equivalent we speak of His laws as cold and cruel. This is wrong for God's will is always good will. We cross His purpose by our perverse wills and thus force Him to choose for us what He would not have chosen had we been obedient. We by our instability force class legislation upon God. He wills our holiness, but if we will not be holy then he chooses the next best thing. We make our own sorrows and God makes the best of them. We bring upon ourselves bitter experience and God helps us to extract sweet from the bitter. We may chide our own ignorance, folly and sin, but let us harbour no unkind thought of God. Everything considered he is doing the very best for us. Whatever is the best, God does not change—man changes and thus alters the relation to God, but God loves us as much in the sorrow that rends our homes as in the spring tide of our highest joy.

He served "by the will of God, and fell asleep "by the will of God." Shall we not pray as our brother prayed "Thy will not mine O God."

If He loved his own generation. A better thing cannot be said of a man. God puts the stamp of divinity upon us when he calls us to serve, for service is God-like. It was Jesus who said "I must work, and it is Jesus who still gives "to every man his work." Faithful service is God's idea of greatness. "Whosoever will be chief among you let him be your servant, even as the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give his life a ransom for many."

He served his own generation. Occasionally we find a man who is born a hundred years too soon—whose service is but little appreciated in his own generation, though he may be lionized in the next. But give us the men who serve their own generation. He who serves well his own serves best the succeeding generations of men.

"The light that shines the farthest Shines the brightest nearest home."

Father Box served well. His was not a kingly service only in the sense that all service is kingly. He enobled an humble service by the spirit in which he served. He served his family and his friends. He served the church. In the home you will miss his helping hand, and in the church we shall miss both hand and voice. The harmony of his soul is still with us. How he loved the praises of God. Strange if after so many years of service as choir leader we should not greatly miss him: but his hand was as free as his voice. We know he gave much, but we know not how much, for often he did not let "his left hand know." We thank God for his life and character and expect some time to hear his Master say: "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

III. "He fell asleep and was laid unto his fathers, and saw corruption, but Christ saw no corruption."

O how sweet is sleep to the weary toiler, and how welcome death to a saint whose work is done.

We are not sure just why in olden times death was spoken of as sleep. They doubtless could see many points of resemblance, but it is doubtful if any but a few of the saintliest of those days thought of death as a sleep, because there is to be a waking again. But Christ brings "life and immortality to light," and waht was but a figure to them is real to us. "Because I live you shall live also."

Though the body sleeps for a while the soul does not. The souls of our departed and saved ones are in full consciousness "with Him to-day in paradise." They have departed and are "with Christ which is far better," and the bodies that have been laid side by side with the friends of long ago, in God's great dormitory, shall some morning awake from their sleep and snail put on their incorruption and immortality, and re-inhabited by the self same souls, dwell "forever with the Lord." "Wherefore comfort one another with these words."

This is the way our brother viewed death. Do you so view it? Without right views of death you will not have right views of life. Death is the door to life. It is not destruction but construction. "Not dead, but sleepeth," because "Christ saw no corruption." Thanks be unto God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

There is no death! an angel form
Stalks through the earth with silent tread,
He bears our best loved things away
And then we call them dead.

He leaves our hearts all desolate,
He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers;
Transplanted into bliss they now
Adorn immortal bowers.

Corns. Corns.

There are more than one sort of korns. Some korn is planted in the ground and the other sort don't need planting; they grow quite naturally on men's toes and don't need hoeing. This kind of korn has two sorts—one gentle or tender like until Bill Jones steps on your foot, when it gets boiling mad and swears like everything; the other is hard headed and makes a row all the time, especially when your boots are on. I don't like korns, and use the extracting medicine, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, which removes them painlessly in 24 hours.

Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

A FLASHLIGHT FOR TIGERS.

Electricity Applied to a Noble Sport in the Jungles of India—Deadly Aim Taken Under an Electric Light.

Electricity has now been applied to tiger-hunting, and the sportsman in the Indian jungle, before he pulls the trigger of his gun, touches a button which throws a flood of light upon his prey. This may rob tiger-hunting of much of its romance, but it is effective, and thus far several large, well-developed tigers have been gathered in as a result of the clever arrangement.

It has been found almost impossible to draw tigers into the open during the day near thickly settled parts of India. But at night this is easily accomplished by placing a dead carcass in some convenient place where the hunter may be hidden in ambush. But after the tiger has scented the blood of the dead animal, and has begun to tear the carcass, it is difficult for the hunter to take aim without seeing him.

This has now been obviated by hanging an electric light directly over the carcass. At the instant that the light is turned on the tiger is so startled by its appearance that he does not move. Tigers are not in the habit of looking up, and it takes several seconds before the animal realizes where the new strange light comes from. This pause, which he makes before endeavoring to escape, is quite sufficient to enable the sportsman to take aim and place a large, substantial bullet in a vital part of the tiger's body.

"At present," says the inventor of this system, in a letter to The Scientific American, "I use a battery of six large cells, filled with sal ammoniac. It is very heavy and cumbersome, and the light only a five-candle power lamp. Its recommendations are that the battery is good for the next ten years, and only wants an occasional filling up of the cells with water, and sometimes a little fresh sal ammoniac. As I can only go shooting during six months of the year this is a great advantage. The method of using is as follows:—From the box containing the cells I have a line of wire (double, of course), say 30 to 40 feet long, slipped onto each end of the box by butterfly nuts, the lamp, which is tied to a branch of a tree, immediately over, say, 20 feet high, the bait being at the other end.

"At about two yards from the battery there is a connection, I think called a male switch. A short line of wire about three or four feet long, makes the connection to the fore end of my rifle; at one end of the short length is a female switch to fit on to the above male one, and at the other end two small rings are made of the wires. These rings are fastened by two big-headed screws to the bed of the connection. On hearing the tiger at the kill, I aim as nearly in the direction as I can, then a slight pressure of the thumb makes the electric connection and the light opens right over the tiger."

This scientific sportsman also employed accumulators, but they did not seem to be adapted to such rough work. He is now fitting himself with a battery which may be carried on the belt like cartridges.

Thirty such batteries carried in this way, would, it is estimated, be sufficient to provide a 16-candle power light. This system of night hunting, it has been suggested, might well be employed in hunting big game in the Rockies.—New York World.

TIPS ON MANY TOPICS.

England imports £600,000 worth of potatoes every year.

The wedding ring is worn on the left hand because, in symbolism, the right hand is authority, the left obedience.

A curious old English law forbade street hawkers to sell plums and apples least servants and apprentices should steal money to buy them.

"As blind as a mole" is not a sensible comparison, as the mole is possessed of good eyesight, although its eyes are very small—about the size of a mustard seed.

In consequence of a pure water supply being provided in Indian towns, the death rate among the troops stationed there has been reduced from 60 to 15 per 1,000 since 1865.

The small waists of French women are believed by some scientists to be the result of heredity. Ages of tight lacing, they say, have produced a physical peculiarity in the nation.

Shoes were blackened as early as the third century. The substance used seems to have been lampblack mixed with rancid oil; for, in an old romance, a man is ejected from a company of polite persons because he had just blackened his shoes, and they could not endure the smell.

SIR W. VERNON HARCOURT ELECTED

Still Declares Temperance the Chief Plank in His Platform—Labor Leaders Defeated Standing of the Parties

London, July 23.—To-night the standing of the various parties in the House of Commons is as follows:

- 309 Conservatives.
- 55 Unionists.
- 129 Liberals.
- 56 McCarthyites.
- 9 Parnellites.

On to-day's returns the Conservatives have gained three seats, the Unionists one, and the Parnellites one.

Among the defeated candidates are the labor leaders Tom Mann and Clem Edwards, who shared the fate of many of their fellows

Mann ran as an independent labor candidate in the Colne Valley district of Yorkshire, and had as opponents Sir J. Kitson, the Liberal representative, and Harold Thomas, Unionist. The Liberals won with a smaller majority than they had in 1892, and Mann was third in the race, with 1245 votes. Clem Edwards had the Liberal and labor support in the Tottenham division of Middlesex. At the start he had to face a Conservative majority of 1720 in 1892. This year the Conservatives piled up a majority of nearly 2600.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, who was defeated in Derby, has been returned for West Monmouth by a majority of 7248, 23 less than the Liberal majority three years ago. Mr. Warmington, who resigned his candidacy in favor of Sir William on the latter's defeat in Derby, was to have stood without opposition. Sir William, notwithstanding his experience in Derby, persisted in declaring in his speeches in West Monmouth that temperance was still the chief plank in his platform.

FOUND HOGAN'S BODY.

The Firebug Jumped Into the Canal After Applying the Match.

St. Catharines, July 24.—At 9 o'clock last night when a party of young men were in bathing in the new canal, just below Lock 7, they noticed a man's head protruding just above water. They secured a raft and towed the body to shore, and on examining found it to be that of Hogan, colored, the firebug, who, it was supposed, committed suicide after firing Stewart John's premises on Saturday night.

The Lucan Firebug Committed.

Lucan, Ont., July 23.—John Williams, a colored man, aged 40, married, was arrested at midnight Monday in connection with the burning of Stanley & Dight's warehouses at 11 o'clock the same night. Andrew Patton, the McGillivray farmer, who was passing the buildings on the night in question and who claimed to be able to identify the firebug, was taken to Williams' house while the fire was yet in progress, and positively identified Williams as the man he saw setting the fire. Williams was sent for trial.

The 2.27 trot was an improvement over the preceding events, and required five heats to decide it, although the finishes, with one exception, were not close enough to evoke much enthusiasm.

REDUCED TO A SHADOW.

Saved by Strawberry Extract.

GENTLEMEN,—Feeling it my duty to give you an unsolicited testimony for the direct benefit I have received in my family from the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. let me say that while we resided at Fenwick, Ont., my little daughter had an attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, by which she was reduced to a mere shadow and became quite helpless. Fortunately my family physician advised the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, as he neither had nor knew of anything better for this dreadful disease, and therefore we gave it an impartial trial. I am happy to say that less than quarter of a bottle caused the flow of blood and clots to cease, and the child promptly recovered. We always have had Extract of Strawberry in the house since to be ready for emergencies common to children in summer from the effects of fruits, etc. I would just as soon think of losing my right eye as being deprived of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This is a testimony of thanks for the untold benefit myself and family have received from this great remedy. MRS. W. H. GARROLD, St. David's, Ont, formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation

originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plain are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

ALBERT EDWARD'S JOKE.

He Smashed the Crockery and Furniture of an Elderly Countess.

Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, is perhaps the most popular man in England. This popularity is due to his love of sports and all manly traits which are particularly commendable in the eyes of the average Britisher. As a youth his audacity and appreciation of a joke, either as a perpetrator or victim, were well known.

One of his erly escapades resulted in her Majesty the Queen footing a bill for broken crockery and wrecked furniture which the young Prince caused in the house of one of the lesser members of the nobility. A rather elderly countess, whose quick temper and sharp tongue drove even her servants away from her, advertised for a footman. The Prince, to whose ears tales of the peculiarities of the old lady had come, resolved to teach her a lesson. He therefore, presented himself in disguise at her ladyship's house and applied for the position of footman.

The Countess had just finished her breakfast, and pushing her chair back from the table, instructed the servant to bring before her the applicant. The Prince was therefore ushered into the room. The countess looked him over from his feet up.

Apparently pleased with the appearance of the Prince, she said :—"Let me see you walk."

Albert Edward did as commanded, and walked backward and forward several times across the floor from one end of the room to the other, now walking briskly, at the request of the old lady, and then pacing slowly, as she wished to obtain points on this score.

This performance over, the countess ordered him to trot. The dining room still the theatre of action, the Prince trotted around it several times. When this exercise was completed, he again came to a standstill near the head of the table, where the countess was seated. Her ladyship seemed pleased, and was just on the point of asking the young man some questions about himself when he shouted :

"Now see me gallop !"

Grasping a corner of the table cloth firmly in one hand, the Prince rushed round the room, pulling the crockery off on the floor in a heap, knocking over the furniture, and finally winding her ladyship up in the folds of the cloth. He then bolted for the door, leaving the countess sputtering and shouting, and the servants running about in a distracted way to liberate their mistress and quiet her rage.

In the hubbub and confusion the Prince escaped. The next day a check from the keeper of the Privy Purse settled the amount of the damages, and likewise established the identity of the mischief-maker.—New York Herald.

SEED FROM A MUMMY.

How an Englishman Got a New Kind of Peas for Seed.

Gardeners will be interested to learn that J. Davis, of Wood Close, Bromley Common, Kent, has growing at the present time peas which are the produce of sound peas found in upper Egypt in a mummy case about three years ago. The sarcophagus which contained the mummy and case in which the parents of these peas were found was discovered in a cave tomb situated in the valley of the Kings at Assaseef, which is about an hours' ride west from the Nile at Thebes. The discovery was made by a party of five gentlemen, consisting of two Americans two Cambridge students and the cousin of the lady from whom the specimen peas now growing at Bromley were obtained.

The inscription went to show that the person entombed was Memptah, a younger son of User-Khepara-Ra (Seti II.), son of Rameses II., founder of the eighteenth dynasty. Prince Memptah existed about 1,270 B. C. The valley in which this tomb was discovered in the old burying place of the Theban kings of the seventeeth and eighteenth dynasties, and most of the tombs are remarkable not so much for their size as for their exquisite beauty. All of these two races of kings were buried in this valley, but only about one-half the number buried (about forty in all) have yet been discovered. The peas are much smaller than those of the present day, a fact which is possibly evidence of the improvement which has taken place in the cultivation in the modest interval of 3,000 years.

Northern Lights.

The fact has long been recognized that the splendid phenomena of the Northern Lights, or aurora borealis, are due to electric action producing luminosity in the upper regions of the atmosphere, perhaps seventy-five miles or more above the earth, where the density of the air is exceedingly slight. But the precise manner in which the electric energy acts in such a case remains to be explained. Since the discovery a few months ago of the new constituent of the atmosphere to which, on account of its inertness, the name argon has been given (the word comes from the Greek argon, meaning "lazy, idle, doing nothing") many experiments have been made by chemists to determine the properties of the new found element.

Among the experimenters is the distinguished French savant, Monsieur Berthelot, and at a recent meeting of the Academy of Sciences he made the very interesting suggestion that the Northern Lights may be due to the argon contained in the upper atmosphere. He bases this idea on the fact that, while he was experimenting electrically with argon contained in a test tube, a splendid fluorescence was developed, the light of which, as tested by the spectroscope, resembled that of the aurora borealis. He thinks that argon, or some element associated with it, may, under the influence of electric currents developed in the high regions of the air, produce a fluorescent combination, giving rise to the strange lights that we observe there.

Cynicism.

The poor drunkard lay in the gutter while the thoughtless crowd jeered. Along came the good-hearted citizen and placed the unfortunate in a standing position.

"Ah," said the crowd, "he has been there himself."

So shines a good deed in a naughty world.

Dairy Notes.

Whenever the cows are not fed regularly they are kept in a restless condition, constantly expecting feed whenever the owner enters the barn, while if fed regularly the animals would be more quiet.

The regularity as well as the manner of the milker has much to do with the productiveness of the milk cow, as a allow the cream to get cold before place a cow up.

Care must always be taken not to alow the cream to get cold before placing in the dairy room, for if it is allawed to become completely chilled before straining and setting away the cream will not rise well.

In very many cases the labor and time required in churning is lessened nearly one-half if the churn is not filled more than half full at the beginning.

A cow well fed and cared for will not only give more milk, but it will be of a better quality and her milk will make more butter in proportion than a half starved one.

To the North Pole by Balloon.

M. Andre's project for reaching the north pole by balloon is now being examined by a committee of the French Academie des Sciences. Four important conditions must be satisfied ; (5) An ascensional power of 6,600 pounds, to carry three observers, their instruments, ballast and provisions for four months ; (2) a balloon that shall continue impermeable for four months ; (3) conveniences for filling and starting it in the Arctic regions and, finally, some means of directing it. Nordenskjold thinks Andre can carry out his plan.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

MONTREAL, July 15.—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kerr, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

A High Valuation.

A Constantly Growing Force.

Every Day Gives Momentum to the Success of South American Nervine.

Canadian Citizens from Every Quarter Tell of the Extraordinary Results Following the Use of This Wonderful Remedy.

MR. C. G. CHAPIN, OF BURK'S FALLS, ONT.

There is encouragement in the knowledge that even after the skill of eminent physicians has failed, and many medicines have been used, a certain cure for the diseases of life is to be found in South American Nervine. This is a remarkable medicine, especially when the trouble is nervous debility, indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, or a general breaking-up of the system. It has made thousands of cures of Canadian citizens all over this beautiful Dominion, and they have not been slow to sing its praises.

The strength of South American Nervine rests in its being something more than a mere tonic. A tonic will give temporary benefit, but if disease is in the system something more is needed to remove it. South American Nervine possesses all the virtues of a tonic, but more than that, it is a disease-healer. It has been discovered that certain nerves have entire control over the stomach, liver, heart, lungs and indeed all internal organs. When disease comes upon the individual, if a careful analysis is made of the trouble, and things are not gone about in haphazard fashion, it will be shown that the disease has its origin in a derangement of these nerve centers. South American Nervine goes at once to the nerve centers and removes the disease. Then strong, rich, pure blood runs through the veins and gives health and exhilaration to all parts of the system. This is one secret of the power of South American Nervine. But it does not stop here. There is no medicine that is so great a nerve-builder, nor flesh-producer as Nervine. It purifies the system. It imparts to it health and vigor, and builds up the constitution.

Now, this is exactly what was done in the case of Mr. C. G. Chapin, a well-known jeweller, of Burk's Falls, Ont. He says : For years I had been much troubled with nervous debility, and believe I had tried all proprietary medicines, but none seemed to relieve me, until I used South American Nervine. To my surprise the first bottle gave me great relief. I am still taking this great remedy and must say I have not felt so well in years. I highly recommend it to all suffering from nervous disease, for it has made a great change in me."

A VERDICT OF MURDER.

some startling developments to take place in the Holmes case, but they have not yet materialized. The sudden transfer of Geyer's searches from Detroit to Indianapolis is said to be the result of a positive clue which was recently discovered in that city. The District Attorney has considerable evidence in his possession connecting Holmes with the murder of Pitezel, but his darkness as to the whereabouts of Howard leaves the strongest link in the chain of circumstantial evidence that encircles Holmes' neck.

It was learned yesterday that, should the search for the body of Howard be successful, Mr. Graham is very confident of forcing Holmes to make a full confession of his misdeeds.

"While we have a case prepared even now against Holmes," said District Attorney Graham, "we will rest until Detective Geyer returns and makes his final report, for he has omitted from his hastily-prepared despatches a few material bits of information that are necessary in order to shape our course of procedure. That Holmes will be placed upon trial on the charge of murder there is not the slightest doubt, but whether he will be indicted and tried here on the charge of having killed Benjamin Pitezel or will be taken to Chicago or Toronto on requisition or extradition papers to answer the charge of having murdered the Pitezel children at the latter city, or having made away with the Williams sisters and the Conner woman at the former place, has not yet been decided upon."

Lawyer Shoemaker had another conference with Holmes at the prison this afternoon. The two men were together for nearly two hours. The finding of the supposed bones of the Williams girls at Chicago was under discussion, as was also the announcement that the Chicago authorities intend holding Holmes for the murder of Gertrude Conner. It was stated that Holmes spoke at length of the action of his wife in turning against him now in the hour of his troubles. He professes to have cared for her more than any other woman. Now that she has forsaken him, he fears the damaging result of the testimony she may give against him.

Geyer at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., July 24.—Detective Geyer arrived here from Detroit to-day to investigate this end of the Holmes-Pitezel affair. It is believed by the local officers that the missing lad Howard Pitezel was murdered here and his body taken from the Circle Park Hotel, where Holmes was stopping, in a trunk. What disposition was made of the body is the mystery that Detective Geyer has come here to solve.

Yachting in Ireland.

Kingstown, Ireland, July 24.—The Royal St. George's Yacht Club Regatta began here to-day over a course of about 50 miles. The wind was light from the southeast. The Ailsa started at 10.30.30, and the Britannia at 10.31.45. The Britannia finished the first round at 2.48.20, the Ailsa at 2.50.59.

In the 20-raters the Eucharis crossed the line at 12.00.25, the Niagara at 12.00.45, and the Dakotah at 12.00.53. The Niagara won the race, finishing at 5.08.05, the Dakotah at 5.23.08, and the Eucharis at 5.24.55.

UNIONISTS KEEP ON WINNING

No Change in the Monotony of Liberal Reverses.

London, July 24.—Interest in the elections is waning to a certain extent, the monotony of the returns showing Unionist gains and reduced Liberal majorities aiding to bring about this result.

To-day's returns show that the tide of the Unionists' success has not been checked to any material extent, and it may be said that the Liberals have no hope of checking it. Their energies are now devoted to attempting to hold safe the districts in which elections are to be held, but their campaign work is marked by a lack of vim that is particularly noticeable.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson, the head and front of the temperance section in the House of Commons, managed to be again returned, despite the opposition to the local veto bill, but his majority was cut down from 771 to 241.

There are now in the neighborhood of 75 districts to hold elections, but it is not believed, even by Liberals, that the returns from those will materially reduce the Unionists' majority.

The last polls will be held on Saturday.

All Are Unionists

Edinburgh, July 24.—The Scotch Peers met in this city this afternoon and elected 16 of their number to represent them in the House of Lords in the new Parliament. Everyone of the 16 elected is a Unionist.

South Wales Elections.

Sydney, N.S.W., July 24.—The general result of the elections was the return of 62 free traders, 40 protectionists and 23 members of the Labor party. The latter will support Prime Minister Reid, who is thus assured of a majority. Ex-Prime Minister Dibbs is among the defeated candidates.

Every candidate of Sir Henry Parkes' Federal party was rejected. The members of the Upper House were actively engaged in behalf of Sir Henry Parkes. Crowds pelted them with missiles at the polls.

Fergus Defeats Seaforth.

Fergus, July 24.—The Thistles to-day defeated the leaders in the senior series of the C.L.A. by four to three. The games were taken as follows:

First—Seaforth, 7 minutes.
Second—Seaforth, 22 minutes.
Third—Seaforth, 28 minutes.
Fourth—Fergus, 12 minutes.
Fifth—Fergus, 5 minutes.
Sixth—Fergus, 2 minutes.
Seventh—Fergus, 8 minutes.

The game throughout was good, clean lacrosse. Mr. W. A. Kirkwood, Brampton, who acted as referee, gave satisfaction.

Foreigners in France.

To check the influx into the country of foreign laborers, the French Government has adopted a series of stringent measures, the chief of them being compulsory naturalization and compulsory service in the army for all the foreigners who are unable to prove that they have complied with the laws regulating military service in the land of their birth. It is now contended that these naturalized French subjects are a social and a political danger, and that, although naturalization has, in many cases, been forced on them, they should be debarred of the political and social advantages which should accrue from the acquisition of French nationality. To systemize this ostracism of the naturalized stranger, several bills have been brought forward in the Chamber of Deputies. One of them, devised by Count de Pontbriand, proposes that no naturalized foreigner shall be permitted to hold the rank of officer or non-commissioned officer in the army, although liable to serve as a private, and that no naturalized foreigner shall be eligible for any legislative or administrative function, unless it so happens that his naturalization goes back for three generations. The bill of M. de Pontbriand is supplemented by another, introduced by M. de Mahy and Viscount de Montfort, which is only slightly less harsh. According to the census of 1891, the number of naturalized foreigners in France is only 179,704, while the non-naturalized foreigners number not less than 1,130,211.

PRICES CUT IN TWAIN!

It's a case of—The More you Buy the More you make. Values have been let loose and cost of production has gone on a vacation and made a plaything of.

Purse openers like these arouse your sense of economy, makes quick selling all over the store, and brings crowd after crowd of enthusiastic shoppers, and the promise of still busier days.

Things must hum, for the goods are destined to depart, tagged with half-price tickets. We are in dead earnest—the hour has come—the time is ripe—rain or shine the bargains will be here. Although cart loads have already been taken away to the homes of happy purchasers, the bargain counters and shelves appear as full as ever.

Do you want a Suit of Clothes for the price of making it? Don't think too long, or somebody else will be wearing it for you. Here are a few startlers:—

$2.90 Buys Young Men's and Youths' Suits, worth from $3.75 to $6.50, made up in Good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$3.90 Buys Men's Suits, worth from $5.50 to $8.00, made up in good Tweeds, Serges and Worsteds.

$1.89 Buys Boys' Two-piece Suits, worth from $2.50 to $4.00, made up in Dressing Fabrics, well lined and trimmed, not to rip.

1/2 Of the former price is all we ask for about 4,000 yards of bright new Scotch and Canadian Tweeds, Serges and Worsted Cloths, Trimmings, &c. Cut free of charge to all who buy or made up into Suits to cost you about 50% less than usual.

Feminine Shouldn'ts.

A delegate at the recent National Council of Women compiled the following "shouldn't" during the reading of a paper, and just when she "shouldn't" be doing anything of the kind:

You shouldn't be extreme.

You shouldn't sacrifice your individuality at the shrine of fashion.

You shouldn't allow your dressmaker to stiffen your summer gowns, except with the very lightest and most pliable material.

You shouldn't wear tan shoes with a silk or any dressy gown.

You shouldn't wear high stock collars with bows, which make you look as though your head were tied on—they are passe.

You shouldn't wear a floral collar, if your complexion is faded or inclined to yellowness.

You shouldn't have your gown measure more than seven yards around the hem; five and a half if you are small, four and a half if you are sensible and small.

You shouldn't carry a flower, lace or chiffon-trimmed parasol in town, except for carriage use.

You shouldn't wear a silk or satin bodice with a linen coat or skirt.

You shouldn't wear silk or velvet for travelling; washable materials or brilliantine are the best.

You shouldn't wear bloomers without a skirt, unless you wish to look vulgar.

You shouldn't wear a cloth cap in the summer, either for cycling, golf or tennis. It collects the dust, and is very warm. Straw or duck is more up-to-date and comfortable.

You shouldn't ignore fashion altogether.

You needn't be in the fashion if you do not want to, and happen to be an exceptionally pretty woman.

This is for the men: You shouldn't wait till Sunday for a shave, unless you are on the "outs" with your sweetheart.

NEMESIS ON HIS TRACK

Double Murder Case May Be Tried in Toronto.

IT IS THE SENSATION OF THE DAY

Holmes Will be Brought to Toronto to Stand His Trial—Detectives Will Bring Him Back—More Human Bones Found in His Chicago Residence.

Toronto, July 26.—Crown Attorneys Dewart and Curry held a consultation yesterday in reference to the charges of murder against H. H. Holmes. As a result of their conclusions, Detective Cuddy has sworn out two separate warrants, charging Holmes with the murder of Etta Alice Pitezel and of Nellie Pitezel. The authorities of Philadelphia were notified by wire of the issuance of the warrants and of the intention to ask for his extradition. The Attorney-General's Department will take the matter up and spare no effort to have Holmes extradited and placed upon trial here. The latest information received by the detective department here from District Attorney Graham of the Quaker City intimated that, should Holmes' extradition be asked for, he would in all probability be surrendered.

The charge of having murdered B. F. Pitezel has been formulated in Philadelphia, but has not been presented to the grand jury, pending the action of the Canadian officials and the return of Detective Geyer. It has been understood that the city presenting the strongest case against Holmes would have the privilege of trying him. For his decision on this point, District Attorney Graham is awaiting the final report of Detective Geyer to be made, when he reaches Philadelphia. While in this city, Geyer expressed to a World reporter his opinion that the case against Holmes was much stronger here than in either Philadelphia or Chicago, and that it was his intention to so report to the district attorney. Strenuous efforts are being made by the Chicago police to put together a strong case of murder, but the Philadelphia district attorney is anxious that his prisoner should be disposed of as quickly as possible, and since the warrants have been issued here it is more than likely that Detective Cuddy will leave in a few days to bring Holmes to this city.

Why Canada should Have Him.

New York, July 26.—The Evening Post says: The number of states and countries where the man Holmes is wanted to be tried for murdering people in order to defraud life insurance companies is increasing from day to day. The question which state or country wants him most will perhaps never be decided, but the question which one ought to have him first is already decided in favor of Canada.

The reason for yielding our claims is that if Holmes were tried in this country and convicted it would take several years to execute him. With the Buchanan case freshly in mind, we should expect a series of delays, new trials and appeals to higher state courts, lasting a couple of years. By all means let Canada try him first.

Holmes Doesn't Wish to Face Canadian Justice.

Philadelphia, July 26.—The verdict arrived at by the Toronto coroner's jury last night, charging H. H. Holmes with the murder of the two Pitezel children, whose bodies were found in that city, has eliminated from the mysterious case one of the uncertainties that has confronted the Philadelphia authorities.

The chances are now almost beyond count that Holmes will be taken to Canada to stand trial for the murders. It is stated, however, that it will require at least two months before the accused can be extradited. It has been the intention of District Attorney Graham to have Holmes tried in any city where the evidence would warrant the most speedy conviction on the charge of murder, and the finding of the coroner's jury in Toronto makes it almost certain that every step will be taken to fasten the arraignment of the man in Canada.

Attorney Shoemaker, who represents Holmes, to-day said that his client was not afraid to face any charge the Canadian authorities had to make against him. "The district attorney," said he, "should proceed slowly in this matter, or the result will be that he will not have Holmes on even the charge of conspiracy, to which he pleaded guilty and is now awaiting sentence. It must be remembered that the process of extradition is just as difficult from the Canadian jurisdiction as it is to get a man from the United States, and if the Toronto authorities fail to convict Holmes, which I am certain they will, there may be a fight before the man is returned to this city."

Joked About His Victims.

Chicago, July 25.—No such sensational a find as that of yesterday was made by the men digging in the basement of the Holmes building to-day, but there was one which may go much farther toward securing the conviction of the murderer. One of the workmen found in a pile of rubbish a letter signed, "H. H. Howard," and dated May 5, 1895. The signature is one of the many aliases used by Holmes, and one of the commonest of the lot. The letter is in his well-known handwriting, and is addressed to an occupant of the building, whose name the detectives who took possession of the letter refused to state. It is believed, however, that the letter is to C. C. Davis, the jeweler, who occupies the building with Druggist Robinson. The letter inquires particularly as to the doings of Janitor Quinlan, and asks where he now is. It then goes on in a jocular manner to discus the fate of the Williams girls, and asks of the recipient whether he has seen them or their ghosts in the building. Special inquiry is made as to the partitions in the house, and in conclusion the writer expresses the belief that he will not have to stay in jail much longer.

A new accusation now rests against Holmes that he made away with a Miss Cigrand, with whom he lived in the house at 63rd and Wallace-streets, just before he had the Williams girl there. The girl was a stately-looking blonde, about 25, and lived with Holmes something less than six months. When she went away Holmes told Jeweler Davis, as the latter claims, that he had succeeded in "marrying her off." It will be remembered that this is very much like what he told concerning the disappearance of Mrs. Conner. He said at the time that he had married her off in California. Miss Cigrand came to Chicago from Indiana. Holmes was not often seen with her, and on these occasions he kept aloof from his acquaintances, and introduced her to no one. Mrs. W. L. Doyle of Sixty-third-street knows more about this girl, it is believed, than anybody else, but the Central Station officers will not permit her to talk about the case.

The building in which Holmes' Chicago crimes were probably concerted and accomplished will not be pulled down. P. R. Chandler, a broker, who holds a mortgage on it for $12,000, advanced to Holmes with which to build, was told by the building inspector that all that was necessary was to improve the upper portion. This will be done at once. An order of foreclosure has already been secured from the court, and to-morrow or next day an order will be asked for allowing the improvements to be put on.

The remains of a furnace that was possibly used by Holmes as a crematory were unearthed in the cellar this morning. Near them was a large heap of ashes, which are now being sifted. The man who built the furnace says that Holmes maintained great secrecy concerning its construction, and said it was to be used in his gas-manufacturing experiments. As no attempt was made to make gas, this story was clearly a fabrication. The furnace had an air-tight receptacle, in which could be generated a heat of 2400 degrees Fahrenheit, and it was just long enough to contain a body.

The belief is gaining ground that Holmes' wife, who lives at the suburb of Wilmette, knows much more of the crimes of her husband than she cares to tell.

The knowledge of J. L. Conner, the former husband of Julia Conner, one of Holmes' supposed victims, is one important part of the chain of evidence that the police are slowly but surely forging about this prince of insurance swindlers and shrewdest of fiends.

He will in a few days furnish the police with a statement of what he knows. His importance as a witness is such that he may be able to clear away much mystery that surrounds the disapeparance of Mrs. Conner and the Williams girls and one man, who form a large part in the chain of tragedies that are accredited to H. H. Holmes.

Jones, the man who purchased the drug store from Holmes, the accused murderer of the Williams sisters, is positive that Holmes is guilty of the crimes attributed to him, and insists that he also ended the life of Kate Durkey, a young woman who was for a time his slave. The girl had herself insured, and helped Holmes in many of his shady undertakings. Holmes, he declares, was digging in the cellar day and night. He believes he was now burying the bodies of those he had slaughtered.

The reward of the searchers in Holmes' castle this morning was a shoulder bone, which the detectives believe is part of an adult's body.

The next discovery was a socket bone, the proportions of which are smaller, indicating that it must be part of the remains of a child. The remains of a dress were also found in the debris.

The force of workmen was increased in the afternoon, and the gruesome work continued. The digging today is near the south wall, next to the alley, and the object the police now have in view is to find the boiler which Holmes had connected with the bogus gas plant. The police believe that the boiler and its contents will throw considerable light on the mysterious doings of Holmes.

Mrs. Quinlan, the wife of Patrick Quinlan, the janitor at the Holmes castle in 1893, was admitted to Inspector McLaughlin's private office at an early hour this morning. The belief is gaining ground that Quinlan knows more of Holmes' Chicago affairs than any other person, and the hope is entertained that he may have communicated part of his knowledge to his wife, and that under the terrible ordeal of the sweat-box she might be compelled to tell what has probably been divulged to her. The theory was advanced that Holmes had added another victim to his list in the person of 11-year-old Cora Quinlan, daughter of the janitor, but this is not thought to be tenable. Mrs. Doyle of 747 Sixty-third-street accompanied Mrs. Quinlan this morning. Mrs. Doyle said that she saw the Quinlan child three weeks ago at South Haven, Mich., and that she is still there.

To the police to-day, Mrs. W. L. Doyle said taht an aunt of hers owned the house in Toronto where the two Pitezel children were found dead.

One of the most important developments in the case during the day was the alleged connection established between Holmes and an insurance solicitor, J. Downey, who operated in Englewood, and who is said to be the man who assisted Holmes in placing insurance on his victims. Downey, who also claims to be a doctor, is wanted by more than one local insurance company, and it is believed that if the police succeed in getting hold of him he will be able to tell an interesting story of the operations of Holmes with the insurance companies. Some believe he was an acomplice of the Englewood swindler and worked for a division of the spoils received from the insurance companies. Downey has worked for every life insurance agency in this city.

DUE TO MISUNDERSTANDING.

A Montreal Bank Cashier's Resignation Causes a Sensation For a Time

Montreal, July 26.—There was quite an uneasy feeling yesterday in town when it was known that Mr. M. Benoit had resigned the position of cashier of the Banque Nationale, but it was soon ascertained that the resignation had been brought about through a misunderstanding between the cashier and Mayor Villeneuve, the local director in this city. Mr. G. Deguire, the assistant, has been appointed cashier pro tem.

SARAH JAMES' DEATH.

Inquest on the Betrayed Uxbridge School Teacher at Toronto.

Toronto, July 26.—The inquest on Sarah James, the young Uxbridge township girl who died under suspicious circumstances last Monday, was resumed Coronor Johnson last night. The mother and lover of the girl were present, but were not heard. Mrs. Doherty, in whose house in Bellevue-avenue she died, testified that the girl came to her apparently suffering from blood poisoning. She had been sent by Dr. Lehman and after remaining a week became extremely ill and confessed to having sinned. The symptoms showed that the child was dead within her, and as a life or death measure Dr. Lehman performed the operation. This was substantially Dr. Lehman's story as well. He had at first believed that the girl might have appendicitis. Both witnesses testified that to the last and the girl had never once blamed Alfred Somerville, her lover, and had uttered no complaint. The inquest will be resumed next Tuesday night.

CHOLERA IN JAPAN.

Serious Outbreak Threatened Among the Troops—Many Deaths Already.

Tokyo, July 26.—There are symptoms at present of a serious epidemic of cholera in Japan. The terrible disease has made its appearance among the troops at Pescadores, Port Arthur and Chin Chow, its germs having been carried home by returning soldiers, and already from 14 centres of infection reports of fresh cases reach the authorities daily. Thus far seizures have aggregated only 315, and the rate of mortality has been about 25 per cent., but when the summer heat asserts itself, a grave situation of affairs will in all probability ensue.

THE LIBERAL COLLAPSE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The Liberal party in Great Britain were overweighed with two programmes of reform, and their failure to carry out that programme has been visited upon them rather severely. The disintegration of the party began with the several wings.

The factions quarrelled over the order of precedence in the programme; the agitators for disestablishment and the crofters fought for precedence, and open revolt in Parliament became common. Labouchere and the Radicals carried on a guerilla campaign, and the Redmondites were in open warfare against the government. The labour men began to run candidates in Liberal constituencies against Liberal candidates with the effect of electing Conservatives and Liberal-Unionists. Mr. Healy quarrelled with the McCarthyites, and brought about further weakness in the ranks of the Nationalists. When the Liberal Government was defeated in the House and resigned, and parliament was dissolved, the only hope of the Liberals was that the country would give them credit for Sir William Harcourt's splendid financial reforms and budget, and would visit its disgust with inefficient government upon the new government. It has not done so; it has remembered and acted upon all the causes which led to disintegration and demoralization. The liquor men have worked like beavers against Sir William Harcourt and local option. The labour men have worked hard, by dividing the Liberals and letting in Conservatives, to punish Mr. Morley for his opposition to an eight-hour legal working day. The crofters are sullen over the Liberal failure to legislate in their interests. The Welsh point to the failure of disestablishment, and allow of the election of Conservatives by staying away from the polls. The Irish Nationalists in Great Britain are lukewarm in support of a government that did not release political criminals long in jail and immediately throw down the gauntlet to the Lords on the home rule question, and in Ireland they have fought among themselves over questions of leadership. The result of the elections has been to wipe out most of the factions and to consolidate the two great parties, for hereafter the Liberal-Unionists will find themselves classed simply as Conservatives, and the McCarthyite section of the Irish Nationalists will find themselves at least firm allies of the Liberals.

LOFTY STATESMANSHIP.

We have not had for a long time any indication that the present Dominion Government takes any regard of the public interests in the administration of public affairs. Office seems to be made subservient to keeping office creating party capital. The most contemptible piece of one-horse spite is the proposal to cuckoo a brother of Hon. Wilfred Laurier out of the position of postmaster at Laurentide, Quebec, which duties he discharges in connection with a general store. In order that the facts may not be doubted they are given below on the authority of the Hamilton Spectator, and when that hide-bound supporter of the government indulges in such intercourse the case must be bad indeed. The Spectator says: "The revenue of the post office is $787 a year. The Minister of Public Works, Hon. Mr. Ouimet, proposed to locate the postoffice in a building owned by a political favourite. The building is assessed at $1,000; yet the generous Minister proposed to pay $300 a year rent for it and spend $350 in fitting it up. The building has never commanded more than $70 a year in rent. All of which shows a disregard for economy which is characteristic of our good friends of Quebec. But that's not the worst of it. The removal of the postoffice to the new building would necessitate the resignation of Postmaster Laurier, who could not leave his store to run the postoffice in another part of the village. And that seems to be what the alleged Conservatives of Laurentide are after. It is amazing that a Minister could be found who would consent to such small business as this; such picayune persecution of the brother of the leader of her Majesty's Opposition in the House of Commons. But the whole transaction is characteristic of the people who have undertaken to rule the Dominion and dictate school laws to other provinces.

PROTECTION is played out in New South Wales. The Free Trade and Labour parties which are one in trade policy have carried eighty five seats, while the Protectionists retained only forty. Dr. Dibbs, the parliament leader, who became premier on the triumph of protection years ago, was among the rejected candidates. Sir Henry Parkes in theory is a freetrader, but one of those who were willing to sacrifice free trade and the foreign trade of the empire for the chimera of Imperial federation founded upon protection, was defeated by Mr. Reed, the premier and leader of free-traders.

The church fair, the bazaar, the concert and all those other little devices to stimulate contributions to church funds are likely to be superseded if the plan of the New Yorker is adopted. His scheme is to use life insurance as a basis of paying church debts; the plan being in effect that, say, a score of members of any congregation insure their lives for the benefit of their church, which pays the premiums. When an insured member dies, or the time limit of endowment expires, the money reverts to the church. It is unnecessary to add that the originator of this scheme is a thoroughly disinterested insurance agent, though there is a church in Napanee that has provided for the payment of its debt by the insurance of a couple of young lives of members of the congregation in favour of the church. So far, however, neither party has shown any decided disposition to make the risk realizable. The George Street Methodist Church has the lives of some of its members insured on this same plan.

LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

The Cheese Board Decides to Hold the Cheese for One Week.

Wednesday morning the regular meeting of Lindsay cheese board was held at 11 o'clock. There was quite a large board, but none of it was sold. The buyers present were Messrs. Flavelle, Cook and Fisher.

When the meeting was called to order the president said that he was open for the offers, and after a few minutes Mr. Fisher offered 8c. for selections. Then there was another pause, the other buyers not raising the bid, and after a short time the president asked Mr. Fisher to name the factories he would buy.

Mr. Fisher then named four or five factories, and they each in turn refused to accept 8c., so he stopped.

When it was found that they could not get a higher bid than 8c., a motion was passed to adjourn for one week.

Following is a list of the factories represented, with the number of boxes boarded:

BRITAIN'S BIG WARSHIP.

The Powerful, Sister to the Terrible, Launched Yesterday.

London, July 26.—The first-class cruiser Powerful, sister ship to the Terrible, was launched at Barrow to-day. She is far larger than any cruiser hitherto built by any naval power.

She is built of steel and copper-sheathed; her displacement is 14,200 tons, and her indicated horse-power 25,000. Her length is 500 feet, her beam 71 feet, and her draught 27 feet. Her contract requirement for speed is 22 knots, and she has coal capacity in her bunkers for 3000 tons.

She will carry two 10-inch guns, 12 6-inch quick-firing guns, 16 12-pounder quick-fire guns, 10 3-pounder quick-fire guns and nine machine guns.

The Terrible trusts for protection to her engines and "vital" parts, to a highly-curved steel deck, four inches thick at the extreme and tapering to three inches at the ends.

The drain which these warships will make on the resources of the Admiralty may be estimated from the fact that each one will require a crew of 894 officers and men, 150 more than are needed by the largest British battleship now afloat.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. THE LUNDY'S LANE MEMORIAL Imposing Gathering on the Historic Battlefield—Many Loyal Speeches By Well-Known Canadians—Lessons of Patriotism Well Enforced.

Niagara Falls, July 26.—Lundy's Lane will ever be memorable as the scene of the decisive battle fought July 25, 1814, the story of which is familiar to all Canadians as household words. Henceforth it will have additional interest to the tens of thousands of tourists, for its historical associations are now perpetuated by a fitting monument. This is the gift of the Dominion Government, and to witness its unveiling yesterday the people from a wide countryside gathered in full force.

The place of the battle is about one mile from the Falls of Niagara, on rising ground, the highest point between Lakes Erie and Ontario. A thin belt of chestnut forest separated the British and American forces. The central area where the contest raged had been donated as a village burial ground about the year 1800, and in 1814 became a military cemetery of necessity.

The monument, which is the work of Messrs. D. Mackintosh & Son of Toronto, is a beautiful shaft some 40 feet high, of bright grey granite, even in texture, and highly polished. It is approached by six steps of fine hammered work, as also the two bases. At the top of the upper base and at each angle are a pile of cannon balls, as also on the ornamental parts, which terminate the ramps that spring from each angle of the base. The die is octagonal in form, with four polished faces, and angles hammered and ornamented with bronze shields, on the face of which is inserted the name of the regiment which took part in the battle. Over the die is a heavily-moulded capital, on the front of which, in large raised letters, are the words, "Lundy's Lane." The shaft weighs five tons. On its face is a wreath of maple, and the date, 1812-14, in bronze. A vault has been constructed at the base, which will be used as a receptacle for the bones of the soldiers or relics found in that vicinity. The entrance to this receptacle will be by 12 stone steps. A grilled iron gate with a heavy wooden inside door will protect it.

A large platform had been erected abutting on the Presbyterian Church, and here were assembled Canon Bull, the prime mover and manager of the ceremonies, the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and well-known patriots from all over the Niagara Peninsula, and from Toronto, Hamilton and other cities. The audience numbered several thousand persons, including a very large proportion of ladies.

The Lieutenant-Governor was in a happy mood. He made one of the most felicitous speeches of the day. Historic as became the occasion, it was brimful of patriotism. What more need be said? The retrospect of the past 80 years showed astounding progress by the two great nations in all the arts of peace. Progress and invention was a tempting theme; their wonders were well nigh incredible. Long might the only rivalry between the two people, both of English stock, subsist. Then he quoted, with the hearty applause even of the sons of Mars surrounding him: "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war."

Lieut.-Col. G. T. Denison rose to the occasion patriotically and oratorically. His speech was a synopsis of the heroic struggles and glorious deeds of the perilous times culminating in the battle of Lundy's Lane, in which, proudly said he, "my family had their share." The colonel's tribute to Gen. Brock was generous in the extreme, "a man who nobly did his duty, and never thought of the odds against him." Whereat all the people living within gunshot of Brock's monument loyally cheered, and the volume of applause was swelled by those who only knew the facts from the Fourth Standard Primer.

In justifying the day's celebration, it was inevitable for the gallant colonel to have his little philippic against "the peripatetic philosopher who is no Canadian." But the words were almost those the Wise Man averreth turneth away wrath. Not to decorate the graves, to revere the memory, to stand forth in praise of the victories of our forefathers, would be mean and contemptible. (Cheers.)

"What have other nations done in this respect?" asked the colonel, and for answer he told of grateful celebrations of deeds brave and bold amongst nations of antiquity, aye, even down to the gallant Swiss. The fathers told those deeds to the children, now they are taught in the schools, and the youth grow up to emulate their heroic ancestors. The share of the French in the battle of Chateauguay was generously praised, and White's lines, "When Frank's sons, in valor strong, fought for their English King," were aptly quoted. The Canadian spirit he praised. "I am glad to know that the virtues which make a great nation have taken root and so gloriously developed in this Dominion, and that the heart of every true Canadian throbs with loyalty. (Cheers.) The Government are putting up historic monuments in other places. I am glad that the first to be unveiled is at Lundy's Lane." (Renewed cheers.) And the gallant colonel's ornate peroration was capped with patriotic poetry.

The company then left the decorated platform, with its greenery so suggestive of the Feast of Tabernacles, and by twos proceeded to the monument, where C. R. McCullough of the Canadian Club, Hamilton, placed a large maple wreath on its base, amidst cheering. Then, in vigorous phrase, he too added his tribute to those already given from the platform.

Then came four rattling good speeches from four representatives in the Ontario Legislature—Messrs. German and Lowell, for the country element, and Messrs. Ryerson and Howland, for the Queen City. What they said was in excellent taste. It was on the inexhaustible topic of patriotic bravery.

One of the interesting incidents of the day was the recitation in admirable style of a prize poem on the event celebrated. In clear tone, with becoming modesty, Master Edward Mills, aged 15, of Deseronto, went through his allotted task, and excellently well did his.

No patriotic celebration would be complete without "The Maple Leaf," and of its stirring music the band gave full measure, and the people joined in the chorus. But praise of the maple leaf within reasonable distance of Toronto would certainly be incomplete without the genial face and fine presence of its author. So Alexander Muir was in evidence and his speech likewise. Other speakers did their best.

No British celebration is complete without a dinner, and the Lundy's Lane Historical Society did not omit this function from the day's program. Canon Bull made a host of visitors welcome, and never in the Niagara Peninsula was the health of the Queen more heartily drunk. This was the one and all comprehensive toast.

Successful as all the arrangements were, there would have been an element of incompleteness had the loyal Canadian ladies been omitted from the program. Foremost in every good work, they were not behind in the celebration. The ladies of Drummondville had prepared a beautiful evergreen wreath, which, with laudable pride, they had deposited on the monument, and which was the cynosure of every eye once the voluminous folds of the Union Jack were officially unloosed.

The day's proceedings were an unbroken success. Old military men, young men with equal esprit de corps, representatives of every profession and visitors from far and near confessed that honor had been done where honor was due. Thus another chapter has been added to Canada's in memoriam tributes to those who sealed their patriotism with their blood, and made our freedom strong.
